- 21 After these things were ended, Paul purposed in the spirit, when he had passed through Macedonia and Achaia, to go to Jerusalem, saying, After I have been there, I must also see Rome.
- 22 So he sent into Macedonia two of them that ministered unto him, Timotheus and Erastus; but he himself stayed in Asia for a season.
- 23 And the same time there arose no small stir about that way.
- 24 For a certain man named Demetrius, a silversmith, which made silver shrines for Diana, brought no small gain unto the craftsmen;
- 25 Whom he called together with the workmen of like occupation, and said, Sirs, ye know that by this craft we have our wealth.
- 26 Moreover ye see and hear, that not alone at Ephesus, but almost throughout all Asia, this Paul hath persuaded and turned away much people, saying that they be no gods, which are made with hands:
- 27 So that not only this our craft is in danger to be set at nought; but also that the temple of the great goddess Diana should be despised, and her magnificence should be destroyed, whom all Asia and the world worshippeth.
- 28 And when they heard these sayings, they were full of wrath, and cried out, saying, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.
- 29 And the whole city was filled with confusion: and having caught Gaius and Aristarchus, men of Macedonia, Paul's companions in travel, they rushed with one accord into the theatre.
- 30 And when Paul would have entered in unto the people, the disciples suffered him not.
- 31 And certain of the chief of Asia, which were his friends, sent unto him, desiring him that he would not adventure himself into the theatre.
- 32 Some therefore cried one thing, and some another: for the assembly was confused; and the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.

direct contact with the idolatrous inhabitants of Ephesus, the power of God was strikingly displayed through him. The apostles were not always able to work miracles at will. The Lord granted His servants this special power as the progress of His cause or the honor of His name required. Like Moses and Aaron at the court of Pharaoh, the apostle had now to maintain the truth against the lying wonders of the magicians; hence the miracles he wrought were of a different character from those which he had heretofore performed. As the hem of Christ's garment had communicated healing power to her who sought relief by the touch of faith, so on this occasion, garments were made the means of cure to all that believed; "diseases departed from them, and evil spirits went out of them." Yet these miracles gave no encouragement to blind superstition. When Jesus felt the touch of the suffering woman, He exclaimed, "Virtue is gone out of me." So the Scripture declares that the Lord wrought miracles by the hand of Paul, and that the name of the Lord Jesus was magnified, and not the name of Paul (1P 1:35).

19:19. Value of the Books Sacrificed.—When the books had been consumed, they proceeded to reckon up the value of the sacrifice. It was estimated at fifty thousand pieces of silver, equal to about ten thousand dollars (LP 157).

multitude, the Jews putting him forward. And Alexander beckoned with the hand, and would have made his defence unto the people.

34 But when they knew that he was a Jew, all with one voice about the space of two hours cried out, Great is Diana of the Ephesians.

35 And when the townclerk had appeased the people, he said, Ye men of Ephesus, what man is there that knoweth not how that the city of the Ephesians is 'a worshipper of the great goddess Diana, and of the image which fell down from Jupiter?

36 Seeing then that these things cannot be spoken against, ye ought to be quiet, and to do nothing rashly.

37 For ye have brought hither these men, which are neither robbers of churches, nor yet blasphemers of your goddess.

38 Wherefore if Demetrius, and the craftsmen which are with him, have a matter against any man, the law is open, and there are deputies: let them implead one another.

39 But if ye enquire any thing concerning other matters, it shall be determined in a lawful assembly.

40 For we are in danger to be called in question for this day's uproar, there being no cause whereby we may give an account of this concourse.

41 And when he had thus spoken, he dismissed the assembly.

Ministry in Macedonia and Greece

20 And after the uproar was ceased, Paul called unto him the disciples, and embraced them, and departed for to go into Macedonia.

2 And when he had gone over those parts, and had given them much exhortation, he came into Greece.

3 And there abode three months. And when the Jews laid wait for him, as he was about to sail into Syria, he purposed to return through Macedonia.

4 And there accompanied him into Asia Sopater of Berea; and of the Thessalonians, Aristarchus and Secundus; and Gaius of Derbe, and Timotheus; and of Asia, Tychicus and Trophimus.

5 These going before tarried for us at Troas.

The First-day Meeting in Troas

6 And we sailed away from Philippi after the days of unleavened bread, and came unto them to Troas in five days; where we abode seven days.

7 And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow; and continued his speech until midnight.

8 And there were many lights in the upper chamber, where they were gathered together.

9 And there sat in a window a certain young man named Eutychus, being fallen into a deep sleep: and as Paul was long preaching, he sunk down with sleep, and fell down from the third loft, and was taken up dead.

10 And Paul went down, and fell on him, and embracing him said, Trouble not yourselves; for his life is in him.

11 When he therefore was come up again, and had broken bread, and eaten, and talked a long while, even till break of day, so he departed.

12 And they brought the young man alive, and were not a little comforted.

Meeting with the Elders of Ephesus at Miletus

13 And we went before to ship, and sailed unto Assos, there intending to take in Paul: for so had he appointed, minding himself to go afoot.

14 And when he met with us at Assos, we took him in, and came to Mitylene.

15 And we sailed thence, and came the next day over against Chios; and the next day we arrived at Samos, and tarried at Trogyllium; and the next day we came to Miletus.

16 For Paul had determined to sail by Ephesus, because he would not spend the time in Asia: for he hasted, if it were possible for him, to be at Jerusalem the day of Pentecost.

17 And from Miletus he sent to Ephesus, and called the elders of the church.

18 And when they were come to him, he said unto them, Ye know, from the first day that I came into Asia, after what manner I have been with you at all seasons.

19 Serving the Lord with all humility of mind, and with many tears, and temptations, which befell me by the lying in wait presented them before the people, bore testimony that he was not chargeable to any man for his support. They detracted nothing, he deemed, from the force of his pathetic appeals, sensible, intelligent, and eloquent beyond those of any other man who had acted a part in the Christian ministry.

In Acts 20:17-35 we see outlined the character of a Christian minister who faithfully performed his duty. He was an all-round minister. We do not think it is obligatory on all ministers to do in all respects as Paul did. Yet we say to all that Paul was a Christian gentleman of the highest type. His example shows that mechanical toil does not necessarily lessen the influence of anyone, that working with the hands in any honorable employment should not make a man coarse and rough and discourteous (Yl Jan 31, 1901).

20:30 (2 Tim. 4:3, 4; 2 Peter 2:1). Strangle Unstable Theories.—From the light given me of the Lord, men will arise speaking perverse things. Yea, already they have been working and speaking things which God has never revealed, bringing sacred truth upon a level with common things. Issues have been and will continue to be made of men's concerted fallacies, not of truth. The deavings of men's minds will invent tests that are no tests at all, that when the true test shall be made prominent, it shall be considered on a par with the man-made tests that have been of no value. We may expect that everything will be brought in and mingled with sound doctrine, but by clear

- 20 And how I kept back nothing that was profitable unto you, but have shewed you, and have taught you publickly, and from house to house.
- 21 Testifying both to the Jews, and also to the Greeks, repentance toward God, and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 22 And now, behold, I go bound in the spirit unto Jerusalem, not knowing the things that shall befall me there:
- 23 Save that the Holy Ghost witnesseth in every city, saying that bonds and afflictions abide me.
- 24 But none of these things move me, neither count I my life dear unto myself, so that I might finish my course with joy, and the ministry, which I have received of the Lord Jesus, to testify the gospel of the grace of God.
- 25 And now, behold, I know that ye all, among whom I have gone preaching the kingdom of God, shall see my face no more.
- 26 Wherefore I take you to record this day, that I am pure from the blood of all men.
- 27 For I have not shunned to declare unto you all the counsel of God.
- 28 Take heed therefore unto yourselves, and to all the flock, over the which the Holy Ghost hath made you overseers, to feed the church of God, which he hath purchased with his own blood.
- 29 For I know this, that after my departing shall grievous wolves enter in among you, not sparing the flock.
- 30 Also of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them.
- 31 Therefore watch, and remember, that by the space of three years I ceased not to warn every one night and day with tears.
- 32 And now, brethren, I commend you to God, and to the word of his grace, which is able to build you up, and to give you an inheritance among all them which are sanctified.
- 33 I have coveted no man's silver, or gold, or apparel.
- 34 Yea, ye yourselves know, that these hands have ministered unto my necessities, and to them that were with me.
- 35 I have shewed you all things, how that so labouring ye ought to support the weak, and to remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how he said, It is more blessed to give than to receive.

- 36 And when he had thus spoken, he kneeled down, and prayed with them all.
- 37 And they all wept sore, and fell on Paul's neck, and kissed him.
- 38 Sorrowing most of all for the words which he spake, that they should see his face no more. And they accompanied him unto the ship.

The Journey to Jerusalem

- 21 And it came to pass, that after we were gotten from them, and had launched, we came with a straight course unto Coos, and the day following unto Rhodes, and from thence unto Patara:
- 2 And finding a ship sailing over unto Phenicia, we went aboard, and set forth.
- 3 Now when we had discovered Cyprus, we left it on the left hand, and sailed into Syria, and landed at Tyre: for there the ship was to unlade her burden.
- 4 And finding disciples, we tarried there seven days: who said to Paul through the Spirit, that he should not go up to Jerusalem.
- 5 And when we had accomplished those days, we departed and went our way; and they all brought us on our way, with wives and children, till we were out of the city; and we kneeled down on the shore, and prayed.
- 6 And when we had taken our leave one of another, we took ship; and they returned home again.
- 7 And when we had finished our course from Tyre, we came to Ptolemais, and saluted the brethren, and abode with them one day.
- 8 And the next day we that were of Paul's company departed, and came unto Caesarea: and we entered into the house of Philip the evangelist, which was one of the seven; and abode with him.
- 9 And the same man had four daughters, virgins, which did prophesy.
- 10 And as we tarried there many days, there came down from Judaea a certain prophet, named Agabus.
- 11 And when he was come unto us, he took Paul's girdle, and bound his own hands and feet, and said, Thus saith the Holy Ghost, So shall the Jews at Jerusalem bind the man that owneth this girdle, and spiritual discernment, by the heavenly anointing, we must distinguish the sacred from the common which is being brought in to confuse faith and sound judgment and demerit the great, grand, testing truth for this time. . . .

Never, never was there a time when the truth will suffer more from being misrepresented, belittled, demerited through the perverse disputings of men than in these last days. Men have brought themselves in with their heterogeneous mass of heresies which they represent as oracles for the people. The people are charmed with some strange, new thing, and are not wise in experience to discern the character of ideas that men may frame up as something. But to call it something of great consequence and tie it to the oracles of God does not make it truth. Oh, how this rebukes the low standard of piety in the churches. Men who want to present something original will conjure up things new and strange, and without consideration will step forward on these unstable theories that have been woven together as a precious theory. And present it as a life and death question. . . .

We have the truth, the solid truth in the Word of God, and all these speculations and theories would better be strangled in the cradle rather than nourished and brought to prominence. We are to hear the voice of God from His revealed Word, the sure word of prophecy. Those who will magnify themselves and seek to do some wonderful thing would better come to a sound mind (Letter 136a, 1898).

shall deliver him into the hands of the Gentiles.

- 12 And when we heard these things, both we, and they of that place, besought him not to go up to Jerusalem.
- 13 Then Paul answered, What mean ye to weep and to break mine heart? for I am ready not to be bound only, but also to die at Jerusalem for the name of the Lord Jesus.
- 14 And when he would not be persuaded, we ceased, saying, The will of the Lord be done.
- 15 And after those days we took up our carriages, and went up to Jerusalem.
- 16 There went with us also certain of the disciples of Caesarea, and brought with them one Mnason of Cyprus, an old disciple, with whom we should lodge.
- 17 And when we were come to Jerusalem, the brethren received us gladly.

Paul's Report to the Apostles and Purification in the Temple

- 18 And the day following Paul went in with us unto James; and all the elders were present.
- 19 And when he had saluted them, he declared particularly what things God had wrought among the Gentiles by his ministry.
- 20 And when they heard it, they glorified the Lord, and said unto him, Thou seest, brother, how many thousands of Jews there are which believe; and they are all zealous of the law:
- 21 And they are informed of thee, that thou teachest all the Jews which are among the Gentiles to forsake Moses, saying that they ought not to circumcise their children, neither to walk after the customs.
- 22 What is it therefore? the multitude must needs come together: for they will hear that thou art come.
- 23 Do therefore this that we say to thee: We have four men which have a vow on them;
- 24 Them take, and purify thyself with them, and be at charges with them, that they may shave their heads: and all may know that those things, whereof they were informed concerning thee, are nothing; but that thou thyself also walkest orderly, and keepest the law.

- 25 As touching the Gentiles which believe, we have written and concluded that they observe no such thing, save only that they keep themselves from things offered to idols, and from blood, and from strangled, and from fornication.
- 26 Then Paul took the men, and the next day purifying himself with them entered into the temple, to signify the accomplishment of the days of purification, until that an offering should be offered for every one of them.

The Riot

- 27 And when the seven days were almost ended, the Jews which were of Asia, when they saw him in the temple, stirred up all the people, and laid hands on him,
- 28 Crying out, Men of Israel, help: This is the man, that teacheth all men every where against the people, and the law, and this place: and further brought Greeks also into the temple, and hath polluted this holy place.
- 29 (For they had seen before with him in the city Trophimus an Ephesian, whom they supposed that Paul had brought into the temple.)
- 30 And all the city was moved, and the people ran together: and they took Paul, and drew him out of the temple: and forthwith the doors were shut.
- 31 And as they went about to kill him, tidings came unto the chief captain of the band, that all Jerusalem was in an uproar.
- 32 Who immediately took soldiers and centurions, and ran down unto them: and when they saw the chief captain and the soldiers, they left beating of Paul.

Paul's Detention

- 33 Then the chief captain came near, and took him, and commanded him to be bound with two chains; and demanded who he was, and what he had done.
- 34 And some cried one thing, some another, among the multitude: and when he could not know the certainty for the tumult, he commanded him to be carried into the castle.
- 35 And when he came upon the stairs, so it was, that he was borne of the soldiers for the violence of the people.

Become Her Worst Persecutors.—Much so-called Christianity passes for genuine, faithful soundness, but it is because those who profess it have no persecution to endure for the truth's sake. When the day comes when the law of God is made void, and the church is sified by the fiery trials that are to try all that live upon the earth, a great proportion of those who are supposed to be genuine will give heed to seducing spirits, and will turn traitors and betray sacred trusts. They will prove our very worst persecutors. "Of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them;" and many will give heed to seducing spirits.

Those who have lived on the flesh and blood of the Son of God—His Holy Word—will be strengthened, rooted, and grounded in the faith. They will see increased evidence why they should prize and obey the Word of God. With David, they will say, "They have made void thy law. Therefore love I thy commandments above gold; yea, above fine gold." While others count them dross, they will arise to defend the faith. All who study their convenience, their pleasure, their enjoyment, will not stand in their trial (RH June 8, 1897).

20:33, 34. See EGW on ch. 18:1-3.

21:20-26 (Gal. 2:11, 12). Paul's Advisers Not Infalible.—This concession was not in harmony with his teachings nor with the firm integrity of his character. His advisers were not infalible. Though some of these men wrote under the inspiration of the Spirit of God, yet when

- 37 And as Paul was to be led into the castle, he said unto the chief captain, May I speak unto thee? Who said, Canst thou speak Greek?
- 38 Art not thou that 'Egyptian, which before these days madest an uproar, and leddest out into the wilderness four thousand men that were murderers?
- 39 But Paul said, I am a man which am a Jew of Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, a citizen of no mean city: and, I beseech thee, suffer me to speak unto the people.

His Defense before the Multitude

- 40 And when he had given him licence, Paul stood on the stairs, and beckoned with the hand unto the people. And when there was made a great silence, he spake unto them in the Hebrew tongue, saying, 22 Men, brethren, and fathers, hear ye my defence which I make now unto you.

- 2 (And when they heard that he spake in the Hebrew tongue to them, they kept the more silence; and he saith,)

- 3 I am verily a man which am a Jew, born in Tarsus, a city in Cilicia, yet brought up in this city at the feet of Gamaliel, and taught according to the perfect manner of the law of the fathers, and was zealous toward God, as ye all are this day.

- 4 And I persecuted this way unto the death, binding and delivering into prisons both men and women.

- 5 As also the high priest doth bear me witness, and all the estate of the elders: from whom also I received letters unto the brethren, and went to Damascus, to bring them which were there bound unto Jerusalem, for to be punished.

- 6 And it came to pass, that, as I made my journey, and was come nigh unto Damascus about noon, suddenly there shone from heaven a great light round about me.

- 7 And I fell unto the ground, and heard a voice saying unto me, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

- 8 And I answered, Who art thou, Lord? And he said unto me, I am Jesus of Nazareth, whom thou persecutest.

- 9 And they that were with me saw indeed the light, and were afraid; but they heard not the voice of him that spake to me.

- 12 And one Ananias, a devout man according to the law, having a good report of all the Jews which dwell there,

- 13 Came unto me, and stood, and said unto me, Brother Saul, receive thy sight. And the same hour I looked up upon him.

- 14 And he said, The God of our fathers hath chosen thee, that thou shouldest know his will, and see that Just One, and shouldest hear the voice of his mouth.

- 15 For thou shalt be his witness unto all men of what thou hast seen and heard.

- 16 And now why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized, and wash away thy sins, calling on the name of the Lord.

- 17 And it came to pass, that, when I was come again to Jerusalem, even while I prayed in the temple, I was in a trance:

- 18 And saw him saying unto me, Make haste, and get thee quickly out of Jerusalem: for they will not receive thy testimony concerning me.

21:39 (ch. 22:3, 25-28). Paul's Background.—His [Paul's] father was a man of reputation. He was a Cilician, but still a Roman citizen; for Paul declares that he was free-born. Others obtained this freedom with a great sum, but Paul was freeborn. Paul had been educated by the most learned teachers of the age. He had been taught by Gamaliel. Paul was a rabbi and a statesman. He was a member of the Sanhedrim (MS 95, 1899).

22:5-16 (ch. 26:9-16). Paul Never Forgot His Remarkable Conversion.—The apostle could never forget his conversion from a persecutor of all who believe on Christ, to a believer in Him. What a bearing this conversion had on all his afterlife! What an encouragement it was as he worked on the side of Him whom he once ridiculed and despised. He could never forget the assurance conveyed to him in the first part of his ministry. He could speak intelligently because he had an experience, a personal knowledge, of the Lord Jesus Christ. He had a living, abiding faith, for he cultivated a sense of the presence of Christ in all his works. He received strength in prayer, and as a faithful soldier of Christ he ever looked to his Captain for orders. No amount of obstacles piled up

- 26 When the centurion heard that, he went and told the chief captain, saying, Take heed what thou doest: for this man is a Roman.
- 27 Then the chief captain came, and said unto him, Tell me, art thou a Roman? He said, Yea.
- 28 And the chief captain answered, With a great sum obtained I this freedom. And Paul said, But I was free born.
- 29 Then straightway they departed from him which should have 'examined him': and the chief captain also was afraid, after he knew that he was a Roman, and because he had bound him.
- 30 On the morrow, because he would have known the certainty wherefore he was accused of the Jews, he loosed him from his bands, and commanded the chief priests and all their council to appear, and brought Paul down, and set him before them.

Defense before the Sanhedrin

- 23 And Paul, earnestly beholding the council, said, Men and brethren, I have lived in all good conscience before God until this day.
- 2 And the high priest Ananias commanded them that stood by him to smite him on the mouth.
- 3 Then said Paul unto him, God shall smite thee, thou whited wall: for sittest thou to judge me after the law, and commandest me to be smitten contrary to the law?
- 4 And they that stood by said, Revilest thou God's high priest?
- 5 Then said Paul, I wist not, brethren, that he was the high priest: for it is written, Thou shalt not speak evil of the ruler of thy people.
- 6 But when Paul perceived that the one part were Sadducees, and the other Pharisees, he cried out in the council, Men and brethren, I am a Pharisee, the son of a Pharisee: of the hope and resurrection of the dead I am called in question.
- 7 And when he had so said, there arose a dissension between the Pharisees and the Sadducees: and the multitude was divided.

resurrection, neither angel, nor spirit: but the Pharisees confess both.

- 9 And there arose a great cry: and the scribes that were of the Pharisees' part arose, and strove, saying, We find no evil in this man: but if a spirit or an angel hath spoken to him, let us not fight against God.
- 10 And when there arose a great dissension, the chief captain, fearing lest Paul should have been pulled in pieces of them, commanded the soldiers to go down, and to take him by force from among them, and to bring him into the castle.

Paul's Vision

- 11 And the night following the Lord stood by him, and said, Be of good cheer, Paul: for as thou hast testified of me in Jerusalem, so must thou bear witness also at Rome.

The Jewish Plot Against Paul

- 12 And when it was day, certain of the Jews banded together, and bound themselves 'under a curse, saying that they would neither eat nor drink till they had killed Paul.
- 13 And they were more than forty which had made this conspiracy.
- 14 And they came to the chief priests and elders, and said, We have bound ourselves under a great curse, that we will eat nothing until we have slain Paul.
- 15 Now therefore ye with the council signify to the chief captain that he bring him down unto you to morrow, as though ye would enquire something more perfectly concerning him: and we, or ever he come near, are ready to kill him.
- 16 And when Paul's sister's son heard of their lying in wait, he went and entered into the castle, and told Paul.
- 17 Then Paul called one of the centurions unto him, and said, Bring this young man unto the chief captain: for he hath a certain thing to tell him.
- 18 So he took him, and brought him to the chief captain, and said, Paul the prisoner called me unto him, and prayed me to bring this young man unto thee, who hath something to say unto thee.
- 19 Then the chief captain took him by the hand, and went with him aside privately, and asked him, What is that thou hast to before him, could cause him to regard the work as an impossibility, for he realized that "all things are possible to them that believe" (MS 114, 1897).

In every place where the apostle Paul was called to go after his conversion, he gave a vivid presentation of the ministrations of heavenly angels in his conversion (MS 29, 1900).

23:3. An Inspired Denunciation.—Under the influence of the Holy Spirit, Paul uttered a prophetic denunciation similar to that which Christ had uttered in rebuking the hypocrisy of the Jews. The judgment pronounced by the apostle was terribly fulfilled when the iniquitous and hypocritical high priest was murdered by assassins in the Jewish war (LP 222).

23:20-23. Lysias Feared for His Own Safety.—Lysias gladly improved this opportunity to get Paul off his hands. . . . A short time previous, a Roman knight of far higher rank than Lysias himself, had been violently taken and dragged by the maddened Jews around the walls of Jerusalem and finally beheaded, because he received a bribe from the Samaritans. Upon the suspicion of similar crimes, other high officials had been imprisoned and disgraced. Should Paul be murdered, the chief captain might be charged with having been bribed to connive at his death. There was now sufficient reason to send him away secretly, and thus get rid of an embarrassing responsibility (LP 227).

24:2, 3. Felix Base and Contemptible.—Tertullus here

- 20 And he said, The Jews have agreed to desire thee that thou wouldest bring down Paul to morrow into the council, as though they would enquire somewhat of him more perfectly.
- 21 But do not thou yield unto them: for there lie in wait for him of them more than forty men, which have bound themselves with an oath, that they will neither eat nor drink till they have killed him: and now are they ready, looking for a promise from thee.
- 22 So the chief captain then let the young man depart, and charged him, See thou tell no man that thou hast shewed these things to me.

Paul's Removal to Caesarea

- 23 And he called unto him two centurions, saying, Make ready two hundred soldiers to go to Caesarea, and horsemen three-score and ten, and ²spear-men two hundred, at the third hour of the night;
- 24 And provide them beasts, that they may set Paul on, and bring him safe unto Felix the governor.
- 25 And he wrote a letter after this manner:
- 26 Claudius Lysias unto the most excellent governor Felix sendeth greeting.
- 27 This man was taken of the Jews, and should have been killed of them: then came I with an army, and rescued him, having understood that he was a Roman.
- 28 And when I would have known the cause wherefore they accused him, I brought him forth into their council:
- 29 Whom I perceived to be accused of questions of their law, but to have nothing laid to his charge worthy of death or of bonds.
- 30 And when it was told me how that the Jews laid wait for the man, I sent straightway to thee, and gave commandment to his accusers also to say before thee what they had against him. Farewell.
- 31 Then the soldiers, as it was commanded them, took Paul, and brought him by night to Antipatris.
- 32 On the morrow they left the horsemen to go with him, and returned to the castle:
- 33 Who, when they came to Caesarea, and delivered the epistle to the governor, presented Paul also before him.
- 34 And when the governor had read the letter, he asked of what province he was.

And when he understood that he was of Cilicia;

Detention under Felix

- 24 And after five days Ananias the high priest descended with the elders, and with a certain orator named Tertullus, who informed the governor against Paul.
- 2 And when he was called forth, Tertullus began to accuse him, saying, Seeing that by thee we enjoy great quietness, and that very worthy deeds are done unto this nation by thy providence,
- 3 We accept it always, and in all places, most noble Felix, with all thankfulness.
- 4 Notwithstanding, that I be not further tedious unto thee, I pray thee that thou wouldest hear us of thy clemency a few words.
- 5 For we have found this man ¹a pestilent fellow, and a mover of sedition among all the Jews throughout the world, and a ringleader of the sect of the Nazarenes:
- 6 Who also hath gone about to profane the temple: whom we took, and would have judged according to our law.
- 7 But the chief captain Lysias came upon us, and with great violence took him away out of our hands,
- 8 Commanding his accusers to come unto thee: by examining of whom thyself mayest take knowledge of all these things, whereof we accuse him.
- 9 And the Jews also assented, saying that these things were so.
- 10 Then Paul, after that the governor had beckoned unto him to speak, answered, Forasmuch as I know that thou hast been of many years ²a judge unto this nation, I do the more cheerfully answer for myself:
- 11 Because that thou mayest understand, that there are yet but twelve days since I went up to Jerusalem for to worship.
- 12 And they neither found me in the temple disputing with any man, neither raising up the people, neither in the synagogues, nor in the city:
- 13 Neither can they prove the things whereof they now accuse me.
- 14 But this I confess unto thee, that after the way which they call heresy, so worship I descended to barefaced falsehood. The character of Felix was base and contemptible.

An example of the unbridled licentiousness that stained his character is seen in his alliance with Drusilla, which was consummated about this time. Through the deceptive arts of Simon Magus, a Cyprian sorcerer, Felix had induced this princess to leave her husband and to become his wife. Drusilla was young and beautiful, and, moreover, a Jewess. She was devotedly attached to her husband, who had made a great sacrifice to obtain her hand. There was little indeed to induce her to forgo her strongest prejudices and to bring upon herself the abhorrence of her nation for the sake of forming an adulterous connection with a cruel and elderly profligate. Yet the satanic devices of the conjurer and the betrayer succeeded, and Felix accomplished his purpose (LP 235, 236).

24:22. Felix Not Deceived Regarding Paul.—Felix himself had so long resided at Caesarea—where the Christian religion had been known for many years—that he had a better knowledge of that religion than the Jews supposed, and he was not deceived by their representations (LP 239).

24:27. Strife in Caesarea; Felix Removed.—Toward the close of this time there arose a fearful strife among the population of Caesarea. There had been frequent disputes, which had become a settled feud, between the Jews and the Greeks, concerning their respective rights and privileges in the city. All the splendor of Caesarea, its temples, the God of my fathers, believing all things which are written in the law and in the prophets:

- 15 And have hope toward God, which they themselves also allow, that there shall be a resurrection of the dead, both of the just and unjust.
- 16 And herein do I exercise myself, to have always a conscience void of offence toward God, and toward men.
- 17 Now after many years I came to bring alms to my nation, and offerings.
- 18 Whereupon certain Jews from Asia found me purified in the temple, neither with multitude, nor with tumult.
- 19 Who ought to have been here before thee, and object, if they had ought against me.
- 20 Or else let these same here say, if they have found any evil doing in me, while I stood before the council,
- 21 Except it be for this one voice, that I cried standing among them, Touching the resurrection of the dead I am called in question by you this day.
- 22 And when Felix heard these things, having more perfect knowledge of that way, he deferred them, and said, When Lysias the chief captain shall come down, I will know the uttermost of your matter.
- 23 And he commanded a centurion to keep Paul, and to let him have liberty, and that he should forbid none of his acquaintance to minister or come unto him.
- 24 And after certain days, when Felix came with his wife Drusilla, which was a Jewess, he sent for Paul, and heard him concerning the faith in Christ.
- 25 And as he reasoned of righteousness, temperance, and judgment to come, Felix trembled, and answered, Go thy way for this time; when I have a convenient season, I will call for thee.
- 26 He hoped also that money should have been given him of Paul, that he might loose him: wherefore he sent for him the oftener, and communed with him.
- 27 But after two years Porcius Festus came into Felix' room: and Felix, willing to shew the Jews a pleasure, left Paul bound.

Paul's Appeal from Festus to Caesar

- 2 Then the high priest and the chief of the Jews informed him against Paul, and besought him,
- 3 And desired favour against him, that he would send for him to Jerusalem, laying wait in the way to kill him.
- 4 But Festus answered, that Paul should be kept at Caesarea, and that he himself would depart shortly thither.
- 5 Let them therefore, said he, which among you are able, go down with me, and accuse this man, if there be any wickedness in him.
- 6 And when he had tarried among them 'more than ten days, he went down unto Caesarea; and the next day sitting on the judgment seat commanded Paul to be brought.
- 7 And when he was come, the Jews which came down from Jerusalem stood round about, and laid many and grievous complaints against Paul, which they could not prove.
- 8 While he answered for himself, Neither against the law of the Jews, neither against the temple, nor yet against Caesar, have I offended any thing at all.
- 9 But Festus, willing to do the Jews a pleasure, answered Paul, and said, Wilt thou go up to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these things before me?
- 10 Then said Paul, I stand at Caesar's judgment seat, where I ought to be judged: to the Jews have I done no wrong, as thou very well knowest.
- 11 For if I be an offender, or have committed any thing worthy of death, I refuse not to die: but if there be none of these things whereof these accuse me, no man may deliver me unto them. I appeal unto Caesar.
- 12 Then Festus, when he had conferred with the council, answered, Hast thou appealed unto Caesar? unto Caesar shalt thou go.

Festus Takes Counsel with Herod Agrippa II

- 13 And after certain days king Agrippa and Bernice came unto Caesarea to salute Festus.
- 14 And when they had been there many days, Festus declared Paul's cause unto the king, saying, There is a certain man left in bonds by Felix:
- 15 About whom, when I was at Jerusalem, the chief priests and the elders of the its palaces, and its amphitheater, were due to the ambition of the first Herod. Even the harbor, to which Caesarea owed all its prosperity and importance, had been constructed by him at an immense outlay of money and labor. The Jewish inhabitants were numerous and wealthy, and they claimed the city as theirs, because their king had done so much for it. The Greeks, with equal persistency, maintained their right to the precedence.

Near the close of the two years, these dissensions led to a fierce combat in the market place, resulting in the defeat of the Greeks. Felix, who sided with the Gentile faction, came with his troops and ordered the Jews to disperse. The command was not instantly obeyed by the victorious party, and he ordered his soldiers to fall upon them. Glad of an opportunity to indulge their hatred of the Jews, they executed the order in the most merciless manner, and many were put to death. As if this were not enough, Felix, whose animosity toward the Jews had increased every year, now gave his soldiers liberty to rob the houses of the wealthy.

These daring acts of injustice and cruelty could not pass unnoticed. The Jews made a formal complaint against Felix, and he was summoned to Rome to answer their charges. He well knew that his course of extortion and oppression had given them abundant ground for complaint, but he still hoped to conciliate them. Hence, though he had a sincere respect for Paul, he decided to gratify their malice by leaving him a prisoner. But all his efforts were in vain; though he escaped banishment or

- Jews informed me, desiring to have judgment against him.
- 16 To whom I answered, It is not the manner of the Romans to deliver any man to die, before that he which is accused have the accusers face to face, and have licence to answer for himself concerning the crime laid against him.
- 17 Therefore, when they were come hither, without any delay on the morrow I sat on the judgment seat, and commanded the man to be brought forth.
- 18 Against whom when the accusers stood up, they brought none accusation of such things as I supposed:
- 19 But had certain questions against him of their own superstition, and of one Jesus, which was dead, whom Paul affirmed to be alive.
- 20 And because ²¹I doubted of such manner of questions, I asked him whether he would go to Jerusalem, and there be judged of these matters.
- 21 But when Paul had appealed to be reserved unto the hearing of Augustus, I commanded him to be kept till I might send him to Caesar.
- 22 Then Agrippa said unto Festus, I would also hear the man myself. To morrow, said he, thou shalt hear him.
- 23 And on the morrow, when Agrippa was come, and Bernice, with great pomp, and was entered into the place of hearing, with the chief captains, and principal men of the city, at Festus' commandment Paul was brought forth.
- 24 And Festus said, King Agrippa, and all men which are here present with us, ye see this man, about whom all the multitude of the Jews have dealt with me, both at Jerusalem, and also here, crying that he ought not to live any longer.
- 25 But when I found that he had committed nothing worthy of death, and that he himself hath appealed to Augustus, I have determined to send him.
- 26 Of whom I have no certain thing to write unto my lord. Wherefore I have brought him forth before you, and specially before thee, O king Agrippa, that, after examination had, I might have somewhat to write.
- 27 For it seemeth to me unreasonable to send a prisoner, and not withal to signify the crimes laid against him.

Paul's Defense Before Agrippa and Festus

- 26 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Thou art permitted to speak for thyself. Then Paul stretched forth the hand, and answered for himself:
- 2 I think myself happy, king Agrippa, because I shall answer for myself this day before thee touching all the things whereof I am accused of the Jews:
- 3 Especially because I know thee to be expert in all customs and questions which are among the Jews: wherefore I beseech thee to hear me patiently.
- 4 My manner of life from my youth, which was at the first among mine own nation at Jerusalem, know all the Jews;
- 5 Which knew me from the beginning, if they would testify, that after the most straitest sect of our religion I lived a Pharisee.
- 6 And now I stand and am judged for the hope of the promise made of God unto our fathers:
- 7 Unto which promise our twelve tribes, instantly serving God ⁸day and night, hope to come. For which hope's sake, king Agrippa, I am accused of the Jews.
- 8 Why should it be thought a thing incredible with you, that God should raise the dead?
- 9 I verily thought with myself, that I ought to do many things contrary to the name of Jesus of Nazareth.
- 10 Which thing I also did in Jerusalem: and many of the saints did I shut up in prison, having received authority from the chief priests: and when they were put to death, I gave my voice against them.
- 11 And I punished them oft in every synagogue, and compelled them to blaspheme: and being exceedingly mad against them, I persecuted them even unto strange cities.
- 12 Whereupon as I went to Damascus with authority and commission from the chief priests,
- 13 At midday, O king, I saw in the way a light from heaven, above the brightness of the sun, shining round about me and them which journeyed with me.
- 14 And when we were all fallen to the earth, I heard a voice speaking unto me, and saying in the Hebrew tongue, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me? it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

death, he was removed from office, and deprived of the greater part of his ill-gotten wealth. Drusilla, the partner of his guilt, afterward perished, with their only son, in the eruption of Vesuvius. His own days were ended in disgrace and obscurity (LP 245, 246).

26:26-28. What Were Agrippa's Thoughts?—Did the mind of Agrippa at these words revert to the past history of his family, and their fruitless efforts against Him whom Paul was preaching? Did he think of his great-grandfather Herod, and the massacre of the innocent children of Bethlehem? of his great-uncle Antipas, and the murder of John the Baptist? of his own father, Agrippa I, and the martyrdom of the apostle James? Did he see in the disasters which speedily befell these kings an evidence of the displeasure of God in consequence of their crimes against His servants? Did the pomp and display of that day remind Agrippa of the time when his own father, a monarch more powerful than he, stood in that same city, attired in glittering robes, while the people shouted that he was a god? Had he forgotten how, even before the admiring shouts had died away, vengeance, swift and terrible, had befallen the vainglorious king? Something of all this flitted across Agrippa's memory; but his vanity was flattered by the brilliant scene before him, and pride and self-importance banished all nobler thoughts (LP 255, 256).

- 15 And I said, Who art thou, Lord? And he said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest.
- 16 But rise, and stand upon thy feet: for I have appeared unto thee for this purpose, to make thee a minister and a witness both of these things which thou hast seen, and of those things in the which I will appear unto thee;
- 17 Delivering thee from the people, and from the Gentiles, unto whom now I send thee.
- 18 To open their eyes, and to turn them from darkness to light, and from the power of Satan unto God, that they may receive forgiveness of sins, and inheritance among them which are sanctified by faith that is in me.
- 19 Whereupon, O king Agrippa, I was not disobedient unto the heavenly vision:
- 20 But shewed first unto them of Damascus, and at Jerusalem, and throughout all the coasts of Judeaea, and then to the Gentiles, that they should repent and turn to God, and do works meet for repentance.
- 21 For these causes the Jews caught me in the temple, and went about to kill me.
- 22 Having therefore obtained help of God, I continue unto this day, witnessing both to small and great, saying none other things than those which the prophets and Moses did say should come:
- 23 That Christ should suffer, and that he should be the first that should rise from the dead, and should shew light unto the people, and to the Gentiles.
- 24 And as he thus spake for himself, Festus said with a loud voice, Paul, thou art beside thyself; much learning doth make thee mad.
- 25 But he said, I am not mad, most noble Festus; but speak forth the words of truth and soberness.
- 26 For the king knoweth of these things, before whom also I speak freely: for I am persuaded that none of these things are hidden from him; for this thing was not done in a corner.
- 27 King Agrippa, believest thou the prophets? I know that thou believest.
- 28 Then Agrippa said unto Paul, Almost thou persuadest me to be a Christian.
- 29 And Paul said, I would to God, that not only thou, but also all that hear me this day, were both almost, and altogether such as I am, except these bonds.

His Innocence Confirmed

- 30 And when he had thus spoken, the king rose up, and the governor, and Bernice, and they that sat with them:
- 31 And when they were gone aside, they talked between themselves, saying, This man doeth nothing worthy of death or of bonds.
- 32 Then said Agrippa unto Festus, This man might have been set at liberty, if he had not appealed unto Caesar.

Journey to Rome and Imprisonment (27:1-28:31)

From Caesarea to Myra

- 27 And when it was determined that we should sail into Italy, they delivered Paul and certain other prisoners unto one named Julius, a centurion of Augustus' band.
- 2 And entering into a ship of Adramyttium, we launched, meaning to sail by the coasts of Asia; one Aristarchus, a Macedonian of Thessalonica, being with us.
- 3 And the next day we touched at Sidon. And Julius courteously entreated Paul, and gave him liberty to go unto his friends to refresh himself.
- 4 And when we had launched from thence, we sailed under Cyprus, because the winds were contrary.
- 5 And when we had sailed over the sea of Cilicia and Pamphylia, we came to Myra, a city of Lycia.

From Myra to The Fair Havens

- 6 And there the centurion found a ship of Alexandria sailing into Italy; and he put us therein.
- 7 And when we had sailed slowly many days, and scarce were come over against Cnidus, the wind not suffering us, we sailed under Crete, over against Salmone;
- 8 And, hardly passing it, came unto a place which is called The fair havens; nigh whereunto was the city of Lasea.
- 9 Now when much time was spent, and when sailing was now dangerous, because the fast was now already past, Paul admonished them,
- 10 And said unto them, Sirs, I perceive that this voyage will be with hurt and much damage, not only of the lading and ship, but also of our lives.
- 11 Nevertheless the centurion believed the master and the owner of the ship, more than those things which were spoken by Paul.
- 12 And because the haven was not commodious to winter in, the more part advised to depart thence also, if by any means they might attain to Phenice, and there to winter; which is an haven of Crete, and lieth toward the south west and north west.

From Crete to Shipwreck: The Storm

- 13 And when the south wind blew softly, supposing that they had obtained their purpose, loosing thence, they sailed close by Crete.
- 14 But not long after there arose against it a tempestuous wind, called Euroclydon.
- 15 And when the ship was caught, and could not bear up into the wind, we let her drive.
- 16 And running under a certain island which is called Claudia, we had much work to come by the boat:
- 17 Which when they had taken up, they used helps, undergirding the ship; and, fearing lest they should fall into the quicksands, strake sail, and so were driven.

- 18 And we being exceedingly tossed with a tempest, the next day they lightened the ship;
- 19 And the third day we cast out with our own hands the tackling of the ship.
- 20 And when neither sun nor stars in many days appeared, and no small tempest lay on us, all hope that we should be saved was then taken away.

Paul's Assurance of Final Safety

- 21 But after long abstinence Paul stood forth in the midst of them, and said, Sirs, ye should have hearkened unto me, and not have loosed from Crete, and to have gained this harm and loss.
- 22 And now I exhort you to be of good cheer: for there shall be no loss of any man's life among you, but of the ship.
- 23 For there stood by me this night the angel of God, whose I am, and whom I serve.
- 24 Saying, Fear not, Paul; thou must be brought before Caesar: and, lo, God hath given thee all them that sail with thee.
- 25 Wherefore, sirs, be of good cheer: for I believe God, that it shall be even as it was told me.
- 26 Howbeit we must be cast upon a certain island.

The Shipwreck

- 27 But when the fourteenth night was come, as we were driven up and down in Adria, about midnight the shipmen deemed that they drew near to some country;
- 28 And sounded, and found it twenty fathoms: and when they had gone a little further, they sounded again, and found it fifteen fathoms.
- 29 Then fearing lest we should have fallen upon rocks, they cast four anchors out of the stern, and wished for the day.
- 30 And as the shipmen were about to flee out of the ship, when they had let down the boat into the sea, under colour as though they would have cast anchors out of the foreship,
- 31 Paul said to the centurion and to the soldiers, Except these abide in the ship, ye cannot be saved.
- 32 Then the soldiers cut off the ropes of the boat, and let her fall off.
- 33 And while the day was coming on, Paul besought them all to take meat, saying, This day is the fourteenth day that ye have tarried and continued fasting, having taken nothing.
- 34 Wherefore I pray you to take some meat: for this is for your health: for there shall not an hair fall from the head of any of you.

- 35 And when he had thus spoken, he took bread, and gave thanks to God in presence of them all: and when he had broken it, he began to eat.

- 36 Then were they all of good cheer, and they also took some meat.

- 37 And we were in all in the ship two hundred threescore and sixteen souls.

- 38 And when they had eaten enough, they lightened the ship, and cast out the wheat into the sea.

- 39 And when it was day, they knew not the land: but they discovered a certain creek with a shore, into the which they were minded, if it were possible, to thrust in the ship.

- 40 And when they had taken up the anchors, they committed themselves unto the sea, and loosed the rudder bands, and hoised up the mainsail to the wind, and made toward shore.

- 41 And falling into a place where two seas met, they ran the ship aground; and the forepart stuck fast, and remained unmoveable, but the hinder part was broken with the violence of the waves.

- 42 And the soldiers' counsel was to kill the prisoners, lest any of them should swim out, and escape.

- 43 But the centurion, willing to save Paul, kept them from their purpose; and commanded that they which could swim should cast themselves first into the sea, and get to land:

- 44 And the rest, some on boards, and some on broken pieces of the ship. And so it came to pass, that they escaped all safe to land.

Landing on Melita

- 28 And when they were escaped, then they knew that the island was called 'Melita.

- 2 And the barbarous people shewed us no little kindness: for they kindled a fire, and received us every one, because of the present rain, and because of the cold.

- 3 And when Paul had gathered a bundle of sticks, and laid them on the fire, there came a viper out of the heat, and fastened on his hand.

- 4 And when the barbarians saw the venomous beast hang on his hand, they said among themselves, No doubt this man is a murderer, whom, though he hath escaped the sea, yet vengeance suffereth not to live.

- 5 And he shook off the beast into the fire, and felt no harm.

- 6 Howbeit they looked when he should have swollen, or fallen down dead suddenly; but after they had looked a great while, and saw no harm come to him, they changed their minds, and said

28:1. 2. A Praise Service on a Stormy Morning.—When the roll was called, not one was missing. Nearly three hundred souls—sailors, soldiers, passengers, and prisoners—stood that stormy November morning upon the shore of the island of Melita. And there were some that joined with Paul and his brethren in giving thanks to God, who had preserved their lives and brought them safe to land through the perils of the great deep (LP 270).

that he was a god.

7 In the same quarters were possessions of the chief man of the island, whose name was Publius; who received us, and lodged us three days courteously.

8 And it came to pass, that the father of Publius lay sick of a fever and of a bloody flux: to whom Paul entered in, and prayed, and laid his hands on him, and healed him.

9 So when this was done, others also, which had diseases in the island, came, and were healed:

10 Who also honoured us with many honours; and when we departed, they laded us with such things as were necessary.

Completion of the Journey to Rome

11 And after three months we departed in a ship of Alexandria, which had wintered in the isle, whose sign was Castor and Pollux.

12 And landing at Syracuse, we tarried there three days.

13 And from thence we fetched a compass, and came to Rhegium: and after one day the south wind blew, and we came the next day to Puteoli:

14 Where we found brethren, and were desired to tarry with them seven days: and so we went toward Rome.

15 And from thence, when the brethren heard of us, they came to meet us as far as Appii forum, and The three taverns: whom when Paul saw, he thanked God, and took courage.

16 And when we came to Rome, the centurion delivered the prisoners to the captain of the guard: but Paul was suffered to dwell by himself with a soldier that kept him.

Paul's Defense before the Jews of Rome

17 And it came to pass, that after three days Paul called the chief of the Jews together: and when they were come together, he said unto them, Men and brethren, though I have committed nothing against the people, or customs of our fathers, yet was I delivered prisoner from Jerusalem into the hands of the Romans.

18 Who, when they had examined me, would have let me go, because there was no cause of death in me.

19 But when the Jews spake against it, I was constrained to appeal unto Caesar: not that I had ought to accuse my nation of.

20 For this cause therefore have I called for you, to see you, and to speak with you: because that for the hope of Israel I am bound with this chain.

21 And they said unto him, We neither received letters out of Judaea concerning thee, neither any of the brethren that came shewed or spake any harm of thee.

22 But we desire to hear of thee what thou thinkest: for as concerning this sect, we know that every where it is spoken against.

23 And when they had appointed him a day, there came many to him into his lodging, to whom he expounded and testified the kingdom of God, persuading them concerning Jesus, both out of the law of Moses, and out of the prophets, from morning till evening.

24 And some believed the things which were spoken, and some believed not.

25 And when they agreed not among themselves, they departed, after that Paul had spoken one word, Well spake the Holy Ghost by Esaias the prophet unto our fathers.

26 Saying, Go unto this people, and say, Hearing ye shall hear, and shall not understand; and seeing ye shall see, and not perceive:

27 For the heart of this people is waxed gross, and their ears are dull of hearing, and their eyes have they closed; lest they should see with their eyes, and hear with their ears, and understand with their heart, and should be converted, and I should heal them.

28 Be it known therefore unto you, that the salvation of God is sent unto the Gentiles, and that they will hear it.

29 And when he had said these words, the Jews departed, and had great reasoning among themselves.

Paul's Two Years in Rome

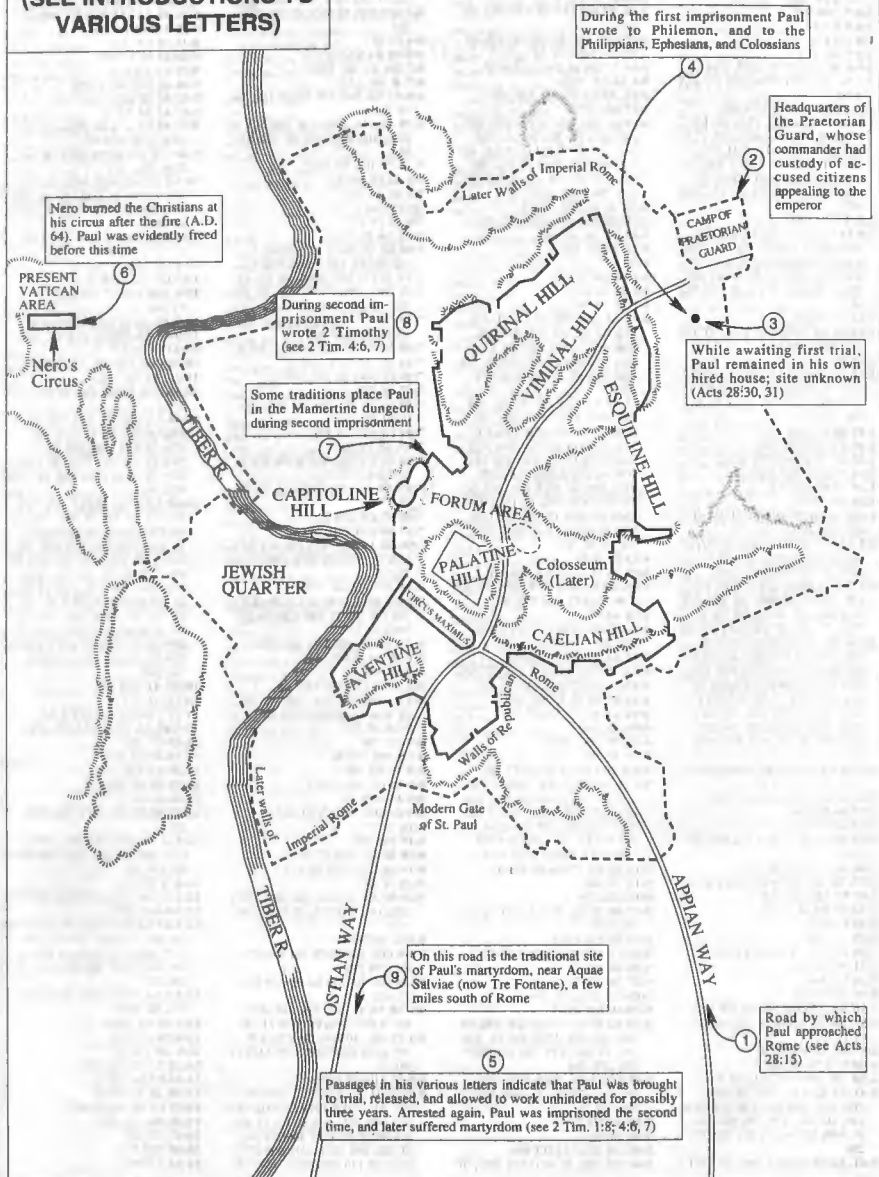

30 And Paul dwelt two whole years in his own hired house, and received all that came in unto him, 31 Preaching the kingdom of God, and teaching those things which concern the Lord Jesus Christ, with all confidence, no man forbidding him.

The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the ROMANS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

When Paul wrote this epistle he probably gave it no title. It was simply a letter he wrote to the believers in Rome. But subsequently the epistle came to be known as "To the Romans," Gr. pros Rhomaious, the title given to it in the earliest manuscripts. Later manuscripts enlarged the title to a descriptive "The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Romans," and this title is still used in some English versions.

2. AUTHORSHIP

That Paul the apostle is the author of this epistle has never been seriously questioned. Some scholars have suggested that ch. 16 may not have been a part of the original epistle sent to Rome but that it was rather a separate letter sent to Ephesus, where Paul had labored for some time (Acts 19). This theory is based largely on the length of the list of names in Rom. 16 and upon the assumption that Paul could hardly have known so many friends in a city that he had as yet not visited. However, since people naturally drifted toward Rome from all parts of the empire, it is not impossible that the apostle could have had many friends in that capital city. Moreover, all the earliest manuscripts include ch. 16 as an integral part of the epistle. Consequently, conservative modern scholarship leaves the epistle intact.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

It seems evident that the Epistle to the Romans was written from Corinth during Paul's three-month stay in that city on his Third Missionary Journey (Acts 20:1-3). Many scholars date this visit in the winter of 57-58, but some prefer an earlier date.

That the epistle was written from Corinth is indicated by his references to Gaius (Rom. 16:23; cf. 1 Cor. 1:14) and Erastus (Rom. 16:23; cf. 2 Tim. 4:20) and by his commendation of Phoebe, whom Paul describes as rendering special service to the church at Cenchreae, the eastern seaport of Corinth (Rom. 16:1).

At the time of writing the epistle, Paul was about to return to Palestine, bearing from the churches in Macedonia and Achaia a contribution for the poor among the Christians in Jerusalem (Rom. 15:25, 26; cf. Acts 19:21; 20:3; 24:17; 1 Cor. 16:1-5; 2 Cor. 8:1-4; 9:1, 2). He intended, after completing this mission, to visit Rome, and from there travel on to Spain (Acts 19:21; Rom. 15:21, 28). As yet he had never been able to visit the Christian church in the capital city of the Roman Empire, though he had often desired to do so (Rom. 1:13; 15:22). But now he believed that he had completed his missionary labors in Asia and Greece (ch. 15:19, 23), and was eager to move westward to strengthen the work in Italy and to introduce Christianity in Spain (see AA 373). In order to accomplish this latter purpose Paul desired to secure the blessing and cooperation of the believers in Rome. Therefore, in anticipation of his visit, he wrote them this epistle, outlining to them in strong, clear terms the great principles of his gospel (chs. 1:15; 2:16).

4. THEME

The theme of the epistle is the universal sinfulness of man and the universal grace of God in providing a way by which sinners may be not only pardoned but also restored to perfection and holiness. This "way" is faith in Jesus Christ, the Son of God, who died, rose again, and ever lives to reconcile and to restore.

As Paul writes this epistle his mind is full of the issues raised in his controversies with the Judaizers. He takes up the basic questions, and answers them in a broad presentation of the whole problem of sin and God's plan to meet the emergency. First Paul shows that all men, Jews and Gentiles alike, have sinned and continue to fall short of God's glorious ideal (ch. 3:23). There is no excuse for this, for all men, Jews and Gentiles alike, have received some revelation of the will of God (ch. 1:20). Therefore, all men are justly under condemnation. Moreover, sinful men are now hopelessly incapable of extricating themselves from this predicament, for in their depraved condition it is wholly impossible for them to obey God's will (ch. 8:7). Legalistic attempts to obey the divine law are not only doomed to failure but may also be evidence of an arrogant and self-righteous refusal to recognize man's weakness and his need of a Saviour. Only God Himself can provide a remedy. And this He has done by the sacrifice of His Son. All that is asked of fallen man is that he exercise faith, faith to accept the provisions made to cover his sinful past, and faith to accept the power offered to lead him into a life of righteousness.

This is Paul's gospel, as developed in the first part of the epistle. The remaining chapters deal with the practical application of the gospel to certain problems dealing with the chosen people and with the members of the Christian church.

Introduction (1:1-15)

The Salvation

- 1 Paul, a servant of Jesus Christ, called to be an apostle, separated unto the gospel of God,
- 2 (Which he had promised afore by his prophets in the holy scriptures,)
- 3 Concerning his Son Jesus Christ our Lord, which was made of the seed of David according to the flesh;
- 4 And declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead:
- 5 By whom have received grace and apostleship, for obedience to the faith among all nations, for his name:
- 6 Among whom are ye also the called of Jesus Christ:
- 7 To all that be in Rome, beloved of God, called to be saints: Grace to you and peace from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Personal Explanations

- 8 First, I thank my God through Jesus Christ for you all, that your faith is spoken of throughout the whole world.
- 9 For God is my witness, whom I serve with my spirit in the gospel of his Son, that without ceasing I make mention of you always in my prayers:
- 10 Making request, if by any means now at length I might have a prosperous journey by the will of God to come unto you.
- 11 For I long to see you, that I may impart unto you some spiritual gift, to the end ye may be established;
- 12 That is, that I may be comforted together with you by the mutual faith both of you and me.
- 13 Now I would not have you ignorant, brethren, that oftentimes I purposed to come unto you, (but was let hitherto,) that I might have some fruit among you also, even as among other Gentiles.
- 14 I am debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians; both to the wise, and to

The Doctrine of Justification by Faith

(1:16-5:21)

Righteousness Attained by Faith

- 16 For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ: for it is the power of God unto salvation to every one that believeth: to the Jew first, and also to the Greek.
- 17 For therein is the righteousness of God revealed from faith to faith: as it is written, The just shall live by faith.

The Failure of the Gentiles

- 18 For the wrath of God is revealed from heaven against all ungodliness and unrighteousness of men, who hold the truth in unrighteousness;
- 19 Because that which may be known of God is manifest in them: for God hath shewed it unto them.
- 20 For the invisible things of him from the creation of the world are clearly seen, being understood by the things that are made, even his eternal power and Godhead: so that they are without excuse:
- 21 Because that, when they knew God, they glorified him not as God, neither were thankful; but became vain in their imaginations, and their foolish heart was darkened.
- 22 Professing themselves to be wise, they became fools,
- 23 And changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and four-footed beasts, and creeping things.
- 24 Wherefore God also gave them up to uncleanness through the lusts of their own hearts, to dishonour their own bodies between themselves:
- 25 Who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature

1:1. The Beginning of Paul's Apostleship.—Paul regarded the occasion of his formal ordination as marking the beginning of a new and important epoch in his life-work. It was from the time of this solemn ceremony, when, just before he was to depart on his first missionary journey, he was "separated unto the gospel of God," that he afterward dated the beginning of his apostleship in the Christian church (RH May 11, 1911).

1:7, 8 (see EGW on Acts 18:2). A Strong Church in Rome.—Notwithstanding the opposition, twenty years after the crucifixion of Christ there was a live, earnest church in Rome. This church was strong and zealous, and the Lord worked for it (RH March 6, 1900).

1:14 (Matt. 28:19, 20). Debtor Through Accepting Christ.—In what sense was Paul debtor both to the Jew and to the Greek? To him had been given the commission, as it is given to every disciple of Christ, "Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost; teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." In accepting Christ, Paul accepted this commission. He realized that upon him rested the obligation of laboring for all classes of men—for Jew and Gentile, learned and unlearned, for those occupying high positions and for those in the most lowly walks of life (Letter 202, 1903).

1:17. A Growing Understanding of Faith.—The righteousness of Christ is revealed from faith to faith; that is from your present faith to an increased understanding of that faith which works by love and purifies the soul (RH Sept. 18, 1908).

1:20, 21 (Acts 14:17). Nature Acts as a Silent Preacher.—The material world is under God's control. The laws that govern all nature are obeyed by nature,

- *more than the Creator, who is blessed for ever. Amen.
- 26 For this cause God gave them up unto vile affections: for even their women did change the natural use into that which is against nature:
- 27 And likewise also the men, leaving the natural use of the woman, burned in their lust one toward another; men with men working that which is unseemly, and receiving in themselves that recompense of their error which was meet.
- 28 And even as they did not like ^{*}to retain God in their knowledge, God gave them over to ^aa reprobate mind, to do those things which are not convenient;
- 29 Being filled with all unrighteousness, fornication, wickedness, covetousness, maliciousness; full of envy, murder, debate, deceit, malignity; whisperers,
- 30 Backbiters, haters of God, despiteful, proud, boasters, inventors of evil things, disobedient to parents,
- 31 Without understanding, covenant-breakers, ^bwithout natural affection, implacable, unmerciful:
- 32 Who knowing the judgment of God, that they which commit such things are worthy of death, not only do the same, but ^chave pleasure in them that do them.

The Failure of the Jews

- 2 Therefore thou art inexcusable, O man, whosoever thou art that judgest: for wherein thou judgest another, thou condemnest thyself; for thou that judgest doest the same things.
- 2 But we are sure that the judgment of God is according to truth against them which commit such things.
- 3 And thinkest thou this, O man, that judgest them which do such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God?
- 4 Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?
- 5 But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God;

Everything speaks and acts the will of the Creator. The clouds, the rain, the dew, the sunshine, the showers, the wind, the storm, all are under the supervision of God, and yield implicit obedience to him who employs them. The tiny spear of grass bursts its way through the earth, first the blade, then the ear, and then the full corn in the ear. The Lord uses these, His obedient servants, to do His will. The fruit is first seen in the bud, enclosing the future pear, peach, or apple, and the Lord develops these in their proper season, because they do not resist His working. They do not oppose the order of His arrangements. His works, as seen in the natural world, are not one half comprehended or appreciated. These silent preachers will teach human beings their lessons, if they will only be attentive hearers (Letter 131, Acts 17).

1:20-25 (Ps. 19:1-3; Acts 17:22-29; 1 Cor. 1:21; Col. 2:9; Heb. 1:3). Nature's Revelation Imperfect.—The most difficult and humiliating lesson that man has to learn is his own inefficiency in depending upon human wisdom, and the sure failure of his own efforts to read nature correctly. Sin has obscured his vision, and of himself he cannot interpret nature without placing it above God. He cannot discern in it God, or Jesus Christ, whom He has sent. He is in the same position as were the Athenians, who erected their altars for the worship of nature. Standing in the midst of Mars' Hill, Paul presented before the people of Athens the majesty of the living God in contrast with their idolatrous worship. [Acts 17:22-29 quoted.]

Those who have a true knowledge of God will not become so infatuated with the laws of matter or the operations of nature as to overlook, or refuse to acknowledge, the continual working of God in nature. Nature is not God, nor was it ever God. The voice of nature testifies of God, but nature is not God. As His created work, it simply bears a testimony to God's power. Deity is the author of nature. The natural world has, in itself, no power but that which

- 23 Thou that makest thy boast of the law, through breaking the law dishonourest thou God?
- 24 For the name of God is blasphemed among the Gentiles through you, as it is written.
- 25 For circumcision verily profiteth, if thou keep the law: but if thou be a breaker of the law, thy circumcision is made uncircumcision.
- 26 Therefore if the uncircumcision keep the righteousness of the law, shall not his uncircumcision be counted for circumcision?
- 27 And shall not uncircumcision which is by nature, if it fulfil the law, judge thee, who by the letter and circumcision dost transgress the law?
- 28 For he is not a Jew, which is one outwardly; neither is that circumcision, which is outward in the flesh:
- 29 But he is a Jew, which is one inwardly; and circumcision is that of the heart, in the spirit, and not in the letter; whose praise is not of men, but of God.

- 5 But if our unrighteousness commend the righteousness of God, what shall we say? Is God unrighteous who taketh vengeance? (I speak as a man)
- 6 God forbid: for then how shall God judge the world?
- 7 For if the truth of God hath more abounded through my lie unto his glory; why yet am I also judged as a sinner?

- 13 Their throat is an open sepulchre; with their tongues they have used deceit; the poison of asps is under their lips:
- 14 Whose mouth is full of cursing and bitter ness;
- 15 Their feet are swift to shed blood:
- 16 Destruction and misery are in their ways:
- 17 And the way of peace have they not known;
- 18 There is no fear of God before their eyes.
- 19 Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God.
- 20 Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin.

Righteousness Provided in Christ

- 21 But now the righteousness of God without the law is manifested, being witnessed by the law and the prophets:
- 22 Even the righteousness of God which is by faith of Jesus Christ unto all and upon all them that believe: for there is no difference:
- 23 For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God:
- 24 Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus:
- 25 Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God:
- 26 To declare, I say, at this time his righteousness: that he might be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus.
- 27 Where is boasting then? It is excluded:

God supplies.

There is a personal God, the Father; there is a personal Christ, the Son. [Heb. 1:1, 2; Ps. 19:1-3 quoted.] . . .

The ancient philosophers prided themselves on their superior knowledge. Let us read the inspired apostle's understanding of the matter. "Professing themselves to be wise," he says, "they became fools, and changed the glory of the uncorruptible God into an image made like to corruptible man, and to birds, and fourfooted beasts, and creeping things. . . . Who changed the truth of God into a lie, and worshipped and served the creature more than the Creator." In its human wisdom the world cannot know God. Its wise men gather an imperfect knowledge of God from His created works, and then in their foolishness they exalt nature and the laws of nature above nature's God. Those who have not a knowledge of God through an acceptance of the revelation He has made of Himself in Christ, will obtain only an imperfect knowledge of Him in nature; and this knowledge, so far from bringing the whole being into conformity to His will, will make men idolaters. Professing themselves to be wise, they will become fools.

Those who think they can obtain a knowledge of God aside from His Representative, whom the Word declares is "the express image of his person," will need to become fools in their own estimation before they can be wise. It is impossible to gain a perfect knowledge of God from nature alone; for nature itself is imperfect. In its imperfection it cannot represent God, it cannot reveal the character of God in its moral perfection. But Christ came as a personal Saviour to the world. He represented a personal God. As a personal Saviour, He ascended on high; and He will come again as He ascended to heaven—a personal Saviour. He is the express image of the Father's person. "In him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily" (RH Nov. 8, 1898).

2:4 (Acts 5:31). Repentance the First Fruits of the Spirit's Working.—Repentance for sin is the first fruits of the working of the Holy Spirit in the life. It is the only process by which infinite purity reflects the image of Christ in His redeemed subjects. In Christ all fullness dwells. Science that is not in harmony with Him is of no value. He teaches us to count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus our Lord. This knowledge is the highest science that any man can reach (MS 28, 1905).

¹ Gr. charged ² or, subject to the judgment of God ³ or, foreordained ⁴ or, passing over

(John 14:26.) The Spirit Presents Truths of the Old and New Testaments.—In bringing men to repentance, it is not the office work of the Holy Spirit to reveal new truths, but to present to the mind and urge upon the conscience the precious lessons which Christ has given in the Old and New Testaments (MS 32, 1900).

3:19 (Matt. 27:21; 2 Cor. 5:10; Jude 15; Rev. 20:12, 13). The Tattered Shreds of Human Reasoning.—The whole world stands condemned before the great moral standard of righteousness. In the great day of judgment every soul that has lived on the earth will receive sentence in accordance as to whether his deeds have been good or evil in the light of the law of God. Every mouth will be stopped as the cross with its dying Victim shall be presented, and its real bearing shall be seen by every mind that has been sin blinded and corrupted. Sinners will stand condemned before the cross, with its mysterious Victim bowing beneath the infinite burden of human transgression. How quickly will be swept away every subterfuge, every lying excuse! Human apostasy will appear in its heinous character. Men will see what their choice has been. They will then understand that they have chosen Barabbas instead of Christ, the Prince of Peace.

The mystery of the incarnation and the crucifixion will be plainly discerned; for it will be presented before the mind's eye, and every condemned soul will read what has been the character of his rejection of truth. All will understand that they have erred from the truth by receiving the misinterpretations and bewitching lies of Satan instead of "every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God." They read the announcement, "Thou, O man, hast chosen to stand under the banner of the great rebel, Satan, and in so doing thou hast destroyed thyself." Whatever may have been the endowment of talent, whatever may have been the supposed wisdom, the rejecter of truth has then no ability to turn upon God. The door is shut, as was the door of the ark in Noah's day.

The great men of earth will then understand that they have surrendered mind and heart to ensnaring philosophy which pleased the carnal heart. Hope and grace and every inducement had been held out by One who loved them, and gave His life for them, that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life, but they refused the love of God. Their lofty opinions, their human reasonings, were extolled; they declared themselves sufficient in themselves to understand divine mysteries, and they thought their own powers of discrimination were strong enough to discern truth for themselves. They fell an easy prey to Satan's subtlety, for he presented before them specious errors in human philosophy, which has an infatuation for human minds. They turned from the Source of all wisdom, and worshiped intellect. The message and the messengers of God were criticized and discarded as beneath their human, lofty ideas. The invitations of mercy were made a jest, and they denied the divinity of Jesus Christ and derided the idea of His pre-existence before He assumed human nature. But the tattered shreds of human reasoning will be found to be only as ropes of sand in the great day of God (ST March 7, 1895).

Wicked Will Feel Agony of Cross.—Those who reject the mercy so freely proffered, will yet be made to know the worth of that which they have despised. They will feel the agony which Christ endured upon the cross to purchase redemption for all who would receive it. And they will then realize what they have lost—eternal life and the immortal inheritance (RH Sept. 4, 1883).

(Matt. 7:23; 27:40, 42; Rom. 14:11; Jude 15; Rev. 17:6; 15:17.) Indescribable Confusion of the Wicked.—When sinners are compelled to look upon Him who clothed His divinity with humanity, and who still wears this garb, their confusion is indescribable. The scales fall from their eyes, and they see that which before they would not see. They realize what they might have been had they received Christ, and improved the opportunities granted them. They see the law which they have spurned, exalted even as God's throne is exalted. They see God Himself giving reverence to His law.

What a scene that will be! No pen can describe it! The accumulated guilt of the world will be laid bare, and the voice of the Judge will be heard saying to the wicked, "Depart from me, ye that work iniquity."

Then those who pierced Christ will remember how they slighted His love and abused His compassion; how they chose in His stead Barabbas, a robber and murderer; how they crowned the Saviour with thorns, and caused Him to be scourged and crucified; how, in the agony of His death on the cross, they taunted Him, saying, "Let him now come down from the cross, and we will believe him." "He saved others; himself he cannot save." They will seem to hear again His voice of entreaty. Every tone of solicitude will vibrate as distinctly in their ears as when the Saviour spoke to them. Every act of insult and mockery done to Christ will be as fresh in their memory as when the satanic deeds were done.

They will call on the rocks and mountains to fall on them and hide them from the face of Him that sitteth on the throne and from the wrath of the Lamb. "The wrath of the Lamb"—One who ever showed Himself full of tenderness, patience, and long-suffering, who, having given Himself up as the sacrificial offering, was led as a lamb to the slaughter, to save sinners from the doom now falling upon them because they would not allow Him to take away their guilt (RH June 18, 1901).

3:19-28 (Gal. 2:16, 17; 3:10-13, 24). No Saving Properties in the Law.—I would call on all who would win heaven, to take warning. Do not devote your precious probationary time to sewing together fig leaves to cover the nakedness which is the result of sin. As you look into the Lord's great moral looking glass, His holy law, His standard of character, do not for a moment suppose that it can cleanse you. There are no saving properties in the law. It cannot pardon the transgressor. The penalty must be exacted. The Lord does not save sinners by abolishing His law, the foundation of His government in heaven and in earth. The punishment has been endured by the sinner's substitute. Not that God is cruel and merciless, and Christ so merciful that He died on Calvary's cross to abolish a law so arbitrary that it needed to be extinguished, crucified between two thieves. The throne of God must not bear one stain of crime, one taint of sin. In the councils of heaven, before the world was created, the Father and the Son covenanted together that if man proved disloyal to God, Christ, one with the Father, would take the place of the transgressor, and suffer the penalty of justice that must fall upon him (MS 145, 1897).

(Ch. 5:1.) "This Is Justification by Faith."—As the penitent sinner, contrite before God, discerns Christ's atonement in His behalf, and accepts this atonement as his only hope in this life and the future life, his sins are pardoned. This is justification by faith. Every believing soul is to conform his will entirely to God's will, and keep in a state of repentance and contrition, exercising faith in the atoning merits of the Redeemer and advancing from strength to strength, from glory to glory.

Pardon and justification are one and the same thing. Through faith, the believer passes from the position of a rebel, a child of sin and Satan, to the position of a loyal subject of Christ Jesus, not because of an inherent goodness, but because Christ receives him as His child by adoption. The sinner receives the forgiveness of his sins, because these sins are borne by his Substitute and Surety. The Lord speaks to His heavenly Father, saying: "This is My child. I relieve him from the condemnation of death, giving him My life insurance policy—eternal life—because I have taken his place and have suffered for his sins. He is even My beloved son." Thus man, pardoned, and clothed with the beautiful garments of Christ's righteousness, stands faultless before God.

The sinner may err, but he is not cast off without mercy. His only hope, however, is repentance toward God and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. It is the Father's prerogative to forgive our transgressions and sins, because Christ has taken upon Himself our guilt and reprieved us, imputing to us His own righteousness. His sacrifice satisfies fully the demands of justice.

Justification is the opposite of condemnation. God's boundless mercy is exercised toward those who are wholly undeserving. He forgives transgressions and sins for the sake of Jesus, who has become the propitiation for our sins. Through faith in Christ, the guilty transgressor is brought into favor with God and into the strong hope of life eternal (MS 21, 1891).

A Sign to the World.—Justification by faith in Christ will be made manifest in transformation of character. This is the sign to the world of the truth of the doctrines we profess. The daily evidence that we are a living church is seen in the fact that we are practicing the Word. A living testimony goes forth to the world in consistent Christian action.

It declares to a world apostatized that there is a people who believe that our safety is in clinging to the Bible. This testimony is in unmistakable distinction from that of the great apostate church, which adopts human wisdom and authority in place of the wisdom and authority of God (Letter 83, 1896).

3:20. See EGW on 1 John 3:4.

3:20-31 (Gal. 6:14; Eph. 2:8, 9; Titus 3:5; Heb. 7:25; Rev. 22:17). With Humble Hearts Survey the Atonement.—Let no one take the limited, narrow position that any of the works of man can help in the least possible way to liquidate the debt of his transgression. This is a fatal deception. If you would understand it, you must cease haggling over your pet ideas, and with humble hearts survey the atonement.

This matter is so dimly comprehended that thousands upon thousands claiming to be sons of God are children of the wicked one, because they will depend on their own works. God always demanded good works, the law demands it, but because man placed himself in sin where his good works were valueless, Jesus' righteousness alone can avail. Christ is able to save to the uttermost because He ever liveth to make intercession for us.

All that man can possibly do toward his own salvation is to accept the invitation, "Whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely." No sin can be committed by man for which satisfaction has not been met on Calvary. Thus the cross, in earnest appeals, continually proffers to the sinner a thorough expiation (MS 50, 1900).

3:24-26 (see EGW on ch. 5:11). The Father Abundantly Satisfied.—The atonement that has been made for us by Christ is wholly and abundantly satisfactory to the Father. God can be just, and yet the justifier of those who believe (MS 28, 1905).

(Ch. 5:1.) Justification Means Complete Pardon.—[Rom. 3:24-26 quoted.] Here the truth is laid out in plain lines. This mercy and goodness is wholly undeserved. The grace of Christ is freely to justify the sinner without merit or claim on his part. Justification is a full, complete pardon of sin. The moment a sinner accepts Christ by faith, that moment he is pardoned. The righteousness of Christ is imputed to him, and he is no more to doubt God's forgiving grace.

There is nothing in faith that makes it our saviour. Faith cannot remove our guilt. Christ is the power of God unto salvation to all them that believe. The justification comes through the merits of Jesus Christ. He has paid the price for the sinner's redemption. Yet it is only through faith in His blood that Jesus can justify the believer.

The sinner cannot depend upon his own good works as a means of justification. He must come to the point where he will renounce all his sin, and embrace one degree of light after another as it shines upon his pathway. He simply grasps by faith the free and ample provision made in the blood of Christ. He believes the promises of God, which through Christ are made unto him sanctification and righteousness and redemption. And if he follows Jesus, he will walk humbly in the light, rejoicing in the light and diffusing that light to others. Being justified by faith, he carries cheerfulness with him in his obedience in all his life. Peace with God is the result of what Christ is to him. The souls who are in subordination to God, who honor Him, and are doers of His Word, will receive divine enlightenment. In the precious Word of God there is purity and loveliness as well as beauty that, unless assisted by God, the highest powers of man cannot attain to (ST May 19, 1898).

(Ps. 18:35; 85:10; 89:14; Rev. 4:3; see EGW on John 3:16.) The Mingling of Judgment and Mercy.—As the bow in the cloud is formed by the union of the sunlight and the shower, so the rainbow encircling the throne represents the combined power of mercy and justice. It is not justice alone that is to be maintained; for this would eclipse the glory of the rainbow of promise above the throne; man could see only the penalty of the law. Were there no justice, no penalty, there would be no stability to the government of God.

It is the mingling of judgment and mercy that makes salvation full and complete. It is the blending of the two that leads us, as we view the world's Redeemer and the law of Jehovah, to exclaim, "Thy gentleness hath made me great." We know that the gospel is a perfect and complete system, revealing the immutability of the law of God. It inspires the heart with hope, and with love for God. Mercy invites us to enter through the gates into the city of God, and justice is sacrificed to accord to every obedient soul full privileges as a member of the royal family, a child of the heavenly King.

If we were defective in character, we could not pass the gates that mercy has opened to the obedient, for justice stands at the entrance, and demands holiness, purity, in all who would see God. Were justice extinct, and were it possible for divine mercy to open the gates to the whole race, irrespective of character, there would be a worse condition of disaffection and rebellion in heaven than before Satan was expelled. The peace, happiness, and harmony of heaven would be broken up. The change from earth to heaven will not change men's characters; the happiness of the redeemed in heaven results from the characters formed in this life, after the image of Christ. The saints in heaven will first have been saints on earth.

The salvation that Christ made such a sacrifice to gain for man, is that which is alone of value, that which saves from sin—the cause of all the misery and woe in our world. Mercy extended to the sinner is constantly drawing him to Jesus. If he responds, coming in penitence with confession, in faith laying hold of the hope set before him in the gospel, God will not despise the broken and contrite heart. Thus the law of God is not weakened, but the power of sin is broken, and the scepter of mercy is extended to the penitent sinner (Letter II, 1890).

3:24-28 (see EGW on Gal. 2:16; 1 Thess. 4:3). Speculations About Righteousness by Faith.—Many commit the error of trying to define minutely the fine points of distinction between justification and sanctification. Into the definitions of these two terms they often bring their own ideas and speculations. Why try to be more minute than is Inspiration on the vital question of righteousness by faith? Why try to work out every minute point, as if the salvation of the soul depended upon all having exactly your understanding of this matter? All cannot see in the same line of vision (MS 21, 1891).

3:25. See EGW on ch. 7:12.

3:27. See EGW on Eph. 2:8, 9.

3:28. See EGW on ch. 4:3, 4.

3:31 (ch. 6:15; 1 Sam. 15:22; Rev. 22:14; see EGW on 2 Cor. 3:7-18; Eph. 2:14-16; Rev. 2:6). God's Standard Has Not Changed.—The gospel of good news was not to be interpreted as allowing men to live in continued rebellion against God by transgressing His just and holy law. Why cannot those who claim to understand the Scriptures, see that God's requirement under grace is just the same He made in Eden—perfect obedience to His law. In the judgment, God will ask those who profess to be Christians, Why did you claim to believe in My Son, and continue to

- By what law? of works? Nay: but by the law of faith.
- 28 Therefore we conclude that a man is justified by faith without the deeds of the law.
- 29 Is he the God of the Jews only? is he not also of the Gentiles? Yes, of the Gentiles also:

Righteousness by Faith An Old Testament Doctrine

- 4 What shall we say then that Abraham our father, as pertaining to the flesh, hath found?
- 2 For if by Abraham were justified by works, he hath whereof to glory; but not before God.
- 3 For what saith the scripture? Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness.
- 4 Now to him that worketh is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt.
- 5 But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness.
- 6 Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the man, unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works,
- 7 Saying, Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered.
- 8 Blessed is the man to whom the Lord will not impute sin.
- 9 Cometh this blessedness then upon the circumcision only, or upon the uncircumcision also? for we say that faith was reckoned to Abraham for righteousness.
- 10 How was it then reckoned? when he was in circumcision, or in uncircumcision? Not in circumcision, but in uncircumcision.
- 11 And he received the sign of circumcision, a seal of the righteousness of the faith which he had yet being uncircumcised: that he might be the father of all them that believe, though they be not circumcised: that righteousness might be imputed unto them also:

- 13 For the promise, that he should be the heir of the world, was not to Abraham, or to his seed, through the law, but through the righteousness of faith.
- 14 For if they which are of the law be heirs, faith is made void, and the promise made of none effect:
- 15 Because the law worketh wrath: for where no law is, there is no transgression.
- 16 Therefore it is of faith, that it might be by grace; to the end the promise might be sure to all the seed; not to that only which is of the law, but to that also which is of the faith of Abraham; who is the father of us all,

- 20 He staggered not at the promise of God through unbelief; but was strong in faith, giving glory to God;
- 21 And being fully persuaded that, what he had promised, he was able also to perform.

- 23 Now it was not written for his sake alone, that it was imputed to him;

Rom

The Blessed Effects of Justification

- 5 Therefore being justified by faith, we have peace with God through our Lord transgress My law? Who required this at your hands—to trample upon My rules of righteousness? "Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams." The gospel of the New Testament is not the Old Testament standard lowered to meet the sinner and save him in his sins. God requires of all His subjects obedience, entire obedience to all His commandments. He demands now as ever perfect righteousness as the only title to heaven. Christ is our hope and our refuge. His righteousness is imputed only to the obedient. Let us accept it through faith, that the Father shall find in us no sin. But those who have trampled on the holy law will have no right to claim that righteousness. O that we might view the immensity of the plan of salvation as obedient children to all God's requirements, believing that we have peace with God through Jesus Christ, our atoning sacrifice (RH Sept. 21, 1886).

4 ¹ or, like unto him

Obedience.—God requires at this time just what He required of the holy pair in Eden, perfect obedience to His requirements. His law remains the same in all ages. The great standard of righteousness presented in the Old Testament is not lowered in the New. It is not the work of the gospel to weaken the claims of God's holy law, but to bring men up where they can keep its precepts.

The faith in Christ which saves the soul is not what it is represented to be by many. "Believe, believe," is their cry; "only believe in Christ, and you will be saved. It is all you have to do." While true faith trusts wholly in Christ for salvation, it will lead to perfect conformity to the law of God. Faith is manifested by works. And the apostle John declares, "He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar" (RH Oct. 5, 1886).

Disconnect the Law and the Gospel?—The enemy has ever labored to disconnect the law and the gospel. They go hand in hand (MS 11, 1893).

We honor both the Father and the Son when we talk about the law. The Father gave us the law, and the Son died to magnify it and make it honorable (MS 5, 1885).

It is impossible for us to exalt the law of Jehovah unless we take hold of the righteousness of Jesus Christ (MS 5, 1889).

The law of Jehovah is the tree, the gospel is the fragrant blossoms and fruit which it bears (Letter 119, 1897).

4:3-5 (chs. 3:28; 5:1; Eph. 2:8). Faith Lays Hold of Christ's Righteousness.—Faith is the condition upon which God has seen fit to promise pardon to sinners; not that there is any virtue in faith whereby salvation is merited, but because faith can lay hold of the merits of Christ, the remedy provided for sin. Faith can present Christ's perfect obedience instead of the sinner's transgression and defection. When the sinner believes that Christ is his personal Saviour, then according to His unfulfilling promises, God pardons his sin and justifies him freely. The repentant soul realizes that his justification comes because Christ, as his substitute and surety, has died for him, is his atonement and righteousness.

"Abraham believed God, and it was counted unto him for righteousness. Now to him that worketh is the reward not reckoned of grace, but of debt. But to him that worketh not, but believeth on him that justifieth the ungodly, his faith is counted for righteousness." Righteousness is obedience to the law. The law demands righteousness, and this the sinner owes to the law; but he is incapable of rendering it. The only way in which he can attain to righteousness is through faith. By faith he can bring to God the merits of Christ, and the Lord places the obedience of His Son to the sinner's account. Christ's righteousness is accepted in place of man's failure, and God receives, pardons, justifies, the repentant, believing soul, treats him as though he were righteous, and loves him as He loves His Son. This is how faith is accounted righteousness (RH Nov. 4, 1890).

5:1 (chs. 3:19-28; 4:3-5; Gal. 2:16; Heb. 11:1; see EGW on Gal. 5:6). Faith the Means, Not the End.—Faith is not the ground of our salvation, but it is the great blessing—the eye that sees, the ear that hears, the feet that run, the hand that grasps. It is the means, not the end. If Christ gave His life to save sinners, why shall I not take that blessing? My faith grasps it, and thus my faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things unseen. Thus resting and believing, I have peace with God through the Lord Jesus Christ (Letter 4, 1905).

(2 Cor. 5:7.) Faith and Feeling Distinct.—Faith and feeling are as distinct as the east is from the west. Faith is not dependent on feeling. We must earnestly cry to God in faith, feeling or no feeling, and then live our prayers. Our assurance and evidence is God's word, and after we have asked we must believe without doubting. I praise Thee, O God, I praise Thee. Thou hast not failed me in the performance of Thy word. Thou has revealed Thyself unto me, and I am Thine to do Thy will (Letter 7, 1892).

Simplicity and Power of Faith.—Faith is simple in its operation and powerful in its results. Many professed Christians, who have a knowledge of the sacred Word, and believe its truth, fail in the childlike trust that is essential to the religion of Jesus. They do not reach out with that peculiar touch that brings the virtue of healing to the soul (Redemption: The Miracles of Christ, p. 97).

5:11 (ch. 3:24-26). A Divine Remedy for Sin.—The atonement of Christ is not a mere skillful way to have our sins pardoned; it is a divine remedy for the cure of transgression and the restoration of spiritual health. It is the Heaven-ordained means by which the righteousness of Christ may be not only upon us but in our hearts and characters (Letter 406, 1906).

5:12-19 (Matt. 4:1-11; 1 Cor. 15:22, 45; Phil. 2:5-8; Heb. 2:14-18; 4:15). Strength in Cooperating With God.—[Rom. 5:12, 18, 19 quoted.] The apostle contrasts the disobedience of Adam and the full, entire obedience of Christ. Think of what Christ's obedience means to us! It means that in His strength we too may obey. Christ was a human being. He served His heavenly Father with all the strength of His human nature. He has a twofold nature, at once human and divine. He is both God and man.

Christ came to this world to show us what God can do and what we can do in cooperation with God. In human flesh He went into the wilderness to be tempted by the enemy. He knows what it is to hunger and thirst. He knows the weakness and the infirmities of the flesh. He was tempted in all points like as we are tempted.

Our ransom has been paid by our Saviour. No one need be enslaved by Satan. Christ stands before us as our divine example, our all-powerful Helper. We have been bought with a price that it is impossible to compute. Who can measure the goodness and mercy of redeeming love (MS 76, 1903)?

Christ a Free Moral Agent.—The second Adam was a free moral agent, held responsible for His conduct. Surrounded by intensely subtle and misleading influences, He was much less favorably situated than was the first Adam to lead a sinless life. Yet in the midst of sinners He resisted every temptation to sin, and maintained His innocence. He was ever sinless (SW Sept. 29, 1903).

Man on Vantage Ground With God.—As related to the first Adam, men receive from him nothing but guilt and the sentence of death. But Christ steps in and passes over the ground where Adam fell, enduring every test in man's behalf. He redeems Adam's disgraceful failure and fall by coming forth from the trial untarnished. This places man on vantage ground with God. It places him where, through accepting Christ as his Saviour, he becomes a partaker of the divine nature. Thus he becomes connected with God and Christ (Letter 68, 1899).

6:1-4 (Matt. 28:19; 2 Peter 1:2, 5-7). Baptism a Mutual Pledge.—In baptism we are given to the Lord as a vessel to be used. Baptism is a most solemn renunciation of the world. Self is by profession dead to a life of sin. The waters cover the candidate, and in the presence of the whole heavenly universe the mutual pledge is made. In the name of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, man is laid in his watery grave, buried with Christ in baptism, and raised from the water to live the new life of loyalty to God. The three great powers in heaven are witnesses; they are invisible but present.

In the first chapter of Second Peter is presented the progressive work in the Christian life. The whole chapter is a lesson of deep importance. If man, in acquiring the Christian graces, works on the plan of addition, God has pledged Himself to work in his behalf upon the plan of multiplication. "Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord." The work is laid out before every soul that has acknowledged his faith in Jesus Christ by baptism, and has become a receiver of the pledge from the three persons—the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit (MS 57, 1900).

Faithfulness to Our Baptismal Vows.—Faithfulness to our baptismal vows gives the heart preparation needful for saving souls (RH May 26, 1904).

(2 Cor. 6:17, 18; 7:1; Col. 3:1.) Imprint of God Received by Baptism.—Christ made baptism the entrance to His spiritual kingdom. He made this a positive condition with which all must comply who wish to be acknowledged as under the authority of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Ghost. Those who receive the ordinance of baptism thereby make a public declaration that they have renounced the world, and have become members of the royal family, children of the heavenly King.

Those who do this are to make all worldly considerations secondary to their new relations. Publicly they have declared that they will no longer live in pride and self-indulgence. Christ enjoins those who receive this ordinance to remember that they are bound by a solemn covenant to live to the Lord. They are to use for Him all their entrusted capabilities, never losing the realization that they bear God's sign of obedience to the Sabbath of the fourth commandment, that they are subjects of Christ's kingdom, partakers of the divine nature. They are to surrender all they have and are to God, employing all their gifts to His name's glory.

Those who are baptized in the threefold name of the

Jesus Christ:

- 2 By whom also we have access by faith into this grace wherein we stand, and rejoice in hope of the glory of God.
- 3 And not only so, but we glory in tribulations also: knowing that tribulation worketh patience;
- 4 And patience, experience; and experience, hope:
- 5 And hope maketh not ashamed; because the love of God is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Ghost which is given unto us.
- 6 For when we were yet without strength, ¹in due time Christ died for the ungodly.
- 7 For scarcely for a righteous man will one die: yet peradventure for a good man some would even dare to die.
- 8 But God commendeth his love toward us, in that, while we were yet sinners, Christ died for us.
- 9 Much more then, being now justified by his blood, we shall be saved from wrath through him.
- 10 For if, when we were enemies, we were reconciled to God by the death of his Son, much more, being reconciled, we shall be saved by his life.
- 11 And not only so, but we also joy in God through our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom we have now received the ²atonement.

The Effects of Justification Contrasted with the Results of Adam's Fall

- 12 Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, ³for that all have sinned:
- 13 (For until the law sin was in the world: but sin is not imputed when there is no law.)
- 14 Nevertheless death reigned from Adam to Moses, even over them that had not sinned after the similitude of Adam's transgression, who is the figure of him that was to come.
- 15 But not as the offence, so also is the free gift. For if through the offence of one many be dead, much more the grace of God, and the gift by grace, which is by one man, Jesus Christ, hath abounded unto many.
- 16 And not as it was by one that sinned, so is more dominion over him.

- 10 For in that he died, he died unto sin once; but in that he liveth, he liveth unto God.
- 11 Likewise reckon ye also yourselves to be dead indeed unto sin, but alive unto God through Jesus Christ our Lord.

Deliverance from the Bondage of Law and Sin

- 12 Let not sin therefore reign in your mortal body, that ye should obey it in the lusts thereof.
- 13 Neither yield ye your members as instruments of unrighteousness unto sin: but yield yourselves unto God, as those that are alive from the dead, and your members as instruments of righteousness unto God.
- 14 For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace.
- 15 What then? shall we sin, because we are not under the law, but under grace? God forbid.
- 16 Know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey: whether of sin unto death, or of obedience unto righteousness?
- 17 But God be thanked, that ye were the servants of sin, but ye have obeyed from the heart that form of doctrine which was delivered you.

Rom

- 18 Being then made free from sin, ye became the servants of righteousness.
- 19 I speak after the manner of men because of the infirmity of your flesh: for as ye have yielded your members servants to uncleanness and to iniquity unto iniquity; even so now yield your members servants to righteousness unto holiness.
- 20 For when ye were the servants of sin, ye were free from righteousness.
- 21 What fruit had ye then in those things whereof ye are now ashamed? for the end of those things is death.
- 22 But now being made free from sin, and become servants to God, ye have your fruit unto holiness, and the end everlasting life.
- 23 For the wages of sin is death; but the gift of God is eternal life through Jesus Christ our Lord.

The Relation of the Law to Sin

- 7 Know ye not, brethren, (for I speak to them that know the law,) how that the law hath dominion over a man as long as he liveth?
- 2 For the woman which hath an husband is bound by the law to her husband so long as he liveth; but if the husband be dead, she is loosed from the law of her husband.
- 3 So then if, while her husband liveth, she be married to another man, she shall be called an adulteress: but if her husband be dead, she is free from that law; so that she is no adulteress, though she be married to another man.
- 4 Wherefore, my brethren, ye also are become dead to the law by the body of Christ: that ye should be married to another, even to him who is raised from the dead, that we should bring forth fruit unto God.
- 5 For when we were in the flesh, the motions of sins, which were by the law, did work in our members to bring forth fruit unto death.
- 6 But now we are delivered from the law, that being dead wherein we were held: that we should serve in newness of spirit, and not in the oldness of the letter.
- 7 What shall we say then? is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet.
- 8 But sin, taking occasion by the commandment, wrought in me all manner of concupiscence. For without the law sin was dead.
- 9 For I was alive without the law once: but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died.
- 10 And the commandment, which was ordained to life, I found to be unto death.
- 11 For sin, taking occasion by the commandment, deceived me, and by it slew me.
- 12 Wherefore the law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good.
- 13 Was then that which is good made death unto me? God forbid. But sin, that it might appear sin, working death in me by that which is good; that sin by the commandment might become exceeding sinful.

who assume the name of Christ are unsanctified and unholy. They have been baptized, but they were buried alive. Self did not die, and therefore they did not rise to newness of life in Christ (MS 148, 1897).

(2 Cor. 6:17.) Baptism Not Graduation.—Every opportunity, every advantage, every privilege, has been given to us to gain a rich Christian experience; but we do not learn everything all at once. There must be a growth. Many, having learned a little in school, think they are ready to graduate. They think they know about all that is worth knowing. We are not to think that as soon as we are baptized we are ready to graduate from the school of Christ. When we have accepted Christ, and in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit have pledged ourselves to serve God, the Father, Christ, and the Holy Spirit—the three dignitaries and powers of heaven—pledge themselves that every facility shall be given to us if we carry out our baptismal vows to “come out from among them, and be . . . separate, . . . and touch not the unclean thing.” When we are true to our vows, He says, “I will receive you” (MS 85, 1901).

6:15, See EGW on ch. 3:31.

6:19, 22 (1 Thess. 3:13; 4:7; Heb. 12:14). Wholeness to God—Holiness is wholeness to God. The soul is surrendered to God. The will, and even the thoughts, are brought into subjection to the will of Christ. The love of Jesus fills the soul, and is constantly going out in a clear, refreshing stream, to make glad the hearts of others (MS 33, 1911).

6:23, A Voice Heard in Heaven.—Transgression placed the whole world in jeopardy, under the death sentence. But in heaven there was heard a voice saying, “I have found a ransom” (Letter 22, 1900).

The Conflict Between Flesh and Spirit

- 14 For we know that the law is spiritual: but I am carnal, sold under sin.
- 15 For that which I do I ⁴allow not: for what I would, that do I not; but what I hate, that do I.
- 16 If then I do that which I would not, I consent unto the law that it is good.
- 17 Now then it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.
- 18 For I know that in me (that is, in my flesh,) dwelleth no good thing: for to will is present with me; but how to perform that which is good I find not.
- 19 For the good that I would I do not: but the evil which I would not, that I do.
- 20 Now if I do that I would not, it is no more I that do it, but sin that dwelleth in me.
- 21 I find then a law, that, when I would do good, evil is present with me.
- 22 For I delight in the law of God after the inward man:
- 23 But I see another law in my members, warring against the law of my mind, and bringing me into captivity to the law of sin which is in my members.
- 24 O wretched man that I am! who shall deliver me from ⁵the body of this death?
- 25 I thank God through Jesus Christ our Lord. So then with the mind I myself serve the law of God; but with the flesh the law of sin.

The Spirit-filled Life

- 8 There is therefore now no condemnation to them which are in Christ Jesus, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.
- 2 For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death.
- 3 For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and ⁶for sin, condemned sin in the flesh:
- 4 That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit.
- 5 For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit.

Change.—Paul says that “as touching the law”—as far as outward acts were concerned—he was “blameless,” but when the spiritual character of the law was discerned, when he looked into the holy mirror, he saw himself a sinner. Judged by a human standard, he had abstained from sin, but when he looked into the depths of God’s law, and saw himself as God saw him, he bowed in humiliation, and confessed his guilt. He did not go away from the mirror and forget what manner of man he was, but he exercised genuine repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. He was washed, he was cleansed. He says, “I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet. But sin, taking occasion by the commandment, wrought in me all manner of concupiscence. For without the law sin was dead. For I was alive without the law once; but when the commandment came, sin revived, and I died.”

Sin then appeared in its true hideousness, and his self-

- 6 For ⁷to be carnally minded is death; but ⁸to be spiritually minded is life and peace.
- 7 Because ⁹the carnal mind is enmity against God: for it is not subject to the law of God, neither indeed can be.
- 8 So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God.
- 9 But ye are not in the flesh, but in the Spirit, if so be that the Spirit of God dwell in you. Now if any man have not the Spirit of Christ, he is none of his.
- 10 And if Christ be in you, the body is dead because of sin; but the Spirit is life because of righteousness.

- 13 For if ye live after the flesh, ye shall die: but if ye through the Spirit do mortify the deeds of the body, ye shall live.
- 14 For as many as are led by the Spirit of God, they are the sons of God.
- 15 For ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the Spirit of adoption, whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

esteem was gone. He became humble. He no longer ascribed goodness and merit to himself. He ceased to think more highly of himself than he ought, and he ascribed all the glory to God. He was no longer ambitious for greatness. He ceased to want to avenge of himself, and was no longer sensitive to reproach, neglect, or contempt. He no longer sought earthly alliance, station, or honor. He did not pull others down to uplift himself. He became gentle, condescending, meek and lowly of heart, because he had learned his lesson in the school of Christ. He talked of Jesus and His matchless love, and grew more and more into His image. He bent his whole energy to win souls to Christ. When trial came upon him because of his unselfish labor for souls, he bowed in prayer, and his love for them increased. His life was hid with Christ in God, and he loved Jesus with all the ardor of his nature. Every church was dear to him; every church member was a person of interest to him; for he looked upon every soul as the purchase of the blood of Christ (RH July 22, 1890).

7:9. God's Law Did Not Die.—The apostle Paul, in relating his experience, presents an important truth concerning the work to be wrought in conversion. He says, "I was alive without the law once"—he felt no condemnation; "but when the commandment came," when the law of God was urged upon his conscience, "sin revived, and I died." Then he saw himself a sinner, condemned by the divine law. Mark, it was Paul, and not the law, that died (4SP 297).

7:12 (ch. 3:25; Eph. 1:7). The Law Holds Its Dignity.—Through the plan of salvation the law holds its dignity in condemning the sinner, and the sinner can be saved through the propitiation of Christ for our sins, "in whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins." The law is not changed in any particular to meet man in his fallen condition. It remains what it ever has been—holy, just, and good (RH May 23, 1899).

8:11 (Matt. 26:39; Luke 22:42, 43; see EGW on 1 Cor. 15:20, 40-52). A Cup of Blessing.—"But if the Spirit of Him that raised up Jesus from the dead dwell in you, He that raised up Christ from the dead shall also quicken your mortal bodies by His Spirit that dwelleth in you." O how precious are these words to every bereaved soul! Christ is our Guide and Comforter, who comforts us in all our tribulations. When He gives us a bitter draught to drink, He also holds a cup of blessing to our lips. He fills the heart with submission, with joy and peace in believing, and enables us to say submissively, Not my will, but Thy will, O Lord, be done (Letter 65a, 1894).

8:13. See EGW on 1 Cor. 9:24-27.

8:15-21 (1 Tim. 1:9, 10; James 1:22-25; see EGW on 2 Cor. 3:6-9). Not Obedient, but Transgressors, Under Bondage.—Paul in his Epistle to Timothy describes the very men who are under the bondage of the law. They are the transgressors of the law. He names them lawless, disobedient, sinners, unholily, profane, murderers, adulterers, liars, and all who depart from sound doctrine. 1 Tim. 1:9, 10.

The law of God is the mirror to show man the defects in his character. But it is not pleasant to those who take pleasure in unrighteousness to see their moral deformity. They do not prize this faithful mirror, because it reveals to them their sins. Therefore, instead of instituting a war against their carnal minds, they war against the true and faithful mirror, given them by Jehovah for the very purpose that they may not be deceived, but that they may have revealed to them the defects in their character.

Should the discovery of these defects lead them to hate the mirror, or to hate themselves? Should they put away the mirror which discovers these defects? No; the sins which they cherish, which the faithful mirror shows them as existing in their characters, will close before them the portals of heaven, unless they are put away, and they become perfect before God (RH March 8, 1870).

(Gal. 4:24-31; 5:1.) Obedience Not Bondage.—No one who believes in Jesus Christ is under bondage to the law of God; for His law is a law of life, not of death, to those who obey its precepts. All who comprehend the spirituality of the law, all who realize its power as a detector of sin, are in just as helpless a condition as is Satan himself, unless they accept the atonement provided for them in the remedial sacrifice of Jesus Christ, who is our atonement—atonement with God.

Through faith in Christ obedience to every principle of the law is made possible (MS 122, 1901).

(Gal. 3:6-9) The Bondage of Legal Religion.—The spirit of bondage is engendered by seeking to live in accordance with legal religion, through striving to fulfill the claims of the law in our own strength. There is hope for us only as we come under the Abrahamic covenant, which is the covenant of grace by faith in Christ Jesus. The gospel preached to Abraham, through which he had hope, was the same gospel that is preached to us today, through which we have hope. Abraham looked unto Jesus, who is also the Author and the Finisher of our faith (YI Sept. 22, 1892).

8:17 (Gal. 4:7). Privileges for God's Obedient Children.—God loves His obedient children. He has a kingdom prepared, not for disloyal subjects, but for His children whom He has tested and tried in a world marred and corrupted by sin. As obedient children, we have the privilege of relationship with God. "If children," He says, "then heirs" to an immortal inheritance. . . . Christ and His people are one (Letter 119, 1897).

8:18. See EGW on 2 Cor. 4:17, 18.

8:22. See EGW on Gen. 3:17, 18.

8:26. See EGW on Matt. 3:13-17.

8:26, 34 (Eph. 5:2; Heb. 7:24-28; 8:1, 2; 9:24; 1 John 2:1; Rev. 8:3, 4; see EGW on Acts 1:11; Heb. 7:25). Intercession of Christ and His Spirit.—Christ Jesus is represented as continually standing at the altar, momentarily offering up the sacrifice for the sins of the world. He is a minister of the true tabernacle which the Lord pitched and not man. The typical shadows of the Jewish tabernacle no longer possess any virtue. A daily and yearly typical atonement is no longer to be made, but the atoning sacrifice through a mediator is essential because of the constant commission of sin. Jesus is officiating in the presence of God, offering up His shed blood, as it had been a lamb slain. Jesus presents the oblation offered for every offense and every shortcoming of the sinner.

Christ, our Mediator, and the Holy Spirit are constantly interceding in man's behalf, but the Spirit pleads not for us as does Christ who presents His blood, shed from the foundation of the world; the Spirit works upon our hearts, drawing out prayers and penitence, praise and thanksgiving. The gratitude which flows from our lips is the result of the Spirit striking the cords of the soul in holy memories, awakening the music of the heart.

The religious services, the prayers, the praise, the penitent confession of sin ascend from true believers as incense to the heavenly sanctuary; but passing through the corrupt channels of humanity, they are so defiled that unless purified by blood, they can never be of value with God. They ascend not in spotless purity, and unless the Intercessor who is at God's right hand presents and purifies all by His righteousness, it is not acceptable to God. All incense from earthly tabernacles must be moist with the cleansing drops of the blood of Christ. He holds before the Father the censer of His own merits, in which there is no taint of earthly corruption. He gathers into this censer the prayers, the praise, and the confessions of His people, and with these He puts His own spotless righteousness. Then, perfumed with the merits of Christ's propitiation, the incense comes up before God wholly and entirely acceptable. Then gracious answers are returned.

O, that all may see that everything in obedience, in penitence, in praise and thanksgiving must be placed upon the glowing fire of the righteousness of Christ. The fragrance of this righteousness ascends like a cloud around the mercy seat (MS 50, 1900).

8:29 (2 Cor. 3:18; Col. 3:10). Moral Image of God Restored Through Christ.—Though the moral image of God was almost obliterated by the sin of Adam, through the merits and power of Jesus it may be renewed. Man may stand with the moral image of God in his character, for Jesus will give it to him. Unless the moral image of God is seen in man, he can never enter the city of God as a conqueror (RH June 10, 1890).

8:29, 30. See EGW on Eph. 1:4, 5, 11.

8:34 (Heb. 7:25; 1 John 2:1; see EGW on Matt. 28:18). Kept by Christ's Intercessions.—Everyone who will break from the slavery and service of Satan, and will stand under the blood-stained banner of Prince Immanuel will be kept by Christ's intercessions. Christ, as our Mediator, at the right hand of the Father, ever keeps us in view, for it is as necessary that He should keep us by His intercessions as that He should redeem us with His blood. If He lets go His hold of us for one moment, Satan stands ready to destroy. Those purchased by His blood, He now keeps by His intercession (MS 73, 1893).

(Eph. 5:2; Heb. 7:25-27; 9:23-26; 13:15; Rev. 8:3, 4.) Constant Need of Christ's Intercession.—Christ was the foundation of the whole Jewish economy. In the service of the Jewish priesthood we are continually reminded of the

- until now.
- 23 And not only they, but ourselves also, which have the firstfruits of the Spirit, even we ourselves groan within ourselves, waiting for the adoption, to wit, the redemption of our body.
- 24 For we are saved by hope: but hope that is seen is not hope: for what a man seeth, why doth he yet hope for?
- 25 But if we hope for that we see not, then do we with patience wait for it.
- 26 Likewise the Spirit also helpeth our infirmities: for we know not what we should pray for as we ought: but the Spirit itself maketh intercession for us with groanings which cannot be uttered.
- 27 And he that searcheth the hearts knoweth what is the mind of the Spirit, because he maketh intercession for the saints according to the will of God.

- 30 Moreover whom he did predestinate, them he also called: and whom he called, them he also justified: and whom he justified, them he also glorified.
- 31 What shall we then say to these things? If God be for us, who can be against us?
- 32 He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with him also freely give us all things?
- 33 Who shall lay any thing to the charge of God's elect? It is God that justifieth.
- 34 Who is he that condemneth? It is Christ that died, yea rather, that is risen again, who is even at the right hand of God, who also maketh intercession for us.
- 35 Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword?
- 36 As it is written, For thy sake we are killed all the day long; we are accounted as sheep for the slaughter.
- 37 Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us.

The Election of Israel (9:1-11:36)

Paul's Sorrow over Israel's Rejection

- 9 I say the truth in Christ, I lie not, my conscience also bearing me witness in the Holy Ghost,
- 2 That I have great heaviness and continual sorrow in my heart.
- 3 For I could wish that myself were 'accursed from Christ for my brethren, my kinsmen according to the flesh:
- 4 Who are Israelites; to whom pertaineth the adoption, and the glory, and the covenants, and the giving of the law, and the service of God, and the promises;
- 5 Whose are the fathers, and of whom as concerning the flesh Christ came, who is over all, God blessed for ever. Amen.

The Justice of the Rejection

- 6 Not as though the word of God hath taken none effect. For they are not all Israel, which are of Israel:
- 7 Neither, because they are the seed of Abraham, are they all children: but, In Isaac shall thy seed be called.
- 8 That is, They which are the children of the flesh, these are not the children of God: but the children of the promise are counted for the seed.
- 9 For this is the word of promise, At this time will I come, and Sarah shall have a son.
- 10 And not only this; but when Rebecca also had conceived by one, even by our father Isaac;
- 11 (For the children being not yet born, neither having done any good or evil, that the purpose of God according to election might stand, not of works, but of him that calleth;)

sacrifice and intercession of Christ. All who come to Christ today are to remember that His merit is the incense that mingles with the prayers of those who repent of their sins and receive pardon and mercy and grace. Our need of Christ's intercession is constant. Day by day, morning and evening, the humble heart needs to offer up prayers to which will be returned answers of grace and peace and joy. "By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips giving thanks to his name. But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifice God is well pleased" (MS 14, 1901).

John 14:6; 1 Tim. 2:5; Heb. 9:11-14.) Clothed With His Priestly Vestments.—Christ is the connecting link between God and man. He has promised His personal intercession by employing His name. He places the whole virtue of His righteousness on the side of the suppliant. Christ pleads for man, and man, in need of divine help, pleads for himself in the presence of God, using the power of the influence of the One who gave His life for the world. As we acknowledge before God our appreciation of Christ's merits, fragrance is given to our intercessions. Oh, who can value this great mercy and love! As we approach God through the virtue of Christ's merits, we are clothed with His priestly vestments. He places us close by His side, encircling us with His human arm, while with His divine arm He grasps the throne of the Infinite. He puts His merits, as sweet incense, in a censer in our hands, in order to encourage our petitions. He promises to hear and answer our supplications.

Yes, Christ has become the medium of prayer between man and God. He also has become the medium of blessing between God and man. He has combined divinity and humanity. Men are to be co-laborers with God in the salvation of their own souls, and then make earnest, persevering, untiring efforts to save those who are ready to 15 For he saith to Moses, I will have mercy on whom I will have mercy, and I will have compassion on whom I will have compassion.

short in righteousness: because a short work will the Lord make upon the earth.

29 And as Esaias said before, Except the Lord of Sabaot had left us a seed, we had been as Sodom, and been made like unto Gomorrah.

Israel's Lack of Faith the Cause of the Rejection

30 What shall we say then? That the Gentiles, which followed not after righteousness, have attained to righteousness, even the righteousness which is of faith.

31 But Israel, which followed after the law of righteousness, hath not attained to the law of righteousness.

32 Wherefore? Because they sought it not by faith, but as it were by the works of the law. For they stumbled at that stumbling-stone;

33 As it is written, Behold, I lay in Sion a stumblingstone and rock of offence: and whosoever believeth on him shall not be 'ashamed.

10 Brethren, my heart's desire and prayer to God for Israel is, that they might be saved.

2 For I bear them record that they have a zeal of God, but not according to knowledge.

3 For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness, have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God.

4 For Christ is the end of the law for righteousness to every one that believeth.

5 For Moses describeth the righteousness which is of the law. That the man which doeth those things shall live by them.

6 But the righteousness which is of faith speaketh on this wise, Say not in thine heart, Who shall ascend into heaven? (that is, to bring Christ down from above);

7 Or, Who shall descend into the deep? (that is, to bring up Christ again from the dead.)

8 But what saith it? The word is nigh thee, even in thy mouth, and in thy heart: that is, the word of faith, which we preach:

9 That if thou shalt confess with thy mouth the Lord Jesus, and shalt believe in thine with it. They themselves break the terms of their election. Obedience to the commandments of God gives us a right to the privileges of His church (MS 160, 1898).

11:5 (John 15:4). The Only Election in the Bible.—(John 15:4 quoted.) Now here are the most precious jewels of truth for every individual soul of us. Here is the only election in the Bible, and you can prove yourself elected of Christ by being faithful; you can prove yourself the chosen of Christ by abiding in the vine (MS 43, 1894).

11:33 (Job 11:7; 1 Cor. 2:7-14; see EGW on Job 38; 1 Cor. 13:12). A Boundary Where Man's Resources Cease.—It is the duty and privilege of all to use reason as far as man's finite faculties can go; but there is a boundary where man's resources must cease. There are many things that can never be reasoned out by the strongest intellect or discerned by the most penetrating mind. Philosophy cannot determine the ways and works of God; the human mind cannot measure infinity.

10:5. See EGW on Deut. 6:6-9.

11. Jews Not to Be Ignored.—The work for the Jews, as outlined in the eleventh chapter of Romans, is a work that is to be treated with special wisdom. It is a work that must not be ignored. The wisdom of God must come to our people. In all wisdom and righteousness we must clear the King's highway. The Jews are to be given every opportunity of coming to the light (Letter 96, 1910).

11:4-6 (Eph. 1:4, 5, 11; 1 Peter 1:2; 2 Peter 1:10). Complying With Conditions of Election.—If we comply with the conditions the Lord has made, we shall secure our election to salvation. Perfect obedience to His commandments is the evidence that we love God, and are not hardened in sin.

Christ has a church in every age. There are in the church those who are not made any better by their connection

- heart that God hath raised him from the dead, thou shalt be saved.
- 10 For with the heart man believeth unto righteousness; and with the mouth confession is made unto salvation.
- 11 For the scripture saith, Whosoever believeth on him shall not be ashamed.
- 12 For there is no difference between the Jew and the Greek: for the same Lord over all is rich unto all that call upon him.
- 13 For whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved.
- 14 How then shall they call on him in whom they have not believed? and how shall they believe in him of whom they have not heard? and how shall they hear without a preacher?
- 15 And how shall they preach, except they be sent? as it is written, How beautiful are the feet of them that preach the gospel of peace, and bring glad tidings of good things!
- 16 But they have not all obeyed the gospel. For Esaias saith, Lord, who hath believed 'our report'?
- 17 So then faith cometh by hearing, and hearing by the word of God.
- 18 But I say, Have they not heard? Yea verily, their sound went into all the earth, and their words unto the ends of the world.
- 19 But I say, Did not Israel know? First Moses saith, I will provoke you to jealousy by them that are no people, and by a foolish nation I will anger you.
- 20 But Esaias is very bold, and saith, I was found of them that sought me not; I was made manifest unto them that asked not after me.
- 21 But to Israel he saith, All day long I have stretched forth my hands unto a disobedient and gainsaying people.

The Final Restoration of Israel

- 11 I say then, Hath God cast away his people? God forbid. For I also am an Israelite, of the seed of Abraham, of the tribe of Benjamin.
- 2 God hath not cast away his people which he foreknew. Not ye not what the scripture saith 'of Elias? how he maketh intercession to God against Israel, saying,

- 4 But what saith the answer of God unto him? I have reserved to myself seven thousand men, who have not bowed the knee to the image of Baal.
- 5 Even so then at this present time also there is a remnant according to the election of grace.
- 6 And if by grace, then is it no more of works: otherwise grace is no more grace. But if it be of works, then is it no more grace: otherwise work is no more work.

Jehovah is the fountain of all wisdom, of all truth, of all knowledge. There are high attainments that man can reach in this life through the wisdom that God imparts; but there is an infinity beyond that will be the study and the joy of the saints throughout eternal ages. Man can now only linger upon the borders of that vast expanse, and let imagination take its flight. Finite man cannot fathom the deep things of God: for spiritual things are spiritually discerned. The human mind cannot comprehend the wisdom and power of God (Ritl Dec. 29, 1896).

(John 17:3.) Avoiding Guesswork in the Quest for God.—Human talent and human conjecture have tried by searching to find out God. But guesswork has proved itself to be guesswork. Man cannot by searching find out God. This problem has not been given to human beings. All that man needs to know and can know of God has been revealed in His Word and in the life of His Son, the great Teacher.

Let men remember that they have a Ruler in the heavens, a God who will not be trifled with. He who puts his reason to the stretch in an effort to exalt himself and to delineate God, will find that he might far better have stood as a humble suppliant before God, confessing himself to be only an erring human being.

God cannot be understood by men. His ways and works are past finding out. In regard to the revelations that He has made of Himself in His Word, we may talk, but other than this, let us say of Him, Thou art God, and Thy ways are past finding out.

There is a knowledge of God and of Christ which all who are saved must have. "This is life eternal," Christ said, "that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent."

The question for us to study is, What is truth—the truth for this time, which is to be cherished, loved, honored, and obeyed? The devotees of science have been defeated and

- partake of the root and fatness of the olive tree;
- 18 Boast not against the branches. But if thou boast, thou bearest not the root, but the root thee.
- 19 Thou wilt say then, The branches were broken off, that I might be grafted in.
- 20 Well; because of unbelief they were broken off, and thou standest by faith. Be not highminded, but fear:
- 21 For if God spared not the natural branches, take heed lest he also spare not thee.
- 22 Behold therefore the goodness and severity of God: on them which fell, severity; but toward thee, goodness, if thou continue in his goodness: otherwise thou also shalt be cut off.
- 23 And they also, if they abide not still in unbelief, shall be grafted in: for God is able to graft them in again.
- 24 For if thou wert cut out of the olive tree which is wild by nature, and wert grafted contrary to nature into a good olive tree: how much more shall these, which be the natural branches, be grafted into their own olive tree?
- 25 For I would not, brethren, that ye should be ignorant of this mystery, lest ye should be wise in your own conceits; that blindness in part is happened to Israel, until the fulness of the Gentiles be come in.
- 26 And so all Israel shall be saved: as it is written, There shall come out of Sion the Deliverer, and shall turn away ungodliness from Jacob:
- 27 For this is my covenant unto them, when I shall take away their sins.
- 28 As concerning the gospel, they are enemies for your sakes: but as touching the election, they are beloved for the fathers' sakes.
- 29 For the gifts and calling of God are without repentance.
- 30 For as ye in times past have not believed God, yet have now obtained mercy through their unbelief:
- 31 Even so have these also now not believed, that through your mercy they also may obtain mercy.
- 32 For God hath concluded them all in Practical Application of the Doctrine of Righteousness by Faith (12:1-15:13)

The Christian's Sacrifice of Himself

- 12 I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service.
- 2 And be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind, that ye may prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God.

The Christian as a Member of the Church

- 3 For I say, through the grace given unto me, to every man that is among you, not to think of himself more highly than he ought to think; but to think soberly, according as God hath dealt to every man the measure of faith.
- 4 For as we have many members in one body, and all members have not the same office:
- 5 So we, being many, are one body in Christ, and every one members one of another.
- 6 Having then gifts differing according to the grace that is given to us, whether prophecy, let us prophesy according to the proportion of faith:
- 7 Or ministry, let us wait on our ministering: or he that teacheth, on teaching:
- 8 Or he that exhorteth, on exhortation: he that giveth, let him do it with simplicity: he that ruleth, with diligence; he that sheweth mercy, with cheerfulness.

disheartened in their effort to find out God. What they need to inquire is, What is truth (MS 124, 1903)?

12. A Sermon Written for Our Instruction.—A study of the twelfth chapter of Romans would be of profit to us. It is a sermon by the apostle Paul, written for our instruction (MS 50, 1903).

12:1. See EGW on Ex. 20:1-17.

12:1, 2 (ch. 1:20; Ps. 139:1-4). God's Works Are His Teachers.—[Rom. 12:1, 2 quoted.] What does God accomplish, and what does He demand of us individually in the work of saving ourselves? God works in us by the light of His truth, which lighteneth every man that cometh into the world. The Scriptures refer to the works of God as they are revealed in our world, as so many teachers whose voices have gone out through the whole earth, proclaiming the attributes of God. The mind must see the truth, and the will bend to its claims, when it is presented to us based upon scriptural evidence (MS 49, 1898).

12:2 (1 Cor. 4:9; Phil. 2:12, 13). Good Fruits the Proof.—Man, fallen man, may be transformed by the renewing of the mind, so that he can "prove what is that good, and acceptable, and perfect, will of God." How does he prove this? By the Holy Spirit taking possession of his mind, spirit, heart, and character. Where does the proving come in? "We are made a spectacle unto the world, and to angels, and to men." A real work is wrought by the Holy Spirit upon the human character, and its fruits are seen.

Just as a good tree will bear good fruit, so will the tree that is actually planted in the Lord's garden produce good fruit unto eternal life. Besetting sins are overcome, evil thoughts are not allowed in the mind; evil habits are purged from the soul temple. The tendencies which have been biased in a wrong direction are turned in a right direction. Wrong dispositions and feelings are changed, new principles of action supplied, and there is a new standard of character. Holy tempers and sanctified emotions

The Christian's Relation to Others

- 9 Let love be without dissimulation. Abhor that which is evil; cleave to that which is good.
- 10 Be kindly affectioned one to another ⁴with brotherly love; in honour preferring one another.
- 11 Not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord;
- 12 Rejoicing in hope; patient in tribulation; continuing instant in prayer;
- 13 Distributing to the necessity of saints; given to hospitality.
- 14 Bless them which persecute you: bless, and curse not.
- 15 Rejoice with them that do rejoice, and weep with them that weep.
- 16 Be of the same mind one toward another. Mind not high things, but ⁵condescend to men of low estate. Be not wise in your own conceits.
- 17 Recompense to no man evil for evil. Provide things honest in the sight of all men.
- 18 If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men.
- 19 Dearly beloved, avenge not yourselves, but rather give place unto wrath: for it is written, Vengeance is mine; I will repay, saith the Lord.
- 20 Therefore if thine enemy hunger, feed him; if he thirst, give him drink: for in so doing thou shalt heap coals of fire on his head.
- 21 Be not overcome of evil, but overcome evil with good.

The Christian's Relation to the State

- 13 Let every soul be subject unto the higher powers. For there is no power but of God: the powers that be are ¹ordained of God.
- 2 Whosoever therefore resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God: and they that resist shall receive to themselves damnation.
- 3 For rulers are not a terror to good works, but to the evil. Wilt thou then not be afraid of the power? do that which is good, and thou shalt have praise of the same:
- 4 For he is the minister of God to thee for good. But if thou do that which is evil, be afraid; for he beareth not the sword in vain: for he is the minister of God, a revenger to execute wrath upon him that doeth evil.

- 5 Wherefore ye must needs be subject, not only for wrath, but also for conscience sake.

The Christian's One Debt-love

- 8 Owe no man any thing, but to love one another: for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law.
- 9 For this, Thou shalt not commit adultery. Thou shalt not kill, Thou shalt not steal, Thou shalt not bear false witness, Thou shalt not covet; and if there be any other commandment, it is briefly comprehended in this saying, namely, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.
- 10 Love worketh no ill to his neighbour: therefore love is the fulfilling of the law.

The Nearness of the Second Coming

- 11 And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed.
- 12 The night is far spent, the day is at hand: let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armour of light.
- 13 Let us walk ¹honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in chambering and wantonness, not in strife and envying.
- 14 But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh, to fulfil the lusts thereof.

The Need for Mutual Forbearance Among Christians are now the fruit borne upon the Christian tree. An entire transformation has taken place. This is the work to be wrought.

We see by experience that in our own human strength, resolutions and purposes are of no avail. Must we, then, give up our determined efforts? No; although our experience testifies that we cannot possibly do this work ourselves, help has been laid upon One who is mighty to do it for us. But the only way we can secure the help of God is to put ourselves wholly in His hands, and trust Him to work for us. As we lay hold of Him by faith, He does the work. The believer can only trust. As God works, we can work, trusting in Him and doing His will (MS 1A, 1890).

12:3. Seeds of Self-glory Produce a Sure Harvest. [Rom. 12:3, 10, 9 quoted.] . . . The forms of unbelief are varied, for Satan watches every opportunity to crowd in some of his attributes. There is in the natural heart a tendency to be exalted or puffed up if success attends the efforts put forth. But self-exaltation can find no place in the work of God. Whatever your intelligence, however earnestly and zealously you may labor, unless you put away your own tendencies to pride, and submit to be guided by the Spirit of God, you will be on losing ground.

Spiritual death in the soul is evidenced by spiritual pride and a crippled experience; those who have such an experience seldom make straight paths for their feet. If pride is nourished, the very qualities of the mind which grace, if received, would make a blessing, become contaminated. The very victories which would have been a savor of life unto life, if the glory had been given to God, become tarnished by self-glory. These may seem to be little things, unworthy of notice, but the seed thus scattered brings forth a sure harvest. It is these little sins, so common that they are often unnoticed, that Satan uses in his service (MS 47, 1896).

12:17 (2 Cor. 8:21; 1 Peter 2:12). The Honest Are His Jewels Forever.—Truthfulness and frankness should be ever cherished by all who claim to be followers of Christ. God and the right should be the motto. Deal honestly and righteously in this present evil world. Some will be honest when they see that honesty will not endanger their worldly interests, but all who act from this principle will have their names blotted out of the book of life.

Strict honesty must be cultivated. We can go through the world but once; we cannot come back to rectify any mistakes; therefore every move made should be with godly fear and careful consideration. Honesty and policy will not harmonize; either policy will be subdued, and truth and honesty hold the lines of control, or policy will take the lines, and honesty cease to direct. Both cannot act together; they can never be in agreement. When God makes up His jewels, the true, the frank, the honest, will be His chosen ones, His treasures. Angels are preparing crowns for such, and light from the throne of God will be reflected in its splendor from these star-gemmed diadems (RH Dec. 29, 1896).

12:19 (Ps. 119:126; Luke 18:1-7; Rev. 6:9). Protector and Avenger.—When the defiance of God's law is almost universal, when His people are pressed in affliction by their fellow men, God will interpose. Then will the voice be heard from the graves of martyrs, represented by the souls that John saw slain for the Word of God, and for the testimony of Jesus Christ, which they held—then the prayer

Conclusion (15:14-16:27)

Personal Explanations

- 14 And I myself also am persuaded of you, my brethren, that ye also are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, able also to admonish one another.
- 15 Nevertheless, brethren, I have written the more boldly unto you in some sort, as putting you in mind, because of the grace that is given to me of God,
- 16 That I should be the minister of Jesus Christ to the Gentiles, ministering the gospel of God, that the offering up of the Gentiles might be acceptable, being sanctified by the Holy Ghost.
- 17 I have therefore whereof I may glory through Jesus Christ in those things which pertain to God.
- 18 For I will not dare to speak of any of those things which Christ hath not wrought by me, to make the Gentiles obedient, by word and deed,
- 19 Through mighty signs and wonders, by the power of the Spirit of God; so that from Jerusalem, and round about unto Illyricum, I have fully preached the gospel of Christ.
- 20 Yea, so have I strived to preach the gospel, not where Christ was named, lest I should build upon another man's foundation:
- 21 But as it is written, To whom he was not spoken of, they shall see: and they that have not heard shall understand.
- 22 For which cause also I have been much hindered from coming to you.
- 23 But now having no more place in these parts, and having a great desire these many years to come unto you;
- 24 Whosoever I take my journey into Spain, I will come to you: for I trust to see you in my journey, and to be brought on my way thitherward by you, if first I be

- 5 Likewise greet the church that is in their house. Salute my wellbeloved Epaphroditus, who is the firstfruits of Achaia unto Christ.
- 6 Greet Mary, who bestowed much labour on us.

will ascend from every true child of God: "It is time for thee, Lord, to work: for they have made void thy law."

The fervent prayers of His people will be answered; for God loves to have His people seek Him with all the heart, and depend upon Him as their deliverer. He will be sought unto to do these things for His people, and He will arise as their protector and avenger. "Shall not God avenge his own elect, which cry day and night unto him" (RH Dec. 21, 1897)?

13:1. God, the Ruler of All Nations.—Who, then, is to be regarded as the Ruler of the nations?—The Lord God Omnipotent. All kings, all rulers, all nations, are His, under His rule and government (MS 119, 1903).

13:7. Rulers Are God's Servants.—One of the most deplorable things upon the earth is the fact that there are passionate governors and unjust judges. They forget that they are under the authority of the great Governor, the all-wise God, and that He is above every ruler, prince, governor, or king.

Rulers are God's servants, and they are to serve their time as His apprentices. It is for their good that they faithfully follow the plain "Thus saith the Lord," keeping the way of the Lord to do justice and judgment. They are to exercise their powers without partiality and without hypocrisy, refusing to be bought or sold, scorning all bribes, and standing in moral independence and dignity before God. They are not to connive at one act of dishonesty or injustice. They are not to do a base, unjust action themselves, nor to sustain others in acts of oppression. Wise rulers will not permit the people to be oppressed because of the envy and jealousy of those who disregard the law of God. . . . All need to keep eternity in view, and not to act in such a way that God cannot ratify their judgment in the courts of heaven (RH Oct. 1, 1895).

on the Lord Jesus Christ, and have made no provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof. They are constantly looking to Jesus for His orders, as a servant looks to His master, or as a maid looks to her mistress. Whosoever God's providence may lead, they stand ready to go. They take no glory to themselves. They do not call anything they have—learning, talents, property—their own, but regard themselves as only stewards of the manifold grace of Christ, and servants to the church for Christ's sake. These are messengers of the Lord, a light amid the darkness. Their hearts throb in unison with the great heart of Christ (MS 1a, 1890).

15:1. The Strong Should Bear the Infirmities of the Weak.—We shall be willing to be anything or nothing, so that we may do heart-service for the Master. We shall rejoice to bear the cross after Jesus, to endure trial, shame, or persecution for His dear sake. "We then that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak, and not to please ourselves" Rom. 15:1. No soul who believes in Christ, though his faith may be weak, and his steps wavering as those of a little child, is to be lightly esteemed. By all that has given us advantage over another,—be it education and refinement, nobility of character, Christian training, religious experience,—we are in debt to those less favored; and, so far as lies in our power, we are to minister unto them. If we are strong, we are to stay up the hands of the weak. Angels of glory, that do always behold the face of the Father in heaven, joy in ministering to His little ones. Trembling souls, who have many objectionable traits of character, are their special charge. Angels are ever present where they are most needed, with those who have the hardest battle with self to fight, and whose surroundings are the most discouraging. And in this ministry Christ's true followers will co-operate.

If one of these little ones shall be overcome, and commit a wrong against you, then it is your work to seek his restoration. Do not wait for him to make the first effort for reconciliation (DA 439, 440).

16:25 (Eph. 3:9-11; Col. 1:26, 27; see EGW on 2 Cor. 12:1-4). The Eternal Purposes of God.—God had a knowledge of the events of the future, even before the creation of the world. He did not make His purposes to fit circumstances, but He allowed matters to develop and work out. He did not work to bring about a certain condition of things, but He knew that such a condition would exist. The plan that should be carried out upon the deflection of any of the high intelligences of heaven—this is the secret, the mystery which has been hid from ages. And an offering was prepared in the eternal purposes to do the very work which God has done for fallen humanity (ST March 25, 1897).

(Gen. 3:15, Eph. 3:9-11; Col. 1:26, 27; see EGW on Jer. 23:28.) The Mystery Hid for Eternal Ages.—The incarnation of Christ is a mystery. The union of divinity with humanity is a mystery; indeed, hidden with God, "even the mystery which hath been hid from ages." It was kept in eternal silence by Jehovah, and was first revealed in Eden, by the prophecy that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head, and that he should bruise His heel.

To present to the world this mystery that God kept in silence for eternal ages before the world was created, before man was created, was the part that Christ was to act in the work He entered upon when He came to this earth. And this wonderful mystery, the incarnation of Christ and the atonement that He made, must be declared to every son and daughter of Adam. . . . His sufferings perfectly fulfilled the claims of the law of God (ST Jan. 30, 1912).

(1 Tim. 3:16.) Mystery of All Mysteries.—The incarnation of Christ is the mystery of all mysteries (Letter 276, 1904).

The First Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the CORINTHIANS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

Textual evidence attests the title (cf. p. 10) Pros Korinthios A, literally, "To the Corinthians A [or 1]". "This shorter title is found in the manuscript on 1 Corinthians in the Chester Beatty Biblical Papyri (see Vol. V, p. 116), the oldest extant manuscript of the epistle, written about the 3rd century A.D. The title was not a part of the original document.

2. AUTHORSHIP

Except for some ultraradical critics who go so far as to question whether Paul ever existed, the Pauline authorship of the epistle has been generally accepted. In fact it, along with 2 Corinthians, Romans, and Galatians, is believed to be the best attested of all of Paul's letters. The name of the author appears at both the beginning and the end of this epistle (1 Cor. 1:1, 2, 16:21). The letter was dictated to an amanuensis, or secretary, with the exception of the salutation at the close of the book, which Paul states he wrote with his "own hand" (ch. 16:21). The exact reason for his use of secretaries is not known, but it appears to have been customary with him (see Rom. 16:22; Col. 4:18; 2 Thess. 3:17). One suggestion is that the apostle had poor eyesight (see on Gal. 6:11).

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

First Corinthians was written from Ephesus (1 Cor. 16:8). This city was the scene of Paul's labors for "three years" (Acts 20:31) and the chief center of his activities during his Third Missionary Journey (Acts 19: 20:1). He was about to depart for Greece and Macedonia when the letter was written, but hoped to remain at Ephesus "until Pentecost" (1 Cor. 16:5-8). However, circumstances hastened his departure (Acts 19:21 to 20:3). These observations enable us to date the letter in the spring of A.D. 57 (see p. 103).

The church at Corinth was established during Paul's Second Missionary Journey. The apostle had spent at least 18 months in that center. His work had been arduous but successful, and a thriving church was established (Acts 18:1-11).

The ancient city of Corinth was situated on the Isthmus connecting the Peloponnesus with the mainland of Greece. It was at the southern end of the isthmus, on a low plateau at the northern foot of the mountain known as Acro-Corinthus, on the summit of which stood a citadel and a temple. The city was thus strategically placed, with the overland traffic between the Peloponnesus and Attica passing through the town. Its convenient location between the Saronic Gulf on the east and the Gulf of Corinth on the west of the Isthmus made it a market for much of the commerce that flowed from Asia to Europe, and vice versa. Some Phoenicians settled in the city and carried on their trade of making purple dye from the Murex trunculus of the neighboring seas. They also introduced other arts, and set up the impure worship of the Phoenician deities.

An important mercantile city, and situated at the passage of the seas, Corinth was cursed with licentiousness to such an extent that the very name of the city became a byword for sensuality. The expression "to Corinthianize" signified luxurious profligacy.

An understanding of the religion of Corinth serves to highlight the wonderful grace of God in overcoming the forces of evil and in planting a church of regenerated saints in this notorious city. By its wealth, luxury, trade, and mixed population, Corinth well merited the title given to it by Barnes, "the Paris of antiquity." The principal deity was Aphrodite, the goddess of love in its lowest form, licentious passion, and it is not hard to imagine the effect of this dedication of sensuality. The temple of Apollo was built on the north slope of the Acro-Corinthus. According to legal requirement 1,000 beautiful young women officiated as courtesans, or public prostitutes, before the altar of the goddess of love. They were supported chiefly by foreigners, and from the proceeds of their vice the city derived a steady income.

The task confronting the messenger of the gospel in the ancient city of Corinth is well set forth in these words: "If the Gospel could triumph in Corinth, it can win under any circumstances" (W. D. Chamberlain).

During Paul's absence since the founding of the church some three years before (see p. 100), numerous problems had arisen that demanded the apostle's attention. We learn of these from the epistle itself. First of all, factions had disrupted the church. Because of his eloquence and learning, Apollos was exalted above Paul by many in the church (see 1 Cor. 1:12; 3:4; cf. Acts 18:24 to 19:1). Others boasted that they were followers of neither Paul nor Apollos, but of Peter, one of the original apostles (1 Cor. 1:12). Still others disclaimed adherence to any human leader and professed to be followers of Christ (ch. 1:12).

Furthermore, living as did the members of the Corinthian church in the midst of the profligate people of Corinth, many who had renounced their wicked ways slipped back into their old habits of life (ch. 5). Further, disrepute had come upon the church by Christians settling their quarrels in the secular courts. The Lord's Supper had been made an occasion for feasting (ch. 11:17-34). Questions had also arisen regarding marriage and related social problems (ch. 7), the eating of foods sacrificed to idols (ch. 8), the proper conduct of women in public worship (ch. 11:2-16). There was misunderstanding also regarding the proper function of spiritual gifts (chs. 12-14). Some were skeptical regarding the fact and manner of the resurrection (ch. 15).

Paul received information regarding the state of the Corinthian church from Apollos, who, when factions arose in the church, had left the scene (see AA 280). Apollos was with Paul at Ephesus. Paul urged him to return to Corinth, but without success (see on 1 Cor. 1:12). Other information came from "them which are of the house of Chloe" (ch. 1:11) and from what was probably a delegation, consisting of Stephanas, Fortunatus, and Achaicus (ch. 16:17). The situation was such as to cause Paul serious apprehension. He had already written a letter to the church (see on ch. 5:9), and there is the possibility that he had briefly visited Corinth during his stay at Ephesus (see on 2 Cor. 13:1). He had also sent Timothy (1 Cor. 4:17; cf. ch. 16:10) and Titus to Corinth (see on 2 Cor. 2:13). In addition, he composed the letter now known as 1 Corinthians, in which he dealt with the various problems that had arisen.

4. THEME

The main burden of this epistle is twofold: first, reproof for the backsliding, which had resulted in the introduction into the church of practices that corrupted the teachings of the gospel; and second, instruction, or explanation, regarding the points of belief and practice concerning which the believers had sought for clarification. Paul did not condone or show indulgence to sin. He was impartial in his condemnation, and did not seek to flatter any or to cloak transgression in any way. He firmly and severely denounced departures from the path of rectitude. Along with the exposure of the disorders, and rebuke for the growing irregularities in the church, there is seen the compassionate pity and tender mercy that is always found in the heart of true collaborators with Christ, a love that ever seeks to lift up the fallen, restore the wandering one, and bind up the wounded soul. Paul knew that love, not force and harshness, is the converting, heart-conquering power, therefore his spiritual surgery upon the church at Corinth was followed by the soothing balm of gentle love. This is particularly seen in the masterly exposition of Christian love found in ch. 13. From the standpoint of instruction the epistle deals with several practical matters, such as marriage, the use of food offered to idols, behavior in church services, the Lord's Supper, and the proper exercise of spiritual gifts.

The book has been described as "one of the richest, most instructive, most powerful" of all Paul's letters (AA 301).

6 Even as the testimony of Christ was confirmed in you;
7 So that ye come behind in no gift; waiting for the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ:
8 Who shall also confirm you unto the end, that ye may be blameless in the day of our Lord Jesus Christ.
9 God is faithful, by whom ye were called unto the fellowship of his Son Jesus Christ our Lord.

Rebuke of Irregularities (1:10-6:20)

Fractions in the Church: The Faction Spirit Rebuked

- 10 Now I beseech you, brethren, by the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye all speak the same thing, and that there be no divisions among you; but that ye be perfectly joined together in the same mind and in the same judgment.

Lessons for Every Church.—The third chapter of First Corinthians should be read with careful and prayerful consideration by every church member. The first and second chapters of this epistle prepare the way for the third, and in this are lessons for every church in our world. The cause of their difficulties is plainly revealed (MS 74, 1899).

1:1. See EGW on ch. 9:13-18.

1:1-8. Guard the Church Against Deception.—The instruction in this epistle is addressed to the church of God at Corinth, and directed to be sent to every place where there were companies of saints who had faith in Jesus Christ. As members of the church of Christ, they are said to be "sanctified in Christ Jesus," and "called to be saints." By baptism they pledged themselves to a ministry of good works in seeking to save others who knew not the truth.

The church at Corinth was largely made up of Gentiles. Paul had labored earnestly among them, and had brought

- 15 Lest any should say that I had baptized in mine own name.

- 16 And I baptized also the household of Stephanas; besides, I know not whether I baptized any other.

- 17 For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel: not with wisdom of words, lest the cross of Christ should be made of none effect.

- 18 For the preaching of the cross is to them that perish foolishness; but unto us which are saved it is the power of God.

- 20 Where is the wise? where is the scribe? where is the disputer of this world? hath not God made foolish the wisdom of this world?

- 21 For after that in the wisdom of God the world by wisdom knew not God, it pleased God by the foolishness of preaching to save them that believe.

- 22 For the Jews require a sign, and the Greeks seek after wisdom:

- 23 But we preach Christ crucified, unto the Jews a stumblingblock, and unto the Greeks foolishness; them to a knowledge of the truth. But after Paul had left them, false teachers had arisen, who had questioned the apostleship and ministry of Paul. They spoke contemptuously of him, and tried to make comparisons between themselves and him that would belittle him in the eyes of the church.

Paul did not seek to exalt himself. But when falsehoods threatened to destroy the effects of his ministry, faithfulness to his mission made it necessary for him to honor God by vindicating his character and magnifying his office. He claims to have a divine mission—that he is "called to be an apostle of Jesus Christ through the will of God."

Paul had been called to his work by the Prince of life. While Paul had been engaged in the work of cruelly persecuting the followers of Christ, the Saviour had appeared to him and called him to be an apostle to the Gentiles. As an apostle of our Lord, he felt a sacred responsibility for the welfare of the church in Corinth. Under his administration

26 For ye see your calling, brethren, how that not many wise men after the flesh, not many mighty, not many noble, are called:

27 But God hath chosen the foolish things of the world to confound the wise; and God hath chosen the weak things of the world to confound the things which are mighty;

28 And base things of the world, and things which are despised, hath God chosen, yea, and things which are not, to bring to nought things that are:

29 That no flesh should glory in his presence.

30 But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption:

31 That, according as it is written, He that glorieth, let him glory in the Lord.

2 And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God.

2 For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and him crucified.

3 And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling.

4 And my speech and my preaching was not with enticing words of man's wisdom, but in demonstration of the Spirit and of power:

5 That your faith should not stand in the wisdom of men, but in the power of God.

6 Howbeit we speak wisdom among them that are perfect: yet not the wisdom of this world, nor of the princes of this world, that come to nought:

7 But we speak the wisdom of God in a mystery, even the hidden wisdom, which God ordained before the world unto our glory:

8 Which none of the princes of this world knew: for had they known it, they would not have crucified the Lord of glory.

9 But as it is written, Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him.

10 But God hath revealed them unto us by his Spirit: for the Spirit searcheth all things, yea, the deep things of God.

11 For what man knoweth the things of a man, save the spirit of man which is in him? even so the things of God knoweth no man, but the Spirit of God.

12 Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God.

13 Which things also we speak, not in the words which man's wisdom teacheth, but which the Holy Ghost teacheth; comparing spiritual things with spiritual.

14 But the natural man receiveth not the things of the Spirit of God: for they are foolishness unto him: neither can he know them, because they are spiritually discerned.

15 But he that is spiritual judgeth all things, yet he himself is judged of no man.

16 For who hath known the mind of the Lord, that he may instruct him? But we have the mind of Christ.

The Inconsistency of a Party Spirit

3 And I, brethren, could not speak unto you as unto spiritual, but as unto carnal, even as unto babes in Christ.

2 I have fed you with milk, and not with meat: for hitherto ye were not able to bear it, neither yet now are ye able.

3 For ye are yet carnal: for whereas there is among you envying, and strife, and divisions, are ye not carnal, and walk as men?

4 For while one saith, I am of Paul; and another, I am of Apollos; are ye not carnal?

5 Who then is Paul, and who is Apollos, but ministers by whom ye believed, even as the Lord gave to every man?

6 I have planted, Apollos watered; but God gave the increase.

7 So then neither is he that planteth any thing, neither he that watereth; but God that giveth the increase.

8 Now he that planteth and he that watereth are one: and every man shall receive his own reward according to his own labour.

9 For we are labourers together with God: ye are God's husbandry, ye are God's they had not only received but they had taught the truth to others. They had been so enriched as to come behind in no gift. They had been brought into near and dear relation to Christ.

Paul could not, by silence, allow himself to be driven from the field by false teachers—teachers who would introduce false sentiments and theories that might lead honest souls away from the truth. The churches must be guarded, and warned against deception. Christ gave Himself for us, to redeem us from all iniquity, that He might purify unto Himself a peculiar people, zealous of good works. His church must be kept free from all false doctrine (MS 46, 1905).

1:10. Unity in Diversity.—The strength of God's people lies in their union with Him through His only-begotten Son, and their union with one another. There are no two leaves of a tree precisely alike; neither do all minds run in the same direction. But while this is so, there may be unity in diversity. Christ is our root, and all who are grafted into this root will bear the fruit which Christ bore. They will reveal the fragrance of His character in the talent of speech, in the cultivation of hospitality, of kindness, of Christian courtesy and heavenly politeness.

Look at the flowers in a carpet, and notice the different colored threads. All are not pink, all are not green, all are not blue. A variety of colors are woven together to perfect the pattern. So it is in the design of God. He has a purpose in placing us where we must learn to live as individuals. We are not all fitted to do the same kind of work, but each man's work is designed by God to help make up His plan (RH July 4, 1899).

1:10-13. See EGW on Gal. 5:1, 2.

1:13. Christ the Uniting Stone.—Paul asks, "Is Christ divided?" Have we not one spiritual Head? Christ has been the uniting stone, the chief cornerstone, in all ages. The patriarchs, the Levitical priesthood, and Christians of today,

² 1 or, persuasible ² Gr. be ³ or, discerneth ⁴ or, discerned ⁵ Gr. shall ³ 1 or, factions ² Gr. according to man? ³ or, tillage all have their center in Him. He is all and in all (RH Jan. 3, 1899).

1:21. See EGW on Rom. 1:20-25.

1:25-29. God Measures Not by Man's Standard.—Because of the pride and ambition of the children of men, God has chosen to perform His mighty works by the most simple and humble means. It is not the men whom the world honors as great, talented, or brilliant, that God selects. He chooses those who will work in meekness and simplicity, acknowledging Him as their leader and their source of strength. He would have us make Him our protector and our guide in all the duties and affairs of life.

The Majesty of heaven works by whom He will. His providence sometimes selects the humblest instruments to do the greatest work, for His power is revealed through the weakness of men. We have our standard of reckoning, and by it we pronounce one thing great, and another small; but God estimates not according to the standard of men; He does not graduate His scale by theirs. We are not to suppose that what is great to us must be great to God, and what is small to us must be small to Him (ST July 14, 1881).

2:1-3. Be Afraid of Self.—The apostle Paul could meet eloquence with eloquence, logic with logic; he could intelligently enter into all controversies. But was he satisfied with this worldly knowledge? He writes: "And I, brethren, when I came to you, came not with excellency of speech or of wisdom, declaring unto you the testimony of God. For I determined not to know any thing among you, save Jesus Christ, and Him crucified."

Here is a very important lesson. We need to understand our whereabouts. We need to understand that the highest education ever given to mortals develops a spirit of humility, for it reveals how much more there is yet to learn.

The more you learn, the more you will see the necessity of putting your whole mind and interest into learning for Christ's sake. Why are you learning? Are you acquiring knowledge so as to become intelligent in the truth? If that is your object, be assured that you will hide self in Jesus Christ.

"And I was with you in weakness, and in fear, and in much trembling." Paul was a very great teacher, yet he felt that without the Spirit of God working with him, all the education he might obtain would be of little account. We need to have this same experience; we need to be afraid of ourselves. We need individually to sit at the feet of Jesus, and listen to His words of instruction (MS 84, 1901).

2:1-4. See EGW on Acts 17:34.

2:1-5 (Acts 9:3-6; 22:3, 4). Instruction for the Church Today.—[1 Cor. 2:1-5 quoted.] Paul was not an unlearned man, but the preaching of Christ was a new gospel to him. It was a work entirely different from that he had engaged in when he hunted the believers from place to place and persecuted them even "unto the death." But Christ had revealed Himself to Paul in a remarkable manner at his conversion. At the gate of Damascus the vision of the Crucified One changed the whole current of his life. The persecutor became a disciple, the teacher a learner.

From that time Paul was a truly converted man. God gave him a special work to do for the cause of Christianity. His instruction in his letters to the churches of his day is instruction for the church of God to the end of time (Letter 332, 1907).

Eloquence in Simplicity.—[1 Cor. 2:1-5 quoted.] Paul did not come to the churches as an orator or as a scientific philosopher. He did not seek merely to please the ear by flowery words and phrases. In eloquent simplicity he proclaimed the things that had been revealed to him. He was able to speak with power and authority, for he frequently received instruction from God in vision [vs. 6-10 quoted] (MS 46, 1905).

(Acts 17:22-34.) Spiritual Power Not in Human Wisdom.—[1 Cor. 2:1-9 quoted.] The apostle Paul had all the privileges of a Roman citizen. He was not behind in the Hebrew education, for he had learned at the feet of Gamaliel; but all this did not enable him to reach the highest standard. With all this scientific and literary education, he was, until Christ was revealed to him, in as complete darkness as are many at this time. Paul became fully conscious that to know Jesus Christ by an experimental knowledge was for his present and eternal good. He saw the necessity of reaching a high standard.

It had been Paul's custom to adopt an oratorical style in his preaching. He was a man fitted to speak before kings, before the great and learned men of Athens, and his intellectual acquirements were often of value to him in preparing the way for the gospel. He tried to do this in Athens, meeting eloquence with eloquence, philosophy with philosophy, and logic with logic; but he failed to meet with the success he had hoped for. His hindsight led him to understand that there was something needed above human wisdom. God taught him that something above the world's wisdom must come to him. He must receive his power from a higher source. In order to convict and convert sinners, the Spirit of God must come into his work and sanctify every spiritual development. He must eat the flesh and drink the blood of the Son of God (RH July 18, 1899).

2:2 (Gal. 6:14). The One Central Truth of the Scriptures.—There is one great central truth to be kept ever before the mind in the searching of the Scriptures—Christ and Him crucified. Every other truth is invested with influence and power corresponding to its relation to this theme. It is only in the light of the cross that we can discern the exalted character of the law of God. The soul palsied by sin can be endowed with life only through the work wrought out upon the cross by the Author of our salvation (MS 31, 1890).

2:4 (ch. 4:9). Faithful Preachers a Spectacle to the World.—Our work for this time is not to be done by enticing words of man's wisdom, such as were used by heathen orators to gain applause. Speak in the demonstration of the Spirit, and with the power which God alone can impart. The testing truths for this time are to be proclaimed by men whose lips have been touched with a live coal from off God's altar. Such preaching will be a decided contrast to the preaching usually heard. Faithful, God-sent messengers are a spectacle to the world, to angels, and to men, not because they place themselves in high positions, but because they show that they are strengthened and helped by the Spirit (MS 165, 1899).

2:7-14. See EGW on Rom. 11:33.

2:9 (Eph. 1:17, 18). Educating the Imagination.—You need to dwell upon the assurances of God's Word, to hold them before the mind's eye. Point by point, day by day, repeat the lessons there given, over and over, until you learn the bearing and import of them. We see a little today, and by meditation and prayer, more tomorrow. And thus little by little we take in the gracious promises until we can almost comprehend their full significance.

Oh, how much we lose by not educating the imagination to dwell upon divine things, rather than upon the earthly! We may give fullest scope to the imagination, and yet, "eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither have entered into the heart of man, the things which God hath prepared for them that love him." Fresh wonders will be revealed to the mind the more closely we apply it to divine things. We lose much by not talking more of Jesus and of heaven, the saints' inheritance. The more we contemplate heavenly things, the more new delights we shall see, and the more will our hearts be brimful of thanks to our beneficent Creator (Letter 4, 1885).

2:14. Truth Versus Worldly Wisdom.—Precious jewels of truth, that are of the highest value to the meek and lowly ones who believe in Christ, are as foolishness to him who is wise in the world's estimation. But truth, eternal truth, is ever present with the true believer. The Spirit is the appointed instructor of such a soul, his guide, his continual strength and righteousness (MS 29, 1899).

2:16. The Law an Expression of God's Idea.—The law of ten commandments is not to be looked upon as much from the prohibitory side as from the mercy side. Its prohibitions are the sure guarantee of happiness in obedience. As received in Christ, it works in us the purity of character that will bring joy to us through eternal ages. To the obedient it is a wall of protection. We behold in it the goodness of God, who by revealing to men the immutable principles of righteousness, seeks to shield them from the evils that result from transgression.

We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death.

The law is an expression of God's idea. When we receive it in Christ, it becomes our idea. It lifts us above the power of natural desires and tendencies, above temptations that lead to sin (Letter 96, 1896).

3:1, 2 (Heb. 5:9-12). Why Many Fail in Character Building.—[Heb. 5:9-12 quoted.] Paul could not speak to the Jewish converts as plainly as he desired regarding the mystery of godliness. Because of their spiritual weakness, their lack of perception, he could not utter the truth, which, could they have heard aright, with intelligent comprehension, would have been to them a savor of life unto life.

The fault was not with their instructors, but with themselves. They were dull of understanding. Abundant advantages had been given them. They could have increased in understanding regarding Christ, His work, His power to save to the uttermost all who come to Him. But they had not pressed onward and upward, improving their opportunity to learn more and still more of the Saviour. Because they had not received in faith the truths imparted to them, their memory was weak. They could not retain in their minds the truths essential to success in character-building.

The apostle calls their attention to their fault in this respect, which had become their spiritual infirmity. Their misconceptions gave them an indistinct view of Christ's power to make His people a praise in the earth (RH June 16, 1903).

3:1-3. Spiritual Dwarfs.—Paul longed to speak to the church in Corinth of spiritual things. But to his sorrow he found it in great weakness. The church members could not even bear to hear the truth concerning themselves. [1 Cor. 3:1, 2 quoted.] The spiritual growth of this people was so dwarfed that a plain "Thus saith the Lord" was an offense to them. Paul knew that by giving them the truth he would be ranked as an accuser and faultfinder (MS 74, 1899).

3:2. Living on a Low Level.—[1 Cor. 3:1-3 quoted.] Those addressed in these words had not been feeding on Christ, and therefore they were not advanced in spiritual knowledge. Paul said, "I have fed you with milk"—the plainest, most simple truths, suitable for converts young in the faith; "not with meat"—the solid, nourishing, spiritual food suited to those who have made progress in a knowledge of divine things. They were living on a low level, dwelling on the surface truths which call for no thought, no deep research (MS 70, 1901).

3:4-9. Ministers Not to Be Idolized.—There can be no stronger evidence in churches that the truths of the Bible have not sanctified the receivers than their attachment to some favorite minister, and their unwillingness to accept and be profited by the labors of some other teacher who is sent to them in the providence of God. The Lord sends help to His church as they need, not as they choose; for short-sighted mortals cannot discern what is for their best good. It is seldom that one minister has all the qualifications necessary to perfect any one church in all the requirements of Christianity; therefore God sends other ministers to follow him, one after another, each one possessing some qualifications in which the others were deficient.

The church should gratefully accept these servants of Christ, even as they would accept their Master Himself. They should seek to derive all the benefit possible from the instruction which ministers may give them from the Word of God. But the ministers themselves are not to be idolized; there should be no religious pets and favorites among the people; it is the truths they bring which are to be accepted, and appreciated in the meekness of humility (Redemption:

The Teachings of Paul, pp. 74, 75).

3:5, 6. The Lord Our Efficiency.—The Lord desires us to distinguish between the means and the instrument. [1 Cor. 3:5, 6 quoted.] The human agent is only the instrument; it is to the Lord he owes his efficiency. He must cooperate with divine power (Letter 150, 1900).

3:9 (2 Cor. 10:4; see EGW on Gen. 2:7; Rom. 12:2). God Provides the Weapons.—"We are laborers together with God." He provides us with all the facilities, all the spiritual weapons necessary for the pulling down of Satan's strongholds. Present the truth as it is in Jesus. Let the tones of your voice express the love of God. Lead, but never drive. Approach the most obstinate in a spirit of kindness and affection. Dip your words into the oil of grace, and let them flow forth from your lips in love (Letter 105, 1893).

Divine Culture Will Be Given.—The Lord will give divine culture to those who are laborers together with Him. To be a laborer together with God means to strive and wrestle to grow up into Christ's likeness. It is Satan who makes it necessary for us to strive. Those who will keep the eye fixed upon the life of the Lord Jesus will gain an abundant entrance into His spiritual temple (Letter 5, 1900.)

Feeble Plants Receive Special Care.—"Ye are God's husbandry." As one takes pleasure in the cultivation of a garden, so the Lord takes pleasure in His believing sons and daughters. A garden demands constant labor. The weeds must be removed; new plants must be set out; branches that are making too rapid a development must be pruned back. So the Lord works for His garden, the plants of the Lord. He cannot take pleasure in any development that does not reveal the graces of the character of Christ. The blood of Christ has made men and women God's precious charge. Then how careful each one should be not to manifest too much freedom in pulling up the plants the Lord has placed in His garden. Some plants are so feeble that they have hardly any life in them, and for these the Lord has a special care (MS 39, 1896).

Learning the Trade of Character Building.—"Ye are God's building." You are representatives of the great Master Worker. God forbid that we should neglect to learn the trade of character building. The course to be pursued in this work is not according to the ideas of the world; the fashioning is not similar to the fashioning of the world. Those who enter the work of God without hiding self in Christ will soon disconnect themselves from the Master's building (MS 165, 1899).

Let Christ Direct.—In your work of character building be sure that Christ is your director. It makes a great difference whether you are laborers together with God or whether you are laborers together against God; whether it is your highest ambition to magnify God or to magnify yourself and your plans. Christ declares, "Without me ye can do nothing"—nothing that will be approved by God. Study your motives carefully, and make sure that you are not working in your own wisdom, apart from Christ (MS 102, 1903).

A Temple Honored by God and Man.—With pure, noble, upright deeds every man is to build. The result of his work will be a symmetrical structure, a fair temple honored by God and men (MS 153, 1904).

3:9-15. Each Man Has His Post of Duty.—"We should carefully weigh the matters relative to the work we take up. Will this work be a blessing to souls? God has not given us work merely to keep us busy, but for His name's glory. Many are busily engaged gathering wood, hay, stubble. But this will all be consumed, leaving nothing to prepare souls for that great day when every work is to be tried by fire. Many will find that the work that has occupied their time and attention has perished with the using, and that they themselves have barely been saved, as by fire.

Such a result as this is not after God's order. By God's appointment each man has his post of duty. The careful, prayerful inquiry is to be made, What duty is assigned us individually, as men and women under accountability to God? And whether our labor be wholly limited to spiritual things, or whether it is temporal and spiritual combined, we are to faithfully discharge our work. Things secular and

- building.
- 10 According to the grace of God which is given unto me, as a wise masterbuilder, I have laid the foundation, and another buildeth thereon. But let every man take heed how he buildeth thereupon.
 - 11 For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ.
 - 12 Now if any man build upon this foundation gold, silver, precious stones, wood, hay, stubble;
 - 13 Every man's work shall be made manifest: for the day shall declare it, because it shall be revealed by fire; and the fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is.
 - 14 If any man's work abide which he hath built thereupon, he shall receive a reward.
 - 15 If any man's work shall be burned, he shall suffer loss: but he himself shall be saved; yet so as by fire.
 - 16 Know ye not that ye are the temple of God, and that the Spirit of God dwelleth in you?
 - 17 If any man ⁴defile the temple of God, him shall God destroy; for the temple of God is holy, which temple ye are.
 - 18 Let no man deceive himself. If any man among you seemeth to be wise in this world, let him become a fool, that he may be wise.
 - 19 For the wisdom of this world is foolishness with God. For it is written, He taketh the wise in their own craftiness.
 - 20 And again, The Lord knoweth the thoughts of the wise, that they are vain.
 - 21 Therefore let no man glory in men. For all things are yours;
 - 22 Whether Paul, or Apollos, or Cephas, or the world, or life, or death, or things present, or things to come; all are yours;
 - 23 And ye are Christ's; and Christ is God's.

- judgment: yea, I judge not mine own self.
- 4 For I know nothing by myself: yet am I not hereby justified: but he that judgeth me is the Lord.
 - 5 Therefore judge nothing before the time, until the Lord come, who both will bring to light the hidden things of darkness, and will make manifest the counsels of the hearts: and then shall every man have praise of God.
 - 6 And these things, brethren, I have in a figure transferred to myself and to Apollos for your sakes: that ye might learn in us not to think of men above that which is written, that no one of you be puffed up for one against another.
 - 7 For who ⁴maketh thee to differ from another? and what hast thou that thou didst not receive? now if thou didst receive it, why dost thou glory, as if thou hadst not received it?
 - 8 Now ye are full, now ye are rich, ye have reigned as kings without us: and I would to God ye did reign, that we also might reign with you.
 - 9 For I think that God hath set forth us ⁴the apostles last, as they were appointed to death: for we are made a ⁴spectacle unto the world, and to angels, and to men.
 - 10 We are fools for Christ's sake, but ye are wise in Christ: we are weak, but ye are strong: ye are honourable, but we are despised.
 - 11 Even unto this present hour we both hunger, and thirst, and are naked, and are buffeted, and have no certain dwelling-place:
 - 12 And labour, working with our own hands: being reviled, we bless: being persecuted, we suffer it:
 - 13 Being defamed, we entreat: we are made as the filth of the world, and are the offscouring of all things unto this day.
 - 14 I write not these things to shame you, but as my beloved sons I warn you.
 - 15 For though ye have ten thousand instructors in Christ, yet have ye not many fathers: for in Christ Jesus I have begotten you through the gospel.
 - 16 Wherefore I beseech you, be ye followers of me.

things sacred must be combined, but spiritual things are not to be hidden by secular matters.

Christ requires the service of the whole being, the physical, mental, and moral powers combined. These are to be enlisted in God's service. Man is to remember that God has the ownership of all, and that his pursuits are invested with a sacredness that they did not possess before he enlisted in the army of the Lord. Every action is to be a consecrated action, for it occupies God's entrusted talent of time. Holiness unto the Lord is inscribed on all the actions of such a one, because his whole being is brought under subjection to God.

No business is to be undertaken, even in ordinary life, if it is corrupting in its influence upon the senses. We are in the Lord's training school, and He has His own appointed means whereby we may be brought into His service, so that His name may be glorified by the work we do in this world. Many are troubled because they are not working directly for the advancement of God's kingdom. But the humblest work must be ignored. If it is honest work, it is a blessing, and may lead to the higher parts of the work. Those who do this work need not accuse themselves of uselessness in the great household of God. This is not necessary, for theirs is a work that someone must do (MS 99, 1898).

3:11. The Living Foundation Stone.—God will not accept the most splendid service, or the most brilliant talent, unless it is laid upon, and connected with, the living foundation stone: for this alone gives true value to the ability possessed, and makes it a living service to God. We may look back through centuries, and see the living stones gleaming like jets of light through the rubbish of moral darkness, errors, and superstition. These precious jewels shine with continually increasing luster, not alone for time, but for eternity (Redemption: The Teachings of Paul. p 80).

- 19 But I will come to you shortly, if the Lord will, and will know, not the speech of them which are puffed up, but the power.
- 20 For the kingdom of God is not in word, but in power.
- 21 What will ye? shall I come unto you with a rod, or in love, and in the spirit of meekness?

The Case of Incest

5 It is reported commonly that there is fornication among you, and such fornication as is not so much as named among the Gentiles, that one should have his father's wife.

- 2 And ye are puffed up, and have not rather mourned, that he that hath done this deed might be taken away from among you.
- 3 For I verily, as absent in body, but present in spirit, have judged already, as though I were present, concerning him that hath so done this deed.
- 4 In the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, when ye are gathered together, and my spirit, with the power of our Lord Jesus Christ,
- 5 To deliver such an one unto Satan for the destruction of the flesh, that the spirit may be saved in the day of the Lord Jesus.
- 6 Your glorying is not good. Know ye not that a little leaven leaveneth the whole lump?
- 7 Purge out therefore the old leaven, that ye may be a new lump, as ye are unleavened. For even Christ our passover is sacrificed for us:
- 8 Therefore let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth.
- 9 I wrote unto you in an epistle not to company with fornicators:

Litigation in Secular Courts Decried

6 Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints?

- 2 Do ye not know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters?
- 3 Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?
- 4 If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them to judge who are least esteemed in the church.
- 5 I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren?
- 6 But brother goeth to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers.
- 7 Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another. Why do ye not rather take wrong? why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded?
- 8 Nay, ye do wrong, and defraud, and that your brethren.
- 9 Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Be not deceived: neither fornicators, nor idolaters, nor adulterers, nor effeminate, nor abusers of themselves with mankind,

3:11-13 (see EGW on Ps. 144:12). Gold of Faith Imperishable.—It makes every difference what material is used in the character building. The long-expected day of God will soon test every man's work. "The fire shall try every man's work of what sort it is." As fire reveals the difference between gold, silver, and precious stones, and wood, hay, and stubble, so the day of judgment will test characters, showing the difference between characters formed after Christ's likeness and characters formed after the likeness of the selfish heart. All selfishness, all false religion, will then appear as it is. The worthless material will be consumed; but the gold of true, simple, humble faith will never lose its value. It can never be consumed; for it is imperishable. One hour of transgression will be seen to be a great loss, while the fear of the Lord will be seen to be the beginning of wisdom. The pleasure of self-indulgence will perish as stubble, while the gold of steadfast principle, maintained at any cost, will endure forever (RH Dec. 11,

The inhabitants of unfallen worlds and of the heavenly universe are watching with an intense interest the conflict between good and evil. They rejoice as Satan's subtleties, one after another, are discerned and met with "It is written," as Christ met them in His conflict with the wily foe. Every victory gained is a gem in the crown of life. In the day of victory all the universe of heaven triumphs. The harps of the angels send forth the most precious music, accompanying the melody of the voice (Letter 5, 1900).

An Unmarried State Recommended under Certain Circumstances

- 7 For I would that all men were even as I myself. But every man hath his proper gift of God, one after this manner, and another after that.

The Problem of Mixed Marriages

But we can place no dependence upon ourselves in this work. We cannot with safety follow our own guidance. The Holy Spirit must renew and sanctify us. In God's service there must be no halfway work. 9:13-18 (ch. 1:1). Working for Souls, Not for Money.—Paul did not vacillate. He was established and grounded in the faith. But as far as possible he sought to make himself one with those for whom he labored.

As a gospel minister, it was Paul's privilege to claim a support from those for whom he labored. But though he became the servant of all, yet he worked with his hands to support himself, that none might find occasion to charge him with selfishness. He did not receive wages for his labor, though as a minister of the gospel this was his right. Thus he made it evident that he was working for souls, not for money.

"What is my reward then?" he asks. "Verily that, when I preach the gospel, I may make the gospel of Christ without charge, that I abuse not my power in the gospel."

Paul did not depend upon man for his ordination. He had received from the Lord his commission and ordination. He regarded his ministerial labor as a privilege. To him it was not a duty performed in return for money. He labored for the souls of men. "For though I preach the gospel," he said, "I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me: yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!" He studied constantly how to make his testimony of the greatest effect. He sought the approval of God.

Would that today men might be found with faith as Paul did, men who would preach the gospel, not looking to men for their reward, but willing to receive their 19 Circumcision is nothing, and uncircumcision is nothing, but the keeping of the commandments of God.

20 Let every man abide in the same calling wherein he was called.

21 Art thou called being a servant? care not for it: but if thou mayest be made free, use it rather.

22 For he that is called in the Lord, being a servant, is the Lord's freeman: likewise also he that is called, being free, is Christ's servant.

23 Ye are bought with a price; be not ye the servants of men.

24 Brethren, let every man, wherein he is called, therein abide with God.

Instruction Concerning Virgins

25 Now concerning virgins I have no commandment of the Lord: yet I give my judgment, as one that hath obtained mercy of the Lord to be faithful.

26 I suppose therefore that this is good for the present distress, I say, that it is good for a man so to be.

27 Art thou bound unto a wife? seek not to be loosed. Art thou loosed from a wife? seek not a wife.

28 But and if thou marry, thou hast not sinned; and if a virgin marry, she hath not sinned. Nevertheless such shall have trouble in the flesh: but I spare you.

29 But this I say, brethren, the time is short: it remaineth, that both they that have wives be as though they had none;

30 And they that weep, as though they wept not; and they that rejoice, as though they rejoiced not; and they that buy, as though they possessed not;

31 And they that use this world, as not abusing it: for the fashion of this world passeth away.

32 But I would have you without carefulness. He that is unmarried careth for the things that belong to the Lord, how he may please the Lord:

33 But he that is married careth for the things that are of the world, how he may please his wife.

34 There is difference also between a wife and a virgin. The unmarried woman careth for the things of the Lord, that she may be holy both in body, and in spirit: but she that is married careth for the things of the world, how she may please her husband.

35 And this I speak for your own profit: not that I may cast a snare upon you, but for that which is comely, and that ye may attend upon the Lord without distraction.

36 But if any man think that he behaveth himself uncomely toward his virgin, if she pass the flower of her age, and need so require, let him do what he will, he sinneth not: let them marry.

37 Nevertheless he that standeth stedfast in his heart, having no necessity, but hath power over his own will, and hath so decreed in his heart that he will keep his virgin, doeth well.

38 So then he that giveth her in marriage doeth well: but he that giveth her not in marriage doeth better.

39 The wife is bound by the law as long as her husband liveth; but if her husband be dead, she is at liberty to be married to whom she will; only in the Lord.

40 But she is happier if she so abide, after my judgment: and I think also that I have the Spirit of God.

Instruction Concerning Meats Sacrificed to Idols (8:1-11:1)

Abstinence Advised for Sake of Weak Brother

8 Now as touching things offered unto idols, we know that we all have knowledge. Knowledge puffeth up, but charity edifieth.

2 And if any man think that he knoweth any thing, he knoweth nothing yet as he ought to know.

3 But if any man love God, the same is known of him.

4 As concerning therefore the eating of those things that are offered in sacrifice unto idols, we know that an idol is nothing in the world, and that there is none other God but one.

reward in souls (MS 74, 1903).

9:20-23. Paul's Manner of Labor.—[1 Cor. 9:20-23 quoted.] We know that the apostle did not sacrifice one jot of principle. He did not allow himself to be led away by the sophistry and maxims of men. He was not to coincide with the suppositions and assurances of men who were teaching for doctrine the commandments of men; because iniquity and transgression were in the ascendancy and advancing, he did not allow his love to wax cold. All zeal and earnestness are to be retained, but at the same time some features of our faith, if expressed, would, by the elements with which you have to deal, arouse prejudice at once.

Paul could be as zealous as any of the most zealous, in his allegiance to the law of God, and show that he was perfectly familiar with the Old Testament Scriptures. He could dwell upon the types and shadows that typified Christ; he could exalt Christ, and tell all about Christ and

His special work in behalf of humanity, and what a field he had to explore. He could advance most precious light upon the prophecies, that they had not seen; and yet he would not offend them. Thus the foundation was laid nicely, that when the time came that their spirits softened, he could say in the language of John, Behold in Jesus Christ, who was made flesh, and dwelt among us, the Lamb of God, who taketh away the sins of the world.

To the Gentiles, he preached Christ as their only hope of salvation, but did not at first have anything to say upon the law. But after their hearts were warmed with the presentation of Christ as the gift of God to our world, and what was comprehended in the work of the Redeemer in the costly sacrifice to manifest the love of God to man, in the most eloquent simplicity he showed that love for all mankind—Jew and Gentile—that they might be saved by surrendering their hearts to Him. Thus when, melted and subdued, they gave themselves to the Lord, he presented

- 5 For though there be that are called gods, whether in heaven or in earth, (as there be gods many, and lords many.)
- 6 But to us there is but one God, the Father, of whom are all things, and we 'in him; and one Lord Jesus Christ, by whom are all things, and we by him.
- 7 Howbeit there is not in every man that knowledge: for some with conscience of the idol unto this hour eat it as a thing offered unto an idol; and their conscience being weak is defiled.
- 8 But meat commendeth us not to God: for neither, if we eat, 'are we the better; neither, if we eat not, 'are we the worse.
- 9 But take heed lest by any means this 'liberty of yours become a stumblingblock to them that are weak.
- 10 For if any man see thee which hast knowledge sit at meat in the idol's temple, shall not the conscience of him which is weak be 'emboldened to eat those things which are offered to idols;
- 11 And through thy knowledge shall the weak brother perish, for whom Christ died?
- 12 But when ye sin so against the brethren, and wound their weak conscience, ye sin against Christ.
- 13 Wherefore, if meat make my brother to offend, I will eat no flesh while the world standeth, lest I make my brother to offend.

Paul's Use of Christian Liberty Illustrated

- 9 Am I not an apostle? am I not free? have I not seen Jesus Christ our Lord? are not ye my work in the Lord?
- 2 If I be not an apostle unto others, yet doubtless I am to you: for the seal of mine apostleship are ye in the Lord.
- 3 Mine answer to them that do examine me is this.
- 4 Have we not power to eat and to drink?
- 5 Have we not power to lead about a sister, a 'wife, as well as other apostles, and as the brethren of the Lord, and Cephas?
- 6 Or I only and Barnabas, have not we power to forbear working?

- feedeth a flock, and eateth not of the milk of the flock?
- 8 Say I these things as a man? or saith not the law the same also?
- 9 For it is written in the law of Moses, Thou shalt not muzzle the mouth of the ox that treadeth out the corn. Doth God take care for oxen?
- 10 Or saith he it altogether for our sakes? For our sakes, no doubt, this is written: that he that ploweth should plow in hope; and that he that thresheth in hope should be partaker of his hope.
- 11 If we have sown unto you spiritual things, is it a great thing if we shall reap your carnal things?
- 12 If others be partakers of this power over you, are not we rather? Nevertheless we have not used this power; but suffer all things, lest we should hinder the gospel of Christ.
- 13 Do ye not know that they which minister about holy things 'live of the things of the temple? and they which wait at the altar are partakers with the altar?
- 14 Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel.
- 15 But I have used none of these things: neither have I written these things, that it should be so done unto me: for it were better for me to die, than that any man should make my glorying void.
- 16 For though I preach the gospel, I have nothing to glory of: for necessity is laid upon me; yea, woe is unto me, if I preach not the gospel!
- 17 For if I do this thing willingly, I have a reward: but if against my will, a dispensation of the gospel is committed unto me.
- 18 What is my reward then? Verily that, when I preach the gospel, I may make the gospel of Christ without charge, that I abuse not my power in the gospel.
- 19 For though I be free from all men, yet have I made myself servant unto all, that I might gain the more.
- 20 And unto the Jews I became as a Jew, that I might gain the Jews; to them that are under the law, as under the law, that I might gain them that are under the law;
- 21 To them that are without law, as without the law of God as the test of their obedience. This was the manner of his working—adapting his methods to win souls. Had he been abrupt and unskillful the Word, he would not have reached either Jew or Gentile.

He led the Gentiles along to view the stupendous truths of the love of God, who spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us; and how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things? The question was asked why such an immense sacrifice was required, and then he went back to the types, and down through the Old Testament Scripture, revealing Christ in the law, and they were converted to Christ and to the law (SpT, Series A, No. 6, pp. 54, 55).

9:24-27 (1 Peter 2:11). A Contest in Which All May Win.—[1 Cor. 9:24-27 quoted.] This glorious contest is before us. The apostle seeks to inspire us to enter into a noble emulation, a competition in which will be seen no selfishness, unfairness, or underhanded work. We are to use every spiritual nerve and muscle in the contest for the crown of life. No one who does his best will fail in this contest.

All who seek for the prize are to place themselves under strict discipline. "Every man that stiveth for the mastery is temperate in all things." Those who enter into a contest of physical strength for a corruptible prize realize the necessity of rigid abstinence from every indulgence that would weaken the physical powers. They eat simple food at regular hours.

How much more should those who enter for the gospel prize, restrain themselves from the unlawful indulgence of appetite and "abstain from fleshly lusts, which war against the soul." They must be temperate at all times. The same restraint that gives them the power to obtain the victory at one time will, if practiced constantly, give them a great advantage in the race for the crown of life (MS 74, 1903).

(Rom. 8:13; Col. 3:5.) Under Discipline to God.—[1

- law, (being not without law to God, but under the law to Christ,) that I might gain them that are without law.
- 22 To the weak became I as weak, that I might gain the weak: I am made all things to all men, that I might by all means save some.
- 23 And this I do for the gospel's sake, that I might be partaker thereof with you.
- 24 Know ye not that they which run in a race run all, but one receiveth the prize? So run, that ye may obtain.
- 25 And every man that striveth for the mastery is temperate in all things. Now they do it to obtain a corruptible crown; but we an incorruptible.
- 26 I therefore so run, not as uncertainly; so fight I, not as one that beateth the air:
- 27 But I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway.

Warning Against Idolatry

- 10 Moreover, brethren, I would not that ye should be ignorant, how that all our fathers were under the cloud, and all passed through the sea;
- 2 And were all baptized unto Moses in the cloud and in the sea;
- 3 And did all eat the same spiritual meat;
- 4 And did all drink the same spiritual drink: for they drank of that spiritual Rock that followed them: and that Rock was Christ.
- 5 But with many of them God was not well pleased: for they were overthrown in the wilderness.
- 6 Now these things were our examples, to the intent we should not lust after evil things, as they also lusted.
- 7 Neither be ye idolaters, as were some of them; as it is written, The people sat down to eat and drink, and rose up to play.
- 8 Neither let us commit fornication, as some of them committed, and fell in one day three and twenty thousand.
- 9 Neither let us tempt Christ, as some of them also tempted, and were destroyed of serpents.
- 10 Neither murmur ye, as some of them also

- 18 Behold Israel after the flesh: are not they which eat of the sacrifices partakers of the altar?
- 19 What say I then? that the idol is any thing, or that which is offered in sacrifice to idols is any thing?
- 20 But I say, that the things which the Gentiles sacrifice, they sacrifice to devils, and not to God: and I would not that ye should have fellowship with devils.
- 21 Ye cannot drink the cup of the Lord, and the cup of devils: ye cannot be partakers of the Lord's table, and of the table of devils.
- 22 Do we provoke the Lord to jealousy? are we stronger than he?

Cor. 9:24-27 quoted.) Thus Paul presents the conditions which God imposes upon every soul who enlists in His service. The apostle fears for himself, lest he shall fail of bearing the examination test, and be found wanting, and he places himself under severe training. So the Christian today needs to keep strict guard over his appetite. He needs to subject himself to severe training, that he may not run uncertainly or at random, without seeing his standard and striving to reach it. He must obey the laws of God. The physical, mental, and moral powers must be kept in the most perfect condition if he would obtain the approval of God. "I keep under my body," the apostle says. This means literally to beat back its desires and impulses and passions by severe discipline, even as did those competing for an earthly prize (MS 95, 1899).

9:27 (see EGW on 2 Cor. 12:1-4). Paul on Guard.—[1 Cor. 9:26, 27 quoted.] Paul was ever on the watch lest evil propensities should get the better of him. He guarded well his appetites and passions and evil propensities (Letter 27, 1906).

11:18-34 (Matt. 26:26-29). The Lord's Supper Perverted.—The Corinthians were departing widely from the simplicity of the faith and the harmony of the church. They continued to assemble for worship, but with hearts that were estranged from one another. They had perverted the true meaning of the Lord's Supper, patterning in a great degree after idolatrous feasts. They came together to celebrate the sufferings and death of Christ, but turned the occasion into a period of feasting and selfish enjoyment.

It had become customary, before partaking of the communion, to unite in a social meal. Families professing the faith brought their own food to the place of meeting, and ate it without courteously waiting for the others to be ready. The holy institution of the Lord's Supper was, for the

- 29 Conscience, I say, not thine own, but of the other: for why is my liberty judged of another man's conscience?
- 30 For if I by grace be a partaker, why am I evil spoken of for that for which I give thanks?
- 31 Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God.
- 32 Give none offence, neither to the Jews, nor to the Gentiles, nor to the church of God:
- 33 Even as I please all men in all things, not seeking mine own profit, but the profit of many, that they may be saved.

Proper Observance of the Lord's Supper

- 17 Now in this that I declare unto you I praise you not, that ye come together not for the better, but for the worse.
- 18 For first of all, when ye come together in the church, I hear that there be divisions among you: and I partly believe it.
- 19 For there must be also heresies among you, that they which are approved may be made manifest among you.
- 20 When ye come together therefore into one place, this is not to eat the Lord's supper.
- 21 For in eating every one taketh before other his own supper: and one is hungry, and another is drunken.
- 22 What? have ye not houses to eat and to drink in? or despise ye the church of God, and shame them that have not? What shall I say to you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not.
- 23 For I have received of the Lord that which also I delivered unto you, That the Lord Jesus the same night in which he wealthy, turned into a gluttonous feast; while the poor were made to blush when their meager fare was brought in contrast with the costly viands of their rich brethren.

Paul rebukes the Corinthians for making the house of God a place of feasting and revelry, like a company of idolaters: "What? have ye not houses to eat and to drink in? or despise ye the church of God, and shame them that have not?" The public religious feasts of the Greeks had been conducted in this way, and it was by following the counsels of false teachers that the Christians had been led to imitate their example. These teachers had begun by assuring them that it was not wrong to attend idolatrous feasts, and had finally introduced similar practices into the Christian church.

Paul proceeded to give the order and object of the Lord's Supper, and then warned his brethren against perverting this sacred ordinance (1P 170, 171).

Bread that is leavened must not come on the communion table, unleavened bread is the only correct representation of the Lord's Supper. Nothing fermented is to be used. Only the pure fruit of the vine and the unleavened bread are to be used (RH June 7, 1898).

11:26 (see EGW on Mark 16:1, 2). Frequency of the Lord's Supper.—The salvation of men depends upon a continual application to their hearts of the cleansing blood of Christ. Therefore, the Lord's Supper was not to be observed only occasionally or yearly, but more frequently than the annual passover. This solemn ordinance commemorates a far greater event than the deliverance of the children of Israel from Egypt. That deliverance was typical of the great atonement which Christ made by the sacrifice of

- 25 After the same manner also he took the cup, when he had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in my blood: this do ye, as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of me.
- 26 For as often as ye eat this bread, and drink this cup, ⁹ye do shew the Lord's death till he come.
- 27 Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord.
- 28 But let a man examine himself, and so let him eat of that bread, and drink of that cup.
- 29 For he that eateth and drinketh unworthily, eateth and drinketh "damnation to himself, not discerning the Lord's body.
- 30 For this cause many are weak and sickly among you, and many sleep.
- 31 For if we would judge ourselves, we should not be judged.
- 32 But when we are judged, we are chastened of the Lord, that we should not be condemned with the world.
- 33 Wherefore, my brethren, when ye come together to eat, tarry one for another.
- 34 And if any man hunger, let him eat at home: that ye come not together unto "condemnation. And the rest will I set in order when I come.

The Place and Function of Spiritual Gifts: Source and Diversity of Gifts

- 12 Now concerning spiritual gifts, brethren, I would not have you ignorant.
- 2 Ye know that ye were Gentiles, carried away unto these dumb idols, even as ye were led.
- 3 Wherefore I give you to understand, that no man speaking by the Spirit of God calleth Jesus "accursed: and that no man can say that Jesus is the Lord, but by the Holy Ghost.
- 4 Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit.

- 6 And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all.
- 7 But the manifestation of the Spirit is given to every man to profit withal.
- 8 For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom: to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit;
- 9 To another faith by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit;
- 10 To another the working of miracles; to another prophecy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues:
- 11 But all these worketh that one and the selfsame Spirit, dividing to every man severally as he will.
- 12 For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body: so also is Christ.
- 13 For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or 'Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit.
- 14 For the body is not one member, but many.
- 15 If the foot shall say, Because I am not the hand, I am not of the body; is it therefore not of the body?

12:4-6, 12 (Eph. 4:4-13). Each Member to Work in His Appointed Place.—(1 Cor. 12:4-6, 12 quoted.) The vine has many branches, but though all the branches are different, they do not quarrel. In diversity there is unity. All the branches obtain their nourishment from one source. This is an illustration of the unity that is to exist among Christ's followers. In their different lines of work they all have but one Head. The same Spirit, in different ways, works through them. There is harmonious action, though the gifts differ. Study this chapter. You will see from it that the man who is truly united with Christ will never act as though he were a complete whole in himself. . . .

The perfection of the church depends not on each member being fashioned exactly alike. God calls for each one to take his proper place, to stand in his lot to do his appointed work according to the ability which has been given him (Letter 19, 1901).

Two Chapters to Be Memorized.—The 12th and 13th chapters of 1st Corinthians should be committed to memory, written in the mind and heart. Through His servant Paul, the Lord has placed before us these subjects for our consideration, and those who have the privilege of being brought together in church capacity will be united, understandingly and intelligently. The figure of the members which compose the body represents the church of God and the relation its members should sustain to one another (MS 82, 1898).

12:27. See EGW on Heb. 8:1, 2.

13. Read This Chapter Every Day.—The Lord desires me to call the attention of His people to the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians. Read this chapter every day, and from it obtain comfort and strength. Learn from it the value that God places on sanctified, heaven-born love, and

- 23 And those members of the body, which we think to be less honourable, upon these we bestow more abundant honour; and our uncomely parts have more abundant comeliness.
- 24 For our comely parts have no need; but God hath tempered the body together, having given more abundant honour to that part which lacked:
- 25 That there should be no 'schism in the body; but that the members should have the same care one for another.
- 26 And whether one member suffer, all the members suffer with it; or one member be honoured, all the members rejoice with it.
- 27 Now ye are the body of Christ, and members in particular.
- 28 And God hath set some in the church, first apostles, secondarily prophets, thirdly teachers, after that miracles, then gifts of healings, helps, governments, 'diversities of tongues.
- 29 Are all apostles? are all prophets? are all teachers? are all 'workers of miracles?
- 30 Have all the gifts of healing? do all speak with tongues? do all interpret?
- 31 But covet earnestly the best gifts: and yet shew I unto you a more excellent way.

Love the Outstanding Gift

- 13 Though I speak with the tongues of men and of angels, and have not charity, I am become as sounding brass, or a tinkling cymbal.
- 2 And though I have the gift of prophecy, and understand all mysteries, and all knowledge; and though I have all faith, so that I could remove mountains, and have not charity, I am nothing.
- 3 And though I bestow all my goods to feed the poor, and though I give my body to be burned, and have not charity, it profiteth me nothing.
- 4 Charity suffereth long, and is kind; charity envieth not; charity 'vaunteth not itself, is not puffed up.
- 5 Doth not behave itself unseemly, seeketh not her own, is not easily provoked, thinketh no evil;

Discussion of Gifts of Tongues and Prophecy

- 14 Follow after charity, and desire spiritual gifts, but rather that ye may prophesy.
- 2 For he that speaketh in an unknown tongue speaketh not unto men, but unto God: for no man 'understandeth him; howbeit in the spirit he speaketh mysteries.
- 3 But he that prophesieth speaketh unto men to edification, and exhortation, and comfort.
- 4 He that speaketh in an unknown tongue edifieth himself; but he that prophesieth edifieth the church.
- 5 I would that ye all spake with tongues, but rather that ye prophesied: for greater is he that prophesieth than he that speaketh with tongues, except he interpret, that the church may receive edifying.
- 6 Now, brethren, if I come unto you speaking with tongues, what shall I profit you, except I shall speak to you either by revelation, or by knowledge, or by prophesying, or by doctrine?

let the lesson that it teaches come home to your hearts. Learn that Christlike love is of heavenly birth, and that without it all other qualifications are worthless (RH July 21, 1904).

An Expression of Obedience.—In the thirteenth chapter of First Corinthians the apostle Paul defines true Christlike love. . . . This chapter is an expression of the obedience of all who love God and keep His commandments. It is brought into action in the life of every true believer (Letter 156, 1900).

13:1. God Holds the Balances.—It is not the ready speaker, the sharp intellect, that counts with God. It is the earnest purpose, the deep piety, the love of truth, the fear of God, that has a telling influence. A testimony from the heart, coming from lips in which is no guile, full of faith and humble trust, though given by a stammering tongue, is accounted of God as precious as gold; while the smart speech, the eloquent oratory, of the one to whom is entrusted large talents, but who is wanting in truthfulness, in steadfast purpose, in purity, in unselfishness, are as sounding brass and a tinkling cymbal. He may say witty things, he may relate amusing anecdotes, he may play upon the feelings; but the spirit of Jesus is not in it. All these things may please unsanctified hearts, but God holds in His hands the balances that weigh the words, the spirit, the sincerity, the devotion, and He pronounces it altogether lighter than vanity (Letter 38, 1890).

13:12 (Rom. 11:33; Eph. 2:7; Rev. 7:16, 17; 22:4; see EGW on 1 Cor. 15:20, 42-52). Mysteries to Be Unfolded in Heaven.—But many mysteries yet remain unrevealed. How much that is acknowledged to be truth is mysterious and unexplainable to the human mind! How dark seem the dispensations of Providence! What necessity there is for implicit faith and trust in God's moral government! We are ready to say with Paul, "How unsearchable are his judgments!"

- 8 For if the trumpet give an uncertain sound, who shall prepare himself to the battle?
- 9 So likewise ye, except ye utter by the tongue words 'easy to be understood, how shall it be known what is spoken? for ye shall speak into the air.
- 10 There are, it may be, so many kinds of voices in the world, and none of them is without signification.
- 11 Therefore if I know not the meaning of the voice, I shall be unto him that speaketh a barbarian, and he that speaketh shall be a barbarian unto me.
- 12 Even so ye, forasmuch as ye are zealous of spiritual gifts, seek that ye may excel to the edifying of the church.
- 13 Wherefore let him that speaketh in an unknown tongue pray that he may interpret.
- 14 For if I pray in an unknown tongue, my spirit prayeth, but my understanding is unfruitful.
- 15 What is it then? I will pray with the spirit, and I will pray with the understanding also: I will sing with the spirit, and I will sing with the understanding also.

- 22 Wherefore tongues are for a sign, not to them that believe, but to them that believe not: but prophesying serveth not for them that believe not, but for them which believe.
- 23 If therefore the whole church be come together into one place, and all speak with tongues, and there come in those that are unlearned, or unbelievers, will they not say that ye are mad?
- 24 But if all prophesy, and there come in one that believeth not, or one unlearned, he is convinced of all, he is judged of all:
- 25 And thus are the secrets of his heart made manifest; and so falling down on his face he will worship God, and report that God is in you of a truth.
- 26 How is it then, brethren? when ye come together, every one of you hath a psalm, hath a doctrine, hath a tongue, hath a revelation, hath an interpretation. Let all things be done unto edifying.

- 29 Let the prophets speak two or three, and let the other judge.
- 30 If any thing be revealed to another that sitteth by, let the first hold his peace.

We are not now sufficiently advanced in spiritual attainments to comprehend the mysteries of God. But when we shall compose the family of heaven, these mysteries will be unfolded before us. Of the members of that family John writes: "They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat. For the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them, and shall lead them unto living fountains of waters: and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes." "And they shall see his face; and his name shall be in their foreheads."

Then much will be revealed in explanation of matters upon which God now keeps silence because we have not gathered up and appreciated that which has been made known of the eternal mysteries. The ways of Providence will be made clear, the mysteries of grace through Christ will be unfolded. That which the mind cannot now grasp, which is hard to be understood, will be explained. We shall see order in that which has seemed unexplainable; wisdom in everything withheld; goodness and gracious mercy in everything imparted. Truth will be unfolded to the mind, free from obscurity, in a single line, and its brightness will be enduring. The heart will be made to sing for joy. Controversies will be forever ended, and all difficulties will be solved (ST Jan. 30, 1912).

13:13. Love, the Most Valued Attribute.—The attribute that Christ appreciates most in man is charity (love) out of a pure heart. This is the fruit borne upon the Christian tree (MS 16, 1892).

A Plant of Heavenly Origin.—Love is a plant of heavenly origin, and if we would have it flourish in our hearts, we must cultivate it daily. Mildness, gentleness, long-suffering, not being easily provoked, bearing all things, enduring all things—these are the fruits upon the precious tree of love (RH June 5, 1888).

commandments of the Lord.

39 Wherefore, brethren, covet to prophesy, and forbid not to speak with tongues.
40 Let all things be done decently and in order.

The Doctrine of the Resurrection (15:1-58)

The Certainty of the Resurrection

15 Moreover, brethren, I declare unto you the gospel which I preached unto you, which also ye have received, and wherein ye stand;

- 2 By which also ye are saved, if ye keep in memory what I preached unto you, unless ye have believed in vain.
3 For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures;
4 And that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures;
5 And that he was seen of Cephas, then of the twelve;
6 After that, he was seen of above five hundred brethren at once; of whom the greater part remain unto this present, but some are fallen asleep.
7 After that, he was seen of James; then of all the apostles.
8 And last of all he was seen of me also, as of one born out of due time.
9 For I am the least of the apostles, that am not meet to be called an apostle, because I persecuted the church of God.
10 But by the grace of God I am what I am; and his grace which was bestowed upon me was not in vain; but I laboured more abundantly than they all: yet not I, but the grace of God which was with me.
11 Therefore whether it were I or they, so we preach, and so ye believed.
12 Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead?
13 But if there be no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen:
14 And if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain.

- 15 Yea, and we are found false witnesses of God; because we have testified of God that he raised up Christ: whom he raised not up, if so be that the dead rise not.
16 For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised:
17 And if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins.
18 Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished.
19 If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable.
20 But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the firstfruits of them that slept.
21 For since by man came death, by man came also the resurrection of the dead.
22 For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive.
23 But every man in his own order: Christ the firstfruits; afterward they that are Christ's at his coming.
24 Then cometh the end, when he shall have delivered up the kingdom to God, even the Father; when he shall have put down all rule and all authority and power.
25 For he must reign, till he hath put all enemies under his feet.
26 The last enemy that shall be destroyed is death.
27 For he hath put all things under his feet. But when he saith all things are put under him, it is manifest that he is excepted, which did put all things under him.
28 And when all things shall be subdued unto him, then shall the Son also himself be subject unto him that put all things under him, that God may be all in all.
29 Else what shall they do which are baptized for the dead, if the dead rise not at all? why are they then baptized for the dead?
30 And why stand we in jeopardy every hour?
31 I protest by your rejoicing which I have in Christ Jesus our Lord, I die daily.
32 If after the manner of men I have fought with beasts at Ephesus, what advantageth it me, if the dead rise not? let us eat and drink; for to morrow we die.
33 Be not deceived: evil communications corrupt good manners.

15:6. Sacred Facts Immortalized.—After His resurrection, Christ did not show Himself to any save His followers, but testimony in regard to His resurrection was not wanting. It came from various sources, from the five hundred who assembled in Galilee to see their risen Lord. This testimony could not be quenched. The sacred facts of Christ's resurrection were immortalized (MS 115, 1897).

Countenance as the Face of God.—After His resurrection, Christ met with His disciples in Galilee. At the time appointed, about five hundred disciples were assembled on the mountainside. Suddenly Jesus stood among them. No one could tell whence or how He came. Many who were present had never before seen Him; but in His hands and feet they beheld the marks of the crucifixion; His countenance was as the face of God, and when they saw Him they worshipped Him (Letter 115, 1904).

15:20 (Lev. 23:10, 11). Christ the Antitypical Wave-

Sheaf.—It was to the glory of God that the Prince of life should be the first fruits, the antitype of the typical wavesheaf. "For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren."

Christ was the first fruits of them that slept. This very scene, the resurrection of Christ from the dead, was observed in type by the Jews at one of their sacred feasts. . . . They came up to the Temple when the first fruits had been gathered in, and held a feast of thanksgiving. The first fruits of the harvest crop were sacredly dedicated to the Lord. That crop was not to be appropriated for the benefit of man. The first ripe fruit was dedicated as a thank offering to God. He was acknowledged as the Lord of the harvest. When the first heads of grain ripened in the field, they were carefully gathered, and when the people went up to Jerusalem, they were presented to the Lord, waving the ripened sheaf before Him as a thank offering. After this 34 Awake to righteousness, and sin not; for some have not the knowledge of God: I speak this to your shame.

The Literal Nature of the Resurrection

35 But some man will say, How are the dead raised up? and with what body do they come?

36 Thou fool, that which thou sowest is not quickened, except it die:

37 And that which thou sowest, thou sowest not that body that shall be, but bare grain, it may chance of wheat, or of some other grain:

38 But God giveth it a body as it hath pleased him, and to every seed his own body.

39 All flesh is not the same flesh: but there is one kind of flesh of men, another flesh of beasts, another of fishes, and another of birds.

40 There are also celestial bodies, and bodies terrestrial: but the glory of the celestial is one, and the glory of the terrestrial is another.

41 There is one glory of the sun, and another glory of the moon, and another glory of the stars: for one star differeth from another star in glory.

42 So also is the resurrection of the dead. It is sown in corruption; it is raised in incorruption:

43 It is sown in dishonour; it is raised in glory: it is sown in weakness; it is raised in power:

44 It is sown a natural body; it is raised a spiritual body. There is a natural body, and there is a spiritual body.

45 And so it is written, The first man Adam was made a living soul; the last Adam was made a quickening spirit.

46 Howbeit that was not first which is spiritual, but that which is natural; and afterward that which is spiritual.

47 The first man is of the earth, earthy: the second man is the Lord from heaven.

48 As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: and as is the heavenly, such are they also that are heavenly.

49 And as we have borne the image of the earthy, we shall also bear the image of the heavenly.

50 Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption.

The Hope of the Resurrection Realized at Second Advent

51 Behold, I shew you a mystery: We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, 52 In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed.

53 For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality.

54 So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory.

55 O death, where is thy sting? O 'grave, where is thy victory?

56 The sting of death is sin; and the strength of sin is the law.

57 But thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ.

58 Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord.

Conclusion (16:1-24)

Instruction Concerning Collection for the Poor

16 Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye.

2 Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come.

3 And when I come, whomsoever ye shall approve by your letters, them will I send to bring your 'liberality unto Jerusalem.

4 And if it be meet that I go also, they shall go with me.

ceremony the sickle could be put to the wheat, and it could be gathered into sheaves (MS 115, 1897).

15:20, 42-52 (ch. 13:12; Rom. 8:11). A Sample of the Final Resurrection.—The resurrection of Jesus was a sample of the final resurrection of all who sleep in Him. The risen body of the Saviour, His deportment, the accents of His speech, were all familiar to His followers. In like manner will those who sleep in Jesus rise again. We shall know our friends even as the disciples knew Jesus. Though they may have been deformed, diseased, or disfigured in this mortal life, yet in their resurrected and glorified body their individual identity will be perfectly preserved, and we shall recognize, in the face radiant with the light shining from the face of Jesus, the lineaments of those we love (3SP 219).

15:22, 45 (Rom. 5:12-19; see EGW on John 1:1-3, 14; Rev. 1:8). Sinner Given a Second Trial.—As representative of the fallen race, Christ passed over the same ground on which Adam stumbled and fell. By a life of perfect obedience to God's law, Christ redeemed man from the penalty of Adam's disgraceful fall. Man has violated God's law. Only for those who return to their allegiance to God, will the blood of Christ avail. Christ will never become a party to sin. Bearing the penalty of the law, He gives the sinner another chance, a second trial. He opens a way whereby the sinner can be reinstated in God's favor. Christ bears the penalty of man's past transgressions, and by imparting to man His righteousness, makes it possible for man to keep God's holy law (MS 126, 1901).

(Rev. 1:8; 22:13.) The Alpha and Omega.—When the students of prophecy shall set hearts to know the truths of Revelation, they will realize what an importance is attached to this search. Christ Jesus is the Alpha and the Omega, the Genesis of the Old Testament, and the Revelation of the New. Both meet together in Christ. Adam and God are

- through Macedonia.
 6 And it may be that I will abide, yea, and winter with you, that ye may bring me on my journey whithersoever I go.
 7 For I will not see you now by the way; but I trust to tarry a while with you, if the Lord permit.
 8 But I will tarry at Ephesus until Pentecost.
 9 For a great door and effectual is opened unto me, and there are many adversaries.

Request for Acceptance of Timothy

- 10 Now if Timotheus come, see that he may be with you without fear: for he worketh the work of the Lord, as I also do.
 11 Let no man therefore despise him: but conduct him forth in peace, that he may come unto me: for I look for him with the brethren.

Apollos' Decision to Remain in Ephesus

- 12 As touching our brother Apollos, I greatly desired him to come unto you with the brethren: but his will was not at all to come at this time; but he will come when he shall have convenient time.

Concluding Exhortations

- 13 Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, quit you like men, be strong.

reconciled by the obedience of the second Adam, who accomplished the work of overcoming the temptations of Satan and redeeming Adam's disgraceful failure and fall.

The two Adams will meet in Paradise and embrace each other, while the dragon, the beast, and the false prophet, and all who have refused the opportunities and privileges given to them at such infinite cost, and have not returned to their loyalty, will be shut out of Paradise (MS 33, 1897).

15:42-52 (ch. 13:12). Personality Preserved in a New Body.—Our personal identity is preserved in the resurrection, though not the same particles of matter or material substance as went into the grave. The wondrous works of God are a mystery to man. The spirit, the character of man, is returned to God, there to be preserved. In the resurrection every man will have his own character. God in His own time will call forth the dead, giving again the breath of life, and bidding the dry bones live. The same form will come forth, but it will be free from disease and every defect. It lives again bearing the same individuality of features, so that friend will recognize friend. There is no law of God in nature which shows that God gives back the same identical particles of matter which composed the body before death. God shall give the righteous dead a body that will please Him.

Paul illustrates this subject by the kernel of grain sown in the field. The planted kernel decays, but there comes forth a new kernel. The natural substance in the grain that decays is never raised as before, but God giveth it a body as it hath pleased Him. A much finer material will compose the human body, for it is a new creation, a new birth. It is sown a natural body, it is raised a spiritual body (MS 76, 1900).

15:51-55 (Isa. 65:17; Matt. 25:21; 1 Thess. 4:16, 17; Rev. 5:12; 21:4). The Finishing Touch of Immortality.—We have a living, risen Saviour. He burst the fetters of the tomb after He had lain there three days, and in triumph. He proclaimed over the rent sepulcher of Joseph, "I am the resurrection and the life." And He is coming. Are we getting ready for Him? Are we ready so that if we shall fall asleep, we can do so with hope in Jesus Christ? Are you laboring for the salvation of your brethren and sisters? The Life-giver is soon to come. The Life-giver is coming to break the fetters of the tomb. He is to bring forth the captives and proclaim, "I am the resurrection and the life." There stands the risen host. The last thought was of death and its pangs. The last thoughts they had were of the grave and the tomb, but now they proclaim, "O death, where is thy sting? O grave, where is thy victory?" The pangs of death were the last things they felt. "O death, where is thy sting?" The last thing they acknowledged was the pangs of death. When they awake the pain is all gone.

Here they stand, and the finishing touch of immortality is put upon them, and they go up to meet their Lord in the air. The gates of the city of God swing back upon their hinges, and the nations that have kept the truth enter in. There are the columns of angels on either side, and the ransomed of God walk in through the cherubims and seraphims. Christ bids them welcome and puts upon them His benediction. "Well done, thou good and faithful servant: . . . enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." What is that joy? He sees of the travail of His soul, and is satisfied.

That is what we labor for. Here is one, who in the night season we pleaded with God on his behalf. There is one that we talked with on his dying bed, and he hung his helpless soul upon Jesus. Here is one who was a poor drunkard. We tried to get his eyes fixed upon Him who is mighty to save and we told him that Christ could give him the victory. There are the crowns of immortal glory upon their heads, and then the redeemed cast their glittering crowns at the feet of Jesus; and then the angelic choir strikes the note of victory, and the angels in the two columns take up the song, and the redeemed host join as though they had been singing the song on the earth, and they have been.

Oh, what music! There is not an inharmonious note. Every voice proclaims, "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain." He sees of the travail of His soul, and is satisfied. Do you think anyone there will take time to tell of his trials and terrible difficulties? "The former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind." "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes" (MS 18, 1894).

The Second Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the CORINTHIANS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

Textual evidence attests (cf. p. 10) the brief title Pros Korinthious B. literally, "To the Corinthians 2." This is the title that appears in the oldest extant manuscript of the epistle, dating from about the 3d century A.D. The longer title, "The Second Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians," is not found until much later. For a discussion of this epistle as the "second" one to the Corinthians, and for the use of the word "second" in the title, see below under "3. Historical Setting." Obviously the title was not a part of the original document.

2. AUTHORSHIP

External and internal evidence conclusively attest Pauline authorship. The external evidence reaches back to the generation immediately following that of the apostles themselves. Quotations from, and references to, this epistle by many of the early Church Fathers and writers provide abundant testimony to its genuineness and integrity. In his letter to the Corinthians (c. A.D. 95), about 35 years after this epistle, Clement of Rome deals with the same conditions at Corinth as those here considered by Paul (First Epistle of Clement to the Corinthians 46). The Corinthian church had apparently not changed to any great extent, for many of the old problems still persisted. Writing to the Philippians, Polycarp (d. c. A.D. 155), bishop of Smyrna, quotes 2 Cor. 8:21 (Epistle 6). In his treatise Against Heresies ii. 30, 7 (c. A.D. 180), Irenaeus, bishop of Lyons, quotes and comments upon Paul's account of his rapture to the third heaven in 2 Cor. 12:2-4. Clement of Alexandria (c. A.D. 200) quotes from 2 Corinthians not less than 20 times (see Stromata i. 1, 11; ii. 19, 20; etc.). Tertullian, of Carthage (c. A.D. 220), the so-called father of Latin theology, quotes frequently from it (Scorpiae 13; Against Marcion v. 11, 12; On the Resurrection of the Flesh 40, 43, 44).

Internal evidence points unmistakably to Paul as the author. Its style is that of Paul. The epistle abounds with references to Paul, to his experiences at Corinth, and to his first epistle to the church there. Many Biblical scholars consider that this epistle gives the clearest and most complete picture of Paul's nature, personality, and disposition. The historical spontaneity of the experiences recorded in this epistle can be none other than genuine.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

Paul made at least three visits, and wrote three, perhaps four, epistles to the church at Corinth. The first visit, about A.D. 51, during the course of his Second Missionary Journey, continued for a year and a half (Acts 18:11). At this time Paul founded and organized the church. He continued to keep in touch with it from time to time through representatives (2 Cor. 12:17). His first written contact with it is mentioned in 1 Cor. 5:9. This document is now presumed lost. Toward the close of more than two years spent at Ephesus, on the third journey, he wrote what is now known as First Corinthians (ch. 16:8).

It is generally accepted that a period of several weeks probably elapsed between the writing of the two Corinthian epistles, the first from Ephesus and the second from Macedonia. Paul had intended to remain in Ephesus until Pentecost, and then to journey to Corinth by way of Macedonia (Acts 19:21). But he left Ephesus sooner than he had intended. This may have been due, in part at least, to the popular uprising that nearly cost him his life (vs. 24-41). The opposition he experienced while at Ephesus placed a great strain upon him. He referred to the opponents of truth as "beasts" (1 Cor. 15:32), and observed that he had been "pressed out of measure, above strength" and had "despaired even of life" (2 Cor. 1:8). It was in this condition that Paul left Ephesus for Macedonia.

He journeyed to Troas, the port of embarkation for Macedonia. Here he expected the return of Titus with a report of the response of the Corinthians to his previous epistle. But Titus did not arrive within the time expected, and Paul, finding no rest of spirit because of anxiety for the church at Corinth (ch. 2:13), was unable to take advantage of the open door to the preaching of the gospel at Troas. Pressing on into Macedonia, he met Titus at Philippi. With relief and joy Paul listened to the good news Titus brought from Corinth.

Some think that Paul had returned to Corinth for a second visit. He speaks of a previous visit that had been distressing and disappointing (see on chs. 2:1; 12:14; 13:1, 2). Probably following such a visit and the receipt of further disconcerting news from Corinth (1 Cor. 1:11), he dispatched a letter of reprimand and counsel (1 Corinthians), and sent Titus to prepare the way for a further visit he planned to make (2 Cor. 8:6; 13:1, 2; cf. AA 301).

In ch. 2:4 Paul refers to a former letter he had written to Corinth "out of much affliction and anguish of heart," and which had made them "sorry" (ch. 7:8). Many scholars think that in these and others passages Paul can hardly refer to 1 Corinthians, since-as they affirm-these statements do not properly describe the spirit and nature of that epistle. Accordingly, they argue that he must have written a letter between the two that appear in the NT. Some who hold this view consider that this letter has been lost, but others think that it is preserved as chs. 10-13 of 2 Corinthians. Plausible reasons can be presented both for and against this theory, but objective proof is lacking for either. This commentary therefore assumes that 1 Corinthians is the letter to which Paul refers in 2 Corinthians (cf. AA 324). From chs. 2:13; 7:5; 8:1; 9:2, 4, it appears that Paul wrote this second epistle while in Macedonia. The date was about A.D. 57.

Temporarily, at least, Paul's letters and visits seem to have accomplished their purpose. It is evident from Rom. 16:23 that Paul was hospitably received and entertained by one of the chief members of the church. The change in the church at Corinth is further corroborated by the fact that in the epistles to the Galatians and to the Romans, which were written during the course of his stay at Corinth, he gives evidence of having recovered from the state of restless anxiety and solicitude for the Corinthian church that distressed his ardent soul at Troas (2 Cor. 2:13; cf. ch. 7:6, 13, 14). Also, the collection in Corinth for the saints at Jerusalem came to a successful conclusion (Rom. 15:26).

After the writing of this second epistle and his next visit, we find only scattered references to the Corinthian church. However, an epistle to the Corinthians by Clement of Rome about A.D. 95 reveals that at least some of the old evils had reappeared. Clement does compliment the church for its exemplary conduct in many ways, but he also rebukes it for its strife and party spirit. This is the last information we have concerning the church at Corinth during the apostolic age.

4. THEME

The immediate occasion for the epistle was the encouraging report Titus had brought from Corinth. The first part of the letter deals with the reception the Corinthians had given Paul's former epistle, and reviews some of the problems dealt with in it. Following Paul's instructions the church had disfellowshipped the immoral offender of 1 Corinthians (1 Cor. 5:1-5; cf. 2 Cor. 2:6). Paul now advises how to win back the offender.

The contributions gathered among the churches of Macedonia and Greece for the poor are given special emphasis. This project lay close to Paul's heart, for it would bind the hearts of Jewish and Gentile Christians together in a bond of fellowship and unity. On their part, the Gentile believers would be led to appreciate the sacrifices of Jewish Christians in bringing them a knowledge of the gospel. In turn, the Jews would be led to appreciate the spirit of fellowship to which the gifts bore mute, yet eloquent witness. But the church at Corinth had been delinquent in collecting their contribution, and far behind the churches of Macedonia, probably as a result of the strife and vice that had absorbed its attention. In this letter Paul makes a final appeal for promptness and diligence.

It seems that a majority of the Corinthian church members heartily accepted the counsel given by Paul and his collaborators. They had received Titus with open arms. Almost from the first there had been factions in the church, some favoring one leader and some another. Much of the trouble occasioned by this division of loyalty had been allayed, but open and malignant opposition, probably by a Judaizing faction similar to the one in Galatia, persisted. Its objective was to undermine Paul's work, authority, and apostleship. Opponents charged Paul with fickleness for not coming to Corinth as he had originally promised. They argued that he lacked apostolic authority. They branded him a coward for attempting to control the church at a distance, by letter. This proved, they said, that he was afraid to appear in person.

The first nine chapters of 2 Corinthians are characterized by gratitude and appreciation; the last four, by marked severity and self-defense. It has been suggested that the former chapters were addressed to the majority, who had accepted Paul's counsel and reproof, and the latter to a minority who persisted in opposing his efforts to restore the church to a spirit of harmony. At length, and in various ways, Paul essays to prove his authority and vindicate his conduct among them. For proof of his apostleship he appeals to his visions and revelations from the Lord, to his unparalleled suffering for the Lord Jesus, and to the seal of divine approval evident in the fruitfulness of his labors. The severity of Paul's words, addressed to the Corinthian church concerning certain false apostles and possibly a minority of its members still under their influence, is without parallel in his epistles to other churches.

This epistle differs materially from 1 Corinthians. The first epistle is objective and practical; the second, largely subjective and personal. The first is more calm and measured in tone; the second reflects Paul's anxiety for news from Corinth, his relief and joy when Titus finally arrived, and his firm purpose to deal effectively with those who still troubled the church. The first reflects conditions in the Corinthian church; the second, the passion of the apostle himself for the church. Although the main concern of this second epistle is not doctrinal, as with Galatians and Romans, it does set forth important doctrinal truths.

2 CORINTHIANS

Introduction (1:1-11)

Salutation

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother, unto the church of God which is at Corinth, with all the saints which are in all Achaia:

2 Grace be to you and peace from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving in the Midst of Tribulation

3 Blessed be God, even the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Father of mercies, and the God of all comfort;

4 Who comforteth us in all our tribulation, that we may be able to comfort them which are in any trouble, by the comfort wherewith we ourselves are comforted of God.

5 For as the sufferings of Christ abound in us, so our consolation also aboundeth by Christ.

6 And whether we be afflicted, it is for your consolation and salvation, which is effectual in the enduring of the same sufferings which we also suffer: or whether we be comforted, it is for your consolation and salvation.

2Co

7 And our hope of you is steadfast, knowing, that as ye are partakers of the sufferings, so shall ye be also of the consolation.

8 For we would not, brethren, have you ignorant of our trouble which came to us in Asia, that we were pressed out of measure, above strength, insomuch that we despaired even of life:

9 But we had the sentence of death in ourselves, that we should not trust in ourselves, but in God which raiseth the dead:

10 Who delivered us from so great a death, and doth deliver: in whom we trust that he will yet deliver us;

11 Ye also helping together by prayer for us, that for the gift bestowed upon us by the means of many persons thanks may be given by many on our behalf.

Recent Relations With the Church at Corinth (1:12-7:16)

An Explanation of the Change in Travel Plans

12 For our rejoicing is this, the testimony of our conscience, that in simplicity and godly sincerity, not with fleshly wisdom, but by the grace of God, we have had our conversation in the world, and more abundantly to you-ward.

13 For we write none other things unto you, than what ye read or acknowledge; and I trust ye shall acknowledge even to the end;

14 As also ye have acknowledged us in part, that we are your rejoicing, even as ye also are ours in the day of the Lord Jesus.

15 And in this confidence I was minded to come unto you before, that ye might have a second benefit;

16 And to pass by you into Macedonia, and to come again out of Macedonia unto you, and of you to be brought on my way toward Judaea.

17 When I therefore was thus minded, did I use lightness? or the things that I I purpose, do I purpose according to the flesh, that with me there should be yea yea, and nay nay?

18 But as God is true, our word toward you was not yea and nay.

19 For the Son of God, Jesus Christ, who was preached among you by us, even by me and Silvanus and Timotheus, was not yea and nay, but in him was yea.

20 For all the promises of God in him are yea, and in him Amen, unto the glory of God by us.

21 Now he which stablisheth us with you in Christ, and hath anointed us, is God;

22 Who hath also sealed us, and given the earnest of the Spirit in our hearts.

23 Moreover I call God for a record upon my soul, that to spare you I came not as yet unto Corinth.

24 Not for that we have dominion over your faith, but are helpers of your joy: for by faith ye stand.

2:4. Paul a Friend of the Erring.—The apostle Paul found it necessary to reprove wrong in the church, but he did not lose his self-control in reproofing error. He anxiously explains the reason of his action. How carefully he wrought so as to leave the impression that he was a friend of the erring! He made them understand that it cost him pain to give them pain. He left the impression upon their minds that his interest was identified with theirs [2 Cor. 2:4 quoted] (Letter 16a, 1895).

2:11 (Eph. 6:12; see EGW on 2 Cor. 4:3-6; 13:5). Give Satan No Advantage.—In the conflict with satanic agencies there are decisive moments that determine the victory either on the side of God or on the side of the prince of this world. If those engaged in the warfare are not wide awake, earnest, vigilant, praying for wisdom, watching unto prayer, . . . Satan comes off victor, when he might have been vanquished by the armies of the Lord. . . . God's faithful sentinels are to give the evil powers no advantage. . . .

We have unseen foes to meet, evil men are agents for the powers of darkness to work through, and without spiritual discernment the soul will be ignorant of Satan's devices, and be ensnared and stumble and fall. He who would overcome must hold fast to Christ. He must not look back, but keep the eye ever upward. Mount up by the Mediator, keeping hold of the Mediator, reaching upward to one line of work after another, making no provision for the flesh, to fulfill the lusts thereof.

There is no such thing as our entering the heavenly portals through indulgence and folly, amusement, selfishness, but only by constant watchfulness and unceasing prayer. Spiritual vigilance on our part individually is the price of safety. Swerve not to Satan's side a single inch, lest he gain advantage over you (Letter 47, 1893).

The Glory of the Apostolic Commission

- 7 But if the ministration of death, written and engraven in stones, was glorious, so that the children of Israel could not steadfastly behold the face of Moses for the glory of his countenance; which glory was to be done away:
- 8 How shall not the ministration of the spirit be rather glorious?
- 9 For if the ministration of condemnation be glory, much more doth the ministration of righteousness exceed in glory.
- 10 For even that which was made glorious had no glory in this respect, by reason of the glory that excelleth.

God's messengers sent to confirm the truth of the Word, he knew what was truth; and with the boldness of a sanctified conscience he gloried in that knowledge. He knew that he was called of God to preach the gospel with all the assurance which his confidence in the message gave him. He was called to be God's ambassador to the people; and he preached the gospel as one who was called (MS 43, 1907).

3:6-9 (Rom. 8:15-21; see EGW on Heb. 8:6, 7). The Law Ordained to Life.—The law of God, spoken in awful grandeur from Sinai, is the utterance of condemnation to the sinner. It is the province of the law to condemn, but there is in it no power to pardon or to redeem. It is ordained to life; those who walk in harmony with its precepts will receive the reward of obedience. But it brings bondage and death to those who remain under its condemnation. (RIT April 22, 1902).

10:1-7). A Twofold System of Law.—God's people, whom He calls His peculiar treasure, were privileged with a two-fold system of law; the moral and the ceremonial. The one, pointing back to creation to keep in remembrance the living God who made the world, whose claims are binding upon all men in every dispensation, and which will exist through all time and eternity. The other, given because of man's transgression of the moral law, the obedience to which consisted in sacrifices and offerings pointing to the future redemption. Each is clear and distinct from the other.

From the creation the moral law was an essential part of God's divine plan, and was as unchangeable as Himself. The ceremonial law was to answer a particular purpose in Christ's plan for the salvation of the race. The typical system of sacrifices and offerings was established that through these services the sinner might discern the great offering, Christ. But the Jews were so blinded by pride and

- 11 For if that which is done away was glorious, much more that which remaineth is glorious.
- 12 Seeing then that we have such hope, we use great plainness of speech:
- 13 And not as Moses, which put a vail over his face, that the children of Israel could not steadfastly look to the end of that which is abolished:
- 14 But their minds were blinded: for until this day remaineth the same vail untaken away in the reading of the old testament; which vail is done away in Christ.
- 15 But even unto this day, when Moses is read, the vail is upon their heart.
- 16 Nevertheless when it shall turn to the Lord, the vail shall be taken away.
- 17 Now the Lord is that Spirit: and where the Spirit of the Lord is, there is liberty.
- 18 But we all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by the Spirit of the Lord.

Life and Death in View of Eternity

- 5 For we know that if our earthly house of this tabernacle were dissolved, we have a building of God, an house not made with hands, eternal in the heavens.
- 2 For in this we groan, earnestly desiring to be clothed upon with our house which is from heaven:
- 3 If so be that being clothed we shall not be found naked.
- 4 For we that are in this tabernacle do groan, being burdened: not for that we sin but that few of them could see farther than the death of beasts as an atonement for sin; and when Christ, whom these offerings prefigured, came, they could not discern Him. The ceremonial law was glorious; it was the provision made by Jesus Christ in counsel with His Father, to aid in the salvation of the race. The whole arrangement of the typical system was founded on Christ. Adam saw Christ prefigured in the innocent beast suffering the penalty of his transgression of Jehovah's law (RH May 6, 1875).

Two Laws Bear Stamp of Divinity.—Paul desires his brethren to see that the great glory of a sin-pardoning Saviour gave significance to the entire Jewish economy. He desired them to see also that when Christ came to the world, and died as man's sacrifice, type met antitype.

After Christ died on the cross as a sin offering the ceremonial law could have no force. Yet it was connected with the moral law, and was glorious. The whole bore the stamp of divinity, and expressed the holiness, justice, and righteousness of God. And if the ministration of the dispensation to be done away was glorious, how much more must the reality be glorious, when Christ was revealed, giving His life-giving, sanctifying, Spirit to all who believe (RH April 22, 1902)?

The Ministration of Death.—The holy law of God is both brief and comprehensive; for it is easily understood and remembered; and yet it is an expression of the will of God. Its comprehensiveness is summed up in the following words: "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy mind, and with all thy strength. . . . Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself." "This do, and thou shalt live." "Ye shall therefore keep my statutes, and my judgments: which if a man do, he shall live in them: I am the Lord." . . .

If the transgressor is to be treated according to the letter of this covenant, then there is no hope for the fallen race, for all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God

2 or, boldness 3 or, of the Lord the Spirit 4 1 Gr. shame 2 Gr. is he who hath 3 or, altogether without help, or, means

The fallen race of Adam can behold nothing else in the letter of this covenant than the ministration of death; and death will be the reward of everyone who is seeking vainly to fashion a righteousness of his own that will fulfill the claims of the law. By His word God has bound Himself to execute the penalty of the law on all transgressors. Again and again men commit sin, and yet they do not seem to believe that they must suffer the penalty for breaking the law (ST Sept. 5, 1892).

(Heb. 8:5.) Ceremonies of Jewish Law Prophetic.—The gospel of Christ reflects glory upon the Jewish age. It sheds light upon the whole Jewish economy, and gives significance to the ceremonial law. The tabernacle, or temple, of God on earth was a pattern of the original in heaven. All the ceremonies of the Jewish law were prophetic, typical of mysteries in the plan of redemption.

The rites and ceremonies of the law were given by Christ Himself, who, enshrouded in a pillar of cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night, was the leader of the hosts of Israel, and this law should be treated with great respect, for it is sacred. Even after it was no longer to be observed, Paul presented it before the Jews in its true position and value, showing its place in the plan of redemption and its relation to the work of Christ; and the great apostle pronounces this law glorious, worthy of its divine Originator. That which was to be done away was glorious, but it was not the law instituted by God for the government of His family in heaven and on earth; for as long as the heavens shall remain, so long shall the law of the Lord endure (ST July 29, 1886).

(Rev. 22:14.) Glory Gives Way to Greater Glory.—There is no discord between the Old Testament and the New. In the Old Testament we find the gospel of a coming Saviour, in the New Testament we have the gospel of a Saviour revealed as the prophecies had foretold. While the Old Testament is constantly pointing forward to the true offering, the New Testament shows that the Saviour prefigured by the typical offerings has come. The dim glory of the Jewish age has been succeeded by the brighter, clearer glory of the Christian age. But not once has Christ stated that His coming destroyed the claims of God's law. On the contrary, in the very last message to His church, by way of Patmos, He pronounces a benediction upon those who keep His Father's law: "Blessed are they that do His commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city" (ST July 29, 1896).

3:7-17. The Moral Law Glorified by Christ.—The types and shadows of the sacrificial service, with the prophecies, gave the Israelites a veiled, indistinct view of the mercy and grace to be brought to the world by the revelation of Christ. To Moses was unfolded the significance of the types and shadows pointing to Christ. He saw to the end of that which was to be done away when, at the death of Christ, type met antitype. He saw that only through Christ can man keep the moral law. By transgression of this law man brought sin into the world, and with sin came death. Christ became the propitiation for man's sin. He proffered His perfection of character in the place of man's sinfulness. He took upon Himself the curse of disobedience. The sacrifices and offerings pointed forward to the sacrifice He was to make. The slain lamb typified the Lamb that was to take away the sin of the world.

It was seeing the object of that which was to be done away, seeing Christ as revealed in the law, that illumined the face of Moses. The ministration of the law, written and engraved in stone, was a ministration of death. Without Christ, the transgressor was left under its curse, with no hope of pardon. The ministration had of itself no glory, but the promised Saviour, revealed in the types and shadows of the ceremonial law, made the moral law glorious (RH April 22, 1902).

3:7-18 (Rom. 3:31; 7:7; Gal. 3:13). Christ's Glory Revealed in His Law.—Christ bore the curse of the law, suffering its penalty, carrying to completion the plan whereby man was to be placed where he could keep God's law, and be accepted through the merits of the Redeemer; and by His sacrifice glory was shed upon the law. Then the glory of that which is not to be done away—God's law of ten commandments, His standard of righteousness—was plainly seen by all who saw to the end of that which was done away.

"We all, with open face beholding as in a glass the glory of the Lord, are changed into the same image from glory to glory even as by the Spirit of the Lord." Christ is the sinner's advocate. Those who accept His gospel behold Him with open face. They see the relation of His mission to the law, and they acknowledge God's wisdom and glory as revealed by the Saviour. The glory of Christ is revealed in the law, which is a transcript of His character, and His transforming efficacy is felt upon the soul until men become changed to His likeness. They are made partakers of the divine nature, and grow more and more like their Saviour, advancing step by step in conformity to the will of God, till they reach perfection.

The law and the gospel are in perfect harmony. Each upholds the other. In all its majesty the law confronts the conscience, causing the sinner to feel his need of Christ as the propitiation for sin. The gospel recognizes the power and immutability of the law. "I had not known sin, but by the law," Paul declares. The sense of sin, urged home by the law, drives the sinner to the Saviour. In his need man may present the mighty arguments furnished by the cross of Calvary. He may claim the righteousness of Christ; for it is imputed to every repentant sinner (RH April 22, 1902).

3:12-15 (see EGW on Ex. 34:29-33). The Veil of Unbelief.—[2 Cor. 3:12-15 quoted.] The Jews refused to accept Christ as the Messiah, and they cannot see that their ceremonies are meaningless, that the sacrifices and offerings have lost their significance. The veil drawn by themselves in stubborn unbelief is still before their minds. It would be removed if they would accept Christ, the righteousness of the law.

Many in the Christian world also have a veil before their eyes and heart. They do not see to the end of that which was done away. They do not see that it was only the ceremonial law which was abrogated at the death of Christ. They claim that the moral law was nailed to the cross. Heavy is the veil that darkens their understanding. The hearts of many are at war with God. They are not subject to His law. Only as they shall come into harmony with the rule of His government can Christ be of any avail to them. They may talk of Christ as their Saviour; but He will finally say to them, I know you not. You have not exercised genuine repentance toward God for the transgression of His holy law, and you cannot have genuine faith in Me, for it was My mission to exalt God's law. . . .

The moral law was never a type or a shadow. It existed before man's creation, and will endure as long as God's throne remains. God could not change or alter one precept of His law in order to save man; for the law is the foundation of His government. It is unchangeable, unalterable, infinite, and eternal. In order for man to be saved, and for the honor of the law to be maintained, it was necessary for the Son of God to offer Himself as a sacrifice for sin. He who knew no sin became sin for us. He died for us on Calvary. His death shows the wonderful love of God for man, and the immutability of His law (RH April 22, 1902).

3:14, 16. Christ's Death Lifts the Veil.—The death of Jesus Christ for the redemption of man lifts the veil and reflects a flood of light back hundreds of years, upon the whole institution of the Jewish system of religion. Without the death of Christ all this system was meaningless. The Jews reject Christ, and therefore their whole system of religion is to them indefinite, unexplainable, and uncertain. They attach as much importance to shadowy ceremonies of types which have met their antitype as they do to the law of the ten commandments, which was not a shadow, but a reality as enduring as the throne of Jehovah. The death of Christ elevates the Jewish system of types and ordinances, showing that they were of divine appointment, and for the purpose of keeping faith alive in the hearts of His people (RH May 6, 1875).

3:18 (Heb. 12:2; see EGW on Ps. 19:14; Rom. 8:29; Eph. 4:20-24; Col. 3:10; Rev. 7:4-17). The Matchless Charms of Jesus.—Look to Christ, behold the attractive loveliness of His character, and by beholding you will become changed into His likeness. The mist that intervenes between Christ and the soul will be rolled back as we by faith look past the hellish shadow of Satan and see God's glory in His law, and the righteousness of Christ.

Satan is seeking to veil Jesus from our sight, to eclipse His light; for when we get even a glimpse of His glory, we are attracted to Him. Sin hides from our view that matchless charms of Jesus: prejudice, selfishness, self-righteousness, and passion blind our eyes, so that we do not discern the Saviour. Oh, if we would by faith draw nigh to God, He would reveal to us His glory, which is His character, and the praise of God would flow forth from human hearts and be sounded by human voices. Then we would forever cease to give glory to Satan by sinning against God and talking doubt and unbelief. We should no longer stumble along, grumbling and mourning, and covering the altar of God with our tears (MS 16, 1890).

(Gen 5:24; Eph. 4:13, 15). Too Near the Lowlands of Earth.—It is the Holy Spirit, the Comforter, which Jesus said He would send into the world, that changes our character into the image of Christ; and when this is accomplished, we reflect, as in a mirror, the glory of the Lord. That is, the character of the one who thus beholds Christ is so like His, that one looking at him sees Christ's own character shining out as from a mirror. Imperceptibly to ourselves we are changed day by day from our own ways and will into the ways and will of Christ, into the loveliness of His character. Thus we grow up into Christ, and unconsciously reflect His image.

Professed Christians keep altogether too near the lowlands of earth. Their eyes are trained to see only commonplace things, and their minds dwell upon the things their eyes behold. Their religious experience is often shallow and unsatisfying, and their words are light and valueless. How can such reflect the image of Christ? How can they send forth the bright beams of the Sun of Righteousness into all the dark places of the earth? To be a Christian is to be Christlike.

Enoch kept the Lord ever before him, and the Inspired Word says that he "walked with God." He made Christ his constant companion. He was in the world, and performed his duties to the world; but he was ever under the influence of Jesus. He reflected Christ's character, exhibiting the same qualities of goodness, mercy, tender compassion, sympathy, forbearance, meekness, humility, and love. His association with Christ day by day transformed him into the image of Him with whom he was so intimately connected. Day by day he was growing away from his own way into Christ's way, the heavenly, the divine, in his thoughts and feelings. He was constantly inquiring, Is this the way of the Lord? His was a constant growth, and he had fellowship with the Father and the Son. This is genuine sanctification (RH April 28, 1891).

Behold Christ by Studying His Life.—[2 Cor. 3:18 quoted.] Beholding Christ means studying His life as given in His Word. We are to dig for truth as for hidden treasure. We are to fix our eyes upon Christ. When we take Him as our personal Saviour, this gives us boldness to approach the throne of grace. By beholding we become changed, morally assimilated to the One who is perfect in character. By receiving His imputed righteousness, through the transforming power of the Holy Spirit, we become like Him. The image of Christ is cherished, and it captivates the whole being (MS 148, 1897).

Striving to Become Christlike.—Beholding Christ for the purpose of becoming like Him, the seeker after truth sees the perfection of the principles of God's law, and he becomes dissatisfied with everything but perfection. Hiding his life in the life of Christ, he sees that the holiness of the divine law is revealed in the character of Christ, and more and more earnestly he strives to be like Him. A warfare may be expected at any time, for the tempter sees that he is losing one of his subjects. A battle must be fought with the attributes which Satan has been strengthening for his own use. The human agent sees what he has to contend with—a strange power opposed to the idea of attaining the perfection that Christ holds out. But with Christ there is saving power that will gain for him victory in the conflict. The Saviour will strengthen and help him as he comes pleading for grace and efficiency (MS 89, 1903).

Clearing the Moral Atmosphere.—When Christ is loved more than self, the Saviour's beautiful image is reflected in the believer. . . .

Until self is laid upon the altar of sacrifice, Christ will not be reflected in the character. When self is buried, and Christ occupies the throne of the heart, there will be a revelation of principles that will clear the moral atmosphere surrounding the soul (Letter 108, 1899).

Human Peculiarities Will Disappear.—The Holy Spirit has been prevented from coming in to mold and fashion heart and mind, because men suppose that they understand best how to form their own characters. And they think that they may safely form their characters after their own model. But there is only one model after which human character is to be formed—the character of Christ. Those who behold the Saviour are changed from glory to greater glory. When men will consent to submit to Christ's will, to be partakers of the divine nature, their crooked, human peculiarities will disappear. When they decide that they will retain their own peculiarities and disagreeable traits of character, Satan takes them and places his yoke on them, using them to do his service. He uses their talents for selfish purposes, causing them to set an example so disagreeable, so un-Christlike, that they become a reproach to the cause of God (MS 102, 1903).

(Song of Solomon 5:10, 16; Heb. 12:2.) Approaching the Perfect Pattern.—As one becomes acquainted with the history of the Redeemer, he discovers in himself serious defects; his unlikeness to Christ is so great that he sees the necessity for radical changes in his life. Still he studies with a desire to become like his great Exemplar. He catches the looks, the spirit, of his beloved Master. By beholding, by "looking unto Jesus the author and finisher of our faith," he becomes changed into the same image.

It is not by looking away from Him that we imitate the life of Jesus, but by talking of Him, by dwelling upon His perfections, by seeking to refine the taste and elevate the character, by trying—through faith and love, and by earnest, persevering effort—to approach the perfect Pattern. By having a knowledge of Christ—His words, His habits, and His lessons of instruction—we borrow the virtues of the character we have so closely studied, and become imbued with the spirit we have so much admired. Jesus becomes to us "the chiefest among ten thousand," the One "altogether lovely" (RH March 15, 1887).

Christ Will Draw His Image on the Soul.—When the soul is brought into close relationship with the great Author of light and truth, impressions are made upon it revealing its true position before God. Then self will die, pride will be laid low, and Christ will draw His own image in deeper lines upon the soul (MS 1a, 1890).

4:3-6 (ch. 2:11; John 15:3). Satan's Bewitching Power.—Justice demands that sin be not merely pardoned, but the death penalty must be executed. God, in the gift of His only-begotten Son, met both these requirements. By dying in man's stead, Christ exhausted the penalty and provided a pardon.

Man through sin has been severed from the life of God. His soul is palsied through the machinations of Satan, the author of sin. Of himself he is incapable of sensing sin, incapable of appreciating and appropriating the divine nature. Were it brought within his reach there is nothing in it that his natural heart would desire it. The bewitching power of Satan is upon him. All the ingenious subterfuges the devil can suggest are presented to his mind to prevent every good impulse. Every faculty and power given him of God has been used as a weapon against the divine Benefactor. So, although He loves him, God cannot safely impart to him the gifts and blessings He desires to bestow.

But God will not be defeated by Satan. He sent His Son into the world, that through His taking the human form and nature, humanity and divinity combined in Him would elevate man in the scale of moral value with God.

There is no other way for man's salvation. "Without me," says Christ, "ye can do nothing." Through Christ, and Christ

- would be unclothed, but clothed upon, that mortality might be swallowed up of life.
- 5 Now he that hath wrought us for the selfsame thing is God, who also hath given unto us the earnest of the Spirit.
- 6 Therefore we are always confident, knowing that, whilst we are at home in the body, we are absent from the Lord:
- 7 (For we walk by faith, not by sight.)
- 8 We are confident, I say, and willing rather to be absent from the body, and to be present with the Lord.
- 9 Wherefore we labour, that, whether present or absent, we may be accepted of him.
- 10 For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ; that every one may receive the things done in his body, according to that he hath done, whether it be good or bad.

*The Ministry of Reconciliation:
The Apostle as An Ambassador for Christ*

- 11 Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord, we persuade men; but we are made manifest unto God; and I trust also are made manifest in your consciences.
- 12 For we commend not ourselves again unto you, but give you occasion to glory on our behalf, that ye may have somewhat to answer them which glory in appearance, and not in heart.
- 13 For whether we be beside ourselves, it is to God: or whether we be sober, it is for your cause.
- 14 For the love of Christ constraineth us; because we thus judge, that if one died for all, then were all dead:
- 15 And that he died for all, that they which live should not henceforth live unto themselves, but unto him which died for them, and rose again.
- 16 Wherefore henceforth know we no man after the flesh: yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now henceforth know we him no more.
- 17 Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new.
- 18 And all things are of God, who hath reconciled us to himself by Jesus Christ, and hath given to us the ministry of reconciliation;

- 19 To wit, that God was in Christ, reconciling the world unto himself, not imputing their trespasses unto them; and hath committed unto us the word of reconciliation.
- 20 Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God.
- 21 For he hath made him to be sin for us, who knew no sin; that we might be made the righteousness of God in him.

The Discipline Essential to Apostleship

- 6 We then, as workers together with him, beseech you also that ye receive not the grace of God in vain.
- 2 (For he saith, I have heard thee in a time accepted, and in the day of salvation have I succoured thee: behold, now is the accepted time; behold, now is the day of salvation.)
- 3 Giving no offence in any thing, that the ministry be not blamed:
- 4 But in all things approving ourselves as the ministers of God, in much patience, in afflictions, in necessities, in distresses,
- 5 In stripes, in imprisonments, in tumults, in labours, in watchings, in fastings;
- 6 By pureness, by knowledge, by longsuffering, by kindness, by the Holy Ghost, by love unfeigned,
- 7 By the word of truth, by the power of God, by the armour of righteousness on the right hand and on the left,
- 8 By honour and dishonour, by evil report and good report: as deceivers, and yet true;
- 9 As unknown, and yet well known; as dying, and, behold, we live; as chastened, and not killed;
- 10 As sorrowful, yet always rejoicing; as poor, yet making many rich; as having nothing, and yet possessing all things.

An Appeal to the Corinthians to Separate from Evildoers alone, the springs of life can vitalize man's nature, transform his tastes, and set his affections flowing toward heaven. Through the union of the divine with the human nature, Christ could enlighten the understanding and infuse His life-giving properties through the soul dead in trespasses and sins (MS 50, 1900).

- 11 O ye Corinthians, our mouth is open unto you, our heart is enlarged.

4:17, 18 (Rom. 8:18; 1 Peter 1:6, 7; see EGW on 2 Cor. 12:4). Trials God's Workmen.—12 Cor. 4:17, 18 quoted. If Paul, troubled on every side, perplexed, persecuted, could call his trials light afflictions, of what has the Christian of today to complain? How trifling are our trials in comparison with Paul's many afflictions! They are not worthy to be compared with the eternal weight of glory awaiting the overcomer. They are God's workmen, ordained for the perfection of character. However great the deprivation and suffering of the Christian, however dark and inscrutable may seem the way of Providence, he is to rejoice in the Lord, knowing that all is working for his good (RH May 6, 1902).

I have been shown that in the future we shall see how closely all our trials were connected with our salvation, and how these light afflictions worked out for us "a far more exceeding and eternal weight of glory" (Letter 5, 1880).

The Eternal Weight of Glory.—The years of self-denial, of privation, of trial, affliction, and persecution that Paul endured, he called a moment. The things of the present time were not considered worth mentioning when compared with the eternal weight of glory that awaited them when the warfare should be over. These very afflictions were God's workmen, ordained for the perfection of Christian character. Whatever may be the circumstances of the Christian, however dark and mysterious may be the ways of Providence, however great his deprivation and suffering, he may look away from them all to the unseen and the eternal. He has the blessed assurance that all things are working for his good. . . .

The Holy Spirit irradiated the soul of Paul with light from heaven, and he was assured that he had an interest in the purchased possession reserved for the faithful. Paul's language was strong. He was not able to find words of sufficient force to express the excellency of that glory, honor, and immortality which believers would receive when Christ should come. Compared with the scene upon which his mind's eye was dwelling, all temporal afflictions were but momentary, light afflictions, unworthy of thought. Viewed in the light of the cross, the things of this life were vanity and emptiness. The glory that attracted him was substantial, weighty, durable, beyond the power of language to describe.

Yet Paul comes as near to expressing it as he can, that the imagination may grasp the reality as far as is possible to finite minds. It was a weight of glory, a fullness of God, knowledge that was measureless. It was an eternal weight of glory. And yet Paul feels that his language is tame. It falls short of expressing the reality. He reaches out for words more expressive. The boldest figures of speech would fall far short of the truth. He seeks the broadest terms which human language can supply, that the imagination may grasp in some degree the superlative excellency of the glory to be given the final overcomer.

Holiness, dignity, honor, and felicity in the presence of God are things now unseen except by the eye of faith. But the things which are seen, worldly honor, worldly pleasure, riches, and glory, are eclipsed by the excellency, the beauty, and resplendent glory of the things now unseen. The things of this world are temporal, enduring only for a time, while the things which are not seen are eternal, enduring through endless ages. To secure this infinite treasure is to gain everything and lose nothing (MS 58, 1900).

4:18 (Col. 3:2; Heb. 11:27; see EGW on 2 Cor. 6:17, 18). Seeing Him Who Is Invisible.—Our minds take the level of the things on which our thoughts dwell, and if we think upon earthly things, we shall fail to take the impress of that which is heavenly. We would be greatly benefited by contemplating the mercy, goodness, and love of God; but we sustain great loss by dwelling upon those things which are earthly and temporal. We allow sorrow and care and perplexity to attract our minds to earth, and we magnify a molehill into a mountain. . . .

Temporal things are not to engage our whole attention, or engross our minds until our thoughts are entirely of the earth and the earthly. We are to train, discipline, and educate the mind so that we may think in a heavenly channel, that we may dwell on things unseen and eternal, which will be discerned by spiritual vision. It is by seeing Him who is invisible that we may obtain strength of mind and vigor of spirit (ST Jan. 9, 1893).

5:7. See EGW on Rom. 5:1.

5:10 (John 5:22; Rom. 14:10; see EGW on Rom. 3:19). Christ the Judge.—God designed that the Prince of sufferers in humanity should be judge of the whole world. He who submitted to be arraigned before an earthly tribunal, He who came from the heavenly courts to save man from eternal death, He whom men despised, rejected, and upon whom they heaped all the contempt of which human beings inspired by Satan are capable, He who suffered the ignominious death of the cross—He alone was to pronounce the sentence of reward or of punishment (MS 39, 1898).

5:11 (Ps. 119:53; Heb. 4:1). A Proper Fear of God.—[Heb. 4:1 quoted.] The Lord would have His people trust in Him and abide in His love, but that does not mean that we shall have no fear or misgivings. Some seem to think that if a man has a wholesome fear of the judgments of God, it is a proof that he is destitute of faith; but this is not so.

A proper fear of God, in believing His threatenings, works the peaceable fruits of righteousness, by causing the trembling soul to flee to Jesus. Many ought to have this spirit today, and turn to the Lord with humble contrition, for the Lord has not given so many terrible threatenings, pronounced so severe judgments in His Word, simply to have them recorded, but He means what He says. One says, "Horror hath taken hold upon me because of the wicked that forsake thy law," Paul says, "Knowing therefore the terror of the Lord, we persuade men" (RH Oct. 21, 1890).

5:14 (John 13:34; 1 John 4:7, 8). Love the Decision of a Sanctified Will.—The love of Christ in the heart is what is needed. Self is in need of being crucified. When self is submerged in Christ, true love springs forth spontaneously. It is not an emotion or an impulse, but a decision of a sanctified will. It consists not in feeling, but in the transformation of the whole heart, soul, and character, which is dead to self and alive unto God. Our Lord and Saviour asks us to give ourselves to Him. Surrendering self to God is all He requires, giving ourselves to Him to be employed as He sees fit. Until we come to this point of surrender, we shall not work happily, usefully, or successfully anywhere (Letter 97, 1894).

5:17 (John 1:12, 13; 3:5-8). Grace Not Inherited.—The old nature, born of blood and the will of the flesh, cannot inherit the kingdom of God. The old ways, the hereditary tendencies, the former habits, must be given up; for grace is not inherited. The new birth consists in having new motives, new tastes, new tendencies. Those who are begotten unto a new life by the Holy Spirit, have become partakers of the divine nature, and in all their habits and practices they will give evidence of their relationship to Christ. When men who claim to be Christians retain all their natural defects of character and disposition, in what does their position differ from that of the worldling? They do not appreciate the truth as a sanctifier, a refiner. They have not been born again (RH April 12, 1892).

(1 John 2:6; Rev. 3:14-17.) Pure Religion an Imitation of Christ.—Pure religion is an imitation of Christ. A religion that is built on self-confidence and selfishness is worthless. The true Christian is a follower of Christ. This following means walking in the light. The heart must be opened to receive the heavenly guest. As long as the heart is closed against His entrance, there can be in it no abiding peace. No sunshine can flood the chambers of the soul temple, breaking through the mist and cloud.

God makes no compromise with sin. A genuine conversion changes hereditary and cultivated tendencies to wrong. The religion of God is a firm fabric, composed of innumerable threads, and woven together with tact and skill. Only the wisdom which comes from God can make this fabric complete. There are a great many kinds of cloth which at first have a fine appearance, but they cannot endure the test. They wash out. The colors are not fast. Under the heat of summer they fade away and are lost. The cloth cannot endure rough handling.

So it is with the religion of many. When the warp and woof of character will not stand the test of trial, the material of which it is composed is worthless. The efforts made to patch the old with a new piece do not better the condition of things; for the old, flimsy material breaks away from the new, leaving the rent much larger than before. Patching will not do. The only way is to discard the old garment altogether, and procure one entirely new.

Christ's plan is the only safe one. He declares, "Behold, I make all things new." "If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature." Christ gives man no encouragement to think that He will accept a patchwork character, made up mostly of self, with a little of Christ. This is the condition of the Laodicean church. At first there seems to be some of self and some of Christ. But soon it is all of self and none of Christ. The root of selfishness is revealed. It continues to grow, striking its roots deeper and deeper, till its branches are covered with objectionable fruit. Christ looks with pitying tenderness on all who have combination characters. Those with such a character have a connection with Christ so frail that it is utterly worthless (Letter 105, 1893).

Patchwork Character Not Acceptable.—[2 Cor. 5:17 quoted.] The patchwork religion is not of the least value with God. He requires the whole heart. No part of it is to be reserved for the development of hereditary or cultivated tendencies to evil. To be harsh, to be severe, too self-important, selfish, to look out for one's own selfish interest and yet be zealous that others shall deal unselfishly is a religion which is an abomination to God. Many have just such an experience daily, but it is a misrepresentation of

- 12 Ye are not straitened in us, but ye are straitened in your own bowels.
- 13 Now for a recompense in the same, (I speak as unto my children,) be ye also enlarged.
- 14 Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?
- 15 And what concord hath Christ with Belial? or what part hath he that believeth with an infidel?
- 16 And what agreement hath the temple of God with idols? for ye are the temple of the living God; as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them; and I will be their God, and they shall be my people.
- 17 Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you.
- 18 And will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty.
- 7 Having therefore these promises, dearly beloved, let us cleanse ourselves from all filthiness of the flesh and spirit, perfecting holiness in the fear of God.

Paul's Rejoicing at the Warm Response of the Corinthians

- 2 Receive us; we have wronged no man, we have corrupted no man, we have defrauded no man.
- 3 I speak not this to condemn you: for I have said before, that ye are in our hearts to die and live with you.
- 4 Great is my boldness of speech toward you, great is my glorying of you: I am filled with comfort, I am exceeding joyful in all our tribulation.
- 5 For, when we were come into Macedonia, our flesh had no rest, but we were troubled on every side; without were fightings, within were fears.
- 6 Nevertheless God, that comforteth those that are cast down, comforted us by the coming of Titus;
- 7 And not by his coming only, but by the consolation wherewith he was comforted

- in you, when he told us your earnest desire, your mourning, your fervent mind toward me; so that I rejoiced the more.
- 8 For though I made you sorry with a letter, I do not repent, though I did repent: for I perceive that the same epistle hath made you sorry, though it were but for a season.
- 9 Now I rejoice, not that ye were made sorry, but that ye sorrowed to repentance: for ye were made sorry 'after a godly manner, that ye might receive damage by us in nothing.
- 10 For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation not to be repented of: but the sorrow of the world worketh death.
- 11 For behold this selfsame thing, that ye sorrowed after a godly sort, what carefulness it wrought in you, yea, what clearing of yourselves, yea, what indignation, yea, what fear, yea, what vehement desire, yea, what zeal, yea, what revenge! In all things ye have approved yourselves to be clear in this matter.
- 12 Wherefore, though I wrote unto you, I did it not for his cause that had done the wrong, nor for his cause that suffered wrong, but that our care for you in the sight of God might appear unto you.
- 13 Therefore we were comforted in your comfort: yea, and exceedingly the more joyed we for the joy of Titus, because his spirit was refreshed by you all.
- 14 For if I have boasted any thing to him of you, I am not ashamed; but as we speak all things to you in truth, even so our boasting, which I made before Titus, is found a truth.
- 15 And his 'inward affection is more abundant toward you, whilst he remembereth the obedience of you all, how with fear and trembling ye received him.
- 16 I rejoice therefore that I have confidence in you in all things.

The Exemplary Liberality of the Macedonian Churches

- 8 Moreover, brethren, 'we do you to wit of the grace of God bestowed on the churches of Macedonia;

the character of Christ (Letter 31a, 1894).

5:19 (John 1:18). Satan Sees in Christ a Manifestation of God's Character.—There stood in the world One who was a perfect representative of the Father, One whose character and practices refuted Satan's misrepresentation of God. Satan had charged upon God the attribute he himself possessed. Now in Christ he saw God revealed in His true character—a compassionate, merciful Father, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to Him in repentance, and have eternal life (ST June 9, 1898).

5:21. See EGW on John 1:14.

6:14-18 (see EGW on Judges 2:2). Out of the World, Into God's Family.—Those who come out of the world in spirit and in all practice may regard themselves as sons and daughters of God. They may believe His Word as a child believes every word of his parents. Every promise is sure to him that believes. Those who unite with the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit, who show by their lives that they are no longer following the course they followed before they united with these divine instrumentalities, will receive the wisdom from above. They will not depend on human wisdom. In order to deal righteously with the world, as members of the royal family, children of the heavenly King, Christians must feel their need of a power which comes only from the heavenly agencies who have pledged themselves to work in their behalf.

After we have formed a union with the great threefold power, we shall regard our duty toward the members of God's family with a much more sacred awe than we have ever done before. This is a phase of religious reform that very few appreciate. Those who seek to answer the prayer, "Thy will be done in earth, as it is in heaven," will seek by living pure, sanctified lives to show to the world how the will of God is done in heaven (MS 11, 1901).

6:17 (see EGW on Isa. 8:12). The Sifting Instrument.—The world is the instrument that sifts the church and tests the genuineness of its members. The world holds out inducements that, when accepted, place the believer where his life is not in harmony with his profession. . . .

If you go forward toward heaven, the world will rub hard against you. At every step you will have to urge your way against Satan and his evil angels, and against all who transgress God's law. Earthly authorities will interpose. You will meet tribulations, bruising of the spirit, hard speeches, ridicule, persecutions. Men will require your conformity to laws and customs that would render you disloyal to God. Here is where God's people find the cross in the way to life (MS 3, 1885).

6:17, 18 (Col. 3:2; see EGW on Prov. 1:10; Rom. 6:1-4). Sever Every Earthly Tendiril.—Many professed Christians are well represented by the vine that is trailing upon the ground and entwining its tendrils about the roots and rubbish that lie in its path. To all such the message comes, "Come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you, and will be a Father unto you, and ye shall be my sons and daughters, saith the Lord Almighty." There are conditions to meet if we would be blessed and honored by God. We are to separate from the world, and refuse to touch those things that will separate our affections from God. God has the first and highest claims upon His people. Set your affections upon Him and upon heavenly things. Your tendrils must be severed from everything earthly.

You are exhorted to touch not the unclean thing, for in touching this, you will yourself become unclean. It is impossible for you to unite with those who are corrupt, and still remain pure. "What fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness? and what concord hath Christ with Belial?" God and Christ and the heavenly host would have man know that if he unites with the corrupt, he will become corrupt. Ample provision has been made that we may be raised from the lowlands of earth, and have our affections fastened upon God and upon heavenly things (RH Jan. 2, 1900).

8:1-8. Example of Others an Inducement to Giving.—When a people have an earnest longing to help where help is needed in advancing the cause of God in any line, the Lord will impart to these consecrated, unselfish ones a heart to give gladly, as if it was a privilege. God moved on these Macedonians in their deep poverty to bestow liberally that their example might be recorded, thus leading others to exercise the same beneficence.

Encouraged by this movement, which showed the special working of the Holy Spirit on the hearts of the believers, Paul requested Titus to visit the Corinthian church and finish the collection which they had proposed and had already begun. He was anxious that they should perform that which they had promised through the grace of God working upon their hearts.

Let them should be outstripped in liberality by the comparatively poor Macedonian churches, Paul not only writes to them, but sends Titus to attend to the collection. The apostle greatly desired to see in the believers symmetry of Christian character. He desired them to give evidence of their love and prove the sincerity of their faith. As disciples in full belief of the truth, he longed to see in them a lively sense of their obligation and accountability to God for the gospel. He desired that it should work in them as the power of God, and that they should bear testimony to its work by yielding fruit to the honor of God. As Christians under the control of God they were with all diligence to discharge every duty. . . .

Paul laid no command upon the Corinthian brethren. But he set before them the necessity of the church at Jerusalem, and showed what others had given who had fewer advantages and less ability than had the Corinthians. He presented the example of others, to induce them to give (MS 12, 1900).

8:6. Ministers to Teach Liberality.—There is a lesson also in this chapter to those who are working in the cause of God. Paul says, "We desired Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also finish in you the same grace also"—that is, make you to abound in the grace of liberality. A responsibility rests upon the ministers of Christ to educate the churches to be liberal. Even the poor are to have a part in presenting their offerings to God. They are to be sharers of the grace of Christ in denying self to help those whose need is more pressing than their own. Why should the poor saints be denied the blessing of giving to aid those who are still poorer than themselves (MS 28, 1894)?

8:9. Christ's Poverty a Part of His Great Sacrifice.—The apostle called upon them to consider the example of Christ. The Commander of heaven gave Himself to a life of humiliation and poverty that He might stand side by side with the fallen race, to restore the moral image of God in man. The Lord Jesus was willing to become poor, that through His humiliation and His death on the cross He might pay the ransom for us.

Whether rich or poor, we must never forget that the poverty of Christ was a part of His legacy in humanity. It was not alone His betrayal in the garden or His agony upon the cross that constituted the atonement. The humiliation of which His poverty formed a part was included in His great sacrifice. The whole series of sorrows which compassed humanity Christ bore upon His divine soul (MS 12, 1900).

(Matt. 11:28; Phil. 2:5-8.) Why Christ Came as a Poor Man.—When the plan of redemption was laid, it was decided that Christ should not appear in accordance with His divine character; for then He could not associate with the distressed and the suffering. He must come as a poor man. He could have appeared in accordance with His exalted station in the heavenly courts, but no. He must reach to the very lowest depths of human suffering and poverty, that His voice might be heard by the burdened and disappointed, that to the weary, sin-sick soul He might reveal Himself as the Restorer, the desire of all nations, the Rest-giver. And to those who are longing for rest and peace today just as truly as to those who listened to His words in Judea. He is saying, "Come unto me, all ye that labour and are heavy laden, and I will give you rest" (MS 14, 1897).

Christ's Poverty Paul's Mighty Argument.—Here was the apostle's mighty argument. It is not the commandment of Paul, but of the Lord Jesus Christ. The Son of God had left His heavenly home, with its riches and honor and glory, and clothed His divinity with humanity—not to live in the palaces of kings, without care or labor, and to be supplied with all the conveniences which human nature naturally craves. In the councils of heaven He had chosen to stand in the ranks of the poor and oppressed, to take His part with the humble workers, and learn the trade of His earthly parent, which was that of a carpenter, a builder. He came to the world to be a reconstructor of character, and He brought into all His work of building the perfection which He desired to bring into the characters He was transforming by His divine power.

Paul presents his pattern, his ideal. Christ had given Himself to a life of poverty that they might become rich in heavenly treasure. He would refresh their memories in regard to the sacrifice made in their behalf. Christ was commander in the heavenly courts, yet He took the lowest place in this world. He was rich, yet for our sakes. He became poor. It was not spiritual riches that He left behind; He was always abounding in the gifts of the Spirit. But He was of poor parentage. The world never saw its Lord wealthy (MS 98, 1899).

Rich in Attainments.—Christ, the Majesty of heaven, became poor, that we through His poverty might be made rich. Not rich merely in endowments, but rich in attainments.

These are the riches that Christ earnestly longs that His followers shall possess. As the true seeker after the truth reads the Word, and opens his mind to receive the Word, he longs after truth with his whole heart. The love, the pity, the tenderness, the courtesy, the Christian politeness, which will be the elements in the heavenly mansions that Christ has gone to prepare for those that love Him, take possession of his soul. His purpose is steadfast. He is deter-

- 2 How that in a great trial of affliction the abundance of their joy and their deep poverty abounded unto the riches of their liberality.
- 3 For to their power, I bear record, yea, and beyond their power they were willing of themselves;
- 4 Praying us with much intreaty that we would receive the gift, and take upon us the fellowship of the ministering to the saints.
- 5 And this they did, not as we hoped, but first gave their own selves to the Lord, and unto us by the will of God.
- 6 Inasmuch that we desired Titus, that as he had begun, so he would also finish in you the same grace also.

The Example of Jesus Christ

- 7 Therefore, as ye abound in every thing, in faith, and utterance, and knowledge, and in all diligence, and in your love to us, see that ye abound in this grace also.
- 8 I speak not by commandment, but by occasion of the forwardness of others, and to prove the sincerity of your love.
- 9 For ye know the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, that, though he was rich, yet for your sakes he became poor, that ye through his poverty might be rich.
- 10 And herein I give my advice: for this is expedient for you, who have begun before, not only to do, but also to be forward a year ago.
- 11 Now therefore perform the doing of it; that as there was a readiness to will, so there may be a performance also out of that which ye have.
- 12 For if there be a first willing mind, it is accepted according to that a man hath, and not according to that he hath not.
- 13 For I mean not that other men be eased, and ye burdened:
- 14 But by an equality, that now at this time your abundance may be a supply for their want, that their abundance also may be a supply for your want: that there may be equality:
- 15 As it is written, He that had gathered much had nothing over; and he that had gathered little had no lack.

The Commission and Commendation of Titus to Receive the Offering at Corinth

- 16 But thanks be to God, which put the same earnest care into the heart of Titus for you.
- 17 For indeed he accepted the exhortation; but being more forward, of his own accord he went unto you.
- 18 And we have sent with him the brother, whose praise is in the gospel throughout all the churches;
- 19 And not that only, but who was also chosen of the churches to travel with us with this grace, which is administered by us to the glory of the same Lord, and declaration of your ready mind:
- 20 Avoiding this, that no man should blame us in this abundance which is administered by us:
- 21 Providing for honest things, not only in the sight of the Lord, but also in the sight of men.
- 22 And we have sent with them our brother, whom we have oftentimes proved diligent in many things, but now much more diligent, upon the great confidence which we have in you.
- 23 Whether any do enquire of Titus, he is my partner and fellowhelper concerning you: or our brethren be enquired of, they are the messengers of the churches, and the glory of Christ.
- 24 Wherefore shew ye to them, and before the churches, the proof of your love, and of our boasting on your behalf.

An Appeal to Complete the Collection of Funds

- 9 For as touching the ministering to the saints, it is superfluous for me to write to you:
- 2 For I know the forwardness of your mind, for which I boast of you to them of Macedonia, that Achaia was ready a year ago; and your zeal hath provoked very many.
- 3 Yet have I sent the brethren, lest our boasting of you should be in vain in this behalf; that, as I said, ye may be ready:
- 4 Lest haply if they of Macedonia come with me, and find you unprepared, we (that we say not, ye) should be ashamed in this same confident boasting.

mined to stand on the side of righteousness. Truth has found its way into the heart, and is planted there by the Holy Spirit, who is the truth. When truth takes hold of the heart, the man gives sure evidence of this by becoming a steward of the grace of Christ (MS 7, 1898).

8:12. See EGW on Acts 16:14.

8:16-18, 23. Titus Journeys to Corinth.—Paul's testimony was accepted as of great weight, because of the many revelations he had received. He knew better than did many others of the necessities of various places. But Paul was unwilling to take personal charge of the raising of this contribution. He had been largely instrumental in causing it to be raised, but, lest any should find occasion to speak evil, Titus and his companions . . . made the journey to Corinth; for there was no safe way of transporting money at that time (MS 101, 1906).

8:16-22. Paul Commends Titus to the Corinthians.—Titus has been so successful in raising gifts among the churches in Macedonia that Paul desired him to visit Corinth and continue in the same work. Another brother, "whose praise is in the gospel throughout all the churches," and still another "whom we have oftentimes proved diligent in many things," were sent to accompany Titus. Paul wrote a letter to the Corinthians commending to them these brethren who had so willingly undertaken such a difficult task. In this letter he reminded them of an effort that had been put forth a year previous to raise a contribution at Corinth (MS 101, 1906).

8:21. See EGW on Rom. 12:17.

8, 9. Let not selfish motives lead you to withhold the funds that are needed in unworked fields. When we are tempted to withhold that which is needed in foreign fields, let us study the eighth and ninth chapters of Second Corinthians, and learn to emulate the liberal spirit which made the Macedonians willing to give "beyond their power" to the cause that called for their assistance (MS 11,

- 5 Therefore I thought it necessary to exhort the brethren, that they would go before unto you, and make up before hand your 'bounty, 'whereof ye had notice before, that the same might be ready, as a matter of bounty, and not as of covetousness.

An Appeal to Liberality

- 6 But this I say. He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly; and he which soweth bountifully shall reap also bountifully.
- 7 Every man according as he purposeth in his heart, so let him give; not grudgingly, or of necessity: for God loveth a cheerful giver.
- 8 And God is able to make all grace abound toward you; that ye, always having all sufficiency in all things, may abound to every good work:
- 9 (As it is written, He hath dispersed abroad; he hath given to the poor: his righteousness remaineth for ever.
- 10 Now he that ministereth seed to the sower both ministereth bread for your food, and multiply your seed sown, and increase the fruits of your righteousness;)
- 11 Being enriched in every thing to all 'bountifulness, which causeth through us thanksgiving to God.
- 12 For the administration of this service not only supplieth the want of the saints, but is abundant also by many thanksgivings unto God;
- 13 Whiles by the experiment of this ministration they glorify God for your professed subjection unto the gospel of Christ, and for your liberal distribution unto them, and unto all men;
- 14 And by their prayer for you, which long after you for the exceeding grace of God in you.
- 15 Thanks be unto God for his unspeakable gift.

- 12 For we dare not make ourselves of the number, or compare ourselves with some, that commend themselves; but they measuring themselves by themselves, and comparing themselves among themselves, 'are not wise.

9:2. A Thousand Torches Kindled.—Those who occupy positions of influence and responsibility in the church should be foremost in the work of God. If they move reluctantly, others will not move at all. But their zeal will provoke very many. When their light burns brightly, a thousand torches will be kindled at the flame (SW April 5, 1904).

9:6 (1 Tim. 6:19; Heb. 11:26). How Bright the Crown?—The reward, the glories of heaven, bestowed upon the overcomers, will be proportionate to the degree in which they have represented the character of Christ to the world. "He which soweth sparingly shall reap also sparingly." Thank God that it is our privilege to sow on earth the seed that will be harvested in eternity. The crown of life will be bright or dim, will glitter with many stars, or be lighted by few gems, in accordance with our own course of action.

Day by day we may be laying up a good foundation against the time to come. By self-denial, by the exercise of the missionary spirit, by crowding all the good works possible into our life, by seeking so to represent Christ in character that we shall win many souls to the truth, we shall have respect unto the recompense of reward. It rests with us to walk in the light, to make the most of every opportunity and privilege, to grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ, and so we shall work the works of Christ, and ensure for ourselves treasure in the heavens (RH Jan. 29, 1895).

9:7. Giving Grudgingly Mocks God.—It were better not to give at all than to give grudgingly; for if we impart of our means when we have not the spirit to give freely, we mock God. Let us bear in mind that we are dealing with One upon whom we depend for every blessing. One who reads every thought of the heart, every purpose of the mind (RH May 15, 1900).

Maris of Difference Between True and False Apostles: The Subtlety of False Apostles

- 3 But I fear, lest by any means, as the serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty, so your minds should be corrupted from the simplicity that is in Christ.
- 4 For if he that cometh preacheth another Jesus, whom we have not preached, or if ye receive another spirit, which ye have not received, or another gospel, which ye have not accepted, ye might well bear 'with him.

10:5 (Col. 3:10). Every Faculty to Reflect the Divine Mind.—It was a wonderful thing for God to create man, to make mind. The glory of God is to be revealed in the creation of man in God's image and in his redemption. One soul is of more value than a world. God created man that every faculty might be the faculty of the divine mind. The Lord Jesus Christ is the author of our being, and He is also the author of our redemption, and everyone who will enter the kingdom of God will develop a character that is the counterpart of the character of God. None can dwell with God in the holy heaven but those who bear His likeness. Those who are to be redeemed are to be overcomers; they are to be elevated, pure, one with Christ (Letter 55, 1895).

God the Author of Every Noble Thought.—Will men and women consider how God regards the creatures He has made? He formed man's mind. We do not think one noble thought that does not come from Him. He knows all the mysterious workings of the human mind, for did He not make it? God sees that sin has debased and degraded man, but He looks upon him with pity and compassion; for He sees that Satan has him in his power (MS 56, 1889).

The Power of Intellect.—Intellect enabled, purified, heaven directed, is the universal power to build up the kingdom of God. Intellect perverted, has exactly the opposite influence; it is a corrupting of the human power given in trust to be multiplied in earnest labor for good. It deceives and destroys. God has given sufficient endowments to make men capable and wise to carry forward, and strongly and graciously to represent, the Lord's wonderful works to all those who love Him and obey His commandments (MS 63, 1900).

Yielded to Whom?—Satan cannot touch the mind or intellect unless we yield it to him (MS 17, 1893).

Paul Humbled by "A Thorn in the Flesh"

- 6 For though I would desire to glory, I shall not be a fool; for I will say the truth: but now I forbear, lest any man should think of me above that which he seeth me to be, or that he heareth of me.
- 7 And lest I should be exalted above measure through the abundance of the revelations, there was given to me a thorn in the flesh, the messenger of Satan to buffet me, lest I should be exalted above measure.
- 8 For this thing I besought the Lord thrice, that it might depart from me.
- 9 And he said unto me, My grace is sufficient for thee: for my strength is made perfect in weakness. Most gladly therefore, will I rather glory in my infirmities, that the power of Christ may rest upon me.
- 10 Therefore I take pleasure in infirmities, in reproaches, in necessities, in persecutions, in distresses for Christ's sake: for when I am weak, then am I strong.

Paul Not Enriched at Their Expense

- 11 I am become a fool in glorying; ye have compelled me: for I ought to have been commended of you; for in nothing am I behind the very chiefest apostles, though I be nothing.
- 12 Truly the signs of an apostle were wrought among you in all patience, in signs, and wonders, and mighty deeds.
- 13 For what is it wherein ye were inferior to other churches, except it be that I myself was not burdensome to you? forgive me this wrong.
- 14 Behold, the third time I am ready to come to you; and I will not be burdensome to you: for I seek not yours, but you: for the children ought not to lay up for the parents, but the parents for the children.
- 15 And I will very gladly spend and be spent for you; though the more abundantly I love you, the less I be loved.
- 16 But be it so, I did not burden you: nevertheless, being crafty, I caught you with guile.
- 17 Did I make a gain of you by any of them

The devil will use your mind if you give it to him (MS 2, 1893).

11. Judging Not Man's Prerogative.—The 11th chapter of 2 Corinthians contains much instruction. It reveals to us that men who are liable to view matters after human eyesight may make very grave mistakes if they engage in a work that God has not appointed, but condemned. That work is to criticize, to climb upon the judgment seat, and pronounce sentence. How much better would it be for the spiritual advancement of such to look well to their own shortcomings and defects of character through watchful examination of their own hearts, to try to remove from them the beam of faultfinding, of evil surmising, of evil speaking, of hearing false witness, of hatred, and accusing of the brethren (MS 142, 1897).

11:14 (Matt. 24:24; John 10:4; see EGW on Eph. 6:10-12). Meeting Satan's Crowning Deception.—Satan came as an angel of light in the wilderness of temptation to deceive Christ; and he does not come to man in a hideous form, as he is sometimes represented, but as an angel of light. He will come personating Jesus Christ, working mighty miracles; and men will fall down and worship him as Jesus Christ. We shall be commanded to worship the being, whom the world will glorify as Christ. What shall we do?—Tell them that Christ has warned us against just such a foe, who is man's worst enemy, yet who claims to be God; and that when Christ shall make His appearance, it will be with power and great glory, accompanied by ten thousand times ten thousand angels and thousands of thousands; and that when He shall come, we shall know His voice (RH Dec. 18, 1888).

(Matt. 7:15; 2 Thess. 2:7-12.) An Unfailing Test.—Satan has come down in these last days to work with all deceptiveness of unrighteousness in them that perish. His satanic majesty works miracles in the sight of false prophets, in the sight of men, claiming that he is inde-

A Final Appeal to the Unrepentant

- 19 Again, think ye that we excuse ourselves unto you? we speak before God in Christ: but we do all things, dearly beloved, for your edifying.

- 20 For I fear, lest, when I come, I shall not find you such as I would, and that I shall be found unto you such as ye would not: lest there be debates, envyings, wraths, strifes, backbitings, whisperings, swellings, tumults:

1 or, with him

- 13 This is the third time I am coming to you. In the mouth of two or three witnesses shall every word be established.

- 2 I told you before, and foretell you, as if I were present, the second time; and being absent now I write to them which heretofore have sinned, and to all other, that, if I come again, I will not spare:

- 3 Since ye seek a proof of Christ speaking in me, which to you-ward is not weak, but is mighty in you.

- 4 For though he was crucified through weakness, yet he liveth by the power of God. For we also are weak in him, but we shall live with him by the power of God toward you.

- 5 Examine yourselves, whether ye be in the faith: prove your own selves. Know ye not your own selves, how that Jesus Christ is in you, except ye be reprobates?

- 6 But I trust that ye shall know that we are not reprobates.

Christ Himself. Satan gives his power to those who are aiding him in his deceptions; therefore those who claim to have the great power of God can only be discerned by the great detector, the law of Jehovah. The Lord tells us if it were possible they would deceive the very elect. The sheep's clothing seems so real, so genuine, that the wolf can be discerned only as we go to God's great moral standard and there find that they are transgressors of the law of Jehovah (R11 Aug. 25, 1885).

Preparing for the Final Act.—This world is a theater. The actors, the inhabitants of the world, are preparing to act their part in the last great drama. God is lost sight of. There is no unity of purpose, except as parties of men confederate to gain their ends. God is looking on. His purposes in regard to His rebellious subjects will be fulfilled. The world has not been given into the hands of men, though God is permitting the elements of confusion and disorder to bear sway for a season. A power from beneath is working to bring about the last great scenes in the drama—Satan coming as Christ, and working with all deviousness of unrighteousness in those who are binding themselves together in secret societies. Those who are yielding to the passion for confederation are working out the plans of the enemy. The cause will be followed by the effect (Letter 141, 1902).

(Eph. 6:10-12.) Constant Vigilance Demanded.—[Eph. 6:10-12 quoted.] Every one who has enlisted under the bloodstained banner of Christ has entered upon a warfare that demands constant vigilance. Satan is determined to keep up the warfare to the end. Coming as an angel of light, claiming to be the Christ, he will deceive the world. But his triumph will be short. No storm or tempest can move those whose feet are planted on the principles of eternal truth. They will be able to stand in this time of almost universal apostasy (MS 74, 1905).

11:14, 15. See EGW on Matt. 7:21-23.

11:23-30. Paul's Indomitable Courage.—Gain courage from the experience of the apostle Paul. He had many trials. He was an unwearied worker, and traveled constantly, sometimes through inhospitable regions, sometimes on the water, in storm and tempest. Far harder than ours was his lot, for traveling then had not the conveniences that it has now. But Paul allowed nothing to hinder him from his work (Letter 107, 1904).

12:1 (Phil. 3:8). Paul Taught by the Holy Spirit.—The apostle Paul, who had received many revelations from the Lord, met difficulties from various sources, and amid all his conflicts and discouragements he did not lose his trust and confidence in God. Under the special tuition of the Holy Spirit, his judgment was purified, refined, elevated, sanctified. The deavings of human beings and of the enemy against him were to him a means of discipline and education, and he declares that thus he gained most excellent knowledge, because he made the Lord Jesus his dependence. "Yea doubtless," he declares, "I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord." How greatly this gospel enriches the garden of the soul, enabling it to produce most precious fruit (Letter 127, 1903)!

12:1-4. Paul's Preaching With Power.—Through Paul God has given many wonderful lessons for our instruction. In his visions Paul saw many things not lawful for a man to utter. But many other things which he saw in the heavenly courts were woven into his teachings. The truth flashed from his lips as a sharp, two-edged sword. The impressions made upon his mind by the Holy Spirit were strong and vivid, and they were presented to the people in a way that no one else could present them. Paul spoke in the demonstration of the Spirit and with power (Letter 105, 1901).

(1 Cor. 9:27.) Paul Remained Humble.—The apostle Paul was highly honored of God, being taken in holy vision to the third heaven, where he looked upon scenes whose glories might not be revealed to mortals. Yet all this did not lead him to boastfulness or self-confidence. He realized the importance of constant watchfulness and self-denial, and plainly declares: "I keep under my body, and bring it into subjection: lest that by any means, when I have preached to others, I myself should be a castaway" (R11 May 3, 1881).

(Phil. 3:12; 1 Tim. 1:15.) Paul had a very humble opinion of his own advancement in the Christian life. He says, "Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect." He speaks of himself as the chief of sinners. Yet Paul had been highly honored of the Lord. He had been taken, in holy vision, to the third heaven, and had there received revelations of divine glory which he could not be permitted to make known (ST Jan. 11, 1883).

(Rom. 16:25; Eph. 3:8, 9; Col. 1:26.) Hidden Mysteries Revealed.—Mysteries which had been hidden for ages were revealed to him [Paul], and as much as he could bear of the workings of God, and of His dealings with human minds, was made known. The Lord told Paul that he must preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ. Light was to be given to the Gentiles. This is a mystery which had been hidden for ages (ST Jan. 30, 1912).

12:4 (ch. 4:17, 18). Glories of Heaven Indescribable.—Paul had a view of heaven, and in discoursing on the glories there, the very best thing he could do was to not try to describe them. He tells us that eye had not seen nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man the things which God hath prepared for

- 7 Now I pray to God that ye do no evil; not that we should appear approved, but that ye should do that which is honest, though we be as reprobates.
- 8 For we can do nothing against the truth, but for the truth.
- 9 For we are glad, when we are weak, and ye are strong: and this also we wish, even your perfection.
- 10 Therefore I write these things being absent, lest being present I should use sharpness, according to the power which the Lord hath given me to edification,

Conclusion (13:11-14)

- 11 Finally, brethren, farewell. Be perfect, be of good comfort, be of one mind, live in peace; and the God of love and peace shall be with you.
- 12 Greet one another with an holy kiss.
- 13 All the saints salute you.
- 14 The grace of the Lord Jesus Christ, and the love of God, and the communion of the Holy Ghost, be with you all. Amen.

those that love Him. So you may put your imagination to the stretch, you may try to the very best of your abilities to take in and consider the eternal weight of glory, and yet your finite senses, faint and weary with the effort, cannot grasp it, for there is an infinity beyond. It takes all of eternity to unfold the glories and bring out the precious treasures of the Word of God (MS 13, 1888).

12:7-9 (see EGW on Acts 9:8, 9). Paul's Affliction Not Removed.—Paul had a bodily affliction; his eyesight was bad. He thought that by earnest prayer the difficulty might be removed. But the Lord had His own purpose, and He said to Paul, Speak to Me no more of this matter. My grace is sufficient. It will enable you to bear the infirmity (Letter 207, 1899).

Painful Impediments in Paul's Work.—A deep sadness still rested upon the mind and heart of Paul because of his apprehensions concerning the Corinthian church. While at Philippi he commenced his second epistle to them, for they hung as a heavy weight upon his soul. The depression of spirits from which the apostle suffered was, however, attributable in a great degree to bodily infirmities, which made him very restless when not engaged in active service. But when working for the salvation of souls, he rose superior to physical debility. He felt that the disease under which he suffered was a terrible impediment to him in his great work, and repeatedly besought the Lord to relieve him. God did not see fit to answer his prayers in this respect, though He gave him assurance that divine grace should be sufficient for him (LP 175, 176).

13:5 (ch. 2:11). Satan's Little Wedges.—Those who have no time to give attention to their own souls, to examine themselves daily whether they be in the love of God, and place themselves in the channel of light, will have time to give to the suggestions of Satan, and the working out of his plans.

Satan will insinuate himself by little wedges, that widen as they make a place for themselves. The specious devices of Satan will be brought into the special work of God at this time (MS 16, 1890).

The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the GALATIANS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

This letter was addressed to the churches of Galatia. It is not known whether these were in Northern Galatia, in such cities as Tavium, Pessinus, and Ancyra (the modern Ankara) or in Southern Galatia, at Antioch, Iconium, Lystra, Derbe, and other cities (see map facing p. 33). The former view is called the North Galatian theory, and the latter the South Galatian theory. For a discussion of these two theories see Additional Note on Acts 16. The name Galatia is derived from certain Gallic tribes who invaded Asia Minor about 278 B.C. and settled in the northern part of what became, in 25 B.C., the Roman province of Galatia.

2. AUTHORSHIP

The Pauline authorship of this epistle has not been seriously challenged. The internal evidence of the epistle itself is convincing. In its entirety it is consistent with the character of Paul as portrayed in the Acts and in other letters attributed to him. Postapostolic Christian writers were acquainted with the epistle and considered that it came from his hand. It appears in the earliest lists of NT books.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

On their first journey, about A.D. 45-47, Paul and Barnabas founded the churches of Antioch (in Pisidia), Iconium, Lystra, and Derbe (see Acts 13:1-14:23). After their return to Antioch they were sent to Jerusalem with the question as to whether Gentile converts to Christianity should be required to practice the rites and ceremonies of Judaism (see Acts 15). The Jerusalem Council, which was convened about A.D. 49, decided against making this requirement of non-Jews. Soon after the council Paul began his Second Missionary Journey, accompanied by Silas. They first revisited the churches of Southern Galatia which Paul had organized on his first journey, three of the four being specifically mentioned—Derbe, Lystra, and Iconium (see Acts 16:1-5). They next carried the gospel to Phrygia and Galatia (see v. 6). Those who hold the North Galatian theory (see Additional Note on Acts 16) note that it was after this visit to Derbe, Lystra, and Iconium that Paul and Silas went through what Luke speaks of as Galatia. From this it may be inferred that Luke is thinking of the region settled by the Gauls rather than of the Roman province of Galatia, which included other areas to the south (see map facing p. 33). Paul returned once more to Galatia early on his Third Missionary Journey, about A.D. 53 and 54.

Obviously the Epistle to the Galatians must have been written after the events recorded in Gal. 2:1-14. If the council at Jerusalem described in Acts 15 is here alluded to, the letter must have been written after the close of the first journey, for that council was held between the first and second journeys (see Acts 15:36-41). Furthermore, according to Gal. 4:13, it seems that Paul had already visited the churches of Galatia twice, and if so the letter must have been written after the close of his second journey. If the North Galatian theory is accepted, the letter to the Galatians must have been written after the third journey, for Paul had not visited the North Galatian churches on his first journey. Accordingly the time of writing could be the winter of A.D. 57-58.

One argument advanced in favor of Corinth as the place of writing is the close resemblance in subject matter between this epistle and that to the Romans, which was written during Paul's third visit to Corinth. Justification by faith is the theme of both epistles, and both deal at length with the distinction between "the law" and the gospel.

If the South Galatian theory is accepted, a date as early as A.D. 45 is possible. Some think it may have been written even before the Jerusalem Council, immediately upon Paul's return to Antioch from his first journey. The reason given for this conclusion is that the epistle contains no specific mention of the council or of the decision there agreed upon. To the objection that Paul had already visited the South Galatian churches twice, those who hold the South Galatian theory reply that his return to them on the first journey is to be considered a second visit (see Acts 14:21-23).

The purpose of the letter is evident from its contents. Apostasy is threatening, if not already begun, and as a result the letter is naturally controversial. The apostasy came as the result of the activities of Judaizing teachers, possibly of the same group that stirred up trouble in the church at Antioch in Syria over the same question (see Acts 15:1). It was the discord caused by these men at Antioch that precipitated the council at Jerusalem. At that council Paul was again opposed by the Judaizers, who contended that Christian converts must observe Jewish legal requirements. They demanded the circumcision of Titus (see Gal. 2:3, 4). In this epistle Paul is not so much concerned with circumcision or any other feature of the ceremonial law, in particular, as he is with the false teaching that man may save himself by observing the requirements of "the law." This is evident from the fact that Paul, on occasion, had participated in some of the ritual procedures (Acts 18:18; 21:20-27). He also had Timothy circumcised (Acts 16:3).

These false teachers had apparently met with great success in their efforts, and seem to have deceived a large segment of the membership in the churches of Galatia by their teachings (see Gal. 1:6). It is not clear how far the deceived churches had gone in the actual practice of legalism before they received Paul's epistle, but it is evident from the general tone of the letter that there was imminent danger of a general apostasy. These teachers were working in direct opposition to the decision of the council. They not only repudiated Paul's gospel but challenged his authority as an apostle. They made much of the fact that Paul was not one of the Twelve chosen and ordained by Christ.

In order to make clear to the Galatians the error into which they had fallen, Paul restated the great principles of the gospel as he had expounded it to them. But since they charged Paul with preaching a false gospel, and since this involved their further claim that he was not qualified to teach, Paul felt compelled to present evidence that would vindicate his apostleship. This accounts for the autobiographical portion of the letter (chs. 1:11 to 2:14). His purpose in giving so detailed an account of personal experiences related to the problem was to prove the validity of his gospel. He also stressed the fact that his teachings, which he explained to the apostles at the council, were in harmony with those of the leaders who had been associated with Jesus and had received their message from Him.

4. THEME OF THE EPISTLE

The theme of the Epistle to the Galatians is righteousness attained by faith in Jesus Christ. This is set in contrast with the Jewish concept of righteousness attained by compliance with the "works" prescribed by the Jewish legal system. This letter exalts what God has done through Christ for man's salvation and summarily dismisses the idea that man can be justified by his own merits. It extols the free gift of God in contrast with man's attempts to save himself.

The specific question at issue between Paul and the heretical teachers in Galatia was, Does compliance with the prescribed forms and requirements of Judaism entitle a man to divine favor and acceptance? The categorical answer was No, "a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ" (see on ch. 2:16). Indeed, the Christian who attempts to earn salvation by the "works of the law" thereby forfeits the grace of Christ (chs. 2:21; 5:4).

As "the children of promise" (ch. 4:28) Christians are "heirs" (ch. 3:6, 7, 14, 29). Having become new creatures in Christ (chs. 4:7; 6:15), "led of the Spirit" (ch. 5:18), and with Christ abiding in their hearts by faith, and God's moral law written therein (Gal. 2:20; Heb. 8:10), they are no longer, like immature children, in need of a "schoolmaster" to guide them (Gal. 3:23-26; 4:1-7). Whereas the Jews boasted of righteousness they supposed they earned by their own efforts to keep God's laws (Rom. 2:17; 9:4), Christians acknowledge that they have nothing whatever of which to boast except the saving power of "the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ" (see Gal. 6:14).

The term "law" in Galatians stands for the entire revelation, at Sinai, of God's rules for His children—moral laws, civil statutes, and ceremonial ritual. To these the Jews later added a ponderous array of man-made laws. They mistakenly thought that by their own strength they could give perfect obedience to these laws, and that by such obedience they could earn their own salvation. Galatians is concerned, not so much with any of these laws as such, but with the erroneous idea that a man can earn his own salvation by rigorous adherence to various legal requirements. The issue is one of salvation by faith versus salvation by works.

Paul explains that the gospel promises were confirmed to Abraham in the covenant, and that the revelation of God's law 430 years later did not alter the provisions of that covenant (ch. 3:6-9, 14-18). "The law" was not designed to replace the covenant or to provide another means of salvation, but to help men understand and appropriate the covenant's provisions of divine grace. "The law" was not intended to be an end in itself, as the Jews came to think, but a means—a "schoolmaster"—to lead men to salvation in Christ according to the promises of the covenant. The purpose of "the law," its "end," or objective, was to lead men to Christ (see on Rom. 10:4), not to open for them another pathway to salvation. For the most part, however, the Jews willingly remained in ignorance of God's plan for making men righteous by faith in Christ, and went about to establish their own righteousness by "the works of the law" (Gal. 2:16; see Rom. 10:3).

Paul explains further that the covenant with Abraham provided for the salvation of the Gentiles, whereas "the law" did not do so; and that Gentiles are therefore to find salvation through faith in the promise made to Abraham, not through "the law" (Gal. 3:8, 9, 14, 27-29). The error and grave problem introduced into the Galatian churches by the Judaizers consisted of attempts to impose upon Gentile converts ceremonial forms, such as circumcision and the ritual observance of "days, and months, and times, and years" (chs. 4:10; 5:2). That specific problem no longer exists, for Christians today are in no danger of reverting to the ritual requirements of Judaism (cf. chs. 4:9; 5:1). This is not to say, however, that the book of Galatians is only of historical interest and without instructional value for modern Christians. Inclusion of the epistle in the Sacred Canon makes certain that it has lessons of value and importance for our day (cf. Rom. 15:4; 1 Cor. 10:11; 2 Tim. 3:16, 17).

As already noted, the word "law" in the book of Galatians includes within its purview both the moral and the ceremonial law; in fact, the ceremonial law would have been meaningless without the moral law (see on ch. 2:16). The ceremonial law expired by limitation at the cross (see on Col. 2:14-17), but the moral law-the Decalogue-remains in full force (see on Matt. 5:17, 18). There is danger today of adhering to the "letter" of the Decalogue without entering into its spirit (Matt. 19:16-22; see on Gal. 5:17-22), as there was in Paul's day of participating in the sacrificial system without realizing that its symbols pointed to Christ. To whatever extent, therefore, modern Christians fall into the error of attempting to save themselves by their human endeavors to keep the Decalogue, they fall from grace and become "entangled" in "the yoke of bondage" (Gal. 5:1, 4). For all such, Christ died in vain (ch. 2:21). The warning of the book of Galatians applies to them. The Christian keeps the Decalogue, not to gain salvation, but because he is saved. Indeed only a saved man can keep it, for Christ dwells within him.

That warning applies also to those who think to attain to a higher level of righteousness before God by meticulous adherence to man-made regulations regarding standards of Christian living, such as dress and diet. Thus they make the same mistake as the Jews of Christ's day (see Rom. 14:17; see on Mark 7:1-14). Others pay tithe, attend church, even observe the Sabbath, under the delusion that they thereby earn merit in the sight of God. True, the Christian will faithfully abide by all divine requirements. But he will do so, not in the hope of earning favor in the sight of God, but because, as a son of God by faith in the saving grace of Jesus Christ, it is supreme joy and happiness to order his life in harmony with the expressed will of God (see on Matt. 7:21-27; see EGW Supplementary Material on Gal. 3:24).

The pre-eminent lesson of the book of Galatians for the church today is the same as it was in the days of Paul-that salvation can be obtained in no other way than by simple faith in the merits of Christ (chs. 2:16; 3:2; 5:1), and that nothing a man may do can in the least degree enhance his standing before God or increase his chances of obtaining forgiveness and redemption. Law, whether moral or ceremonial, has no power to set men free from the state of sin in which they find themselves (see on Rom. 3:20; 7:7). This is Paul's "gospel," in contrast with the perverted "gospel" of the Judaizers (Gal. 1:6-12; 2:2, 5, 7, 14).

The letter concludes with an appeal not to abuse the new-found liberty of the gospel, but to live a holy life (ch. 6). Christian love should lead the Galatians to guard against a sanctimonious spirit, and to deal kindly with those who fall into error. The church should be known for its good works-the fruitage of the Spirit-but should not attempt to make good works a substitute for faith in the saving merits of Jesus Christ.

GALATIANS

Salutation and Introduction (1:1-10)

The Writer's Apostolic Authority

- 1 Paul, an apostle, (not of men, neither by man, but by Jesus Christ, and God the Father, who raised him from the dead;)
- 2 And all the brethren which are with me, unto the churches of Galatia:
- 3 Grace be to you and peace from God the Father, and from our Lord Jesus Christ,
- 4 Who gave himself for our sins, that he might deliver us from this present evil world, according to the will of God and our Father:
- 5 To whom be glory for ever and ever, Amen.

The Occasion for, and Purpose of, the Letter

- 6 I marvel that ye are so soon removed from him that called you into the grace of Christ unto another gospel:
- 7 Which is not another; but there be some that trouble you, and would pervert the gospel of Christ.
- 8 But though we, or an angel from heaven, preach any other gospel unto you than that which we have preached unto you, let him be accursed.
- 9 As we said before, so say I now again. If any man preach any other gospel unto you than that ye have received, let him be accursed.
- 10 For do I now persuade men, or God? or do I seek to please men? for if I yet pleased men, I should not be the servant of Christ.

The Genuineness of His Conversion to Christianity (1:11-24)

The Divine Origin of His Interpretation of the Gospel

- 11 But I certify you, brethren, that the gospel which was preached of me is not after man.
- 12 For I neither received it of man, neither was I taught it, but by the revelation of Jesus Christ.

His Former Zeal for the Jewish Faith

- 13 For ye have heard of my conversation in time past in the Jews' religion, how that beyond measure I persecuted the church of God, and wasted it;
- 14 And profited in the Jews' religion above many my equals in mine own nation, being more exceedingly zealous of the traditions of my fathers.

His Conversion and His Mission to the Heathen

- 15 But when it pleased God, who separated me from my mother's womb, and called me by his grace,
- 16 To reveal his Son in me, that I might preach him among the heathen; immediately I conferred not with flesh and blood:

His Preparatory Retirement to Arabia

- 17 Neither went I up to Jerusalem to them which were apostles before me; but I went into Arabia, and returned again unto Damascus.
- 18 Then after three years I went up to Jerusalem to see Peter, and abode with him fifteen days.
- 19 But other of the apostles saw I none, save James the Lord's brother.
- 20 Now the things which I write unto you, behold, before God, I lie not.

His Acceptance by the Churches of Judea

- 21 Afterwards I came into the regions of Syria and Cilicia;
- 22 And was unknown by face unto the churches of Judaea which were in Christ:
- 23 But they had heard only, That he which persecuted us in times past now preacheth the faith which once he destroyed.
- 24 And they glorified God in me.

Paul Explains His Gospel to the Apostles

- 2 Then fourteen years after I went up again to Jerusalem with Barnabas, and took Titus with me also.

1:6, 7. Trouble in Galatia.—In almost every church there were some members who were Jews by birth. To these converts the Jewish teachers found ready access, and through them gained a foothold in the churches. It was impossible, by scriptural arguments, to overthrow the doctrines taught by Paul, hence they resorted to the most unscrupulous measures to counteract his influence and weaken his authority. They declared that he had not been a disciple of Jesus, and had received no commission from Him, yet he had presumed to teach doctrines directly opposed to those held by Peter, James, and the other apostles. Thus the emissaries of Judaism succeeded in alienating many of the Christian converts from their teacher in the gospel. Having gained this point, they induced them to return to the observance of the ceremonial law as essential to salvation. Faith in Christ, and obedience to the law of ten commandments, were regarded as of minor importance. Division, heresy, and sensualism were rapidly gaining ground among the believers in Galatia.

Paul's soul was stirred as he saw the evils that threatened speedily to destroy these churches. He immediately wrote to the Galatians, exposing their false theories, and with great severity rebuking those who had departed from the faith (1P 188, 189).

1:17, 18. See EGW on Acts 9:25-27.

2:1-10 (Acts 15:4-29). The Wisdom of Paul.—Paul . . . describes the visit which he made to Jerusalem to secure a settlement of the very questions which are now agitating the churches of Galatia, as to whether the Gentiles should submit to circumcision and keep the ceremonial law. This was the only instance in which he had deferred to the judgment of the other apostles as superior to his own. He had first sought a private interview, in which he set the matter in all its bearings before the leading apostles, Peter, James, and John. With far-seeing wisdom, he concluded that if these men could be led to take a right position

- 2 And I went up by revelation, and communicated unto them that gospel which I preach among the Gentiles, but privately to them which were of reputation, lest by any means I should run, or had run, in vain.

Titus A Test Case Vindicating Paul's Gospel

- 3 But neither Titus, who was with me, being a Greek, was compelled to be circumcised:
4 And that because of false brethren unawares brought in, who came in privily to spy out our liberty which we have in Christ Jesus, that they might bring us into bondage:
5 To whom we gave place by subjection, no, not for an hour: that the truth of the gospel might continue with you.

Apostolic Approval of Paul as An Apostle to the Gentiles

- 6 But of these who seemed to be somewhat, (whatsoever they were, it maketh no matter to me: God accepteth no man's person): for they who seemed to be somewhat in conference added nothing to me:
7 But contrariwise, when they saw that the gospel of the uncircumcision was committed unto me, as the gospel of the circumcision was unto Peter;
8 (For he that wrought effectually in Peter to the apostleship of the circumcision, the same was mighty in me toward the Gentiles):
9 And when James, Cephas, and John, who seemed to be pillars, perceived the grace that was given unto me, they gave to me and Barnabas the right hands of fellowship; that we should go unto the heathen, and they unto the circumcision.
10 Only they would that we should remember the poor; the same which I also was forward to do.

Paul's Apostolic Equality with the Twelve

- 11 But when Peter was come to Antioch, I withstood him to the face, because he was to be blamed.
12 For before that certain came from James, he did eat with the Gentiles: but when they were come, he withdrew and separated himself, fearing them which were of the circumcision.

everything would be gained. Had he first presented the question before the whole council, there would have been a division of sentiment. The strong prejudice already excited because he had not enforced circumcision on the Gentiles, would have led many to take a stand against him. Thus the object of his visit would have been defeated, and his usefulness greatly hindered. But the three leading apostles, against whom no such prejudice existed, having themselves been won to the true position, brought the matter before the council, and won from all a concurrence in the decision to leave the Gentiles free from the obligations of the ceremonial law (LP 192, 193).

2:11, 12 (James 1:8; see EGW on Acts 21: 20-26). When Strong Men Waver.—Even the best of men, if left to themselves, will make grave blunders. The more responsibilities placed upon the human agent, the higher his position to dictate and control, the more mischief he is sure to do in perverting minds and hearts if he does not carefully rated himself, fearing them which were of the circumcision.

- 13 And the other Jews dissembled likewise with him; insomuch that Barnabas also was carried away with their dissimulation.
14 But when I saw that they walked not uprightly according to the truth of the gospel, I said unto Peter before them all, If thou, being a Jew, livest after the manner of Gentiles, and not as do the Jews, why compellest thou the Gentiles to live as do the Jews?

Even Jewish Christians Rely on Faith in Christ for Salvation, Not on Law (2:15-21)

Jewish Christians Realize the Inefficacy of Legalism

- 15 We who are Jews by nature, and not sinners of the Gentiles,
16 Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified.

The Incompatibility of Christianity and Judaism

- 17 But if, while we seek to be justified by Christ, we ourselves also are found sinners, is therefore Christ the minister of sin? God forbid.
18 For if I build again the things which I destroyed, I make myself a transgressor.
19 For I through the law am dead to the law, that I might live unto God.
20 I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me.
21 I do not frustrate the grace of God: for if righteousness come by the law, then Christ is dead in vain.

Salvation of the Gentiles Provided for in the Abrahamic Covenant (3:1-14)

The Galatians Had Become Christians Through Faith

- 3 O foolish Galatians, who hath bewitched you, that ye should not obey the truth, follow the way of the Lord. At Antioch Peter failed in the principles of integrity. Paul had to withstand his subverting influence face to face. This is recorded that others may profit by it, and that the lesson may be a solemn warning to the men in high places, that they may not fail in integrity, but keep close to principle.

After all the failures of Peter, after his fall and restoration, his long course of service, his intimate acquaintance with Christ, his knowledge of Christ's pure, straightforward practice of principle; after all the instruction he had received, all the gifts and knowledge and great influence in preaching and teaching the Word, is it not strange that he should dissemble and evade the principles of the gospel, for fear of man, or in order to gain his esteem? Is it not strange that he should waver, and be two-sided in his position? May God give every man a sense of his own personal helplessness to steer his own vessel straight and safely into the harbor. The grace of Christ is essential every day. His

The Status of "The Law" in Relation to the Abrahamic Covenant (3:15-29)

"The Law" Did Not Annul the Messianic Provisions of the Covenant

- 15 Brethren, I speak after the manner of men; Though it be but a man's covenant, yet if it be confirmed, no man disannulleth, or addeth thereto.
- 16 Now to Abraham and his seed were the promises made. He saith not, And to seeds, as of many; but as of one, And to thy seed, which is Christ.
- 17 And this I say, that the covenant, that was confirmed before of God in Christ, the law, which was four hundred and thirty years after, cannot disannul, that it should make the promise of none effect.
- 18 For if the inheritance be of the law, it is no more of promise: but God gave it to Abraham by promise.

The Subordinate and Provisional Function of "The Law"

- 19 Wherefore then serveth the law? It was added because of transgressions, till the seed should come to whom the promise was made; and it was ordained by angels in the hand of a mediator.
- 20 Now a mediator is not a mediator of one, but God is one.
- 21 Is the law then against the promises of God? God forbid: for if there had been a law given which could have given life, verily righteousness should have been by the law.
- 22 But the scripture hath concluded all under sin, that the promise by faith of Jesus Christ might be given to them that believe.
- 23 But before faith came, we were kept under the law, shut up unto the faith which should afterwards be revealed.
- 24 Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith.
- 25 But after that faith is come, we are no longer under a schoolmaster.

In Christ All Men Are Heirs to the Covenant Promises, by Faith

- 26 For ye are all the children of God by faith in Christ Jesus.

matchless grace alone can save our feet from falling (MS 122, 1897).

2:16 (ch. 3:10-13; 24; Rom. 3:19-28; 5:1). No Room for Self-sufficiency.—We are justified by faith. The soul who understands the meaning of these words will never be self-sufficient. We are not sufficient of ourselves to think anything of ourselves. The Holy Spirit is our efficiency in the work of character building, in forming characters after the divine similitude. When we think ourselves capable of molding our own experience, we make a great mistake. We can never of ourselves obtain the victory over temptation. But those who have genuine faith in Christ will be worked by the Holy Spirit. The soul in whose heart faith abides will grow into a beautiful temple for the Lord. He is directed by the grace of Christ. Just in proportion as he depends on the Holy Spirit's teaching he will grow (MS 8, 1900).

2:20 (Phil. 1:21; Col. 3:3; see EGW on Rev. 3:1). The Greatest Work in the World.—Everything good in men and women is the fruit of the working of the Holy Spirit. The Spirit teaches us to reveal righteousness in our lives. The greatest work that can be done in our world is to glorify God by living the character of Christ. God will make perfect only those who will die to self. Those who are willing to do this can say, "I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me" (MS 16, 1900).

3:24 (ch. 2:16; Rom. 3:19-28). The Law Points to Christ.—The law has no power to pardon the transgressor, but it points him to Christ Jesus, who says to him, I will take your sin and bear it myself, if you will accept Me as your substitute and surety. Return to your allegiance, and I will impute to you My righteousness (RH May 7, 1901).

Which Law Is the Schoolmaster?—I am asked concerning the law in Galatians. What law is the schoolmaster to bring us to Christ? I answer: Both the ceremonial and the moral code of ten commandments.

Christ was the foundation of the whole Jewish economy. The death of Abel was in consequence of Cain's refusing to accept God's plan in the school of obedience, to be saved by the blood of Jesus Christ, typified by the sacrificial offerings pointing to Christ. Cain refused the shedding of blood, which symbolized the blood of Christ to be shed for the world. This whole ceremony was prepared by God, and Christ became the foundation of the whole system. This is the beginning of its work as the schoolmaster to bring sinful human agents to a consideration of Christ.

All who did service in connection with the sanctuary were being educated constantly in regard to the intervention of Christ in behalf of the human race. This service was designed to create in every heart a love for the law of God, which is the law of His kingdom. The sacrificial offering was to be an object lesson of the love of God revealed in Christ—in the suffering, dying victim, who took upon Himself the sin of which man was guilty, the innocent being made sin for us.

In the contemplation of this great theme of salvation, we see Christ's work. Not only the promised gift of the Spirit, but also the nature and character of this sacrifice and intervention, is a subject which should create in our hearts elevated, sacred, high ideas of the law of God, which holds its claims upon every human agency. The violation of that law in the small act of eating of the forbidden fruit, brought upon man and upon the earth the consequence of disobedience to the holy law of God. The nature of the intervention should ever make man afraid to do the smallest action in disobedience to God's requirement.

There should be a clear understanding of that which constitutes sin, and we should avoid the least approach to step over the boundaries from obedience to disobedience.

God would have every member of His creation understand the great work of the infinite Son of God in giving His life for the salvation of the world. "Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God; therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew Him not."

When he sees in Christ the embodiment of infinite and disinterested love and benevolence, there is awakened in the heart of the sinner a thankful disposition to follow where Christ is drawing (MS 97, 1900).

Especially the Moral Law.—"The law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith." In this scripture, the Holy Spirit through the apostle is speaking especially of the moral law. The law reveals sin to us, and causes us to feel our need of Christ, and to flee unto Him for pardon and peace by exercising repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. . . .

The law of ten commandments is not to be looked upon as much from the prohibitory side as from the mercy side. Its prohibitions are the sure guarantee of happiness in obedience. As received in Christ, it works in us the purity of character that will bring joy to us through eternal ages. To the obedient it is a wall of protection. We behold in it the goodness of God, who by revealing to men the immutable principles of righteousness seeks to shield them from the evils that result from transgression.

We are not to regard God as waiting to punish the sinner for his sin. The sinner brings the punishment upon himself. His own actions start a train of circumstances that bring the sure result. Every act of transgression reacts upon the sinner, works in him a change of character, and makes it more easy for him to transgress again. By choosing to sin, men separate themselves from God, cut themselves off from the channel of blessing, and the sure result is ruin and death.

The law is an expression of God's idea. When we receive it in Christ, it becomes our idea. It lifts us above the power of natural desires and tendencies, above temptations that lead to sin (MS 23a, 1896).

The Relation of the Two Laws.—It is not so essential to understand the precise particulars in regard to the relation of the two laws. It is of far greater consequence that we know whether we are transgressing the law of God, whether we stand in obedience or disobedience before the holy precepts (Letter 165, 1901).

3:24-26 (ch. 6:14; 1 John 3:4). Christ the Only Remedy.—When the mind is drawn to the cross of Calvary, Christ by imperfect sight is discerned on the shameful cross. Why did He die? In consequence of sin. What is sin? The transgression of the law. Then the eyes are open to see the character of sin. The law is broken but cannot pardon the transgressor. It is our schoolmaster, condemning to punishment. Where is the remedy? The law drives us to Christ, who was hanged upon the cross that He might be able to impart His righteousness to fallen, sinful man and thus present men to His Father in His righteous character (MS 50, 1900).

5:1, 2 (1 Cor. 1:10-13). The Controversy Over Circumcision.—Factions also were beginning to rise through the influence of Judaizing teachers, who urged that the converts to Christianity should observe the ceremonial law in the matter of circumcision. They still maintained that the original Israel were the exalted and privileged children of Abraham, and were entitled to all the promises made to him. They sincerely thought that in taking this medium ground between Jew and Christian, they would succeed in removing the odium which attached to Christianity, and would gather in large numbers of the Jews.

They vindicated their position, which was in opposition to that of Paul, by showing that the course of the apostle, in receiving the Gentiles into the church without circumcision, prevented more Jews from accepting the faith than there were accessions from the Gentiles. Thus they excused their opposition to the results of the calm deliberations of God's acknowledged servants. They refused to admit that the work of Christ embraced the whole world. They claimed that He was the Saviour of the Hebrews alone; therefore they maintained that the Gentiles should receive circumcision before being admitted to the privileges of the church of Christ.

After the decision of the council at Jerusalem concerning this question, many were still of this opinion, but did not then push their opposition any farther. The council had, on that occasion, decided that the converts from the Jewish church might observe the ordinances of the Mosaic law if they chose, while those ordinances should not be made obligatory upon converts from the Gentiles. The opposing class now took advantage of this, to urge a distinction between the observers of the ceremonial law and those who did not observe it, holding that the latter were farther from God than the former.

Paul's indignation was stirred. His voice was raised in stern rebuke: "If ye be circumcised, Christ shall profit you nothing." The party maintaining that Christianity was valueless without circumcision arrayed themselves against the apostle, and he had to meet them in every church which he founded or visited: in Jerusalem, Antioch, Galatia, Corinth, Ephesus, and Rome. God urged him out to the great work of preaching Christ, and Him crucified; circumcision or uncircumcision was nothing. The Judaizing party looked upon Paul as an apostate, bent upon breaking down the partition wall which God had established between the Israelites and the world. They visited every church which he had organized, creating divisions. Holding that the end would justify the means, they circulated false charges against the apostle, and endeavored to bring him into disrepute. As Paul, in visiting the churches, followed after these zealous and unscrupulous opposers, he met many who viewed him with distrust, and some who even despised his labors.

These divisions in regard to the ceremonial law, and the relative merits of the different ministers teaching the doctrine of Christ, caused the apostle much anxiety and hard labor (1 Cor. 1:10-13 quoted) (LP 121, 122).

The Subordinate Status of An Heir During His Minority

- 4 But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law,

 6 And because ye are sons, God hath sent forth the Spirit of his Son into your hearts, crying, Abba, Father.
 7 Wherefore thou art no more a servant, but a son; and if a son, then an heir of God through Christ.

The Allegory of the Two Sons

 23 But he who was of the bondwoman was born after the flesh; but he of the freewoman was by promise.

 25 For this Agar is mount Sinai in Arabia, and 'answereth to Jerusalem which now is, and is in bondage with her children.

20; 1 Peter 1:22; Rev. 2:2; see EGW on Titus 1:9-11). Bible Religion Means Constant Work.—Genuine faith always works by love. When you look to Calvary it is not to quiet your soul in the non-performance of duty, nor to compose yourself to sleep, but to create faith in Jesus, faith that will work, purifying the soul from the slime of selfishness. When we lay hold of Christ by faith, our work has just begun. Every man has corrupt and sinful habits that must be overcome by vigorous warfare. Every soul is required to fight the fight of faith. If one is a follower of Christ, he cannot be sharp in deal, he cannot be hard-hearted, devoid of sympathy. He cannot be coarse in his speech. He cannot be full of pomposity and self-esteem. He cannot be overbearing, nor can he use harsh words, and censure and condemn.

The labor of love springs from the work of faith. Bible religion means constant work. "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works, and glorify your Father which is in heaven." "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling, for it is God that worketh in you, both to will and to do of his good pleasure." We are to be zealous of good works; be careful to maintain good works. And the true Witness says, "I know thy works."

While it is true that our busy activities will not in themselves ensure salvation, it is also true that faith which unites us to Christ will stir the soul to activity (MS 10, 1890).

5:17 (Eph. 6:12). Stern Conflicts in the Christian Life.—The life of the Christian is not all smooth. He has stern conflicts to meet. Severe temptations assail him. "The flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh." The nearer we come to the close of this earth's history, the more delusive and ensnaring will be the attacks of the enemy. His attacks will grow fiercer and more frequent. Those who resist light and truth will become

Christian Liberty Not An Excuse for License: Love Is the Fulfilling of the Law

- 13 For, brethren, ye have been called unto liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh, but by love serve one another.
- 14 For all the law is fulfilled in one word, even in this: Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself.
- 15 But if ye bite and devour one another, take heed that ye be not consumed one of another.
- 16 This I say then, Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh.
- 17 For the flesh lusteth against the Spirit, and the Spirit against the flesh; and these are contrary the one to the other: so that ye cannot do the things that ye would.
- 18 But if ye be led of the Spirit, ye are not under the law.

The Work of the Flesh and the Works of the Spirit

- 19 Now the works of the flesh are manifest, which are these: Adultery, fornication, uncleanness, lasciviousness,
- 20 Idolatry, witchcraft, hatred, variance, emulations, wrath, strife, seditions, heresies,
- 21 Envyings, murders, drunkenness, revellings, and such like: of the which I tell you before, as I have also told you in time past, that they which do such things shall not inherit the kingdom of God.
- 22 But the fruit of the Spirit is love, joy, peace, longsuffering, gentleness, goodness, faith,
- 23 Meekness, temperance: against such there is no law.
- 24 And they that are Christ's have crucified the flesh with the affections and lusts.
- 25 If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit.
- 26 Let us not be desirous of vain glory, provoking one another, envying one another.

Brotherly Love Fulfills the Law of Christ

- 6 Brethren, if a man be overtaken in a fault, ye which are spiritual, restore such an one in the spirit of meekness; consid-more hardened and unimpressible, and more bitter against those who love God and keep His commandments (MS 33, 1911).

5:22, 23 (Eph. 5:9). The Indwelling of the Spirit.—The influence of the Holy Spirit is the life of Christ in the soul. We do not see Christ and speak to Him, but His Holy Spirit is just as near us in one place as in another. It works in and through every one who receives Christ. Those who know the indwelling of the Spirit reveal the fruits of the Spirit—love, joy, peace, long-suffering, gentleness, goodness, faith (MS 41, 1897).

6:1, 2 (Heb. 12:12, 13). Working in the Spirit of Meekness.—[Gal. 6:1 quoted.] The restoring is to be done, not in a proud, officious, masterly manner, but in the spirit of meekness. Do not cast your brother aside, saying, He has disappointed me, and I shall not try to help him [Gal. 6:2 quoted] (MS 117a, 1901).

6:7. See EGW on Ex. 4:21; 20:16.

6:7, 8 (Rom. 2:6; see EGW on Judges 16). The Harvest of Resistance.—The Spirit of God keeps evil under the control of conscience. When man exalts himself above the influence of the Spirit, he reaps a harvest of iniquity. Over such a man the Spirit has less and less influence to restrain him from sowing seeds of disobedience. Warnings have less and less power over him. He gradually loses his fear of God. He sows to the flesh; he will reap corruption. The harvest of the seed that he himself has sown, is ripening. He has a contempt for God's holy commandments. His heart of flesh becomes a heart of stone. Resistance to truth confirms him in iniquity. It is because men sowed seeds of evil, that lawlessness, crime, and violence prevailed in the antediluvian world.

All should be intelligent in regard to the agency by which the soul is destroyed. It is not because of any decree that God has sent out against man. He does not make man spiritually blind. God gives sufficient light and evidence to

- ering thyself, lest thou also be tempted.
- 2 Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ.
- 3 For if a man think himself to be something, when he is nothing, he deceiveth himself.
- 4 But let every man prove his own work, and then shall he have rejoicing in himself alone, and not in another.
- 5 For every man shall bear his own burden.
- 6 Let him that is taught in the word communicate unto him that teacheth in all good things.
- 7 Be not deceived; God is not mocked: for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap.
- 8 For he that soweth to his flesh shall of the flesh reap corruption; but he that soweth to the Spirit shall of the Spirit reap life everlasting.
- 9 And let us not be weary in well doing: for in due season we shall reap, if we faint not.
- 10 As we have therefore opportunity, let us do good unto all men, especially unto them who are of the household of faith.

Conclusion

- 11 Ye see how large a letter I have written unto you with mine own hand.
- 12 As many as desire to make a fair shew in the flesh, they constrain you to be circumcised; only lest they should suffer persecution for the cross of Christ.
- 13 For neither they themselves who are circumcised keep the law; but desire to have you circumcised, that they may glory in your flesh.
- 14 But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world.
- 15 For in Christ Jesus neither circumcision availeth any thing, nor uncircumcision, but a new creature.
- 16 And as many as walk according to this rule, peace be on them, and mercy, and upon the Israel of God.
- 17 From henceforth let no man trouble me: for I bear in my body the marks of the Lord Jesus.
- 18 Brethren, the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with your spirit. Amen.

enable man to distinguish truth from error. But He does not force man to receive truth. He leaves him free to choose the good or to choose the evil. If man resists evidence that is sufficient to guide his judgment in the right direction, and chooses evil once, he will do this more readily the second time. The third time he will still more eagerly withdraw himself from God and choose to stand on the side of Satan. And in this course he will continue until he is confirmed in evil, and believes the lie he has cherished as truth. His resistance has produced its harvest (MS 126, 1901).

Gal

(Rev. 3:21.) A Life and Death Question.—[Gal. 6:7, 8 quoted.] Wonderful truth! This is a two-edged sword which cuts both ways. This life and death question is before the whole human race. The choice we make in this life will be our choice through all eternity. We shall receive either eternal life or eternal death. There is no middle ground, no second probation. We are called upon to overcome in this life as Christ overcame. Heaven has provided us with abundant opportunities and privileges, so that we may overcome as Christ overcame, and sit down with Him on His throne. But in order to be overcomers, there must be in our lives no petting of fleshly inclinations. All selfishness must be cut out by the roots (Letter 156, 1900).

6:14 (see EGW on ch. 3:24-26; John 3:14-17; 12:32; Eph. 2:8, 9; Rev. 12:10). The Cross the Source of Power.—We behold in the cross of Christ our efficiency, our inexhaustible source of power (Letter 129, 1898).

The Guarantee of Success.—Behold in the cross of Christ the only sure guarantee for individual excellence and success. And the more the heart is wrapped up in Christ, the more secure is the treasure in the eternal world (Letter 129, 1897).

(Phil. 1:21.) Paul a Living Example for Every Christian.—Paul was a living example of what every true Christian should be. He lived for God's glory. His words come sounding down the line to our time: "For to me to live is Christ." "God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world." He who was once a persecutor of Christ in the person of His saints now holds up before the world the cross of Christ. Paul's heart burned with a love for souls, and he gave all his energies for the conversion of men. There never lived a more self-denying, earnest, persevering worker. His life was Christ; he worked the works of Christ. All the blessings he received were prized as so many advantages to be used in blessing others (RH May 29, 1900).

(Isa. 45:21, 22; Matt. 16:24; John 1:29.) Look and Live.—Hanging upon the cross Christ was the gospel. Now we have a message. "Behold the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sins of the world." Will not our church members keep their eyes fixed on a crucified and risen Saviour, in whom their hopes of eternal life are centered? This is our message, our argument, our doctrine, our warning to the impenitent, our encouragement for the sorrowing, the hope for every believer. If we can awaken an interest in men's minds that will cause them to fix their eyes on Christ, we may step aside, and ask them only to continue to fix their eyes upon the Lamb of God. They thus receive their lesson. Whosoever will come after Me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow Me. He whose eyes are fixed on Jesus will leave all. He will die to selfishness. He will believe in all the Word of God, which is so gloriously and wonderfully exalted in Christ.

As the sinner sees Jesus as He is, an all compassionate Saviour, hope and assurance take possession of his soul. The helpless soul is cast without any reservation upon Jesus. None can bear away from the vision of Christ Jesus crucified a lingering doubt. Unbelief is gone (MS 49, 1898).

(Ps. 85:10; see EGW on James 2:13.) The Cross of Christ Moves the World.—The cross of Calvary challenges, and will finally vanquish every earthly and hellish power. In the cross all influence centers, and from it all influence goes forth. It is the great center of attraction, for on it Christ gave up His life for the human race. This sacrifice was offered for the purpose of restoring man to his original perfection. Yea, more, it was offered to give him an entire transformation of character, making him more than a conqueror.

Those who in the strength of Christ overcome the great enemy of God and man, will occupy a position in the heavenly courts above angels who have never fallen.

Christ declares, "I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." If the cross does not find an influence in its favor, it creates an influence. Through generation succeeding generation, the truth for this time is revealed as present truth. Christ on the cross was the medium whereby mercy and truth met together, and righteousness and peace kissed each other. This is the means that is to move the world (MS 56, 1899).

The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the EPHESIANS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

The early church was in almost universal agreement that this epistle was addressed to the church at Ephesus, and every known manuscript, without exception, bears the title "to the Ephesians." However, the words en Ephesō, "at Ephesus," in ch. 1:1 are lacking in Codex Vaticanus and in Codex Sinaiticus, two of the most ancient and authoritative manuscripts, as well as in the Chester Beatty MS P^m, a still earlier papyrus manuscript. Basil, of the 4th century, says (Against Eunomius ii. 19) that he had seen ancient manuscripts in which en Epheso was omitted. Statements by Origen (Commentary) and Tertullian (Against Marcion v. 17) support this idea. It is clear, therefore, that there were some manuscripts of the 2nd century in which the words in question were omitted (see Vol. V, pp. 181-183).

It is also significant that although Paul had spent three years in Ephesus in fruitful ministry, and no doubt had made many intimate friends, there are no personal greetings or salutations in this epistle. Rather, it deals with doctrines applicable to the universal church.

There are three solutions commonly offered for this problem:

- a. The letter was addressed to the church at Laodicea (see Col. 4:16).
- b. It was an encyclical to the churches in Asia.
- c. It was addressed to the Ephesians.

A combination of the second and third theories appears to satisfy the question. It may well be that the letter was sent to the church at Ephesus, the metropolis of the proconsulate of Asia, with the intention that it should be sent also to other churches in the area. This would account for the tradition that the church at Ephesus was addressed in the epistle, and also for the fact that very early there were extant copies of the book which did not contain the words en Epheso, and which may have been copies of the original autograph that circulated among the neighboring churches. In any case, this letter doubtless was read by the believers in Ephesus, and probably by others also in the province of Asia.

2. AUTHORSHIP

The Pauline authorship of Ephesians was never questioned until the last century, when many modern critical scholars arrived at the conclusion that it was not Pauline, or at least that it was only partially so. It was suggested that it was only a wordy repetition of Colossians, and that certain expressions indicate that the writer never was in Ephesus (Eph. 3:2, 3; 4:21). It was pointed out that there are no salutations to the members of the church at Ephesus, where Paul had labored for some three years (Acts 20:31). It was declared that the epistle is not Pauline in style, sentiment, or aim, and it was even proposed that no man in prison could write such a cheerful letter. For a discussion of these problems see Vol. V, pp. 181-183.

From the earliest times, when forgeries and apocryphal books were being separated from the genuine, the Epistle to the Ephesians was placed in the New Testament canon. The external evidence for its right to that status is overwhelming. It was known apparently to Clement of Rome (c. A.D. 90), and was also attested by Ignatius and Polycarp at the beginning of the 2nd century. Paul is mentioned by name as the author in the Muratorian Fragment and later by Irenaeus (c. A.D. 185), Clement of Alexandria (c. A.D. 190-195), Tertullian (c. A.D. 207), and many other early writers. This commentary proceeds from the point of view that Paul was the author.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

Having exercised his rights as a Roman citizen and appealed to Caesar, Paul was sent to Rome, where he probably arrived in the spring of A.D. 61. Here he was a prisoner for two years. Thus it is likely that this epistle was written about A.D. 62.

As a prisoner he apparently enjoyed certain liberties (cf. Eph. 6:19; Col. 4:3-11), which afforded him opportunity for reflection and writing. He took advantage of this to send to the churches in Asia much doctrinal and practical instruction. This letter would appear to have been written about the same time as Colossians and Philemon, for Tychicus was the bearer of Ephesians and Colossians, and a traveling companion of Onesimus, the bearer of Philemon (Eph. 6:21; Col. 4:7-9; Philemon 12; cf. AA 456). Ephesians, then, would be one of the four letters of the first imprisonment, Philipians also having been written during this period, probably the last of the four (see pp. 105, 106).

It has been suggested that Ephesians may have been written during the apostle's imprisonment in Caesarea, but the evidence for Rome is much stronger. That he was in prison at the time of writing there can be no doubt (chs. 3:1; 4:1), but the conditions of his confinement in Rome seem to have been more favorable to the writing of his letters (Acts 28:16, 20). While in the Roman prison he hoped for speedy liberation (Philemon 22), whereas there is no indication that he cherished any such hope while in Caesarea. Paul had long wished to visit Rome (Rom. 15:23, 24), and when there he planned to go to Colossae (Philemon 22). However, he never seems to have had the intention of going to Colossae from Caesarea.

Paul wrote this epistle in times and surroundings that well form a background to his message. The bloody Nero was emperor; licentiousness, luxury, and murder were rampant. It is recorded, for example, that when L. Pedanius Secundus, a senator of Rome, had been murdered by a slave, in accordance with legal rights some 400 slaves of his household were condemned to death in retribution. About the year of the writing of the epistle (A.D. 62), the revolt of Boadicea, or Boudicca, took place in Britain, when, it is said, "over 70,000" on the Roman side perished, along with many thousands of the rebels. In the midst of such confusion, and as a result of deep thought and inspiration, the apostle produced one of his noblest utterances concerning the faith that alone could restore to man peace and unity. It has been called "the Alps of the New Testament," and stands in the midst of peaks—Paul's nine epistles written to seven churches.

4. THEME

The subject of Ephesians is unity in Christ. He was writing to a church (or churches) consisting of Jews and Gentiles, Asiatics and Europeans, slaves and freemen—all symbols of a disrupted world that was to be restored to unity in Christ. This would necessitate unity of person, family, church, and race. The restoration of individual unity in the life of each believer assures the unity of God's universe. The theme of unity is implicit, where it is not explicit, throughout the book.

The apostle announces his theme in a tone of high spiritual exaltation, and urges upon all the highest character and conduct, for the purpose of unity not only in doctrine and organization but in Christ the head, and in the church, the mystical body of Christ. Although "in Christ" is the key phrase, it is difficult to select a key verse, for there is scarcely a verse that does not present in one form or another the basic theme. Election, forgiveness, predestination, home relationships—all are "in Christ."

The apostle has less to say about faith than about grace. In his earlier writings he stressed the relation of the individual to salvation; here he stresses the group, the church, the body, and he speaks of being "in Christ" rather than of things accomplished "through Christ"; of Christ living in the believer rather than of Christ crucified.

Paul does not develop his theme as a formal argument or proposition. He speaks simply of what came to him by revelation, not because of any superior intellect or insight, but because he was an instrument of God's grace to whom had been granted a vision of the essential spiritual unity of the kingdom.

It may be asserted that what the books of Galatians and Romans were to the 16th century and the Protestant Reformation, Ephesians is to the church of today. What does Christianity have to say regarding the relations of the individual to the family, of the family to the nation, of the nation to the race, and of all to the church and to God? Paul answers by presenting Christ as the center and end of all things, working out His purposes through the church, gathering "together in one all things in Christ" (ch. 1:10).

There is no more urgent need today than that of a unity that preserves the freedom of the individual, unity without rigid uniformity. The apostle was granted a revelation that offers the only solution to a problem that haunts the minds of all good men.

EPHESIANS

Salutation

1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, to the saints which are at Ephesus, and to the faithful in Christ Jesus:

2 Grace be to you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

The Blessings of the Believer (1:3-14)

A Hymn of Praise

3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, who hath blessed us with all spiritual blessings in heavenly 'places in Christ:

4 According as he hath chosen us in him before the foundation of the world, that we should be holy and without blame before him in love:

5 Having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will,

6 To the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved.

7 In whom we have redemption through his blood, the forgiveness of sins, according to the riches of his grace;

8 Wherein he hath abounded toward us in all wisdom and prudence;

9 Having made known unto us the mystery of his will, according to his good pleasure which he hath purposed in himself:

10 That in the dispensation of the fulness of times he might gather together in one all things in Christ, both which are in 'heaven, and which are on earth; even in him:

The Believers Sealed unto Salvation

11 In whom also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestinated according to the purpose of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will:

A Prayer for the Church (1:15-23)

15 Wherefore I also, after I heard of your faith in the Lord Jesus, and love unto all the saints,

22 And hath put all things under his feet, and gave him to be the head over all things to the church, 23 Which is his body, the fulness of him that filleth all in all.

Jew and Gentile One in Christ (2:1-22)

Regeneration by the Power of God

2 And you hath he quickened, who were dead in trespasses and sins:

Precious Instruction for All.—The whole of this first chapter of Ephesians contains precious instruction for every soul (MS 110, 1903).

1:1. See EGW on Rev. 2:1-5.

1:3-6 (John 1:12; Col. 1:26, 27; 2:2, 3, 10). The Gospel Is True Science.—[Eph. 1:3-6 quoted.] These divine heights the true believer may reach. All who will may see the mystery of godliness. But it is only through a correct understanding of Christ's mission and work that the possibility of being complete in Him, accepted in the Beloved, is brought within our reach. His long human arm embraces the human family; His divine arm grasps the throne of the Infinite, that man may have the benefit of the infinite sacrifice made in his behalf. And to as many as receive Him, He gives the power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name.

There are many who are too exalted in their own opinion to receive this mystery. There is a science that the Most High would have these great men understand; but they cannot see the Truth, the Life, the Light of the world. Human science is not divine enlightenment. Divine science is the demonstration of the Spirit of God, inspiring implicit faith in Him. The men of the world suppose this faith to be beneath the notice of their great and intelligent minds, something too low to give attention to, but here they make a great mistake. It is altogether too high for their human intelligence to reach.

The gospel message is far from being opposed to true knowledge and intellectual attainments. It is itself true science, true intellectual knowledge. True wisdom is infinitely above the comprehension of the worldly wise. The hidden wisdom, which is Christ formed within, the hope of glory, is a wisdom high as heaven. The deep principles of godliness are sublime and eternal. A Christian experience alone can help us to understand this problem, and obtain the treasures of knowledge which have been hidden in the counsels of God, but are now made known to all who have a vital connection with Christ. All who will may know of the doctrine (RH July 18, 1899).

1:4. See EGW on 2 Peter 1:10.

1:4, 5, 11 (Rom. 8:29, 30; 1 Peter 1:2). God's Predestination.—The Father sets His love upon His elect people who live in the midst of men. These are the people whom Christ has redeemed by the price of His own blood; and because they respond to the drawing of Christ, through the sovereign mercy of God, they are elected to be saved as His obedient children. Upon them is manifested the free grace of God, the love wherewith He hath loved them. Everyone who will humble himself as a little child, who will receive and obey the Word of God with a child's simplicity, will be among the elect of God. . . .

[Eph. 1:2-11 quoted.]

In the council of heaven, provision was made that men, though transgressors, should not perish in their disobedience, but, through faith in Christ as their substitute and surety, might become the elect of God, predestinated unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to Himself according to the good pleasure of His will. God wills that all men should be saved; for ample provision has been made, in giving His only-begotten Son to pay man's ransom. Those who perish will perish because they refuse to be adopted as children of God through Christ Jesus (ST Jan. 2, 1893).

Eternal Covenant Given to Abraham.—[Eph. 1:3-5 quoted.] Before the foundations of the earth were laid the covenant was made that all who were obedient, all who should through the abundant grace provided become holy in character and without blame before God by appropriating that grace, should be children of God. This covenant, made from eternity, was given to Abraham nineteen hundred years before Christ came. With what interest and what intensity did Christ in humanity study the human race to see if they would avail themselves of the provision offered (MS 9, 1896).

(Eze. 18:20-24; 33:12-16; Rom. 11:4-6; 1 Peter 1:2; 2 Peter 1:10; 2:15-21.) No Unconditional Election.—[2 Peter 1:2-10 quoted.] Here is the condition of the only saving election in the Word of God. We are to become partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust. We are to add grace to grace, and the promise is, "If ye do these things, ye shall never fall: for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ."

There is no such thing in the Word of God as unconditional election—once in grace, always in grace. In the second chapter of Second Peter the subject is made plain and distinct. After a history of some who followed an evil course, the explanation is given: "which have forsaken the right way, . . . following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness." . . . [2 Peter 2:15-20 quoted.] Here is a class of whom the apostle warns, "For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them."

There is truth to be received if souls are saved. The keeping of the commandments of God is life eternal to the receiver. But the Scriptures make it plain that those who once knew the way of life and rejoiced in the truth are in danger of falling through apostasy, and being lost. Therefore there is need of a decided, daily conversion to God.

All who seek to sustain the doctrine of election, once in grace, always in grace, do this against a plain, "Thus saith the Lord." . . . [Eze. 18:21; 33:13 quoted.]

Those who have been truly converted have been buried with Christ in the likeness of His death, and raised from the watery grave in the likeness of His resurrection, to walk in newness of life. By faithful obedience to the truth they are to make their calling and election sure (MS 57, 1900).

1:6 (Ch. 2:7; see EGW on Matt. 3:16, 17; Luke 17:10; Eph. 1:20, 21; Heb. 4:15, 16; 9:24). Exalting Christ's Character.—The most gifted men on the earth could all find abundant employment, from now until the judgment, for all their God-given powers, in exalting the character of Christ. But they would still fail to present Him as He is. The mysteries of redemption, embracing Christ's divine-human character, His incarnation, His atonement for sin, could employ the pens and the highest mental powers of the wisest men from now until Christ shall be revealed in the clouds of heaven in power and great glory. But though these men should seek with all their power to give a representation of Christ and His work, the representation would fall far short of the reality. . . .

The theme of redemption will employ the minds and tongues of the redeemed through everlasting ages. The reflection of the glory of God will shine forth forever and ever from the Saviour's face (Letter 280, 1904).

1:20, 21. (v. 6; Heb. 1:3). Accepted in the Beloved.—

The Father gave all honor to His Son, seating Him at His right hand, far above all principalities and powers. He expressed His great joy and delight in receiving the crucified One, and crowning Him with glory and honor.

And all the favors He has shown to His Son in His acceptance of the great atonement, are shown to His people. Those who have united their interests in love with Christ are accepted in the Beloved. They suffered with Christ in His deepest humiliation, and His glorification is of great interest to them, because they are accepted in Him. God loves them as He loves His Son. Christ, Emmanuel, stands between God and the believer, revealing the glory of God to His chosen ones, and covering their defects and transgressions with the garments of His own spotless righteousness (MS 128, 1897).

2:1-6. See EGW on 2 Peter 1:4.

2:4-6. Quickening Power of Christ.—[Eph. 2:4-6 quoted.] As God raised Christ from the dead, that He might bring life and immortality to light through the gospel, and thus save His people from their sins, so Christ has raised fallen human beings from spiritual death, quickening them with His life, filling their hearts with hope and joy (MS 89, 1903).

2:5, 6. See EGW on Rev. 5:6.

2:7 (see EGW on ch. 1:6; 1 Cor. 13:12). A Theme for Study in Eternity.—It will take the whole of eternity for man to understand the plan of redemption. It will open to him line upon line; here a little and there a little (MS 21, 1895).

2:7, 8. See EGW on ch. 4:7.

2:8. See EGW on Gen. 12:2, 3; Rom. 4:3-5; 1 Peter 1:22.

2:8, 9 (Rom. 3:27; see EGW on Luke 17:10; Rom. 3:20-31). Boasting Out of Place.—[Eph. 2:8, 9 quoted.] Human beings are in continual danger of boasting, of exalting self. Thus they reveal their weakness. . . .

The great change that is seen in the life of a sinner after his conversion is not brought about through any human goodness; therefore all human boasting is entirely out of place (MS 36, 1904).

2:14, 15. See EGW on Matt. 27:51.

2:14-16 (Col. 2:41-17; see EGW on Acts 15:1, 5). Ceremonies End at the Cross.—The ceremonies connected with the services of the temple, prefiguring Christ in types and shadows, were taken away at the time of the crucifixion, because on the cross type met antitype in the death of the true and perfect offering, the Lamb of God (MS 72, 1901).

(Rom. 3:31). Christ, Not the Law, Crucified.—The law of the ten commandments lives and will live through the eternal ages. The need for the service of sacrifices and offerings ceased when type met antitype in the death of Christ. In Him the shadow reached the substance. The Lamb of God was the complete and perfect offering.

The law of God will maintain its exalted character as long as the throne of Jehovah endures. This law is the expression of God's character. . . . Types and shadows, offerings and sacrifices had no virtue after Christ's death on

The Revelation of the Mystery (3:1-21)

It Has Been Made Known to Apostles and Prophets

- 3 For this cause I Paul, the prisoner of Jesus Christ for you Gentiles,
- 2 If ye have heard of the dispensation of the grace of God which is given me to you-ward:
- 3 How that by revelation he made known unto me the mystery; (as I wrote 'afore in few words,
- 4 Whereby, when ye read, ye may understand my knowledge in the mystery of Christ)
- 5 Which in other ages was not made known unto the sons of men, as it is now revealed unto his holy apostles and prophets by the Spirit;
- 6 That the Gentiles should be fellowheirs, and of the same body, and partakers of his promise in Christ by the gospel:

God's Wisdom Manifest Through the Church

- 7 Whereof I was made a minister, according to the gift of the grace of God given unto me by the effectual working of his power.
- 8 Unto me, who am less than the least of all saints, is this grace given, that I should preach among the Gentiles the unsearchable riches of Christ; the cross; but God's law was not crucified with Christ. Had it been, Satan would have gained all that he attempted to gain in heaven. For this attempt he was expelled from the heavenly courts. He fell, taking with him the angels he had deceived. And today he is deceiving human beings in regard to the law of God (MS 167, 1898).

(1 John 3:4) An Infamous Lie of Satan.—God did not make the infinite sacrifice of giving His only-begotten Son to our world, to secure for man the privilege of breaking the commandments of God in this life and in the future eternal life. This is an infamous lie originated by Satan, which must be made to appear in its false, deceitful character. This law that Satan so much desires to have regarded null and void, is the great moral standard of righteousness. Any violation of it is an act of transgression against God, and will be visited with the penalty of the divine law. To all the inhabitants of the world who make void the law of Jehovah, and continue to live in transgression, death must surely come (MS 72, 1901).

2:18 (chs. 1:6; 3:12; Heb. 4:15, 16; 9:14). The Merits of Christ's Name.—We have access to God through the merits of the name of Christ, and God invites us to bring to Him our trials and temptations; for He understands them all. He would not have us pour out our woes to human ears. Through the blood of Christ we may come to the throne of grace, and find grace to help in time of need. We may come with assurance, saying, "My acceptance is in the Beloved." "For through him we both have access by one Spirit unto the Father." "In whom we have boldness and access with confidence by the faith of him." As an earthly parent encourages his child to come to him at all times, so the Lord encourages us to lay before Him our wants and perplexities, our gratitude and love. Every promise is sure. Jesus is our Surety and Mediator, and has placed at our command every resource, that we may have a perfect character. The blood of Christ in ever-abiding efficacy is our

A Prayer for Believers and a Doxology

- 14 For this cause I bow my knees unto the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ,
- 15 Of whom the whole family in heaven and earth is named,
- 16 That he would grant you, according to the riches of his glory, to be strengthened with might by his Spirit in the inner man;
- 17 That Christ may dwell in your hearts by faith; that ye, being rooted and grounded in love,

The Nature and Purpose of the Gifts

- 7 But unto every one of us is given grace according to the measure of the gift of Christ.
- 8 Wherefore he saith, When he ascended up on high, he led ^{us} captivity captive, and gave gifts unto men.

- 10 He that descended is the same also that ascended up far above all heavens, that he might ^{fill} all things.)
- 11 And he gave some, apostles; and some, prophets; and some, evangelists; and some, pastors and teachers:

- 13 Till we all come ⁱⁿ the unity of the faith, and of the knowledge of the Son of God, unto a perfect man, unto the measure of the ^{stature} of the fulness of Christ:

- 15 But ^{speaking} the truth in love, may grow up into him in all things, which is the head, even Christ:
- 16 From whom the whole body fitly joined together and compacted by that which every joint supplieth, according to the effectual working in the measure of every part, maketh increase of the body unto the edifying of itself in love.

Reformation of Life (4:17-5:21)

Spiritual Darkness Contrasted with Spiritual Life

- 17 This I say therefore, and testify in the Lord, that ye henceforth walk not as other Gentiles walk, in the vanity of their only hope; for through His merits alone we have pardon and peace. When the efficiency of the blood of Christ becomes a reality to the soul through faith in Christ, the believer will let his light shine forth in good works, in bringing forth fruits unto righteousness (Yl Sept. 22, 1892).

2:19-21 (1 Peter 2:4, 5). Lusterless Stones Without Value.—When I meditate upon this fountain of living power from which we may freely draw, I mourn that so many are losing the delight they might have in considering His goodness. To be sons and daughters of God, growing into an holy temple to the Lord, "no more strangers and foreigners, but fellowcitizens with the saints, and of the household of God;" "built upon the foundation of the apostles and prophets, Jesus Christ himself being the chief corner stone"—this is our privilege.

How amazed is heaven at the present condition of the church that could be so much to the world if every stone were in its proper place, a living stone to emit light! A stone that does not shine is worthless. That which constitutes the value of our churches is not dead, lusterless stones, but living stones, stones that catch the bright beams from the Chief Cornerstone, even the Sun of Righteousness—the bright glory in which are combined the beams of mercy and truth that have met together, of righteousness and peace that have kissed each other (Letter 15, 1892).

A Lesson to Learn and Practice.—I point you to the words of the apostle Paul in the fourth chapter of Ephesians. This whole chapter is a lesson that God desires us to learn and practice (MS 55, 1903).

The Means of Unity Explained.—In the fourth chapter of Ephesians the plan of God is so plainly and simply revealed that all His children may lay hold upon the truth. Here the means which He has appointed to keep unity in His church, that its members may reveal to the world a healthy religious experience, is plainly declared (MS 67, 1907).

4:4-13. See EGW on 1 Cor. 12:4-6, 12.

4:7 (chs. 1:7, 2:7, 8; Rom. 3:24; Titus 2:11). What Is Grace?—The Lord saw our fallen condition; He saw our need of grace, and because He loved our souls, He has given us grace and peace. Grace means favor to one who is undeserving, to one who is lost. The fact that we are sinners, instead of shutting us away from the mercy and love of God, makes the exercise of His love to us a positive necessity in order that we may be saved (ST June 5, 1903).

4:8. See EGW on Acts 1:9.

4:13. See EGW on Prov. 4:23; Phil. 1:21.

4:13, 15. See EGW on v. 30; 2 Cor. 3:18; Rev. 18:1.

4:15. See EGW on 2 Peter 3:18.

4:20-24 (Heb. 12:14; see EGW on 1 Thess. 4:3). The Secret of Holiness.—No man receives holiness as a birthright, or as a gift from any other human being. Holiness is the gift of God through Christ. Those who receive the Saviour become sons of God. They are His spiritual children, born again, renewed in righteousness and true holiness. Their minds are changed. With clearer vision they behold eternal realities. They are adopted into God's family, and they become conformed to His likeness, changed by His Spirit from glory to glory. From cherishing supreme love for self, they come to cherish supreme love for God and for Christ. . . .

Accepting Christ as a personal Saviour, and following His example of self-denial—this is the secret of holiness (ST Dec. 17, 1902).

(2 Cor. 3:18.) Grace Essential Every Day and Hour.—The sanctification of the soul is accomplished through steadfastly beholding Him [Christ] by faith as the only-begotten Son of God, full of grace and truth. The power of truth is to transform heart and character. Its effect is not like a dash of color here and there upon the canvas; the whole character is to be transformed, the image of Christ is to be revealed in words and actions. A new nature is imparted. Man is renewed after the image of Christ in righteousness and true holiness. . . . The grace of Christ is essentially every day, every hour. Unless it is with us continually, the inconsistencies of the natural heart will appear, and the life will present a divided service. The character is to be full of grace and truth. Wherever the religion of Christ works, it will brighten and sweeten every detail of life with more than an earthly joy and a higher than earthly peace (Letter 24, 1892).

4:29. No Corrupt Communication.—We are counseled to let no corrupt communication proceed out of our mouth; but a corrupt communication is not simply something that is vile and vulgar. It is any communication that will eclipse from the mind the view of Christ, that will blot from the soul true sympathy and love. It is a communication in which the love of Christ is not expressed, but rather sentiments of an un-Christlike character (Letter 43, 1895).

4:30 (Col. 2:10; Rev. 7:2, 3; 14:1-4; see EGW on Eze. 9:2-4; Acts 2:1-4, 14, 41). Reaching the Mark of Perfection.—The mighty power of the Holy Spirit works an entire transformation in the character of the human agent, making him a new creature in Christ Jesus. When a man is filled with the Spirit, the more severely he is tested and tried, the more clearly he proves that he is a representative of Christ. The peace that dwells in the soul is seen on the countenance. The words and actions express the love of the Saviour. There is no striving for the highest place. Self is renounced. The name of Jesus is written on all that is said and done.

We may talk of the blessings of the Holy Spirit, but unless we prepare ourselves for its reception, of what avail are our words? Are we striving with all our power to attain to the stature of men and women in Christ? Are we seeking for His fullness, ever pressing toward the mark set before us—the perfection of His character? When the Lord's people reach this mark, they will be sealed in their foreheads. Filled with the Spirit, they will be complete in Christ, and the recording angel will declare, "It is finished" (RH June 10, 1902).

4:32. Kind Words Never Lost.—It should be our aim to bring all the pleasantness possible into our lives, and to do all the kindness possible to those around us. Kind words are never lost. Jesus records them as if spoken to Himself. Sow the seeds of kindness, of love, and of tenderness, and they will blossom and bear fruit (MS 33, 1911).

5:2 (see EGW on Rom. 8:26, 34; Rev. 8:3, 4). The Acceptable Offering.—The offering that is made to God without a spirit of reverence and gratitude. He does not accept. It is the humble, grateful, reverential heart that makes the offering as a sweet-smelling savor, acceptable to God. The children of Israel might have given all their substance, but given in a spirit of self-sufficiency or Pharisaism, as though God were indebted to them for their favors, their offerings would have been unacceptable, and utterly condemned by Him. It is our privilege, by diligently trading on our Lord's goods, to increase our store, so that we may impart to those who have fallen into distress. Thus we become the Lord's right hand to work out His benevolent purposes (MS 67, 1907).

5:2, 27. Christ's Life an Oblation to God.—"Christ also hath loved us," writes Paul, "and hath given himself for us an offering and a sacrifice to God for a sweet-smelling savour." This is the oblation of a life-gift in our behalf, that we may be all that He desires us to be—representatives of Him, expressing the fragrance of His character. His own pure thoughts, His divine attributes as manifested in His sanctified human life, in order that others may behold Him in His human form, and, comprehending God's wonderful design, be led to desire to be like Christ—pure, undefiled, wholly acceptable to God, without spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing (MS 159, 1903).

5:23-25. See EGW on Rev. 19:7-9.

5:25 (John 1:4; Rev. 2:1; 21:23). Only One Source of Light.—Christ "loved the church, and gave himself for it." It is the purchase of His blood. The divine Son of God is seen walking amid the seven golden candlesticks. Jesus Himself supplies the oil to these burning lamps. He it is that kindles the flame. "In him was life; and the life was the light of men."

No candlestick, no church, shines of itself. From Christ emanates all its light. The church in heaven today is only the complement of the church on earth; but it is higher, grander—perfect. The same divine illumination is to continue through eternal ages. The Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the light thereof. No church can have light if it fails to diffuse the glory it receives from the throne of God (MS 1a, 1890).

5:25-27 (Mal. 3:17). The Case Which Contains His Jewels.—The church of Christ is very precious in His sight. It is the case which contains His jewels, the fold which encloses His flock (MS 115, 1899).

5:27 (John 14:15). Reaching the Condition of Sinlessness.—Those only who through faith in Christ obey all of God's commandments will reach the condition of sinlessness in which Adam lived before his transgression. They testify to their love of Christ by obeying all His precepts (MS 122, 1901).

6:4 (Col. 3:20, 21). More Powerful Than Sermons.—Parents, God desires you to make your family a sample of the family in heaven. Guard your children. Be kind and tender with them. Father, mother, and children are to be joined together with the golden links of love. One well-ordered, well-disciplined family is a greater power in demonstrating the efficiency of Christianity than all the sermons in the world. When fathers and mothers realize how their children copy them, they will watch carefully every word and gesture (MS 31, 1901).

6:10-12 (see EGW on 2 Cor. 11:14; Rev. 12:17). Battling With Unseen Powers.—[Eph. 6:10-18 quoted.] In the Word of God are represented two contending parties that *therein I may speak boldly, as I ought to speak.

his place in the hearts of men. He has set up his throne between God and man, to appropriate the adoration that belongs to God alone (MS 33, 1911).

(Heb. 1:14.) Under Whose Control?—I want you to consider what kind of a position we should be left in if we had not the ministry of holy angels. . . . "We wrestle not against flesh and blood." We meet the opposition of men, but there is someone behind that opposition. It is the prince of the powers of darkness with his evil angels that are constantly at work, and we want to consider, all of us, that our warfare is "against principalities, against powers, against the rulers of the darkness of this world."

Who is it that is ruling the world today, and who is it that have chosen to stand under the banner of the prince of darkness? Why, it is nearly the whole world at large. All the world that have not accepted Jesus Christ have chosen for their leader the prince of darkness; and just as soon as they stand under his banner, they have connection with evil angels. Either the evil angels or the angels of God are controlling the minds of men. Our minds are given to the control of God, or to the control of the powers of darkness, and it will be well for us to inquire where we are standing today—whether under the blood-stained banner of Prince Emmanuel, or under the black banner of the powers of darkness.

We must make every preparation in our power in order to resist the enemy of souls. Every provision has been made; everything in God's plan has been arranged so that man should not be left to his own impulses, to his own finite powers, to carry on the warfare against the powers of darkness in his own finite strength; because he would certainly fail if he were thus left to himself (MS 1, 1890).

(Ps. 34:7.) Faithful Sentinels on Guard.—There are good and evil angels. Satan is ever on the alert to deceive and mislead. He is using every enchantment to allure men into the broad road of disobedience. He is working to confuse the senses with erroneous sentiments, and remove the landmarks by placing his false inscription on the signposts which God has established to point the right way. It is because these evil agencies are striving to eclipse every ray of light from the soul that heavenly beings are appointed to do their work of ministry, to guide, guard, and control those who shall be heirs of salvation. None need despair because of the inherited tendencies to evil, but when the Spirit of God convicts of sin, the wrongdoer must repent and confess and forsake the evil. Faithful sentinels are on guard to direct souls in right paths (MS 8, 1900).

Constant Warfare of the Angels.—If the curtain could be rolled back, and each one could discern the constant activities of the heavenly family to preserve the inhabitants of the earth from Satan's seductive wiles, lest in their careless attitude they should be led astray through satanic strategy, they would lose a large degree of their self-confidence and self-assurance. They would see that the armies of heaven are in continual warfare with satanic agencies, to obtain victories in behalf of those who do not sense their danger, and who are passing on in unconscious indifference (MS 32, 1900).

The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the PHILIPPIANS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

This letter draws its title from the fact that it is addressed to the Christians of Philippi, a city of Macedonia. For a history of the city see on Acts 16:12. The earliest manuscripts, going back to the 3rd century, bear the simple title Pros Philippenses ("To [the] Philippians").

2. AUTHORSHIP

Within the letter itself the apostle Paul is designated as the author (ch. 1:1). He represents Timothy as one of his associates (chs. 1:1; 2:19), and refers to his own imprisonment (ch. 1:7) and to his former preaching in Macedonia (ch. 4:15), in a manner that is entirely natural and in harmony with what is known of Paul's life. The early church unanimously recognized this letter as being from Paul. The first non-Biblical testimony to its Pauline authorship comes from the Christian leader and martyr Polycarp, about the middle of the 2nd century. Evidence for Pauline authorship is so strong that there is little room for doubt.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

The epistle to the Philippians was written from Rome during Paul's first imprisonment there (see Vol. VI, pp. 105, 106). More than ten years had passed since Paul had first preached the gospel at Philippi. Luke describes the circumstances of the apostle's first visit there (Acts 16). While at Troas, on the northwest coast of Asia Minor about A.D. 50, the apostle had received a vision in which he beheld "a man of Macedonia" pleading with him, "Come over into Macedonia, and help us" (Acts 16:8, 9). Paul and his companions, Silas, Timothy, and Luke, responded immediately, and went by way of Neapolis to Philippi, the first place in Europe where the gospel was preached (see on Acts 16:11, 12). There the missionaries joined a little group of worshipers by the river outside the city (see on Acts 16:13). Outstanding among those present was Lydia, "a seller of purple, of the city of Thyatira." Lydia and her household readily received the apostles' message, were converted and baptized. Afterward, as Paul and Silas went about their work of teaching, they met a slave girl possessed of a spirit of divination; she repeatedly proclaimed them as "servants of the most high God." When Paul cast out the spirit, her former masters stirred up a mob against the apostles, with the result that Paul and Silas were beaten and cast into prison. Then came an earthquake at midnight, followed by the conversion of the jailer and his family. Thus the Philippian church was formed, with its charter members the purple-seller from Thyatira and her household, the jailer, who was probably a Roman (see on Acts 16:23), and his household, and others.

Several years later, on his way back to Jerusalem, as he completed his Third Missionary Tour, Paul stopped again at Philippi. It was the time of the Passover, and the apostle kept the feast with the believers. He must have enjoyed the period of peaceful and happy communion thus afforded him with those who were among the most loving and truehearted of all his converts (Acts 20:6; cf. AA 390, 391).

Soon after his return to Jerusalem, Paul was arrested and imprisoned at Caesarea for at least two years (Acts 24:27). Then came the trip to Rome, where he spent "two whole years in his own hired house" (Acts 28:30). Doubtless it was during this period of imprisonment that Paul wrote his epistle to the Philippian church, as well as the letters to the Colossians, the Ephesians, and to Philemon. Rome is not mentioned in the Epistle to the Philippians but Paul's reference to Caesar's household (ch. 4:22) and his expectation of a speedy release (ch. 2:24) suggest Rome as the place of writing.

From the letter one gains considerable insight into the situation at Philippi, the condition of Paul, and the relation between the apostle and the Philippian believers. The church at Philippi was led by bishops and deacons (ch. 1:1). Its members were suffering persecution (v. 29). Apparently there had been some tendency to discord, especially between two of the women members (ch. 4:2), but there is no hint of moral corruption or erroneous doctrine. There is little to disturb the joy and thankfulness with which the apostle contemplates the Philippians' growth in grace. Their love for him is unchanged. They had sent Epaphroditus, one of their leaders, to convey their gifts and to minister to Paul in his affliction (ch. 2:25). Paul thought that he might be released soon, and expressed a hope of shortly seeing them again (chs. 1:26; 2:24). Later, he was freed and for a time worked among the churches he had helped to establish, possibly including the church at Philippi (see AA 487).

The immediate occasion for the writing of the letter was that Epaphroditus, who had been seriously ill during part of his stay with Paul in Rome, was now well enough to return home to Philippi (ch. 2:25-30). The church was eager to have Epaphroditus come to them, and Paul wished to take advantage of the opportunity to send a message thanking his friends for sending him gifts, telling them of his condition, and reminding them of his prayerful interest in them.

4. THEME

The Epistle to the Philippians is a letter from a friend to friends, a letter of spiritual counsel, written in acknowledgment of loving help. Paul tells the Philippian believers of his bonds, of the progress of the gospel at Rome, of the endeavors of certain adversaries to distress him by factious opposition, preaching Christ, as they did, out of envy and party spirit (ch. 1:12-17). He tells them of the inward peace and joy that bore him up in all his afflictions. He feels sure of their sympathy; he writes in the fullest confidence of Christian friendship. His joy is their joy. He tells them of the uncertainty of his future; he does not know how his trial will end, in death or in life. He is prepared for either event—holy life is blessed, a holy death also blessed (vs. 19-24). He tells them of his thankful acceptance of their gifts. He had been unwilling to receive aid from other churches, but with them he was on terms of the very closest intimacy, and that affectionate and trusting friendship made him ready to accept their help (ch. 4: 4-17). He valued it, not so much as an alleviation of his own hardships, but rather as an additional evidence of their love to him and of their growth in that charity which is the first of Christian graces. For himself, he was content. He had learned to be self-sufficient in the Christian sense: none felt his own weakness more than he, but he could do all things through the strength of Christ (vs. 10-13).

Thus the theme of the epistle is joy in Christ. Though it was written in prison, with Paul unaware of what lay ahead, the words "joy" and "rejoice" are used again and again. The phrase "in Christ" is used repeatedly, and when joined with the thought of joy, well expresses the theme of the

PHILIPPIANS

Introduction (1:1-11)

Salutation to the Philippians

- 1 Paul and Timotheus, the servants of Jesus Christ, to all the saints in Christ Jesus which are at Philippi, with the 'bishops and deacons:
- 2 Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ.

Thanksgiving for His Converts

- 3 I thank my God upon every remembrance of you.
- 4 Always in every prayer of mine for you all making request with joy.
- 5 For your fellowship in the gospel from the first day until now;
- 6 Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ:
- 7 Even as it is meet for me to think this of you all, because 'I have you in my heart; inasmuch as both in my bonds, and in the defence and confirmation of the gospel, ye all are 'partakers of my grace.
- 8 For God is my record, how greatly I long after you all in the bowels of Jesus Christ.

Prayer for Their Continued Growth

- 9 And this I pray, that your love may abound yet more and more in knowledge and in all judgment;
- 10 That ye may 'approve things that are excellent; that ye may be sincere and without offence till the day of Christ;

1:21 (Gal. 2:20; see EGW on Gal. 6:14; Rev. 3:1). What is a Christian?—When the apostle Paul, through the revelation of Christ, was converted from a persecutor to a Christian, he declared that he was as one born out of due time. Henceforward Christ was all and in all to him. "For to me to live is Christ," he declared. This is the most perfect interpretation in a few words, in all the Scriptures, of what it means to be a Christian. This is the whole truth of the gospel. Paul understood what many seem unable to comprehend. How intensely in earnest he was! His words show that his mind was centered in Christ, that his whole life was bound up with his Lord. Christ was the author, the support, and the source of his life (RH Oct. 19, 1897).

(2 Cor. 11:26, 27; Eph. 4:13.) Paul's Moral Stature.—Paul attained to the full moral stature of a man in Christ Jesus. By what a process was his soul developed! His life was a continual scene of hardship, conflict, and toil (2 Cor. 11:26, 27 quoted) (Letter 5, 1880).

2:5 (John 8:12; see EGW on Titus 2:10). Light for the Humble.—"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." If you strive in all humility to understand what is the mind of Christ, you will not be left in darkness. Jesus says, "He that followeth me shall not walk in darkness, but shall have the light of life" (YI Oct. 13, 1892).

2:5-8 (John 1:1-3, 14; Heb. 2:14-18; see EGW on Mark 16:6; Luke 22:44; John 10:17, 18; Rom. 5:12-19; 2 Cor. 8:9; 1 Tim. 2:5; Heb. 3:1-3). The Humble Circumstances of Christ's Life.—After Christ had condescended to leave his high command, step down from an infinite height and assume humanity. He could have taken upon Him any condition of humanity He might choose. But greatness and rank were nothing to Him, and He selected the lowest and most humble walk of life. The place of His birth was Bethlehem, and on one side His parentage was poor, but God, the owner of the world, was His Father.

Exhortation to Unity and Self-denial (1:27-2:16)

Need for Steadfast Fearlessness

- 27 Only let your conversation be as it becometh the gospel of Christ: that whether I come and see you, or else be absent, I may hear of your affairs, that ye stand fast in one spirit, with one mind striving together for the faith of the gospel;
- 28 And in nothing terrified by your adversaries: which is to them an evident token of perdition, but to you of salvation, and that of God.

Endurance of Suffering

- 29 For unto you it is given in the behalf of Christ, not only to believe on him, but also to suffer for his sake;
- 30 Having the same conflict which ye saw in me, and now hear to be in me.

Appeal for Christian Unity And Humility

- 2 If there be therefore any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any bowels and mercies,
- 2 Fulfil ye my joy, that ye be likeminded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind.
- 3 Let nothing be done through strife or vainglory; but in lowliness of mind let each esteem other better than themselves.
- 4 Look not every man on his own things, but every man also on the things of others.

Christ, the Supreme Pattern of Humility

Explanation of Paul's Plans for the Future (2:17-30)

His Plan to Send Timothy to Them

- 17 Yea, and if I be offered upon the sacrifice and service of your faith, I joy, and rejoice with you all.
- 18 For the same cause also do ye joy, and rejoice with me.
- 19 But I trust in the Lord Jesus to send Timotheus shortly unto you, that I also may be of good comfort, when I know your state.
- 20 For I have no man likeminded, who will naturally care for your state.
- 21 For all seek their own, not the things

No trace of luxury, ease, selfish gratification, or indulgence was brought into His life, which was a continual round of self-denial and self-sacrifice. In accordance with His humble birth, He had apparently no greatness or riches, in order that the humblest believer need not say Christ never knew the stress of pinching poverty. Had He possessed the semblance of outward show, of riches, of grandeur, the poorest class of humanity would have shunned His society; therefore He chose the lowly condition of the far greater number of the people (MS 9, 1896).

Faith Not to Rest on Evidences of Sight.—Before Christ left heaven and came into the world to die, He was taller than any of the angels. He was majestic and lovely. But when His ministry commenced, He was but little taller than the common size of men then living upon the earth. Had He come among men with His noble, heavenly form, His outward appearance would have attracted the minds of the people to Himself, and He would have been received without the exercise of faith. . . .

The faith of men in Christ as the Messiah was not to rest on the evidences of sight, and they believe on Him because of His personal attractions, but because of the excellence of character found in Him, which never had been found, neither could be, in another (2SP 39).

(Col. 2:9; Eph. 3:9; 1 Peter 1:11, 12.) The Mystery Into Which Angels Desire to Look.—In Christ dwelt all the fullness of the Godhead. But the only way in which He could reach men was to veil His glory by a garb of humanity. The angels beheld the hiding of His glory; that divinity might touch humanity. Christ ever retained the utmost hatred for sin, but He loved the purchase of His blood. He suffered in the place of sinful men, taking them into union with Himself.

This is the mystery into which angels desire to look. They desire to know how Christ could live and work in a fallen world, how He could mingle with sinful humanity. It which are Jesus Christ's.

22 But ye know the proof of him, that, as a son with the father, he hath served with me in the gospel.

23 Him therefore I hope to send presently, so soon as I shall see how it will go with me.

His Hope of Being Soon Released

24 But I trust in the Lord that I also myself shall come shortly.

The Illness and Recovery of Epaphroditus

25 Yet I supposed it necessary to send to you Epaphroditus, my brother, and companion in labour, and fellowsoldier, but your messenger, and he that ministered to my wants.

26 For he longed after you all, and was full of heaviness, because that ye had heard that he had been sick.

27 For indeed he was sick nigh unto death: but God had mercy on him; and not on him only, but on me also, lest I should have sorrow upon sorrow.

A Recommendation for Epaphroditus

28 I sent him therefore the more carefully, that, when ye see him again, ye may rejoice, and that I may be the less sorrowful.

29 Receive him therefore in the Lord with all gladness; and 'hold such in reputation:

30 Because for the work of Christ he was nigh unto death, not regarding his life, to supply your lack of service toward me.

Paul's Distrust of His Hebrew Background

4 Though I might also have confidence in the flesh. If any other man thinketh that he hath whereof he might trust in the flesh, I more;

5 Circumcised the eighth day, of the stock of Israel, of the tribe of Benjamin, an Hebrew of the Hebrews; as touching the law, a Pharisee;

6 Concerning zeal, persecuting the church; touching the righteousness which is in the law, blameless.

7 But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ.

Paul's Distrust of His Present Experience

8 Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ,

9 And be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith:

10 That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death;

11 If by any means I might attain unto the resurrection of the dead.

Necessity of Continual, Unified Progress

12 Not as though I had already attained, either were already perfect: but I follow after, if that I may apprehend that for which also I am apprehended of Christ Jesus.

13 Brethren, I count not myself to have apprehended: but this one thing I do, forgetting those things which are behind, and reaching forth unto those things which are before, 14 I press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.

15 Let us therefore, as many as be perfect, be thus minded: and if in any thing ye be otherwise minded, God shall reveal even was a mystery to them that He who hated sin with intense hatred felt the most tender, compassionate sympathy for the beings that committed sin (ST Jan. 20, 1898).

(Col. 1:26, 27.) An Unexplainable Blending.—Christ could have done nothing during His earthly ministry in saving fallen man if the divine had not been blended with the human. The limited capacity of man cannot define this wonderful mystery—the blending of the two natures, the divine and the human. It can never be explained. Man must wonder and be silent. And yet man is privileged to be a partaker of the divine nature, and in this way he can to some degree enter into the mystery (Letter 5, 1889).

The Most Marvelous Thing in Earth or Heaven.—When we want a deep problem to study, let us fix our minds on the most marvelous thing that ever took place in earth or heaven—the incarnation of the Son of God. God gave His Son to die for sinful human beings a death of ignominy and shame. He who was Commander in the heavenly courts laid aside His royal robe and kingly crown, and clothing His divinity with humanity, came to this world to stand at the head of the human race as the pattern-man. He humbled Himself to suffer with the race, to be afflicted in all their afflictions.

The whole world was His, but so completely did He empty Himself that during His ministry He declared, "Foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head" [Heb. 2:14-18 quoted] (MS 76, 1903).

Christ Above All Law.—The Son of God came voluntarily to accomplish the work of atonement. There was no obligatory yoke upon Him; for He was independent and above all law.

The angels, as God's intelligent messengers, were under the yoke of obligation; no personal sacrifice of theirs could atone for fallen man. Christ alone was free from the claims of the law to undertake the redemption of the sinful race.

The Blessed Hope

- 20 For our conversation is in heaven; from whence also we look for the Saviour, the Lord Jesus Christ:
21 Who shall change our vile body, that it may be fashioned like unto his glorious body, according to the working whereby he is able even to subdue all things unto himself.

- 10 But I rejoiced in the Lord greatly, that now at the last your care of me hath flourished again; wherein ye were also careful, but ye lacked opportunity.
11 Not that I speak in respect of want: for I have learned, in whatsoever state I am, therewith to be content.
12 I know both how to be abased, and I know how to abound: every where and in all things I am instructed both to be full and to be hungry, both to abound and to suffer need.
13 I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me.
14 Notwithstanding ye have well done, that ye did communicate with my affliction.
15 Now ye Philipians know also, that in the beginning of the gospel, when I departed from Macedonia, no church communicated with me as concerning giving and receiving, but ye only.
16 For even in Thessalonica ye sent once and again unto my necessity.
17 Not because I desire a gift: but I desire fruit that may abound to your account.
18 But I have all, and abound: I am full, having received of Epaphroditus the things which were sent from you, an

He had power to lay down His life and to take it up again. "Being in the form of God," He "thought it not robbery to be equal with God" (SW Sept. 4, 1906).

(Ex. 3:5.) Christ's Humanity a Golden Chain.—To redeem man, Christ became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross. The humanity of the Son of God is everything to us. It is the golden linked chain which binds our souls to Christ and through Christ to God. This is to be our study. Christ was a real man, and He gave proof of His humanity in becoming a man. And He was God in the flesh.

When we approach the subject of Christ's divinity clothed with the garb of humanity, we may appropriately heed the words spoken by Christ to Moses at the burning bush, "Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground." We must come to the study of this subject with the humility of a learner, with a contrite heart. And the study of the incarnation of Christ is a fruitful field, and will repay the searcher who digs deep for hidden truth (MS 67, 1898).

2:6 (John 1:1-3, 14; see EGW on John 1:1-3; Rev. 12:10). Equality Between Christ and the Father.—

Christ's position with His Father is one of equality. This enabled Him to become a sin-offering for transgressors. He was fully sufficient to magnify the law and make it honorable (MS 48, 1893).

3:8 (John 17:3; Col. 1:19; see EGW on Rev. 3:1). The Highest Science.—In Christ all fullness dwells. He teaches us to count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus our Lord. This knowledge is the highest science that any man can reach. It is the sum of all true science. "This is life eternal," Christ declared, "that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent" (MS 125, 1907).

3:8-10. Paul's Estimate of God's Grace.—[Phil. 4:8, 9 quoted.] The righteousness that before he [Paul] had thought worth so much was now worthless in his sight. His own righteousness was unrighteousness. The deep longing of his soul was, "That I may know him, and the power of his resurrection, and the fellowship of his sufferings, being made conformable unto his death."

He would know for himself the power of the Saviour's grace. He trusted in His power to save even him, who had persecuted the church of Christ. In his estimation no treasure could equal the value of the gift of the knowledge of Christ (MS 89, 1903).

3:13. This One Thing I Do.—Paul's calling demanded from him service of varied kinds—working with his hands to earn his living, traveling from place to place, establishing churches, writing letters to the churches already established. Yet in the midst of these varied labors, he declared, "This one thing I do."

One thing he kept steadfastly before him in all his work—to be faithful to Christ, who, when he was blaspheming His name and using every means in his power to make others blasphemous, it had revealed Himself to him. The one great purpose of his life was to serve and honor Him whose name had once filled him with contempt. His one desire was to win souls to the Saviour. Jew and Gentile might oppose and persecute him, but nothing could turn him from his purpose (Letter 107, 1904).

4:8. See EGW on Ps. 19:14.

4:18. See EGW on Acts 10:1-4.

4:19. Fully Filled by the Grace of Christ.—Like Aaron, who symbolized Christ, our Saviour bears the names of all His people on His heart in the holy place. Our great High Priest remembers all the words by which He has encouraged us to trust. He is ever mindful of His covenant.

All who seek of Him shall find. All who knock will have the door opened to them. The excuse will not be made, Trouble Me not; the door is closed; I do not wish to open it. Never will one be told, I cannot help you. Those who beg at midnight for loaves to feed the hungry souls will be successful.

In the parable, he who asks bread for the stranger, receives "as many as he needeth." And in what measure will God impart to us that we may impart to others? "According to the measure of the gift of Christ." Eph. 4:7. Angels are watching with intense interest to see how man is dealing with his fellow men. When they see one manifest Christlike sympathy for the erring, they press to his side and bring to his remembrance words to speak that will be as the bread of life to the soul. So "God shall supply all your need according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus." Phil. 4:19. Your testimony in its genuineness and reality He will make powerful in the power of the life to come. The word of the Lord will be in your mouth as truth and righteousness.

Personal effort for others should be preceded by much secret prayer; for it requires great wisdom to understand the science of saving souls. Before communicating with men, commune with Christ. At the throne of heavenly grace obtain a preparation for ministering to the people.

Let your heart break for the longing it has for God, for the living God. The life of Christ has shown what humanity can do by being partaker of the divine nature. All that Christ received from God we too may have. Then ask and receive. With the persevering faith of Jacob, with the unyielding persistence of Elijah, ask for yourself all that God has promised.

Let the glorious conceptions of God possess your mind. Let your life be knit by hidden links to the life of Jesus. He who commanded the light to shine out of darkness is willing to shine in your heart, to give the light of the knowledge of the glory of God in the face of Jesus Christ. The Holy Spirit will take the things of God and show them unto you, conveying them as a living power into the obedient heart. Christ will lead you to the threshold of the Infinite. You may behold the glory beyond the veil, and reveal to men the sufficiency of Him who ever liveth to make intercession for us (COL 148, 149).

mediators for men, brought them salvation, and merited their worship. At the same time these teachers insisted on an extremely legalistic ceremonialism, following the Jewish pattern, and emphasizing circumcision, taboos in matters of food and drink, and observance of festivals. Against such teachings Paul wrote the Colossian epistle.

The place of writing of this epistle was doubtless Rome and the time of writing about A.D. 62, during the time of Paul's first imprisonment.

4. THEME

In the Epistle to the Colossians, Paul expresses himself strongly against the heresy prevalent in that church.

In Galatians and elsewhere he rebuts Judaism solely, but here his target is hybrid. Not only is Paul concerned to refute Judaizing legalism, he also must contend with certain pagan elements that sought to degrade or eclipse the office of Christ. Therefore he attacks the idea of angelic intermediaries as agents of creation and mediation. He declares that Christ is Creator and Mediator exclusively (ch. 1:16, 20). Christ is the "head" of both material and spiritual things (chs. 1:18; 2:19). There exists in Him no dualism. The same Jesus is over all (ch. 1:18). He sustains all things (v. 17). He is God (v. 15). In Him the "fulness" dwells (v. 19). He needs no subsidiaries, or emanations. Paul asserts that in Christ are "all the treasures of wisdom and knowledge" (ch. 2:3). The consummate, saving mystery is not some esoteric knowledge concerning the various orders of angels (see on ch. 1:16), but "Christ in you, the hope of glory" (v. 27). Therefore he condemns the worship of angels, which the false teachers advocated, as a denial of Christ's perfection as sustainer and mediator (ch. 2:18, 19).

The apostle also deals with the moral results of these heresies. Too rigid asceticism and unbridled license are alike prohibited (chs. 2:16, 20, 21; 3:5, 8, 9). Both heresies claim sovereignty for the human will. This "will worship" is a false, or inverted, humility, and therefore reprehensible. All carnal indulgences (and the apostle's list is well-nigh exhaustive) are stringently condemned. Paul presents Christ as the Creator and Sustainer of the universe, the Head and Mediator and Emancipator of the church. In Christ, principle is substituted for ceremonial. Clearly, logically, vigorously, the apostle writes to his friends at Colossae, persuading them to turn from vain and vapid speculations to the reality of the gospel of Christ.

COLOSSIANS

Introduction (1:1-13)

Opening Salutation

- 1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, and Timothy our brother,
2 To the saints and faithful brethren in Christ which are at Colosse: Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Paul's Thankfulness for the Progress of the Colossians

- 3 We give thanks to God and the Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, praying always for you,
4 Since we heard of your faith in Christ Jesus, and of the love which ye have to all the saints,
5 For the hope which is laid up for you in heaven, whereof ye heard before in the word of the truth of the gospel;
6 Which is come unto you, as it is in all the world; and bringeth forth fruit, as it doth also in you, since the day ye heard of it, and knew the grace of God in truth:
7 As ye also learned of Epaphras our dear fellowservant, who is for you a faithful minister of Christ;
8 Who also declared unto us your love in the Spirit.

Prayer for Future Advancement in Knowledge and Good Works

- 9 For this cause we also, since the day we heard it, do not cease to pray for you, and to desire that ye might be filled with the knowledge of his will in all wisdom and spiritual understanding;
10 That ye might walk worthy of the Lord unto all pleasing, being fruitful in every good work, and increasing in the knowledge of God;
11 Strengthened with all might, according to his glorious power, unto all patience and longsuffering with joyfulness:

Thanksgiving for the Blessings of God

Doctrinal Section (1:14-2:3)

The Pre-eminence of Christ

- 14 In whom we have redemption through his blood, even the forgiveness of sins:
15 Who is the image of the invisible God, the firstborn of every creature:
16 For by him were all things created, that are in heaven, and that are in earth, visible and invisible, whether they be thrones, or dominions, or principalities, or powers: all things were created by him, and for him:
17 And he is before all things, and by him all things consist.
18 And he is the head of the body, the church: who is the beginning, the firstborn from the dead; that in all things he might have the preeminence.
19 For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell:

The Work of Christ

- 20 And, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven.
21 And you, that were sometime alienated and enemies in your mind by wicked works, yet now hath he reconciled
22 In the body of his flesh through death, to present you holy and unblameable and unproveable in his sight:

The Ministry of Christ's Undershepherd, Paul

- 23 If ye continue in the faith grounded and settled, and be not moved away from the hope of the gospel, which ye have heard, and which was preached to every creature which is under heaven; whereof I Paul am made a minister;

Instruction of Highest Value.—The manifestation of real goodness is the bearing of fruit in good works. This bears the endorsement of heaven. Read the first chapter of Paul's Epistle to the Colossians. The instruction it contains is of the highest value. The religion of Christ makes all who possess it truly benevolent. It countenances no littleness, no mean transactions. True Christians have a nobility which allows none of the cheap, covetous actions that are a disgrace to the doer of them (Letter 58, 1900).

What Our Churches Should Be.—The first and second chapters of Colossians have been presented to me as an expression of what our churches in every part of the world should be (Letter 161, 1903).

1:9-11. God's Will May Be Known.—[Col. 1:9-11 quoted.] How complete this prayer is! There is no limit to the blessings that it is our privilege to receive. We may be "filled with the knowledge of his will." The Holy Ghost would never have inspired Paul to offer this prayer in behalf of his brethren, if it had not been possible for them to receive an answer from God in accordance with the request. Since this is so, we know that God's will is manifested to this people as they need a clearer understanding of His will (Letter 179, 1902).

Warning Against Error

No man can ever truly excel in knowledge and influence unless he is connected with the God of wisdom and power. All the philosophies of human nature have led to confusion and shame when God has not been recognized as all in all.

The most profound intellects of the world, when not enlightened by God's Word, become bewildered and lost while trying to investigate the matters of science and revelation. The Creator and His works are beyond finite comprehension, and men conclude that because they cannot explain the works and ways of God from natural causes, the Bible history is not reliable. Many are so intent upon excluding God from the exercise of sovereign will and power in the established order of the universe, that they denigrate man, the noblest of His creatures. The theories and speculations of philosophy would make us believe that man has come by slow degrees, not merely from a savage state, but from the very lowest form of the brute creation. They destroy man's dignity because they will not admit God's miraculous power.

God has illuminated human intellects, and poured a flood of light on the world through discoveries in art and science. But those who view these from a merely human standpoint will most assuredly come to wrong conclusions. The thorns of error, skepticism, and infidelity are disguised by being covered with the garments of philosophy and science. Satan has devised this ingenious manner of winning souls away from the living God, away from the truth and religion. He exalts nature above nature's Creator (MS 4, 1882).

Beware of Human Sophistries.—The natural stubbornness of the human heart resists the light of truth. Its natural pride of opinion leads to independence of judgment and a clinging to human ideas and philosophy. There is with some a constant danger of becoming unsettled in the faith by the desire for originality. They wish to find

True Christlikeness Developed by the Christian Believer

- 12 Put on therefore, as the elect of God, holy and beloved, bowels of mercies, kindness, humbleness of mind, meekness, longsuffering;
13 Forbearing one another, and forgiving one another, if any man have a "quarrel against any: even as Christ forgave you, so also do ye.
14 And above all these things put on charity, which is the bond of perfectness.
15 And let the peace of God rule in your hearts, to the which also ye are called in one body; and be ye thankful.
16 Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord.
17 And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him.

Duties of Social Relationships: Of Wives and Husbands

- 18 Wives, submit yourselves unto your own husbands, as it is fit in the Lord.
19 Husbands, love your wives, and be not bitter against them.

Of Children and Parents

- 20 Children, obey your parents in all things: for this is well pleasing unto the Lord.
21 Fathers, provoke not your children to anger, lest they be discouraged.

Of Slaves and Masters

- 22 Servants, obey in all things your masters according to the flesh; not with eyeservice, as menpleasers; but in singleness of heart, fearing God:
23 And whatsoever ye do, do it heartily, as to the Lord, and not unto men;
24 Knowing that of the Lord ye shall receive the reward of the inheritance: for ye serve the Lord Christ.
25 But he that doeth wrong shall receive for the wrong which he hath done: and there is no respect of persons.

some new and strange truth to present, to have a new message to bring to the people; but such a desire is a snare of the enemy to captivate the mind and lead away from the truth.

In our experience we shall see one and another start up with new theories in regard to what is truth, and, irrespective of what the influence of the advocacy of such theories may be on the mind of the hearers, they will launch out into the work of advocating their ideas, even though these teachings may be in opposition to the belief that has called out Seventh-day Adventists from the world, and made them what they are. The Lord would have those who understand the reasons for their faith rest in their belief of that which they have been convinced is truth, and not be turned from the faith by the presentation of human sophistries. . . . [Col. 2:8 quoted] (RII Aug. 19, 1909).

Falsehood Mingled With Truth.—As we near the end of time, falsehood will be so mingled with truth, that only those who have the guidance of the Holy Spirit will be able to distinguish truth from error. We need to make every effort to keep the way of the Lord. We must in no case turn from His guidance to put our trust in man. The Lord's angels are appointed to keep strict watch over those who put their faith in the Lord, and these angels are to be our special help in every time of need. Every day we are to come to the Lord with full assurance of faith, and to look to Him for wisdom. . . . Those who are guided by the Word of the Lord will discern with certainty between falsehood and truth, between sin and righteousness (MS C5, 1907).

General Instruction

- 2 Continue in prayer, and watch in the same with thanksgiving;
- 3 Withal praying also for us, that God would open unto us a door of utterance, to speak the mystery of Christ, for which I am also in bonds;
- 4 That I may make it manifest, as I ought to speak.
- 5 Walk in wisdom toward them that are without, redeeming the time.
- 6 Let your speech be alway with grace, seasoned with salt, that ye may know how ye ought to answer every man.

purchased the church with His own blood. The Majesty of heaven was made to suffer at the hands of religious zealots, who claimed to be the most enlightened people upon the face of the earth (MS 153, 1898).

(Heb. 1:3.) A Perfect Specimen of Sinless Humanity.—In Christ is gathered all the glory of the Father. In Him is all the fullness of the Godhead bodily. He is the brightness of the Father's glory, and the express image of His person. The glory of the attributes of God are expressed in His character. The gospel is glorious because it is made up of His righteousness. It is Christ unfolded, and Christ is the gospel embodied. Every page of the New Testament Scriptures shines with His light. Every text is a diamond, touched and irradiated by the divine rays.

We are not to praise the gospel, but praise Christ. We are not to worship the gospel, but the Lord of gospel. Christ is a perfect representation of God on the one hand, and a perfect specimen of sinless humanity on the other hand. Thus He has combined divinity and humanity (MS 41, 1898).

2:9, 10 (John 1:16; Heb. 4:15). Dwelling Upon Christ's Character.—In Christ dwell the fullness of the Godhead bodily. This is why, although He was tempted in all points like as we are, He stood before the world, from His first entrance into it, untainted by corruption, though surrounded by it. Are we not also to become partakers of that fullness, and is it not thus, and thus only, that we can overcome as He overcame?

We lose much by not dwelling constantly upon the character of Christ (MS 16, 1890).

2:10 (Zech. 3:1-5; Phil. 3:9; see EGW on Matt. 22:37-39; Heb. 2:17; 9:24). The Robe of Christ's Perfection.—Through His sacrifice, human beings may reach the high ideal set before them, and hear at last the words, "Ye are complete in him," not having your own righteousness, but the righteousness that He wrought out for you. Your imperfection is no longer seen; for you are clothed with the robe of Christ's perfection (MS 125, 1902).

2:14. See EGW on Matt. 27:51.

2:14-17. See EGW on Acts 15:1, 5; Eph. 2:14-16.

3:1. See EGW on Rom. 6:1-4.

3:2. See EGW on 2 Cor. 4:18.

3:3 (see EGW on Gal. 2:20). Rising Above the Fog of Doubt.—The soul that loves God, rises above the fog of doubt; he gains a bright, broad, deep, living experience, and becomes meek and Christlike. His soul is committed to God, hid with Christ in God. He will be able to stand the test of neglect, of abuse and contempt, because his Saviour has suffered all this. He will not become fretful and discouraged when difficulties press him, because Jesus did not fail or become discouraged. Every true Christian will be strong, not in the strength and merit of his good works, but in the righteousness of Christ, which through faith is imputed unto him. It is a great thing to be meek and lowly in heart, to be pure and undefiled, as was the Prince of heaven when He walked among men (RII Dec. 3, 1889).

(Eph. 6:16.) Shielded From the Darts of the Enemy.—When self is hid in Jesus, we are shielded from the darts of the enemy (Letter 16a, 1895).

3:5. See EGW on 1 Cor. 9:24-27.

3:8. See EGW on Heb. 12:1.

3:10. See EGW on Rom. 8:29; 2 Cor. 3:18; 10:5; Heb. 1:3.

3:20, 21. See EGW on Eph. 6:4.

3:23. See EGW on Mark 12:30.

4:6 (Titus 2:8). Powers of Speech Sanctified.—As you arose from the watery grave at the time of your baptism, you professed to be dead, and declared that your life was changed—hid with Christ in God. You claimed to be dead to sin, and cleansed from your hereditary and cultivated traits of evil. In going forward in the rite of baptism, you pledged yourselves before God to remain dead to sin. Your mouth was to remain a sanctified mouth, your tongue a converted tongue. You were to speak of God's goodness, and to praise His holy name. Thus you were to be a great help and blessing to the church (MS 95, 1906).

The First Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the THESSALONIANS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the earliest Greek manuscripts the title of this epistle is simply, Pros Thessalonikeis A ("To [the] Thessalonians I"). The considerably lengthened title in the KJV, "The First Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonians," is the result of later elaboration.

2. AUTHORSHIP

The epistle purports to be from Paul, Silvanus (Silas), and Timotheus (Timothy) (ch. 1:1). However, it is basically the work of Paul (see chs. 3:1, 2, 6, 7; 5:27). It is included among Paul's letters in the earliest list of NT books, the Muratorian Canon (A.D. 170). The early church writers, Irenaeus (c. A.D. 130-c. 202), Clement of Alexandria (died c. 220), and Tertullian (c. A.D. 160-C. 240), considered Paul to be its author. The personality and style of the apostle Paul pervade the epistles. His love for his converts and the burden he bears for their spiritual welfare are manifest throughout. The emphasis upon the great spiritual qualities of faith, love, and hope is distinctly Pauline (cf. 1 Cor. 13:13). Scholars today are in general agreement that Paul was the author of the epistle.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

Thessalonica was an important city, and the capital of the second division of Macedonia (see on Acts 17:1). It was situated at the head of the Thermaic Gulf, now known as the Gulf of Salonika. The Egnatian Road, which connected the East with Rome, passed through it. The favorable location and excellent harbor of Thessalonica combined to make it of great commercial importance. Possibly for this reason it possessed a large Jewish settlement and a synagogue (Acts 17:1). The city, now called Salonika, is one of the most important commercial centers of northern Greece. In addition, it is of archeological interest, for the triumphal arch that crossed the former Via Egnatia still stands as a reminder of the glory and power of ancient Rome.

Paul's first contact with Thessalonica was on his Second Missionary Journey, immediately after his departure from Philippi (Acts 16:40; 17:1). Since it was his method of evangelism to preach in the important cities first, and thus to make them centers for the spread of the gospel to the surrounding towns and villages, he and his companions made their way from Philippi directly to Thessalonica, no stopping to preach in the towns of Amphipolis and Apollonia (see on Acts 17:1). Knowing that he must reach the Jews at Thessalonica first, if at all, Paul went to the synagogue on three successive Sabbaths and presented the great truths of the gospel to his fellow countrymen. His recent disgraceful treatment at Philippi had not intimidated him, and in the power of the Holy Spirit he presented the Messianic prophecies of the OT, and showed their fulfillment in Jesus. Some of his Jewish hearers believed (Acts 17:4). Many more of the "devout Greeks" (see on Acts 17:4) accepted his message. Among the believers at Thessalonica there were also "of the chief women not a few" (Acts 17:4).

It seems probable that the missionaries continued their work for more than the three weeks here indicated, for Paul tells of having worked night and day to support himself while he preached the gospel to them (see 1 Thess. 2:9), and in his letter to the Philippians he refers to the gifts they sent while he was at Thessalonica (see on Phil. 4:16). His successful ministry soon aroused the fierce opposition of the Jews, which fomented strife and caused Paul to leave the city (Acts 17:5, 6). After the initial three Sabbaths spent in the synagogue, it seems that Paul continued his preaching in the house of Jason (Acts 17:7). He appears to have been particularly successful with the Greeks, for the church at Thessalonica seems to have been largely Gentile in composition (see on 1 Thess. 1:9; 4:5).

Mob violence, stirred up by the Jews, brought Paul's preaching to the attention of the Roman authorities, but the charge that the apostle was guilty of treason in presenting the doctrine of Christ's coming kingdom was not accepted by the magistrates. That Paul and his companions were not officially expelled from Thessalonica and debarred from returning, is evident from the fact that the apostle found it necessary to explain to the church why he had not returned (ch. 2:17, 18), and from the fact that Timothy did return (ch. 3: 2). However, the Christians there seem to have thought it best for Paul and his associates to leave the city temporarily. The evangelists made their way to Berea, a city some distance to the south-west. Here again Paul preached in the synagogue, and among these Scripture-loving Jews he had much greater success. The news of his fresh activity soon reached the Jews of Thessalonica and spurred them to immediate action. They hastened to Berea and again stirred up the rabble against the missionaries (Acts 17:10-13). Paul was sent away to Athens by friends, but his companions remained in Macedonia. The apostle was most anxious for their help in Athens, and awaited them there (Acts 17:16). Timothy seems later to have joined him at Athens, and was then sent back by Paul to Thessalonica to encourage the new believers and bring back word of their condition (see 1 Thess. 3:1, 2, 6). It appears that Silas remained in Macedonia, for when Timothy returned to Greece, Silas accompanied him, and they both joined Paul at Corinth, where he had gone after a short stay in Athens (Acts 18:1, 5).

Upon receiving Timothy's report the apostle wrote his first letter to the Thessalonians. Manuscripts going back to the 5th century state at the end of this epistle that it was written from Athens. This supposition is probably drawn from ch. 3:1, 2. However, from ch. 3:6 it seems clear that 1 Thessalonians was not written until after Timothy's return from Macedonia, and according to Acts 18:1, 5, Paul was then at Corinth. Consequently it seems best to conclude that 1 Thessalonians was written there. This epistle is generally considered to be the first of Paul's letters that has been preserved, and, with the possible exception of the epistle of James, it was probably the first book of the New Testament to be written.

4. THEME

A radiant glow of ardent love permeates this epistle (cf. chs. 1:2-4; 2:7, 8; 3:6, 7). The apostle is most thankful for Timothy's report of the faithfulness of the Thessalonians and of their tender regard for him. He hastens to commend them for their noble qualities of faith, love, and hope. He is most anxious to visit them, for he had not had sufficient time while he was with them to instruct them fully in the truths of the gospel.

Certain problems, too, must have been reported by Timothy. Some at Thessalonica were grieving over loved ones who had died since receiving the gospel message, fearing that these loved ones could have no part in the glorious resurrection at the Lord's return. Some were fanatical in regard to the second advent, holding that they should not work, but await the Lord's coming in idle expectancy. Some were slipping back into the world, and were in danger of being lost in immorality. Others were inclined to independence, not willing to recognize the duly appointed leaders of the church. The "unruly," the "feeble-minded," and the "weak" all needed help (ch. 5:14). Had it been possible, the apostle would have hastened to give personal instruction to these beloved believers. More than once he tried to return, but Satan hindered him (ch. 2:18), and on this account he had to content himself by writing the church a letter.

The theme of the resultant epistle is practical godliness in view of Christ's return. The glorious advent of the Lord is the most prominent doctrine presented (chs. 1:10; 2:19; 3:13; 4:13-18; 5:23). Other doctrines mentioned are the death and resurrection of Christ (ch. 4:14), the resurrection of the righteous dead (vs. 13-16), future rewards and punishments (chs. 4:17; 5:3), the personal existence and active working of Satan (ch. 2:18), the doctrine of redemption, including election and sanctification (chs. 1:4; 4:3-7).

1 THESSALONIANS

Salutation

- 1 Paul, and Silvanus, and Timotheus, unto the church of the Thessalonians which is in God the Father and in the Lord Jesus Christ: Grace be unto you, and peace, from God our Father, and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Review of Ministry to, and Relations With, the Thessalonians (1:2-3:13)

Thankfulness for the Members' Faithful Witness: Gratitude for Their Record

- 2 We give thanks to God always for you all, making mention of you in our prayers;
3 Remembering without ceasing your work of faith, and labour of love, and patience of hope in our Lord Jesus Christ, in the sight of God and our Father;
4 Knowing, brethren 'beloved, your election of God.

Review of Their Fruitful Acceptance of the Gospel

- 5 For our gospel came not unto you in word only, but also in power, and in the Holy Ghost, and in much assurance; as ye know what manner of men we were among you for your sake.
6 And ye became followers of us, and of the Lord, having received the word in much affliction, with joy of the Holy Ghost:
7 So that ye were ensamples to all that believe in Macedonia and Achaia.
8 For from you sounded out the word of the Lord not only in Macedonia and Achaia, but also in every place your faith to God-ward is spread abroad: so that we need not to speak any thing.
9 For they themselves shew of us what manner of entering in we had unto you, and how ye turned to God from idols to serve the living and true God;
10 And to wait for his Son from heaven, whom he raised from the dead, even Jesus, which delivered us from the wrath to come.

Paul's Review of His Ministry in Thessalonica

- 2 For yourselves, brethren, know our entrance in unto you, that it was not in vain:
2 But even after that we had suffered before, and were shamefully entreated, as ye know, at Philippi, we were bold in our God to speak unto you the gospel of God with much contention.
3 For our exhortation was not of deceit, nor of uncleanness, nor in guile:
4 But as we were allowed of God to be put in trust with the gospel, even so we speak: not as pleasing men, but God, which trieth our hearts.
5 For neither at any time used we flattering words, as ye know, nor a cloak of covetousness: God is witness:
6 Nor of men sought we glory, neither of you, nor yet of others, when we might have 'been burdensome, as the apostles of Christ.
7 But we were gentle among you, even as a nurse cherisheth her children:
8 So being affectionately desirous of you, we were willing to have imparted unto you, not the gospel of God only, but also our own souls, because ye were dear unto us.
9 For ye remember, brethren, our labour and travail: for labouring night and day, because we would not be chargeable unto any of you, we preached unto you the gospel of God.
10 Ye are witnesses, and God also, how holily and justly and unblameably we behaved ourselves among you that believe:
11 As ye know how we exhorted and comforted and charged every one of you, as a father doth his children.
12 That ye would walk worthy of God, who hath called you unto his kingdom and glory.
13 For this cause also thank we God without ceasing, because, when ye received the word of God which ye heard of us, ye received it not as the word of men, but as it is in truth, the word of God, which effectually worketh also in you that believe.

It is the fulfillment of the covenant God has made with those who bind themselves up with Him, to stand with Him, His Son, and His Spirit in holy fellowship. Have you been born again? Have you become a new being in Christ Jesus? Then cooperate with the three great powers of heaven who are working in your behalf (MS 11, 1901).

Evidences of Sanctification.—True sanctification will be evidenced by a conscientious regard for all the commandments of God, by a careful improvement of every talent, by a circumspect conversation, by revealing in every act the meekness of Christ (RH Oct. 5, 1886).

(1 John 2:3, 4.) The True Sign of Sanctification.

Those who dishonor God by transgressing His law may talk sanctification, but it is of that value, and just as acceptable, as was the offering of Cam. Obedience to all the commandments of God is the only true sign of sanctification. Disobedience is the sign of disloyalty and apostasy (MS 41, 1897).

(Rom. 3:24-28.) Holiness Within the Reach of All.—God has chosen men from eternity to be holy. "This is the will of God, even your sanctification." God's law tolerates no sin, but demands perfect obedience. The echo of God's voice comes to us, ever saying, Holier, holier still. And ever our answer is to be, Yes, Lord, holier still. Holiness is within the reach of all who reach for it by faith, not because of their good works, but because of Christ's merits. Divine power is provided for every soul struggling for the victory over sin and Satan.

14 For ye, brethren, became followers of the churches of God which in Judaea are in Christ Jesus: for ye also have suffered like things of your own countrymen, even as they have of the Jews:

15 Who both killed the Lord Jesus, and their own prophets, and have persecuted us; and they please not God, and are contrary to all men:

16 Forbidding us to speak to the Gentiles that they might be saved, to fill up their sins alway: for the wrath is come upon them to the uttermost.

Paul's Endeavors to Revisit His Converts

17 But we, brethren, being taken from you for a short time in presence, not in heart, endeavoured the more abundantly to see your face with great desire.

18 Wherefore we would have come unto you, even I Paul, once and again; but Satan hindered us.

19 For what is our hope, or joy, or crown of rejoicing? Are not even ye in the presence of our Lord Jesus Christ at his coming?

20 For ye are our glory and joy.

Timothy Sent in Paul's Stead: Purpose of Timothy's Visit

3 Wherefore when we could no longer forbear, we thought it good to be left at Athens alone;

2 And sent Timotheus, our brother, and minister of God, and our fellowlabourer in the gospel of Christ, to establish you, and to comfort you concerning your faith:

3 That no man should be moved by these afflictions: for yourselves know that we are appointed thereunto.

4 For verily, when we were with you, we told you before that we should suffer tribulation: even as it came to pass, and ye know.

5 For this cause, when I could no longer forbear, I sent to know your faith, lest by some means the tempter have tempted you, and our labour be in vain.

Paul's Joy Over the Report

7 Therefore, brethren, we were comforted over you in all our affliction and distress by your faith:

8 For now we live, if ye stand fast in the Lord.

Paul's Prayer for His Converts

12 And the Lord make you to increase and abound in love one toward another, and toward all men, even as we do toward you:

13 To the end he may stablish your hearts unblameable in holiness before God, even our Father, at the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ with all his saints.

Instructions and Exhortations (1:1-5:28)

Introduction

4 Furthermore then we beseech you, brethren, and exhort you by the Lord Jesus, that as ye have received of us how ye ought to walk and to please God, so ye would abound more and more.

2 For ye know what commandments we gave you by the Lord Jesus.

True Bodily Sanctification

3 For this is the will of God, even your sanctification, that ye should abstain from fornication:

4 That every one of you should know how to possess his vessel in sanctification and honour;

1Th

Justification means the saving of a soul from perdition, that he may obtain sanctification, and through sanctification, the life of heaven. Justification means that the conscience, purged from dead works, is placed where it can receive the blessings of sanctification (MS 113, 1902).

Sanctification and Communion.—Sanctification means habitual communion with God (RH March 15, 1906).

4:7. See EGW on Rom. 6:19, 22.

4:13, 14. Errors Regarding Christ's Coming.—There was still another reason for Paul's communication to these brethren. Some who were newly brought into the faith had fallen into errors in regard to those who had died since their conversion. They had hoped that all would witness the second coming of Christ; but they were in great sorrow as one after another of the believers fell under the power of death, making it impossible for them to behold that desirable event—the coming of Christ in the clouds of heaven.

Some, who had fallen into the error that Christ was to come in their day, imbibed the fanatical idea that it was praiseworthy to show their faith by giving up all business, and resigning themselves to idle waiting for the great event which they thought was near (LP 110).

4:16 (see EGW on Matt. 28:2-4). The Last Trump.—When Christ comes to gather to Himself those who have been faithful, the last trump will sound, and the whole earth, from the summits of the loftiest mountains to the lowest recesses of the deepest mines, will hear. The righteous dead will hear the sound of the last trump, and will come forth from their graves, to be clothed with immortality, and to meet their Lord (SpT Series B, No. 2, p. 24).

4:16, 17. See EGW on Isa. 26:19; 1 Cor. 15:51-55; Rev. 1:7.

5:17. See EGW on Prov. 4:23.

5:19-21. See EGW on 1 John 4:1.

5:23 (ch. 4:3; John 17:17). The Whole Man to Be

- 5 Not in the lust of concupiscence, even as the Gentiles which know not God:
 6 That no man go beyond and 'defraud his brother in any matter: because that the Lord is the avenger of all such, as we also have forewarned you and testified.
 7 For God hath not called us unto uncleanness, but unto holiness.
 8 He therefore that 'despiseth, despiseth not man, but God, who hath also given unto us his holy Spirit.

The Thessalonians' Brotherly Love

- 9 But as touching brotherly love ye need not that I write unto you: for ye yourselves are taught of God to love one another.

Admonitions to Quiet Industry

- 10 And indeed ye do it toward all the brethren which are in all Macedonia: but ye beseech you, brethren, that ye increase more and more;
 11 And that ye study to be quiet, and to do your own business, and to work with your own hands, as we commanded you;
 12 That ye may walk honestly toward them that are without, and that ye may have lack of nothing.

*The Christian Dead and the Resurrection:
The Glorious Hope of the Resurrection*

- 13 But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope.
 14 For if we believe that Jesus died and rose again, even so them also which sleep in Jesus will God bring with him.

The Circumstances of the Resurrection

- 15 For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep.
 16 For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first:

Believers to Comfort One Another with These Assurances

- 18 Wherefore 'comfort one another with these words.

*The Uncertainty of the Time of Christ's Coming:
The Sudden Coming of the Day of the Lord*

- 5 But of the times and the seasons, brethren, ye have no need that I write unto you.

- 2 For yourselves know perfectly that the day of the Lord so cometh as a thief in the night.

- 3 For when they shall say, Peace and safety: then sudden destruction cometh upon them, as travail upon a woman with child: and they shall not escape.

Believers to Be Ever Prepared

- 4 But ye, brethren, are not in darkness, that that day should overtake you as a thief.

- 5 Ye are all the children of light, and the children of the day: we are not of the night, nor of darkness.

- 6 Therefore let us not sleep, as do others: but let us watch and be sober.

- 7 For they that sleep sleep in the night: and they that be drunken are drunken in the night.

- 8 But let us, who are of the day, be sober, putting on the breastplate of faith and love; and for an helmet, the hope of salvation.

- 9 For God hath not appointed us to wrath, but to obtain salvation by our Lord Jesus Christ,

- 10 Who died for us, that, whether we wake or sleep, we should live together with him.

- 11 Wherefore 'comfort yourselves together, and edify one another, even as also ye do.

Closing Admonitions: Respect the Lord's Servants

- 12 And we beseech you, brethren, to know them which labour among you, and Sanctified.—The truth must sanctify the whole man—his mind, his thoughts, his heart, his strength. His vital powers will not be consumed upon his own lustful practices. These must be overcome, or they will overcome him (Letter 108, 1898).

Clearing Away the Miasma of Sin.—Sanctification—how many understand its full meaning? The mind is befogged by sensual malaria. The thoughts need purifying. What might not men and women have been had they realized that the treatment of the body has everything to do with the vigor and purity of mind and heart.

The true Christian obtains an experience which brings holiness. He is without a spot of guilt upon the conscience, or a taint of corruption upon the soul. The spirituality of the law of God, with its limiting principles, is brought into his life. The light of truth irradiates his understanding. A glow of perfect love for the Redeemer clears away the miasma which has interposed between his soul and God.

The will of God has become his will, pure, elevated, refined, and sanctified. His countenance reveals the light of heaven. His body is a fit temple for the Holy Spirit. Holiness adorns his character. God can commune with him: for soul and body are in harmony with God (Letter 139, 1898).

His by Creation and Redemption.—God would have us realize that He has a right to mind, soul, body, and spirit—to all that we possess. We are His by creation and by redemption. As our Creator, He claims our entire service. As our Redeemer, He has a claim of love as well as of right—of love without a parallel. This claim we should realize every moment of our existence. Before believers and unbelievers we must constantly recognize our dependence upon God. Our bodies, our souls, our lives, are His, not only because they are His free gift, but because He constantly supplies us with His benefits, and gives us strength to use our faculties. By returning to Him His own, are over you in the Lord, and admonish you;

- 13 And to esteem them very highly in love for their work's sake. And be at peace among yourselves.

Preserve Peace in the Church

- 14 Now we exhort you, brethren, warn them that are 'unruly, comfort the feeble-minded, support the weak, be patient toward all men.

- 15 See that none render evil for evil unto any man; but ever follow that which is good, both among yourselves, and to all men.

Encouragement to Rejoice, Pray, and Give Thanks

- 16 Rejoice evermore.

- 17 Pray without ceasing.

- 18 In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you.

Desire Spiritual Gifts

- 19 Quench not the Spirit.

Closing Prayers and Requests:

Prayer for Complete Sanctification

- 23 And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly; and I pray God your whole spirit and soul and body be preserved blameless unto the coming of our Lord Jesus Christ.

- 24 Faithful is he that calleth you, who also will do it.

Requests and Greeting

- 26 Greet all the brethren with an holy kiss.

- 27 I charge you by the Lord that this epistle be read unto all the holy brethren.

Benediction

- 28 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you. Amen.

by willingly laboring for Him, we show that we recognize our dependence upon Him (RH Nov. 21, 1896).

Jesus asks us to consecrate ourselves to Him. He has placed signal honor upon the human race; for He says, "As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." Shall we not, then, give to Christ that which He has died to redeem? If you will do this, He will quicken your conscience, renew your heart, sanctify your affections, purify your thoughts, and set all your powers at work for Him. Every motive and every thought will be brought into captivity to Jesus Christ.

Those who are sons of God will represent Christ in character. Their works will be perfumed by the infinite tenderness, compassion, love, and purity of the Son of God. And the more completely mind and body are yielded to the Holy Spirit, the greater will be the fragrance of our offering to Him (RH Nov. 24, 1896).

The Second Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the THESSALONIANS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the earliest extant Greek manuscripts the title of this epistle is simply, Pros Thessalonikeis B ("To [the] Thessalonians II"). The considerably lengthened title in the KJV, The Second Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the Thessalonians, is the result of later elaboration.

2. AUTHORSHIP

Until recent times the Pauline authorship of the epistle has not been seriously questioned. The character of Paul is reflected throughout the epistle. The author's tender regard for his converts (ch. 2:13-17), his commendation of their virtues (chs. 1:3-5; 3:4), the extreme care he uses in pointing out weaknesses, and yet the strong, authoritative nature of his commands (ch. 3:6, 12), all give evidence that the author was Paul. Not until the early part of the 19th century was serious question raised over the Pauline authorship of the section dealing with the "man of sin." It was urged that there is nothing else of such an apocalyptic nature in Paul's other epistles. This fact, however, does not make unreasonable the long-held view that Paul wrote the epistle. Although he nowhere else deals so directly with the apocalyptic, the fact that he did have visions (Acts 22:17-21; 2 Cor. 12:2-4) makes it understandable that he could have written such an apocalyptic passage. The author's treatment of this prophecy, with the earnest solicitude that God's people should not be deceived with respect to the time of the Lord's coming, but be ready for that great event, is definitely Pauline.

The genuineness of the epistle is sustained by strong evidence. Besides being named in the earliest extant lists of the NT canon, the second epistle is referred to or quoted by the same early church writers as is the first epistle. In addition, it seems to have been known by Polycarp (c. A.D. 150; Epistle of Polycarp to the Philippians 11); and Justin Martyr (c. A.D. 150; Dialogue With Trypho 32; 110) mentions the "man of sin," as if making reference to Paul's prophecy in 2 Thess. 2:3.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

That the time and place of writing of the second epistle are the same as for the first is evident from the fact that the same three apostles are associated together (see 1 Thess. 1:1; 2 Thess. 1:1). Paul remained at Corinth only a year and a half on his Second Missionary Tour (see Acts 18:11), and there is no evidence that Silas was associated with him later. The second letter must have been written not more than a few months after the first; consequently their historical backgrounds are in general the same. Probably the messenger who bore the first epistle returned and brought information to Paul that there was a feverish, fanatical spirit of unrest spreading among the members at Thessalonica owing to a feeling that the Lord's advent was about to take place. This condition demanded immediate attention. Any delay would be fatal to the best interests of the church, for among these humble Christians were fainthearted ones who were in grave danger of falling a prey to the deceptions of agitators.

4. THEME

In view of the problems at Thessalonica that prompted this letter, one of its first objectives was to assure the humble Christians of that church of their acceptance with the Lord. He insists that he must thank God for the victories won. He notes their advance in the Christian virtues of faith (2 Thess. 1:3), brotherly love (2 Thess. 1:3; cf. 1 Thess. 4:9, 10), and steadfastness under persecution (2 Thess. 1:4).

Since the second letter says nothing further in regard to the manner of Christ's coming and the resurrection of the righteous dead, the first letter must have succeeded in enlightening the church concerning these matters. In accomplishing this, however, the apostle had emphasized the necessity of being prepared for the great day of the Lord's return, of daily living with the second coming of Christ constantly in view (1 Thess. 5:1-11; cf. Titus 2:11-13). This emphasis upon the second advent seems to have been understood by many as indicating that Paul expected Christ's return almost immediately (see 2 Thess. 2:2). That such was not his meaning he now hastens to explain, reminding his readers that he had taught them in person that the apostasy, followed by the appearance of the antichrist, must first take place (see vs. 2, 3, 5). Paul appeals directly to the unruly idlers, who apparently claimed that work was unnecessary in view of the imminent advent. He had already warned them in his first epistle (1 Thess. 4:11; 5:14), and now he commands and admonishes them in the Lord (2 Thess. 3:12). He urges that the church take disciplinary measures against them, with the objective of reforming them (vs. 14, 15).

Thus the theme of the second epistle, as that of the first, is practical godliness (ch. 1:11, 12). The fainthearted must be comforted and established (ch. 2:17); the agitators must be silenced (ch. 3:12). The church must know of the deceptive work of the great adversary in bringing about the apostasy and the reign of the antichrist, and also of the final overthrow of all the power of Satan (ch. 2:3-12). With the glorious hope of the triumph of God's cause before them, the Thessalonian Christians are urged so to live that they may be accounted worthy of the Lord's calling (ch. 1:11, 12).

2:1-4 (see EGW on 1 John 2:18). The Man of Sin and the Second Advent.—In the days of the apostle Paul, the Thessalonian brethren were laboring under the erroneous impression that the Lord would return in their day, and Paul wrote to correct this false impression, stating what events must transpire before the advent could take place. He declared: "Let no man deceive you by any means: for that day shall not come, except there come a falling away first, and that man of sin be revealed, the son of perdition; who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped; so that he as God sitteth in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God."

The man of sin was to arise, and do his work of exaltation and blasphemy, before the brethren could look for the coming of Christ. That great event was to be preceded by a falling away. There would be revealed a form of Antichrist, and the heaven of apostasy was to work with increasing power to the end of time (RH July 31, 1888).

2:3, 4 (Matt. 5:17, 18; see EGW on 1 Tim. 2:5; Rev. 13:11-17; 14:8, 9-12; 18:1-5). The Representative of Satan.—There is one pointed out in prophecy as the man of sin. He is the representative of Satan. Taking the suggestions of Satan concerning the law of God, which is as unchangeable as His throne, this man of sin comes in and represents to the world that he has changed that law; and that the first day of the week instead of the seventh is now the Sabbath. Professing infallibility, he claims the right to change the law of God to suit his own purposes. By so doing, he exalts himself above God, and leaves the world to infer that God is fallible. If it were indeed true that God had made a rule of government that needed to be changed, it would certainly show fallibility.

But Christ declared that not one jot or tittle of the law should fail until heaven and earth should pass away. The very work that He came to do was to exalt that law, and show to the created worlds and to heaven that God is just.

- 7 For the mystery of iniquity doth already work: only he who now letteth will let, until he be taken out of the way.

The Revelation, Destiny, and Working of the Wicked One

- 8 And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming:
9 Even him, whose coming is after the working of Satan with all power and signs and lying wonders,
10 And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish; because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved.

The Deluding and Damning of Those Who Accept the Wicked One

- 11 And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie:
12 That they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness.

Thanksgiving, Admonition, and Prayer (2:15-17)

Admonition to Stand Fast and Hold the Truths Taught

- 15 Therefore, brethren, stand fast, and hold the traditions which ye have been taught, whether by word, or our epistle.

Prayer for Comfort and Stability

17 Comfort your hearts, and stablish you in every good word and work.

Final Requests, Admonitions, and Commands (3:1-15)

Requests for Prayer on Behalf of the Apostles

- 3 Finally, brethren, pray for us, that the word of the Lord 'may have free course, and be glorified, even as it is with you:
2 And that we may be delivered from 'unreasonable and wicked men: for all men have not faith.

Paul's Confidence and Petition Concerning the Thessalonians

- 3 But the Lord is faithful, who shall stablish and that His law need not be changed. But here is Satan's right-hand man ready to carry on the work that Satan commenced in heaven, that of trying to amend the law of God. And the Christian world has sanctioned his efforts by adopting this child of the Papacy—the Sunday institution. They have nourished it, and will continue to nourish it, until Protestantism shall give the hand of fellowship to the Roman power.

Then there will be a law against the Sabbath of God's creation, and then it is that God will do His "strange work" in the earth. He has borne long with the perversity of the race; He has tried to win them to Himself. But the time will come when they shall have filled their measure of iniquity; and then it is that God will work. This time is almost reached. God keeps a record with the nations: the figures are swelling against them in the books of heaven; and when it shall have become a law that the transgression of the first day of the week shall be met with punishment, then their cup will be full (RH March 9, 1886).

The Man of Sin and the Rival Sabbath.—The man of sin has exalted himself against God, sitting in the temple of God, and showing himself to be God. He has trampled underfoot God's great memorial of creation, established to commemorate His work; and in its stead he has presented to the world a common working day. This day he has set up as a rival Sabbath, to be observed and honored. Thus the world has been turned against God; for the Lord declares that He has sanctified the day of His rest.

But though every member of the human family should accept this child of the Papacy, in no case would this invalidate the holy Sabbath of Jehovah. Those who accept the false sabbath exalt the man of sin, and assail the government of God. But the man of sin cannot annul what God has declared shall stand fast forever. The work now to be done in our world is to exalt the law of the Lord, and call the attention of the people to it. The time has come when the truth is to be proclaimed against falsehood and error

God's Estimate of the Papal Power.—By their treatment of His Word the popes have exalted themselves above the God of heaven. This is the reason that in prophecy the papal power is specified as the "man of sin." Satan is the originator of sin. The power that he causes to alter any one of God's holy precepts, is the man of sin. Under Satan's special direction the papal power has done this very work.

Although those standing at the head of the Papacy claim to have great love for God, He looks upon them as haters of Him. They have turned the truth of God into a lie. Tampering with God's commandments and placing in their stead human traditions, is the work of Satan, and will divorce the religious world from God; for He declares, "I the Lord thy God am a jealous God, visiting the iniquity of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generation of them that hate me." God will fulfill this word (MS 126, 1901).

2:7-12 (see EGW on Matt. 7:21-23; Rev. 14:9-12; 17:1-5). Satan's Miracles "Right in your Sight."—The time is coming when Satan will work miracles right in your sight, claiming that he is Christ; and if your feet are not firmly established upon the truth of God, then you will be led away from your foundation. The only safety for you is to search for truth as for hid treasures. Dig for the truth as you would for treasures in the earth, and present the word of God, the Bible, before your Heavenly Father and say, "Enlighten me; teach me what is truth. . . . You should store the mind with the word of God; for you may be separated, and placed where you will not have the privilege of meeting with the children of God (RH April 3, 1888).

(2 Cor. 11:14; James 5:13-16; Rev. 13:13, 14.) Miracle-working Deceptions of Satan.—None need be deceived. The law of God is as sacred as His throne, and by it every man who cometh into the world is to be judged. There is no other standard by which to test char-

- you, and keep you from evil.
- 4 And we have confidence in the Lord touching you, that ye both do and will do the things which we command you.
- 5 And the Lord direct your hearts into the love of God, and into the patient waiting for Christ.

Command to Withdraw from the Disorderly

- 6 Now we command you, brethren, in the name of our Lord Jesus Christ, that ye withdraw yourselves from every brother that walketh disorderly, and not after the tradition which he received of us.

The Apostles' Personal Example

- 7 For yourselves know how ye ought to follow us: for we behaved not ourselves disorderly among you:
- 8 Neither did we eat any man's bread for naught; but wrought with labour and travail night and day, that we might not be chargeable to any of you:
- 9 Not because we have not power, but to make ourselves an ensample unto you to follow us.

Previous Command Concerning Idleness

- 10 For even when we were with you, this we commanded you, that if any would not work, neither should he eat.

Benediction

- 18 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

acter. "If they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them." Now, shall the case be decided according to the Word of God, or shall man's pretensions be credited?

Says Christ, "By their fruits ye shall know them." If those through whom cures are performed, are disposed, on account of these manifestations, to excuse their neglect of the law of God and continue in disobedience, though they have power to any and every extent, it does not follow that they have the great power of God. On the contrary, it is the miracle-working power of the great deceiver. He is a transgressor of the moral law, and employs every device that he can master to blind men to its true character. We are warned that in the last days he will work with signs and lying wonders. And he will continue these wonders until the close of probation, that he may point to them as evidence that he is an angel of light and not of darkness (RIJ Nov. 17, 1885).

(Heb. 12:26, 27; Rev. 12:11; 14:5.) Ordeal of the Sifting Time.—Satan will work his miracles to deceive; he will set up his power as supreme. The church may appear as about to fall, but it does not fall. It remains, while the sinners in Zion will be sifted out—the chaff separated from the precious wheat. This is a terrible ordeal, but nevertheless it must take place. None but those who have been overcoming by the blood of the Lamb and the word of their testimony will be found with the loyal and true, without spot or stain of sin, without guile in their mouths. . . . The remnant that purify their souls by obeying the truth gather strength from the trying process, exhibiting the beauty of holiness amid the surrounding apostasy (Letter 55, 1886).

3:8. See EGW on Acts 18:1-3; 20:17-35.

3:10. Complete Dedication of Paul.—If any man will not work, neither shall he eat, applies to the spiritual, religious life as well as to earthly, temporal things.

Paul not only endured the taxation of the physical powers in common labor without one feeling of either belittling or degrading himself, and without discontent; but he bore the burden while at the same time exerting the activities of his mind to advance and attain in spiritual knowledge. He taught, and he practiced the lessons he taught. He had repeated visions from God, and from the light given he knew every man must be a worker with brain and muscle and sinew. This faithful disciple of Christ, and apostle of Jesus Christ, was dedicated without reserve to the service of God (Letter 2, 1889).

3:10, 14, 15 (Rom. 12:11). Idleness a Sin.—The apostle in his day considered idleness a sin, and those who indulge this evil today disgrace their profession. They will criticize the faithful worker, and bring reproach upon the gospel of Christ. Those who would believe, they turn from the way of truth and righteousness.

We should be warned not to associate with those who by their course of action lay a stumbling block in the way of others. "If any man obey not our word by this epistle," the apostle says, "note that man, and have no company with him, that he may be ashamed. Yet count him not as an enemy, but admonish him as a brother." If he refuses the admonition of the Lord's servants, and follows his own will and judgment under the inspiration of his leader, Satan, he will bring ruin upon himself, and must bear his own sin.

The custom of supporting men and women in idleness by private gifts or church money encourages them in sinful habits, and this course should be conscientiously avoided. Every man, woman, and child should be educated to do practical, useful work. All should learn some trade. It may be tentmaking, or it may be business in other lines; but all should be educated to use the members of their body to some purpose, and God is ready and willing to increase the adaptability of all who will educate themselves to industrious habits.

If a man in good physical health has property, and has no need of entering into employment for his own support, he should labor to acquire means that he may advance the cause and work of God. He is to be "not slothful in business; fervent in spirit; serving the Lord." God will bless all who will guard their influence in regard to others in this respect (MS 93, 1899).

The First Epistle of Paul the Apostle to TIMOTHY

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the earliest Greek manuscripts the title of this book is simply Pros Timotheon A ("to Timothy I"). Later elaboration has expanded the title to the form found in the KJV.

2. AUTHORSHIP

This epistle identifies Paul as its author (ch. 1:1).

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

The circumstances of the writing of I Timothy can be ascertained only by inference from incidental remarks in the epistle.

4. THEME

This epistle was written to Timothy while he was pastor of the Ephesian church, and is composed primarily of instructions addressed to him as a leader of the church. Accordingly it is classified as a pastoral epistle. In it Paul admonishes Timothy to conduct himself in a manner pleasing to God and helpful to the flock over which God has placed him, and delivers to him a solemn charge to preach the Word and to defend its teachings. This epistle reflects a rather fully developed plan for church organization and administration. The emphasis upon doctrine in I Timothy and the other pastoral epistles (see 1 Tim. 4:6, 13, 16; 2 Tim. 3:14-17; 4:1-4; Titus 1:9; 2:1, 7) is illustrated by the fact that of the 21 times the Greek word for doctrine (didaskalia) is found in the NT, 15 appear in 1 and 2 Timothy and Titus.

Though Paul seems to have felt himself closer to Timothy than to his other associates (see Phil. 2:19, 20), the inference may be drawn from this epistle that Timothy was a man of mild temperament and not so aggressive as Paul might have wished. Accordingly the apostle encourages his younger companion in the ministry to more vigorous leadership. The close relationship between Paul and Timothy accounts for the free, frank manner in which the apostle expresses his desires, admonitions, and purposes to the pastor of Ephesus, and doubtless explains the consequent lack of systematic order. The epistle was apparently written, point by point, as successive aspects of ministerial activity came to the apostle's mind.

1 TIMOTHY

Salutation

- 1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the commandment of God our Saviour, and Lord Jesus Christ, which is our hope;
- 2 Unto Timothy, my own son in the faith: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God our Father and Jesus Christ our Lord.

The Charge to Rebuke Teachers of Perverted Doctrine (1:3-20)

Perverted Use of Law Produces Strife

- 3 As I besought thee to abide still at Ephesus, when I went into Macedonia, that thou mightest charge some that they teach no other doctrine,
- 4 Neither give heed to fables and endless genealogies, which minister questions, rather than godly edifying which is in faith: so do.

Proper Use of Law Develops Character

- 5 Now the end of the commandment is charity out of a pure heart, and of a good conscience, and of faith unfeigned:
- 6 From which some having swerved have turned aside unto vain jangling;
- 7 Desiring to be teachers of the law; understanding neither what they say, nor whereof they affirm.
- 8 But we know that the law is good, if a man use it lawfully;
- 9 Knowing this, that the law is not made for a righteous man, but for the lawless and disobedient, for the ungodly and for sinners, for unholy and profane, for murderers of fathers and murderers of mothers, for manslayers,
- 10 For whoremongers, for them that defile themselves with mankind, for men-stealers, for liars, for perjured persons, and if there be any other thing that is contrary to sound doctrine;
- 11 According to the glorious gospel of the blessed God, which was committed to my trust.

Paul's Life Confirms Power of Proper Use of Law

1:15. See EGW on 2 Cor. 12:1-4.

1:19, 20. The Enemies of Paul.—These men had departed from the faith of the gospel, and furthermore had done despite to the Spirit of grace by attributing to the power of Satan the wonderful revelations made to Paul. Having rejected the truth, they were filled with hatred against it, and sought to destroy its faithful advocate (LP 305).

2:5 (John 1:1-3, 14; Phil. 2:5-8; Heb. 2:14-18; see EGW on Acts 15:11). Acting in God's Stead.—Adam and Eve were given a probation in which to return to their allegiance; and in this plan of benevolence all their posterity were embraced. After the Fall, Christ became Adam's instructor. He acted in God's stead toward humanity, saving the race from immediate death. He took upon Him the work of mediator between God and man. In the fullness of time He was to be revealed in human form. He was

1 or, not aiming at

- 12 And I thank Christ Jesus our Lord, who hath enabled me, for that he counted me faithful, putting me into the ministry;
- 13 Who was before a blasphemer, and a persecutor, and injurious; but I obtained mercy, because I did it ignorantly in unbelief.
- 14 And the grace of our Lord was exceeding abundant with faith and love which is in Christ Jesus.
- 15 This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief.
- 16 Howbeit for this cause I obtained mercy, that in me first Jesus Christ might shew forth all longsuffering, for a pattern to them which should hereafter believe on him to life everlasting.
- 17 Now unto the King eternal, immortal, invisible, the only wise God, be honour and glory for ever and ever. Amen.

Timothy Challenged to Competent Leadership

- 18 This charge I commit unto thee, son Timothy, according to the prophecies which went before on thee, that thou by them mightest war a good warfare:
- 19 Holding faith, and a good conscience; which some having put away concerning faith have made shipwreck:
- 20 Of whom is Hymenaeus and Alexander, whom I have delivered unto Satan, that they may learn not to blaspheme.

The Universality of Christian Worship (2:1-15)

Prayers for All Men

- 2 I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men:
- 2 For kings, and for all that are in authority; that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty.
- 3 For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; to take His position at the head of humanity by taking the nature but not the sinfulness of man (ST May 29, 1901).

(Acts 4:12; Heb. 7:25; 9:22; 1 John 1:7-9.) Faith in the Blood of Christ.—God is approached through Jesus Christ, the Mediator, the only way through which He forgives sins. God cannot forgive sins at the expense of His justice, His holiness, and His truth. But He does forgive sins and that fully. There are no sins He will not forgive in and through the Lord Jesus Christ. This is the sinner's only hope, and if he rests here in sincere faith, he is sure of pardon and that full and free. There is only one channel and that is accessible to all, and through that channel a rich and abundant forgiveness awaits the penitent, contrite soul and the darkest sins are forgiven.

These lessons were taught to the chosen people of God thousands of years ago, and repeated in various symbols and figures, that the work of truth might be riveted in every heart, that without the shedding of blood there is no remission of sins. The great lesson embodied in the sacrifice of every bleeding victim, impressed in every ceremony, inculcated by God Himself, was that through the blood of Christ alone is forgiveness of sins; yet how many carry the galling yoke and how few feel the force of this truth and act upon it personally, and derive the blessings they might receive through a perfect faith in the blood of the Lamb of God.

Justice demanded the sufferings of man; but Christ rendered the sufferings of a God. He needed no atonement of suffering for Himself; all His sufferings were for us; all His merits and holiness were open to fallen man, presented as a gift (Letter 12, 1892).

(Matt. 11:27; John 14:9; 17:19-26; 2 Thess. 2:3, 4; Heb. 8:1; 9:11-14; 24:13-12; 1 John 2:1) Christ the One True Mediator.—Our great High Priest completed the sacrificial offering of Himself when He suffered without the gate. Then a perfect atonement was made for the sins of the people; Jesus is our Advocate, our High Priest, our Intercessor. Our present position therefore is like that of the Israelites, standing in the outer court, waiting and looking for that blessed hope, the glorious appearing of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. . . . Type met antitype in the death of Christ, the Lamb slain for the sins of the world. The great High Priest has made the only sacrifice that will be of any value.

The incense that is offered now by men, the masses that are said for the deliverance of souls from purgatory, are not of the least avail with God. All the altars and sacrifices, the traditions and inventions whereby men hope to earn salvation are fallacies. No sacrifices are to be offered without; for the great High Priest is performing His work in the holy place. No prince or monarch dare venture within the holy enclosure.

In His intercession as our Advocate Christ needs no man's virtue, no man's intercession. Christ is the only sin-bearer, the only sin-offering. Prayer and confession are to be offered only to Him who has entered once for all into the holy place. Christ has declared, "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." He will save to the uttermost all who come to Him in faith. He ever liveth to make intercession for us. This makes of no avail the offering of mass, one of the falsehoods of Romanism.

The so-called intercession of the saints is the greatest falsehood that can be invented. Priests and rulers have no right to interpose between Christ and the souls for whom He has died, as though invested with the Saviour's attributes, and able to pardon transgression and sin. They themselves are sinners. They are only human. One day they will see that their deceptive doctrines have led to crimes of every stripe and type, to adultery, robbery, falsehood. They are responsible for many terrible wrongs which men have perpetrated upon their fellow men.

For all this the Judge of the whole earth will call them to account at His bar. The case of every soul that has been imprisoned, every human being that has been tortured, has been noted. The recording angel has sustained the martyrs who would not worship idols, or allow their minds and consciences to become the instruments of men who were instigated by Satan to perform wicked deeds. These things are done under the rule of the man of sin, who has placed himself as God, sitting in the temple of God, and taking upon himself the prerogatives of God, that he may carry out his own schemes.

The mightiest human being, whatever may be his claim, is not infinite. He cannot understand infinity. Christ plainly stated, "No man knoweth the Son, but the Father." A teacher was once endeavoring to present the exaltation of God, when a voice was heard, saying, "We cannot as yet understand who He is." The teacher nobly replied, "Were I able fully to set forth God, I should either be a god myself, or God Himself would cease to be God."

"It is written in the prophets, And they shall be all taught of God. Every man therefore that hath heard, and hath learned of the Father, cometh unto me"—not through confessionals or priests or popes, but through Me, your Saviour. "Not that any man hath seen the Father, save he which is of God, he hath seen the Father. Verily, verily, I say unto you, He that believeth on me hath everlasting life." This is the absolute Godhead. The mightiest created intellect cannot comprehend Him; words from the most eloquent tongue fail to describe Him. Silence is eloquence.

Christ represented His Father to the world, and He represents before God the chosen ones in whom He has restored the moral image of God. They are His heritage. To them He says, "He that hath seen me hath seen the Father." "No man knoweth . . . the Father, save the Son, and he to whomsoever the Son will reveal him." No priest, no religionist, can reveal the Father to any son or daughter of Adam.

Men have only one Advocate, one Intercessor, who is able to pardon transgression. Shall not our hearts swell with gratitude to Him who gave Jesus to be the propitiation for our sins? Think deeply upon the love the Father has manifested in our behalf, the love that He has expressed for us. We cannot measure this love. Measurement there is none. We can only point to Calvary, to the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. It is an infinite sacrifice. Can we comprehend and measure infinity? . . .

Here we see the great Intercessor presenting His petition to His Father. No middle man comes between the sinner and Christ. No dead prophet, no buried saint is seen. Christ Himself is our Advocate. All that the Father is to His Son, He is to those whom His Son in His humanity represented. In every line of His work Christ acted as a representative of the Father. He lived as our substitute and surety. He labored as He would have His followers labor, unselfishly appreciating the value of every human being for whom He suffered and died (MS 128, 1897).

Twice a Representative.—Christ is the representative of God to man and the representative of man to God. He came to this world as man's substitute and surety, and He is fully able to save all who repent and return to their allegiance. Because of His righteousness, He is able to place man on vantage ground. Christ our Passover has been sacrificed for us. He gave His precious, innocent life to save guilty human beings from eternal ruin, that through faith in Him they might stand guiltless before the throne of God (MS 29, 1899).

(John 10:30) Why Only One Mediator.—Jesus alone could give security to God; for He was equal to God. He alone could be a mediator between God and man; for He possessed divinity and humanity (RH April 3, 1894).

(Rom. 8:34.) A Golden Chain Fastened to God's Throne.—The intercession of Christ is as a golden chain fastened to the throne of God. He has turned the merit of His sacrifice into prayer. Jesus prays, and by prayer succeeds (MS 8, 1892).

2:7 (Isa. 52:8). The Truth as It Is in Jesus.—If we teach the truth according to our own ways, we shall see that there will not always be perfect harmony as there should be. But if we teach the truth as it is in Jesus, we shall teach it in the spirit of the true Educator; and we will not have various opinions, and cling to our own ideas with tenacity, but we will see eye to eye. And while we thus teach, believing that Jesus will help us to present the truth as it is in Him, then we may expect His help, and we will have it (RH May 10, 1887).

2:9, 10. See EGW on Num. 15:38, 39; 1 Peter 3:3, 4.

3:1-13 (John 10:11-15). Carefulness in Selecting Church Leaders.—May the Lord impress upon the minds and hearts of all connected with the sacred work of God, the importance of ascertaining whether those who are to minister as deacons and elders are suitable men to be entrusted with the flock of God. Jesus calls Himself the "Good Shepherd." He does this in contrast with those who occupy positions of trust in connection with the church, but who have no right to these places, because they put a wrong mold upon the work. What is natural will appear.

Compare the Good Shepherd, who gave His life for His sheep, with those who are filled with self-esteem, puffed up, dictatorial, loving to rule in the church. The prophets have specified Christ's attributes. They foretold Him as a gentle Shepherd, who would carry the lambs in His bosom.

Salvation for All Men

- 4 Who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth.
- 5 For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus;
- 6 Who gave himself a ransom for all, ^{to be testified in due time.}
- 7 Whereunto I am ordained a preacher, and an apostle. (I speak the truth in Christ, and lie not;) a teacher of the Gentiles in faith and verity.

Worship Procedure for All Men

- 8 I will therefore that men pray every where, lifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting.
- 9 In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; not with ^{broided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array;}
- 10 But (which becometh women professing godliness) with good works.
- 11 Let the woman learn in silence with all subjection.
- 12 But I suffer not a woman to teach, nor to usurp authority over the man, but to be in silence.
- 13 For Adam was first formed, then Eve.
- 14 And Adam was not deceived, but the woman being deceived was in the transgression.
- 15 Notwithstanding she shall be saved in childbearing, if they continue in faith and charity and holiness with sobriety.

Prerequisites for Christian Leaders (3:1-13)The Character of Bishops

- 3 This is a true saying, If a man desire the office of a bishop, he desireth a good work.
- 2 A bishop then must be blameless, the husband of one wife, vigilant, sober, ^{of good behaviour, given to hospitality, apt to teach;}
- 3 ^{Not given to wine, no striker, not greedy of filthy lucre; but patient, not a brawler, not covetous;}
- 4 One that ruleth well his own house, having his children in subjection with all

- 6 Not ^{a novice,} lest being lifted up with pride he fall into the condemnation of the devil.
- 7 Moreover he must have a good report of them which are without; lest he fall into reproach and the snare of the devil.

The Character of Deacons

- 8 Likewise must the deacons be grave, not doubletongued, not given to much wine, not greedy of filthy lucre;
- 9 Holding the mystery of the faith in a pure conscience.
- 10 And let these also first be proved; then let them use the office of a deacon, being found blameless.
- 11 Even so must their wives be grave, not slanderers, sober, faithful in all things.
- 12 Let the deacons be the husbands of one wife, ruling their children and their own houses well.
- 13 For they that have ^{used the office of a deacon well} purchase to themselves a good degree, and great boldness in the faith which is in Christ Jesus.

The Christian Message (3:14-15)The Essential Message of Christianity

- 14 These things write I unto thee, hoping to come unto thee shortly:
- 15 But if I tarry long, that thou mayest know how thou oughtest to behave thyself in the house of God, which is the church of the living God, the pillar and ^{ground of the truth.}
- 16 And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was ^{manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory.}

The Counterfeit Message Within Christianity

- 4 Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils;

There are others pointed out by prophecy, who have accepted the position of leaders and religious instructors, whom the Word of God rebukes for their neglect, in their ignorance, to do the work which they should have been doing in their places of responsibility (MS 176, 1898).

3:16 (Col. 1:26, 27; Rom. 16:25; see EGW on John 1:1-3, 14; 2 Tim. 3:16). Beyond the Ken of Man.—Great is the mystery of godliness. There are mysteries in the life of Christ that are to be believed, even though they cannot be explained. The finite mind cannot fathom the mystery of godliness (Letter 65, 1905).

(1 Peter 1:11, 12.) The Incarnation a Painful Process.—The work of redemption is called a mystery, and it is indeed the mystery by which everlasting righteousness is brought to all who believe. The race in consequence of sin was at enmity with God, Christ, at an infinite cost, by a painful process, mysterious to angels as well as to men, assumed humanity. Hiding His divinity, laying aside His glory. He was born a babe in Bethlehem. In human flesh He lived the law of God, that He might condemn sin in the flesh, and bear witness to heavenly intelligences that the law was ordained to life and to ensure the happiness, peace, and eternal good of all who obey. But the same infinite sacrifice that is life to those who believe is a testimony of condemnation to the disobedient, speaking death and not life (MS 29, 1899).

4:12 (2 Tim. 3:14, 15). The Humble Dependence of Timothy.—In the history of Timothy are found precious lessons. He was a mere lad when chosen by God as a teacher; but so fixed were his principles by a correct education that he was fitted for this important position. He bore his responsibilities with Christlike meekness. He was faithful, steadfast, and true, and Paul selected him to be his companion in labor and travel. Lest Timothy should meet

Practical Suggestions for a More Earnest Ministry (4:6-16)

Study on Sound Doctrine

- 6 If thou put the brethren in remembrance of these things, thou shalt be a good minister of Jesus Christ, nourished up in the words of faith and of good doctrine, whereunto thou hast attained.

Avoid Speculations

- 7 But refuse profane and old wives' fables, and exercise thyself rather unto godliness.

Be An Example in Godliness

- 8 For bodily exercise profiteth little: but godliness is profitable unto all things, having promise of the life that now is, and of that which is to come.
 9 This is a faithful saying and worthy of all acceptance.
 10 For therefore we both labour and suffer reproach, because we trust in the living God, who is the Saviour of all men, specially of those that believe.
 11 These things command and teach.
 12 Let no man despise thy youth; but be thou an example of the believers, in word, in conversation, in charity, in spirit, in faith, in purity.
 13 Till I come, give attendance to reading, to exhortation, to doctrine.
 14 Neglect not the gift that is in thee, which was given thee by prophecy, with the laying on of the hands of the presbytery.
 15 Meditate upon these things; give thyself wholly to them: that thy profiting may appear to all.
 16 Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine; continue in them: for in doing

The Minister as Church Administrator (5:1-6:19)

His Relation to Old and Young Members

- 5 Rebuke not an elder, but entreat him as a father; and the younger men as brethren;
 2 The elder women as mothers; the younger as sisters, with all purity.

His Relation to the Widows

- 3 Honour widows that are widows indeed.
 4 But if any widow have children or nephews, let them learn first to shew piety at home, and to requite their parents: for that is good and acceptable before God.
 5 Now she that is a widow indeed, and desolate, trusteth in God, and continueth in supplications and prayers night and day.
 6 But she that liveth in pleasure is dead while she liveth.
 7 And these things give in charge, that they may be blameless.
 8 But if any provide not for his own, and specially for those of his own house, he hath denied the faith, and is worse than an infidel.
 9 Let not a widow be taken into the number under threescore years old, having been the wife of one man,
 10 Well reported of for good works; if she have brought up children, if she have lodged strangers, if she have washed the saints' feet, if she have relieved the afflicted, if she have diligently followed every good work.
 11 But the younger widows refuse: for when they have begun to wax wanton against Christ, they will marry;
 12 Having damnation, because they have cast off their first faith.
 13 And withal they learn to be idle, wandering about from house to house; and not only idle, but tattlers also and busybodies, speaking things which they ought not.
 14 I will therefore that the younger women marry, bear children, guide the house, with slights because of his youthfulness, Paul wrote to him, "Let no man despise thy youth." He could safely do this, because Timothy was not self-sufficient, but continually sought guidance.

There are many youth who move from impulse rather than from judgment. But Timothy inquired at every step, "Is this the way of the Lord?" He had no specially brilliant talents, but he consecrated all his abilities to the service of God, and this made his work valuable. The Lord found in him a mind that He could mold and fashion for the indwelling of the Holy Spirit.

God will use the youth today as He used Timothy, if they will submit to His guidance. It is your privilege to be God's missionaries. He calls upon you to work for your companions. Seek out those you know to be in danger, and in the love of Christ try to help them. How are they to know the Savior unless they see His virtues in His followers (YI Feb. 13, 1902)?

4:13-16 (2 Tim. 2:1-3, 7, 15). Intellectual Power Not Enough.—[1 Tim. 4:13-16 quoted.] The charge given to Timothy should be heeded in every household, and become an educating power in every family and in every school. . . . (2 Tim. 2:1-3, 7, 15 quoted.)

The highest aim of our youth should not be to strain after something novel. There was none of this in the mind and work of Timothy. They should bear in mind that, in the hands of the enemy of all good, knowledge alone may be a power to destroy them. It was a very intellectual being, one who occupied a high position among the angelic throng, that finally became a rebel; and many a mind of superior intellectual attainments is now being led captive by his power (YI May 5, 1898).

4:16. "Take Heed Unto Thyself."—"Take heed unto thyself, and unto the doctrine." Thyself needs the first attention. First give yourself to the Lord for sanctification to His service. A godly example will tell more for the truth give none occasion to the adversary ^{to} speak reproachfully.

- 15 For some are already turned aside after Satan.
- 16 If any man or woman that believeth have widows, let them relieve them, and let not the church be charged; that it may relieve them that are widows indeed.

His Relation to the Elected Elders

- 17 Let the elders that rule well be counted worthy of double honour, especially they who labour in the word and doctrine.
- 18 For the scripture saith, Thou shalt not muzzle the ox that treadeth out the corn. And, The labourer is worthy of his reward.
- 19 Against an elder receive not an accusation, but ^{before} two or three witnesses.
- 20 Them that sin rebuke before all, that others also may fear.
- 21 I charge ^{thee} before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, and the elect angels, that thou observe these things ^{without} preferring one before another, doing nothing by partiality.
- 22 Lay hands suddenly on no man, neither be partaker of other men's sins: keep thyself pure.
- 23 Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities.
- 24 Some men's sins are open beforehand, going before to judgment; and some ^{men} they follow after.
- 25 Likewise also the good works of ^{some} are manifest beforehand; and they that are otherwise cannot be hid.

His Instruction Concerning Christian Slaves

- 6 Let as many servants as are under the yoke count their own masters worthy of all honour, that the name of God and his doctrine be not blasphemed.
- 2 And they that have believing masters, let them not despise ^{them}, because they are brethren; but rather do ^{them} service, because they are ^{faithful} and beloved, partakers of the benefit. These things teach and exhort.

His Relation to Teachers of False Doctrine

All true science is in harmony with His works; all true education leads to obedience to His government. Science opens new wonders to our view; she soars high and explores new depths; but she brings nothing from her research that conflicts with divine revelation. Ignorance may seek to support false views of God by appeals to science; but the book of nature and the written Word do not disagree; each sheds light on the other. Rightly understood, they make us acquainted with God and His character by teaching us something of the wise and beneficent laws through which He works (ST March 20, 1884).

His Relation to the Christian Rich

Paul's Final Charge to Timothy

Sophistry of False Science.—We need to guard continually against the sophistry in regard to geology and other branches of science falsely so-called, which have not one semblance of truth. The theories of great men need to be carefully sifted of the slightest trace of infidel suggestions. One tiny seed sown by teachers in our schools, if received by the students, will raise a harvest of unbelief. The Lord has given all the brilliancy of intellect that man possesses, and it should be devoted to His service (RH March 1, 1898).

The Second Epistle of Paul the Apostle to TIMOTHY

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the earliest Greek manuscripts the title of this book is simply Pras Timotheon B ("To Timothy II"). The title as found in the KJV is the result of later elaboration.

2. AUTHORSHIP

As the opening lines of 2 Timothy indicate, this epistle comes from the hand of the apostle Paul, now imprisoned at Rome for the second time.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

This is Paul's last epistle, written from prison at a time when he expected soon to die (ch 4:6). Inferences from this letter, as well as from the other pastoral epistles, when compared with the narrative in the Acts, suggest that after a period of missionary activity following his first Roman imprisonment, Paul had again been arrested and returned to Rome. It is known that after the great fire at Rome in A.D. 64, Nero persecuted the Christians bitterly to divert the suspicions of the people that he himself had burned the city. It is not unreasonable to think of Paul's second arrest, perhaps two years later, as a result of this persecution. Peter was also taken into custody about this time and may have been in Rome during at least part of the time of Paul's imprisonment (see AA 537).

At the time Paul wrote 2 Timothy he had already stood trial (ch 4:17), but apparently had not yet been sentenced to die, although he surmised that such would be the outcome. He was now alone, save for Luke, "the beloved physician" (Col 4:14; 2 Tim 4:11). Writing to Timothy, Paul urged him to come to him also "before winter" (ch 4:21), and to bring his cloak and his books (ch. 4:13). Whether, in response to Paul's earnest request, Timothy found it possible to take the journey to Rome before the apostle's death is not known.

As for Timothy himself, little is known about his life apart from his direct association with Paul. According to Heb. 13:23 Timothy was "set at liberty" after being imprisoned, but when and where this imprisonment occurred is not known. Tradition has it that Timothy suffered martyrdom under either Domitian (A.D. 81-96) or Trajan (A.D. 98-117).

4. THEME

This epistle has been called the last will and testament of the great Apostle to the Gentiles. Paul wrote this letter personally to his spiritual son Timothy, and generally to the church. Knowing his end was near, he felt the need of strengthening his younger co-worker's faith by means of his own example. He warned Timothy, and with him all other Christian believers, against heresies that were to enter the church after his time, that all might hold firm to the Inspired Word and remain faithful to their Lord until His second advent.

2 TIMOTHY

Introduction (1:1-5)

The Salvation

- 1 Paul, an apostle of Jesus Christ by the will of God, according to the promise of life which is in Christ Jesus.
- 2 To Timothy, my dearly beloved son: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father and Christ Jesus our Lord.

Paul's Grateful Memories of Timothy's Friendship

- 1 I thank God, whom I serve from my forefathers with pure conscience, that without ceasing I have remembrance of thee in my prayers night and day;
- 4 Greatly desiring to see thee, being mindful of thy tears, that I may be filled with joy;
- 5 When I call to remembrance the unfeigned faith that is in thee, which dwelt first in thy grandmother Lois, and thy mother Eunice; and I am persuaded that in thee also.

Timothy Exhorted to Be a Faithful Successor to Paul (1:6-18)

Use Ministerial Abilities to the Full

- 6 Wherefore I put thee in remembrance that thou stir up the gift of God, which is in thee by the putting on of my hands.
- 7 For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind.

Stand Unashamed of Gospel: Remain Loyal to the Gospel Call

- 8 Be not thou therefore ashamed of the testimony of our Lord, nor of me his prisoner: but be thou partaker of the afflictions of the gospel according to the power of God;
- 9 Who hath saved us, and called us with an holy calling, not according to our works, but according to his own purpose and grace, which was given us in Christ Jesus before the world began,
- 10 But is now made manifest by the

Take Courage from the Boldness of Others

Paul's Portrait of the Ideal Minister (2:1-6)

The Minister as a Faithful Teacher

- 2 Thou therefore, my son, be strong in the grace that is in Christ Jesus.
- 2 And the things that thou hast heard of me among many witnesses, the same commit thou to faithful men, who shall be able to teach others also.

1:1, 2 (ch. 4:6-9). Paul's Second Letter to Timothy.—This letter was written to Timotheus, the first bishop of the church at Ephesus, after Paul had been brought before Nero the second time to witness with his life to the faith he held. In placing on record this account of his trials through men who turned from the faith, Paul speaks words which should encourage our hearts as we pass over the same ground (RH July 18, 1907).

Affection Between Paul and Timothy.—The apostle's speech had gained him many friends, and he was visited by persons of rank, who accounted his blessing of greater value than the favor of the emperor of the world. But there was one friend for whose sympathy and companionship he longed in those last trying days. That friend was Timothy, to whom he had committed the care of the church at Ephesus, and who had therefore been left behind when Paul made his last journey to Rome.

The affection between Paul and Timothy began with Timothy's conversion; and the tie had strengthened as they had shared the hopes, the perils, and the toils of missionary life, till they seemed to be as one. The disparity in their ages and the difference in their characters made their love for each other more earnest. The ardent, zealous, indomitable spirit of Paul found repose and comfort in the mild, yielding, retiring disposition of Timothy. The faithful ministrations and tender love of this tried companion had brightened many a dark hour in the apostle's life. All that Melancthon was to Luther, all that a son could be to a loved and honored father, the youthful Timothy was to the tried and lonely Paul (YI July 10, 1902).

good soldier of Jesus Christ.

- 4 No man that warreth entangleth himself with the affairs of this life; that he may please him who hath chosen him to be a soldier.

The Minister as a Victorious Athlete

Content and Method in the Communication of Truth (2:7-26)

The Message

- 7 Consider what I say; and the Lord give thee understanding in all things.
- 8 Remember that Jesus Christ of the seed of David was raised from the dead according to my gospel:
- 9 Wherein I suffer trouble, as an evil doer, even unto bonds; but the word of God is not bound.
- 10 Therefore I endure all things for the elect's sakes, that they may also obtain the salvation which is in Christ Jesus with eternal glory.
- 11 It is a faithful saying: For if we be dead with him, we shall also live with him:
- 12 If we suffer, we shall also reign with him: if we deny him, he also will deny us:
- 13 If we believe not, yet he abideth faithful: he cannot deny himself.

Waste No Time with Speculations

- 14 Of these things put them in remembrance, charging them before the Lord that they strive not about words to no profit, but to the subverting of the hearers.
- 15 Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth.
- 16 But shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness.
- 17 And their word will eat as doth a canker: of whom is Hymeneus and Philetus;

A Warning of Perilous Times to Come

(3:1-17)

Character Traits of the Unconverted

- 3 This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come.
- 2 For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy.

of gladness, strong with hope and courage, sounds all along the line down to our time. Paul had a healthful religious experience. The love of Christ was his grand theme, and the constraining power that governed him (RH Sept. 8, 1885).

2:1-3, 7, 15. See EGW on 1 Tim. 4:13-16.

2:1-4. See EGW on ch. 4:1-7.

2:14. Contentions With a Purpose.—[2 Tim. 2:11-14 quoted.] What does that mean? It means that there may be contentions over words and over ideas, but they should be to some purpose, they should be to break down the stubbornness and the opposition that is in human hearts in order that their spirits may be softened and subdued, so that when the seeds of truth are dropped into the soil of the heart, they may take root there (MS 13, 1888).

2:14-16 (vs. 23-26; ch. 4:1-5; Col. 2:8; see EGW on Rev. 14:1-4; 18:1). Cease All Idle Speculation.—[2 Tim. 2:14 quoted.] This is a warning appropriate for this time.

Then comes a charge which will often need to be given: "Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth." Learn to take the truths that have been revealed, and to handle them in such a way that they will be food for the flock of God.

We shall meet those who allow their minds to wander into idle speculations about things of which nothing is said in the Word of God. God has spoken in the plainest language upon every subject that affects the salvation of the soul. But He desires us to avoid all day-dreaming, and He says, Go work today in My vineyard. The night cometh wherein no man can work. Cease all idle curiosity; watch, and work, and pray. Study the truths that have been revealed. Christ desires to break up all vacant reveries, and He points us to the fields ripe for the harvest. Unless we work earnestly, eternity will overwhelm us with its burden of responsibility (RH Feb. 5, 1901).

2:16-18 (Col. 2:8). Grasping at the Shadows.—We have encouragement in the Scriptures that if we walk humbly before God, we shall receive instruction. But we are warned against undue curiosity. "Shun profane and vain babblings: for they will increase unto more ungodliness," leading into paths of supposition and imagination, with which we have nothing to do. These are vain, unessential theories of human creation, which keep the mind dwelling upon nothingness. They have in them nothing sure or substantial. Of those who advance these theories, Paul says: "Their word will eat as doth a canker, of whom is Hymenaeus and Philetus; who concerning the truth have erred, saying that the resurrection is past already; and overthrow the faith of some."

In the days of the apostles the most foolish heresies were presented as truth. History has been and will be repeated. There will always be those who, though apparently conscientious, will grasp at the shadow, preferring it to the substance. They take error in the place of truth, because error is clothed with a new garment, which they think covers something wonderful. But let the covering be removed, and nothingness appears (RH Feb. 5, 1901).

2:20 (Matt. 13:47, 48). Both Good and Bad in the Church.—[2 Tim. 2:19, 20 quoted.] The "great house" represents the church. In the church will be found the vile as well as the precious. The net cast into the sea gathers both good and bad (RH Feb. 5, 1901).

2:21. Empty Vessels Needed.—What kind of vessels are meet for the Master's use?—Empty vessels. When we empty the soul of every defilement, we are ready for use (RH Feb. 28, 1899).

Purification an Individual Work.—"If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the Master's use, and prepared unto every good work." He is not to accept theories that, if received, would corrupt. He is to purify himself from all unrighteous sentiments, which, if received, would lead away from the sure Word of God to unstable human devisings, degradation, and corruption. He is to resist the working of the enemy through vessels of dishonor. By searching the Scriptures with much prayer, he will find a path to follow, not the path of man, but a path that leads to heaven.

The work of purification is an individual work. No one can do this work for another. "If a man therefore purge himself from these, he shall be a vessel unto honour, sanctified, and meet for the Master's use." The Spirit of God will work through sanctified human agencies, leading them to work aright. Ability and grace will be provided. Men will be filled with an earnest desire to preach the truths of the gospel, firmly, decidedly, and in a clear manner (RH Feb. 5, 1901).

2:23-26 (vs. 14-18; ch. 4:1-5; Col. 2:8; Rev. 7:3, 4; see EGW on Rev. 3:1-3; 14:1-4). No Place for Prying Curiosity.—There are some things which we need to guard. Letters will come asking questions in regard to the sealing of the people of God, who will be sealed, how many, and other prying questions. I think we must tell them to read and speak of the things that are plainly revealed. We have encouragement in the Word that if we walk humbly with God, we shall receive instruction. But prying curiosity is not to be encouraged.

To the second chapter of second Timothy we may refer those who are desirous of originating some new and strange thing, which is the product of the human imagination, and as much below the grand and noble sentiments of Holy Writ as the common is below the sacred. We may answer foolish questions by saying, Wait, and we shall all know what is essential for us to know. Our salvation does not depend on side issues (Letter 58, 1900).

3:14, 15 (Acts 16:1-3). Timothy's Childhood Training.—Timothy's mother and grandmother were united in their efforts to train him for God. What was his lesson book?—the Bible. Paul, his father in the gospel, declares, "From a child thou hast known the holy scriptures." The faith of the mother and grandmother in the oracles of God was a constant illustration to Timothy of the blessing of doing God's will.

When Timothy was little more than a boy, Paul took him with him as his companion in labor. Those who had taught Timothy in his childhood were rewarded by seeing the son of their care linked in close fellowship with the great apostle (MS 117a, 1901).

(1 Tim. 4:12.) Influence and Piety of Timothy.—Paul loved Timothy because Timothy loved God. His intelligent knowledge of experimental piety and of the truth gave him distinction and influence. The piety and influence of his home life was not of a cheap order, but pure, sensible, and uncorrupted by false sentiments. The moral influence of his home was substantial, not fitful, not impulsive, not changeable. The Word of God was the rule which guided Timothy. He received his instruction line upon line, precept upon precept, here a little, and there a little. Impressions of the highest possible order were kept before his mind. His home instructors cooperated with God in educating this young man to bear the burdens that were to come upon him at an early age.

We see the advantage that Timothy had in a correct example of piety and true godliness. Religion was the atmosphere of his home. The manifest spiritual power of the piety in the home kept him pure in speech, and free from all corrupting sentiments. From a child Timothy had known the Holy Scriptures. He had the benefit of the Old Testament Scripture, and the manuscript of part of the New, the teachings and lessons of Christ (Letter 33, 1897).

3:16 (1 Tim. 3:16; 2 Peter 1:21; see EGW on John 17:17). Beyond Finite Comprehension.—There are some that may think they are fully capable with their finite judgment to take the Word of God, and to state what are the words of inspiration, and what are not the words of inspiration. I want to warn you off that ground, my brethren in the ministry. "Put off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou standest is holy ground." There is no finite man that lives, I care not who he is or whatever is his position, that God has authorized to pick and choose in His Word.

It is true that the apostle has said that there are some things that are hard to be understood in the Scriptures. So there are. And if it were not that there are subjects that are difficult and hard to be understood, well might the skeptic who now pleads that God has given a revelation that cannot be understood—well might he, I say—have something else to plead. God's infinity is so much higher than we are, that it is impossible for man to comprehend the mystery of godliness.

Angels of God looked with amazement upon Christ, who took upon Himself the form of man and humbly united His divinity with humanity in order that He might minister to fallen man. It is a marvel among the heavenly angels. God has told us that He did do it, and we are to accept the Word of God just as it reads.

And although we may try to reason in regard to our Creator, how long He has had existence, where evil first entered into our world, and all these things, we may reason about them until we fall down faint and exhausted with the research when there is yet an infinity beyond. We cannot grasp it, so what man is there that dares to take that Bible and say this part is inspired and that part is not inspired? I would have both my arms taken off at my shoulders before I would ever make the statement or set my judgment upon the Word of God as to what is inspired and what is not inspired.

How would finite man know anything about that matter? He is to take the Word of God as it reads, and then to appreciate it as it is, and to bring it into the life and to weave it into the character. There is everything plainly revealed in God's Word which concerns the salvation of men, and if we will take that Word and comprehend it to the very best of our ability, God will help us in its comprehension.

Human minds without the special assistance of the Spirit of God will see many things in the Bible very difficult to be understood, because they lack a divine enlightenment. It is not that men should come to the Word of God by setting up their own way, or their own will or their own ideas, but it is to come with a meek and humble and holy spirit.

- 3 Without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good.
 4 Traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God;
 5 Having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away.

Danger from Perverted Teachers

- 6 For of this sort are they which creep into houses, and lead captive silly women laden with sins, led away with divers lusts,
 7 Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth.
 8 Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, ^{reprobate} concerning the faith.
 9 But they shall proceed no further: for their folly shall be manifest unto all men, as theirs also was.

The Example of Paul as a Minister

- 10 But ^{thou} hast fully known my doctrine, manner of life, purpose, faith, longsuffering, charity, patience, 11 Persecutions, afflictions, which came unto me at Antioch, at Iconium, at Lystra; what persecutions I endured: but out of them all the Lord delivered me.
 12 Yea, and all that will live godly in Christ Jesus shall suffer persecution.

The Scriptures a Standard of Doctrine

- 13 But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived.
 14 But continue thou in the things which thou hast learned and hast been assured of, knowing of whom thou hast learned them:
 15 And that from a child thou hast known the holy scriptures, which are able to make thee wise unto salvation through faith which is in Christ Jesus.
 16 All scripture is given by inspiration of God, and is profitable for doctrine, for reproof, for correction, for instruction in righteousness:
 17 That the man of God may be perfect, ^{thoroughly} furnished unto all good works.

Paul's Parting Admonition (4:1-22)

The Minister as God's Herald

- 4 I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom:
 2 Preach the word: be instant in season, out of season; reprove, rebuke, exhort with all longsuffering and doctrine.
 3 For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears;
 4 And they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables.
 5 But watch thou in all things, endure afflictions, do the work of an evangelist, ^{make} full proof of thy ministry.
 6 For I am now ready to be offered, and the time of my departure is at hand.

The Reward of Faithful Heralds

- 7 I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith:
 8 Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness, which the Lord, the righteous judge, shall give me at that day: and not to me only, but unto all them also that love his appearing.

Paul's Final Requests and Salutations

- 9 Do thy diligence to come shortly unto me:
 10 For Demas hath forsaken me, having loved this present world, and is departed unto Thessalonica; Crescens to Galatia, Titus unto Dalmatia.
 11 Only Luke is with me. Take Mark, and bring him with thee: for he is profitable to me for the ministry.
 12 And Tychicus have I sent to Ephesus.
 13 The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but especially the parchments.
 14 Alexander the coppersmith did me much evil: the Lord reward him according to his works:
 15 Of whom be thou ware also; for he hath greatly withstood ^{our} works.
 16 At my first answer no man stood with me, but all men forsook me: I pray God that it Never attempt to search the Scriptures unless you are ready to listen, unless you are ready to be a learner, unless you are ready to listen to the Word of God as though His voice were speaking directly to you from the living oracles. Never let mortal man sit in judgment upon the Word of God or pass sentence as to how much of this is inspired and how much is not inspired, and that this is more inspired than some other portions. God warns him off that ground. God has not given him any such work to do (MS 13, 1888).

(Ex. 35.) God's Word Not to Be Dissected.—It takes all of eternity to unfold the glories and bring out the precious treasures of the Word of God. Do not let any living man come to you and begin to dissect God's Word, telling what is revelation, what is inspiration and what is not, without a rebuke. Tell all such they simply do not know. They simply are not able to comprehend the things of the mystery of God. What we want is to inspire faith.

We want no one to say, "This I will reject, and this will I receive," but we want to have implicit faith in the Bible as a whole and as it is.

We call on you to take your Bible, but do not put a sacrilegious hand upon it, and say, "That is not inspired," simply because somebody else has said so. Not a jot or tittle is ever to be taken from that Word. Hands off, brethren! Do not touch the ark. Do not lay your hand upon it, but let God move. It is with His own power, and He will work in such a manner that He will compass our salvation. We want God to have some room to work. We do not want man's ideas to bind Him about.

I know something of the glory of the future life. Once a sister wrote to me and asked if I would not tell her something about the city of our God, further than we have in the Word. She asked me if I could not draw something of its plans. I wrote her that I would have to say to her, "Thou off thy shoes from off thy feet, for the place whereon thou 17 Notwithstanding the Lord stood with me, and strengthened me; that by me the preaching might be fully known, and that all the Gentiles might hear: and I was delivered out of the mouth of the lion.

18 And the Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom: to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.

standest is holy ground." "No," said I, "you cannot paint, you cannot picture, and the martyr tongue cannot begin to give any description of the glory of the future life; but I will tell you what you can do: you can 'press toward the mark for the prize of the high calling of God in Christ Jesus.' You can die to self; you can seek to grow up to the perfection of Christian character in Christ Jesus." That is our work: but when men begin to meddle with God's Word, I want to tell them to take their hands off, for they do not know what they are doing (MS 13, 1888).

4:1-5 (ch. 2:14-18, 23-26; Rom. 1:25; Col. 2:8). Turning the Truth Into a Lie.—No one is to put truth to the torture by cheap imaginings, by putting a forced, mystical construction upon the Word. Thus they are in danger of turning the truth of God into a lie. There are those who need in their hearts the touch of the divine Spirit. Then the message for this time will be their burden. They will not search for human tests, for something new and strange. The Sabbath of the fourth commandment is the test for this time.

There is among young men a burning desire to get hold of something new, even though it be of the cheapest quality. The Lord would not have the mind dwell on unprofitable nothings, seeking for what it will never find. He desires us to seek for a pure, clean soul, a soul washed and made white in the blood of the Lamb. It is the white robe of Christ's righteousness that gives the sinner admittance into the presence of the heavenly angels. Not the color of his hair, but his perfect obedience to all God's commandments, opens to him the gates of the Holy City (Letter 207, 1899).

4:1-7 (ch. 2:1-4). Faithfulness in Ministry.—Paul has almost finished his course, and he desires Timothy to take his place, guarding the churches from the fables and heresies with which Satan and his agents would endeavor to lead them from the truth. He admonishes him to shun temporal pursuits and entanglements, which would prevent him from giving himself wholly to God's work. He is to endure with cheerfulness the opposition, reproach, and persecution to which his faithfulness would expose him. He is to make full proof to his ministry, employing every means of doing good to his fellow men (Y1 July 10, 1902).

4:3, 4. See EGW on Acts 20:30; Col. 2:8; 1 John 4:1.

4:6-9. See EGW on ch. 1:1, 2.

4:7, 8. See EGW on Rev. 14:13.

4:13, 14 (Acts 19:33). Alexander Effects Paul's Final Arrest.—At the house of a disciple in the city of Troas, Paul was again seized, and from this place he was hurried away to his final imprisonment.

The arrest was effected by the efforts of Alexander the copper-smith, who had so unsuccessfully opposed the apostle's work at Ephesus, and who now seized the opportunity to be revenged on one whom he could not defeat (LP 305).

4:13, 16-21. Paul Faces Death Courageously.—Paul concludes his letter with various personal messages, and again and again repeats the urgent request that Timothy use all diligence to come to him soon, and if possible to come before winter. He describes his loneliness from the desertion of some friends and the necessary absence of others, and lest Timothy should still hesitate, fearing that the church at Ephesus demanded his labors, he states that he has already dispatched Tychicus to fill the place of Timothy in his absence. And then he adds the touching request, "The cloak that I left at Troas with Carpus, when thou comest, bring with thee, and the books, but especially the parchments."

At his second arrest, Paul was seized and hurried away so suddenly that he had no opportunity to gather up his few "books" and "parchments," or even to take with him his cloak. And now winter was coming on, and he knew that he would suffer with cold in his damp prison cell. He had no money to buy another garment, he knew that his end might come at any moment, and with his usual self-forgetfulness and fear to burden the church, he desired that no expense should be incurred on his account (LP 327).

4:16, 17. Paul and Nero Face to Face.—Paul and Nero face to face!—the countenance of the monarch bearing the shameful record of the passions that raged within; the countenance of the prisoner telling the story of a heart at peace with God and man. The result of opposite systems of education stood that day contrasted—a life of unbounded self-indulgence and a life of entire self-sacrifice. Here were the representatives of two theories of life—all-absorbing selfishness, which counts nothing too valuable to be sacrificed for momentary gratification, and self-denying endurance, ready to give up life itself, if need be, for the good of others (Y1 July 3, 1902).

The Epistle of Paul to TITUS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the oldest Greek manuscripts known today the title of this epistle is simply Pros Titon ("To Titus"). Doubtless, since Paul's original autograph was a personal letter, it contained no formal title.

2. AUTHORSHIP

As with the other pastoral epistles, modern critical scholarship, generally, questions the claim of this epistle that Paul was its author (ch. 1:1), which claim this commentary accepts without question.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

This epistle was addressed to Titus at a time when he was engaged in ministry to the Christians of Crete. This large island in the Mediterranean is 160 mi. (258 km.) long and from 7 to 35 mi. (11 to 56 km.) wide. Its total area is 3,199 square mi. (8,285 km.). The narrow but fertile coastal plain on the northern side rises rapidly into a coastal range, beyond which a second range rises still higher, and behind that a third. The highest of these mountains is Mt. Psiloriti (elevation 8,065 ft. or 2,458 m.). This is the ancient Mt. Ida, where, according to an ancient Grecian legend, the pagan god Zeus was born.

In the 2nd millennium B.C., Crete was the center of a civilization—the Minoan—that rivaled the civilizations of Mesopotamia and Egypt. There the semilegendary King Minos, it was said, kept in an intricate labyrinth a bull-monster that devoured captive Greek youths. This Minotaur myth may well be accounted for by the labyrinthine ruins of the Minoan palace at Cnossus and the pictures of young acrobats engaged in the perilous feat of leaping over the horns and backs of bulls. Before 1400 B.C. Minoan Crete had a powerful fleet, a far-flung commercial empire, and a highly sophisticated civilization (with an advanced art and three systems of writing) that spread into southern Greece, centered at Mycenae. Its trade with Egypt and Syria, evidenced by artifacts, made it a channel of communication between the East and Europe. The Philistines had lived on Crete before migrating to Palestine.

Eventually it was colonized by the Greeks and played an important, though inconspicuous, role during some of the more glorious epochs of Hellenic history. In the earliest years of Christianity the Cretans were distinguished by a well-known reputation for dishonesty and untrustworthiness (cf. Titus 1:12). The island seems to have served as a headquarters for pirates in the 1st century B.C., but these were subdued, and in 67 B.C. it became part of the Roman Empire; however, Cretans continued to serve as mercenaries in foreign armies.

Not much is known of Titus. Personal references in the epistle are sketchy, and he is not mentioned in the Acts. The earliest allusion to him appears in Gal. 2:1-3, where Paul speaks of Titus accompanying him from Antioch when he attended the Jerusalem Council. There, as an uncircumcised convert from paganism, he became a test case as touching the question of the circumcision of Gentiles. After a time he represented Paul at Corinth (2 Cor. 8:16, 17; 12:17, 18), where he dealt successfully with the difficulties discussed so frankly in 2 Cor. 2; 7. He also organized collections for the saints at Jerusalem (2 Cor. 8:6-10). Paul considered him a reliable confidant and a trustworthy soldier of the cross (2 Cor. 12:18), and refers to him as brother, fellow helper, and partner in labor (2 Cor. 2:13; 8:23). In this epistle he speaks of Titus as a son in the faith (ch. 1:4). Titus is last mentioned in the NT as having gone to Dalmatia, the modern Yugoslavia (2 Tim. 4:10). Eusebius, the church historian of the 4th century, refers to Titus as the bishop of the island of Crete (Eusebius Ecclesiastical History iii. 4).

4. THEME

Aside from the fact that Paul had left Titus on the island of Crete (Titus 1:5), the exact circumstances under which this epistle was written cannot be reconstructed. Paul seems to have been traveling in company with Zenas, Apollos, Artemas, and Tychicus (ch. 3:12-15). Apparently Zenas and Apollos were about to set forth on a journey that would take them past Crete, and Paul therefore asked them to carry this epistle to Titus, who was to join Paul for the winter at Nicopolis. It is thought that the epistle to Titus was written between Paul's first and second imprisonments at Rome, about the year A.D. 65.

From the epistle it appears that there were groups of Christians in a number of places in Crete. The general church organization, however, was incomplete, and trouble was brewing because of false teachers, who may have been half-converted Jews. These false teachers were laying great emphasis on myths, genealogies, and the law. They were wasting much time and energy, both their own and that of other church members, on pointless argument. Titus was responsible for straightening matters out, and Paul sends him counsel and encouragement. In this letter Paul is especially concerned with giving Titus counsel that would help him to establish the recently converted Christians of Crete in true Christian faith and living. Accordingly, the epistle is highly practical. Paul counsels a more thorough and formal church organization, and advises Titus as to qualifications for church elders. He reminds him of the Cretans' reputation for falsehood and laziness, and implies that the Christians there had been disturbed by Jewish legalists. Paul particularly points out that emphasis on ceremonial impurity in time tends to render the conscience itself impure. When the mind is absorbed with religious trivia, too often the really important questions of morality and integrity are ignored and religion deteriorates into a matter of form and theory.

Paul's great emphasis here is that the Cretan Christians should be sober, chaste, and thoroughly upright in all their living. Slaves-as doubtless many of them were-just like anyone else, should be obedient and honest.

At the climax of his letter Paul reminds Titus, and the Cretans through him, that God's kindness to man is not won by good deeds, but is the gift of His mercy through Jesus Christ.

An awareness of the pagan heritage of these Cretan brethren and of the mental confusion wrought by the Judaizing teachers helped Paul to deal specifically with their problems. His counsel is clear and specific. He understands his people and their basic human behavior patterns. In this letter he exhibits a precision and incisiveness that preachers today may well seek to emulate.

TITUS

Salutation

- 1 Paul, a servant of God, and an apostle of Jesus Christ, according to the faith of God's elect, and the acknowledging of the truth which is after godliness;
- 2 In hope of eternal life, which God, that cannot lie, promised before the world began;
- 3 But hath in due times manifested his word through preaching, which is committed unto me according to the commandment of God our Saviour;
- 4 To Titus, mine own son after the common faith: Grace, mercy, and peace, from God the Father and the Lord Jesus Christ our Saviour.

Instructions to Titus (1:5-3:3)

The Ordination of Bishops

- 5 For this cause left I thee in Crete, that thou shouldest set in order the things that are wanting, and ordain elders in every city, as I had appointed thee;
- 6 If any be blameless, the husband of one wife, having faithful children not accused of riot or unruly.
- 7 For a bishop must be blameless, as the steward of God; not selfwilled, not soon angry, not given to wine, no striker, not given to filthy lucre;
- 8 But a lover of hospitality, a lover of good men, sober, just, holy, temperate;
- 9 Holding fast the faithful word 'as he hath been taught, that he may be able by sound doctrine both to exhort and to convince the gainsayers.
- 10 For there are many unruly and vain talkers and deceivers, specially they of the circumcision:
- 11 Whose mouths must be stopped, who subvert whole houses, teaching things which they ought not, for filthy lucre's sake.
- 12 One of themselves, even a prophet of their own, said, The Cretians are always liars, evil beasts, slow bellies.

Curtailment of the Activities of False Teachers

- 13 This witness is true. Wherefore rebuke them sharply, that they may be sound in the faith;
- 14 Not giving heed to Jewish fables, and commandments of men, that turn from the truth.
- 15 Unto the pure all things are pure: but unto them that are defiled and unbelieving is nothing pure; but even their mind and conscience is defiled.

Superiority of Christian Character to Be Manifested (3:8-11)

Christians Are to Lead Out in Good Works

- 8 This is a faithful saying, and these things I will that thou affirm constantly, that they which have believed in God might be careful to maintain good works. These things are good and profitable unto men.

Christians Are to Avoid Unprofitable Activities

- 10 A man that is an heretick after the first and second admonition reject:
- 11 Knowing that he that is such is subverted, and sinneth, being condemned of himself.

Personal Remarks and Benediction

- 12 When I shall send Artemas unto thee, or Tychicus, be diligent to come unto me to Nicopolis: for I have determined there to winter.
- 13 Bring Zenas the lawyer and Apollos on their journey diligently, that nothing be wanting unto them.
- 14 And let ours also learn to maintain good works for necessary uses, that they be not unfruitful.
- 15 All that are with me salute thee. Greet them that love us in the faith. Grace be with you all. Amen

The Epistle of Paul to PHILEMON

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

Inasmuch as this book is a personal letter, doubtless it originally bore no title. The earliest Greek manuscripts extant have the simple title Pros Philemona ("To Philemon"), a superscription probably added by the unknown Christian who first brought Paul's epistles together and published them as a collection.

2. AUTHORSHIP

This epistle specifically claims Paul as its author (v. 1). The fact that it deals only with a personal circumstance and that it reflects no attempt to promote any new teaching is a strong indication that it is genuine. Today scholars are virtually unanimous in accepting this brief epistle as authentically Pauline.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

The Epistle to Philemon is a personal letter from the apostle Paul, while imprisoned at Rome, to a Christian named Philemon living in Colossae. It was dispatched at the same time as the Epistle to the Colossians, by Paul's friend, Tychicus, and was occasioned by a crisis in the life of one of Paul's converts. Onesimus, a slave of the Christian Philemon of Colossae, dissatisfied with his servile state, had run away, carrying with him some of his master's money or possessions (v. 18; cf. AA 456). In time he found his way to Rome, as did many slaves, expecting to lose himself in the vast crowds of that city. While there Onesimus met Paul. Perhaps he was destitute and was prompted to seek out the Christians because of their charity, which he doubtless had often witnessed in his master's household. Or, perhaps, while in Rome, he absorbed enough of Christian teaching to be suffering from a troubled conscience, and turned to Paul—who may previously have been a guest in Philemon's home—for spiritual guidance.

Whatever his reason, Onesimus found a ready welcome and was inspired to minister devotedly to the aged apostle. His conscience and will prepared him to follow the path of duty, to redeem his past misdeeds by returning once more to his former master. Onesimus did not wait to see what response his master would make to Paul's letter. Rather, he set out with Tychicus, Paul's messenger. What his reception was no one knows, but it would be difficult to imagine that Philemon, as a follower of Christ, would not bend to so tender a plea of intercession. The dignified restraint of the letter reflects confidence on the apostle's part that Philemon would receive Onesimus as a "brother beloved" (v. 16). We may suppose that Paul's confidence was rewarded.

Without an understanding of the slave problem as it existed in the Roman Empire of Paul's day the Epistle to Philemon cannot be fully appreciated. Slaves were a recognized part of the social structure and were considered members of their master's household. Between the years 146 B.C. and A.D. 235 the proportion of slaves to freemen is said to have been three to one. Pliny says that in the time of Augustus a freeman by the name of Caecilius held 4,116 slaves (see Encyclopedia Britannica, 1966 ed., vol. 20, pp. 776, 777, art. "Slavery").

With so large a part of the population under bondage the ruling class felt obliged to enact severe laws to prevent escape or revolt. Originally, in Roman law the master possessed absolute power of life and death over his slaves. The slave could own no property. Everything he had belonged to his master, though at times he was allowed to accumulate chance earnings. Slaves could not legally marry, but were nevertheless encouraged to do so because their offspring increased the master's wealth. The slave knew that he might be separated from his mate and children at the pleasure of his master. Slaves could not appeal to civil magistrates for justice, and there was no place where a fugitive slave could find asylum. He could never serve as a witness, except under torture, and he could not accuse his master of any crimes except high treason, adultery, incest, or the violation of sacred things. If a master was accused of a crime, he could offer his slave to be interrogated by torture in his place. The punishment for running away was often death, sometimes by crucifixion or by being thrown to voracious lampreys in a fishpond.

Some slaveowners were more considerate than others, and some slaves showed great devotion to their masters. Certain tasks committed to slaves were relatively pleasant, and a number required a high degree of intelligence. Often teachers, physicians, and even philosophers became slaves as a result of military conquest. Many slaves ran shops or factories or managed estates for their masters.

But the institution of slavery was a school for cowardice, flattery, dishonesty, graft, immorality, and other vices, for above all else a slave had to cater to his master's wishes, however evil. By about A.D. 200, conditions had improved greatly, and even more so after the spread of Christianity.

The Romans did not deny their slaves all hope of freedom. The law provided for their manumission, or liberation, in various ways. Most commonly, the master took his slave before an official, in whose presence he turned the slave around and pronounced the longed-for words liber esto, "Be free," and struck him with a rod. Manumission could also be performed by various other means, such as writing a letter, making the slave guardian of one's children, or placing on his head the pileus, or cap of liberty. But unless manumission was decreed by law rather than by a private owner, the slave was bound to remain a client to his master and to perform any obligations placed upon him at the time manumission. In the Roman Empire it was possible for freedmen to rise steadily to positions of influence and even of civic authority, but their property, when they died without heirs, reverted to their former masters. One such instance was that of Felix, procurator of Judea.

4. THEME

This little gem of Christian love and tact is unique in the canon of Scripture because it is a purely personal letter dealing with a domestic problem of the day—the relationship between a Christian master and a fugitive, but repentant, slave. It states no doctrine and offers no specific exhortation for the church as a whole. Nevertheless, that the Epistle to Philemon belongs in our Bible becomes amply clear through a study of the letter and its relationship to the other Pauline epistles. It is the only extant fragment of what must have been a considerable correspondence between Paul and individual members of his flock. It applies several basic principles of Christianity to daily life.

PHILEMON

Salutation

- 1 Paul, a prisoner of Jesus Christ, and Timothy our brother, unto Philemon our dearly beloved, and fellowlabourer,
- 2 And to our beloved Apphia, and Archippus our fellowsoldier, and to the church in thy house:
- 3 Grace to you, and peace, from God our Father and the Lord Jesus Christ.

Commendation to Philemon (4-7)

His Christian Love and Faithfulness Cheered Church Members

- 4 I thank my God, making mention of thee always in my prayers,
- 5 Hearing of thy love and faith, which thou hast toward the Lord Jesus, and toward all saints;
- 6 That the communication of thy faith may become effectual by the acknowledging of every good thing which is in you in Christ Jesus.

Paul Gratified by the Spiritual Achievements of His Convert

- 7 For we have great joy and consolation in thy love, because the bowels of the saints are refreshed by thee, brother.

Appeal for the Wholehearted Reception of Onesimus (8-20)

The Tactfulness of Entreaty

- 8 Wherefore, though I might be much bold in Christ to enjoin thee that which is convenient,
- 9 Yet for love's sake I rather beseech thee, being such an one as Paul the aged, and now also a prisoner of Jesus Christ.

Mutual Respect Between Paul and Philemon

- 14 But without thy mind would I do nothing; that thy benefit should not be as it were of necessity, but willingly.

The Recognition of Providence

- 15 For perhaps he therefore departed for a season, that thou shouldest receive him for ever;

The Sufficient Mediatorship of Paul

- 17 If thou count me therefore a partner, receive him as myself.
- 18 If he hath wronged thee, or oweth thee ought, put that on mine account;

The Double Debt of Philemon

- 19 I Paul have written it with mine own hand, I will repay it: albeit I do not say to thee how thou owest unto me even thine own self besides.
- 20 Yea, brother, let me have joy of thee in the Lord: refresh my bowels in the Lord.

Paul as a Mediator.—Among those who gave their hearts to God through the labors of Paul in Rome was Onesimus, a pagan slave who had wronged his master, Philemon, a Christian believer in Colosse, and had escaped to Rome. In the kindness of his heart, Paul sought to relieve the poverty and distress of the wretched fugitive and then endeavored to shed the light of truth into his darkened mind. Onesimus listened to the words of life, confessed his sins, and was converted to the faith of Christ.

Onesimus endeared himself to Paul by his piety and sincerity, no less than by his tender care for the apostle's comfort, and his zeal in promoting the work of the gospel. Paul saw in him traits of character that would render him a useful helper in missionary labor, and he counseled him to return without delay to Philemon, beg his forgiveness, and plan for the future. The apostle promised to hold himself responsible for the sum of which Philemon had been robbed. Being about to dispatch Tychicus with letters to various churches in Asia Minor, he sent Onesimus with him. It was a severe test for this servant thus to deliver himself up to the master he had wronged; but he had been truly converted, and he did not turn aside from his duty.

The apostle asked Philemon, in view of the conversion of Onesimus, to receive the repentant slave as his own child, showing him such affection that he would choose to dwell with his former master, "not now as a servant, but above a servant, a brother beloved." He expressed his desire to retain Onesimus as one who could minister to him in his bonds as Philemon himself would have done, though he did not desire his services unless Philemon should of his own accord set the slave free.

How fitting an illustration of the love of Christ for the repentant sinner! The servant who had defrauded his master had nothing with which to make restitution. The sinner who has robbed God of years of service has no means of canceling the debt. Jesus interposes between the sinner and God, saying, I will pay the debt. Let the sinner be spared; I will suffer in his stead.

After offering to assume the debt of Onesimus, Paul reminded Philemon how greatly he himself was indebted to the apostle. He owed him his own self, since God had made Paul the instrument of his conversion. Then, in a tender, earnest appeal, he besought Philemon that as he had by his liberalities refreshed the saints, so he would refresh the spirit of the apostle by granting him this cause of rejoicing. "Having confidence in thy obedience," he added, "I wrote unto thee, knowing that thou wilt also do more than I say."

It was not the apostle's work to overturn arbitrarily or suddenly the established order of society. To attempt this would be to prevent the success of the gospel. But he taught principles which struck at the very foundation of slavery and which, if carried into effect, would surely undermine the whole system. "Where the Spirit of the Lord

The Epistle of Paul the Apostle to the HEBREWS

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

The title given this book in the oldest Greek manuscripts is simply Pros Hebraious ("To the Hebrews"). Inasmuch as the book deals to a large extent with the significance, for the Christian, of the sanctuary and its services, and as these insights must have been particularly significant for the early Hebrew, or Jewish, Christian, (see below under "Historical Setting"), the title is particularly appropriate.

2. AUTHORSHIP

The authorship of Hebrews has been in dispute since early times. While many attributed the book to Paul, others dissented vigorously. Origen, one of the early Fathers, concluded his examination of the book with the declaration, "Who wrote the epistle, in truth God knows" (quoted by Eusebius Ecclesiastical History vi. 25. 14; Loeb ed., vol. 2, p. 79). Other Fathers thought Barnabas, Apollos, Clement, or Luke to be the author.

This uncertainty in regard to the authorship of Hebrews was a major factor in the reluctance of many early Christians in the western part of the Roman Empire to accept the epistle as canonical. It was, in fact, not until the latter part of the 4th century that Hebrews came to be accepted generally in the West. During the following centuries the discussion regarding the authorship of Hebrews ceased, and most Christians accepted it as the work of Paul. This view was generally held until comparatively modern times, when the question again came under scholarly discussion. As late as 1885 the RV ascribes Hebrews to Paul, but at the present time few critics hold this view.

The evidences against the view that Paul wrote Hebrews have been drawn largely from considerations of the literary style and content of the book. Although it is possible for a writer's vocabulary and style to vary with subject matter these variations are largely in the technical terms characteristic of the different subjects about which he writes. His more general vocabulary and particularly the words that he choose almost unconsciously in expressing himself, such as prepositions, adverbs, and especially connectives, are considered by most scholars to be much better indications of his style than is his technical terminology.

When compared with the generally accepted epistles of Paul, Hebrews differs markedly, especially in the small, common connective words with which its author binds together his clauses. Another distinctive difference is found in the handling of quotations from the OT. The accepted epistle employ one group of more or less standard phrases to introduce OT quotations, whereas Hebrews uses another group. Also, the epistle show that the apostle was relatively free in his use of OT materials. Often his quotations follow the LXX, but at times he gives what apparently is his own translation of the Hebrew; at still other times he is content to give only a loose quotation. By contrast OT quotations in Hebrews are virtually always word for word from the LXX.

From a broader standpoint, the general literary style of Hebrew is notably different from that of any of the epistles that bear the name of Paul. The style of the latter is marked indelibly by effervescent yet fervent passages that reveal the surging torrent of the author's thoughts at the expense of polished literary style. Hebrews, on the other hand, presents a thoroughly organized argument, and maintains the highest rhetorical level of any NT book. This marked difference in style was noted by writers of the early church, for whom Koine Greek was the native language. Clement of Alexandria (died c. A.D. 215; cited by Eusebius Ecclesiastical History vi. 14. 2-3) suggests that Paul first wrote Hebrews in Hebrew, and that Luke translated it into Greek. Although such an explanation is ruled out by the fact that Hebrews contains a number of plays on Greek words that could not have been translated from another language, yet Clement's statement is significant in that it implies the recognition that the Greek of Hebrews does not appear to be the Greek of Paul. Origen (died c. A.D. 254), one of the prominent scholars of the early church, likewise recognized the difficulty of harmonizing the style of Hebrews with that of Paul. His solution was "that the thoughts are the apostle's, but that the style and composition belong to one who called to mind the apostle's teachings and, as it were, made short notes of what his master said" (quoted by Eusebius Ecclesiastical History vi. 25. 13; Loeb ed., vol. 2, pp. 77, 79).

Certain presumptive evidence in favor of the Pauline authorship of Hebrews rather recently came to light in connection with the discovery of the 3rd century Chester Beatty Biblical Papyri. In the codex that consists of the Pauline Epistle, Hebrews is found between Romans and 1 Corinthians. Though this fact does not prove the Pauline authorship of Hebrews, it strongly suggests that very early in the history of the church there were those who believed that Hebrews should be included as a part of Paul's writings.

This commentary holds that though weighty arguments have been presented against the Pauline authorship of Hebrews, those arguments are not sufficient to offset the traditional belief that Paul is the author. Much of the difference in tone and style of Hebrews compared with the known Pauline epistles may be reasonably explained by the fact that these other epistles are addressed to particular church groups, or to individuals, to meet particular problems. Granted there are certain differences in literary style that cannot be explained on this basis, these differences may be reasonably explained on the assumption that Paul preached certain sermons on the theme of Christ's priestly ministry and that these were taken down stenographically. As is sometimes the case with matter thus recorded, the final literary form of the transcribed copy may be strongly colored by the transcriber. It is easy to see how Paul might never have had opportunity to edit these sermons—he traveled incessantly, with traveling terminated, ere long, by martyrdom.

It is generally agreed that Hebrews was written before the fall of Jerusalem. Now, the number of church leaders was very small in the years before A.D. 70. Which of those leaders might have set forth an argument as profound as that presented in the book of Hebrews? By all odds the most likely person is Paul. To say that the author was an unknown Christian of that early period simply poses a new problem. How was it that a Christian possessing the theological insights and the logical powers necessary to produce a work like Hebrews should have been anonymous at a time when Christian leaders were so few and the record of Christian workers so full?

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

The issue that produced probably a deeper cleavage in the apostolic church than any other was the question of the ceremonial law and its observance by Christians. The council at Jerusalem had freed Gentile Christians from its obligations, but psychologically the large Jewish-Christian community in Palestine was unprepared to enter into the same freedom. They doubtless felt that they themselves, because they were Jews, should keep it. Thus they failed to realize that for all men the ceremonial observance had met their fulfillment in Jesus Christ. This situation set up an unhealthy tension in the church, inasmuch as one large segment followed an elaborate system of religious life disregarded by the other.

Paul and those close to him had the needed insight into the Mosaic ordinances and ceremonies to evaluate them rightly and give them their proper setting in the plan of salvation. Paul knew their transitory nature and that the time was past due for their abrogation (see Col. 2:16,17). The Jewish Christian church, centered at Jerusalem, seemed unaware of the calamities soon to befall it. Jewish Christians still kept the feast; they still sacrificed as in former years; they were still zealous for the ceremonial law (see Acts 15). They had but a faint conception of Christ's work in the heavenly sanctuary; they knew little of His ministry; they did not realize that their sacrifices were useless in view of the great sacrifice on Calvary. These thousands of Jewish Christians, "all zealous of the law" (Acts 21:20), would be confronted by a crisis when the city and the Temple should be destroyed. This occurred apparently only a short time after Hebrews was written.

It was high time that the eyes of the Jewish Christians should be opened to heavenly realities. When their Temple should be destroyed, it would be needful for them to have their faith anchored to something sure and steadfast that would not fail. If their minds could be turned to the heavenly High Priest and sanctuary and to a better sacrifice than that of bulls and goats, they would not be dismayed when a mere earthly structure should pass away. But if they had no such hope, if they had no vision of the sanctuary in heaven, they would be bewildered and perplexed as they should see the destruction of that in which they had trusted. It was important that the Jewish Christians should understand these things, not only for themselves, but also for the sake of the Gentile churches throughout the provinces among whom the Jerusalem believers would be scattered during the coming war with Rome.

It seems to have been in this crisis hour that the book of Hebrews appeared. It contained just the help needed: light on the sanctuary question; on Christ as high priest; on the blood "that speaketh better things than that of Abel" (ch. 12:24); on the rest that remains for the children of God (ch. 4:9); on the blessed hope that is "as an anchor of the soul, both sure and steadfast, and which entereth into that within the veil," (ch. 6:19).

4. THEME

The book of Hebrews consists essentially of a comparison with, and contrast between, the symbols by which God presented the plan of salvation to His chosen people in OT times and the reality of Christ's ministry on behalf of sinners since the cross. The experiences of ancient Israel under the typical system are set forth as a lesson and warning to Christians. Through the typical system and Israel's experiences under it, Paul seeks to develop a more complete understanding and appreciation of the ministry of Christ in heaven above. The following analysis of the comparisons and contrasts he draws between various aspects of the earthly and heavenly sanctuaries and priesthood outlines the way in which the apostle develops this theme.

The Earthly and Heavenly Sanctuaries and Priesthoods Compared

The Earthly

The Heavenly

I. Moses and Christ Compared as Leaders of God's Chosen People

1. "God, who . . . spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets.
2. "Moses was faithful in all his house" (3:2).
3. ". . . than Moses"
4. ". . . then the house"
5. "Moses verily was faithful in all his house, as a servant, for a testimony of those things which were to be spoken after;

Hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son" (1:1, 2).

"Consider the Apostle and High priest of our profession, Christ Jesus; who was faithful to him that appointed him" (3:1, 2).

"This man was counted worthy of more glory . . ." (3:3).

"He who hath builded the house hath more honour . . ." (3:3).

But Christ as a son over his own house" (3:5, 6).

II. The Old and New Covenants

6. "That first covenant," "the covenant that I made with their fathers," "my covenant" (8:7, 9).
7. "Because they continued not in my covenant, and I regarded them not," "finding fault with them," "he hath made the first old. Now that which decayeth and waxeth old is ready to vanish away" (8:9, 8, 13).
8. "If that first covenant had been faultless,

"A new covenant . . . : not according to the covenant that I made with their fathers," "a better covenant," "the everlasting covenant" (8:8, 9, 6; 13:20).

"Behold, the days come saith the Lord, when I will make a new covenant with house of Israel," "the covenant that I will make with the house of Israel after those days" (8:8, 10).

then should no place have been sought for the second" (8:7).

III. The Earthly and Heavenly Sanctuaries

9. "The first covenant had . . . a worldly sanctuary. For there was a tabernacle made," "Make all things according to the pattern shewed to thee in the mount" (9:1, 2; 8:5).
10. "Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us" (9:24).

"The sanctuary, . . . the true tabernacle, which the Lord pitched, and not man" (8:2).

"Having therefore, brethren, boldness to enter into the holiest by the blood of Jesus, by a new and living way, which he hath consecrated for us, through the veil, that is to say, his flesh; and having an high priest over the house of God; let us draw near with a true heart in full assurance of faith" (10:19-22).

IV. The Earthly and Heavenly Priesthoods

11. "If he were in earth, he should not be a priest, seeing that there are priests that offer gifts according to the law: who serve unto the example and shadow of heavenly things," "many priests" (8:4, 5; 7:23).

"The priesthood being changed," "Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec." "Now hath he obtained a more excellent ministry, by how much also he is the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises" (7:12; 6:20; 8:6).

12. "Every high priest taken from among men is ordained for men in things pertaining to God" (5:1).

13. "Those priests were made without an oath [they were born to the office];

14. "The law maketh men high priests which have infirmity;

15. "They truly were many priests, because they were not suffered to continue by reason of death;

16. "Here men that die receive tithes;

17. "If therefore perfection were by the Levitical priesthood, . . .

18. "The law maketh men high priests," "priests that offer according to the law," "the law having a shadow of good things to come" (7:28; 8:4; 10:1).

19. "The law made nothing perfect,

V. The Earthly and Heavenly Ministrations

20. "Every high priest is ordained to offer gifts and sacrifices:

21. "Almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding of blood is no remission. It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these;

22. "If the blood of bulls and of goats, . . . sanctified to the purifying of the flesh:

23. "The priests went always into the first tabernacle, accomplishing the service of God. But into the second went the high priest alone once every year. . . : the Holy Ghost this signifying, that the way into the holiest of all was not yet made manifest, while as the first tabernacle was yet standing: which was a figure for the time then present. . . imposed on them until the time of reformation" (9:6-10).

24. ". . . daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice," "often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others." "Every priest standeth daily ministering and offering oftentimes the same sacrifices" (7:27; 9:25; 10:11).

25. "The bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned without the camp.

26. "For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect. For then would they not have ceased to be offered? because that the worshippers once purged should have had no more conscience of sins. . .

"So also Christ glorified not himself to be made an high priest; but he that said unto him, Thou art my Son, to day have I begotten thee" (5:5).

but this with an oath . . . : by so much was Jesus made a surety of a better testament" (7:21, 22).

but the word of the oath, which was since the law, maketh the Son, who is consecrated for evermore" (7:28).

But this man, because he continueth ever, hath an unchangeable priesthood" (7:23, 24).

but there he receiveth them" (7:8).

what further need was there that another priest should rise after the order of Melchisedec, and not . . . Aaron?" (7:11).

"The priesthood for being changed, there is made of necessity a change also of the law. . .

There is verily a disannulling of the commandment going before the weakness and unprofitableness thereof" (7:12-18).

but the bringing in of a better hope did" (7:19).

wherefore it is of necessity that this man have somewhat also to offer" (8:3).

but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these" (9:22, 23).

How much more shall the blood of Christ, . . . purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?" (9:13, 14).

"But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building; neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us" (9:11, 12).

"Who needeth not daily, as those high priests, to offer up sacrifice. . . : for this he did once, when he offered up himself." "But now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself." "But this man, after he had offered one sacrifice for sins for ever, sat down on the right hand of God" (7:27; 9:26; 10:12).

Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, suffered without the gate. Let us go forth therefore unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach" (13:11-13).

For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins." "sacrifices, which can never take away sins," "sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience" (10:1-4, 11; 9:9).

27. "In burnt offerings and sacrifices for sin thou hast had no pleasure" (10:6).

28. "He taketh away the first,

"By one offering he hath perfected for ever them that are sanctified" (10:14).

"Wherefore when he cometh into the world, he saith, Sacrifice and offering thou wouldst not, but a body hast thou prepared me. . . . Then said I, Lo, I come . . . to do thy will, O God" (10:5-7).

we are not to come unto the mount and the city

29. "Ye are not come unto the mount that might be touched, and that burned with fire, . . .

but ye are come unto mount Sion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, . . . and to Jesus the mediator of the new covenant. . . . See that ye refuse not him that speaketh" (12:18-25).

30. "Whose voice then shook the earth:

but now he hath promised, saying, Yet once more I shake not the earth only, but also heaven," "that those things which cannot be shaken may remain" (12:26, 27).

31. "God who . . . spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, Hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son" (1:1, 2).

32. ". . . as well as unto them."

"Unto us was the gospel preached" (4:2).

33. "Your fathers tempted me. . . . I was grieved with that generation, and said, They do alway err in their heart" (3:9, 10).

"Harden not your hearts. . . . Take heed, brethren, lest there be in any of you an evil heart of unbelief" (3:8-12).

34. "I swear in my wrath, They shall not enter my rest. . . . They could not enter in because of unbelief." "They to whom it was first preached entered not in. . . . If Jesus [Joshua] had given them rest, then would he not afterward have spoken of another day" (3:11-19; 4:6-8).

"Therefore remaineth therefore a rest to the people of God." "It remaineth that some must enter therein." "Let us therefore fear, lest. . . any of you should seem to come short of it." "Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of unbelief" (4:9, 6, 1, 11).

35. "If the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompense of reward;

How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord?" (2:2, 3).

36. "For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven" (12:25).

37. "He that despised Moses' law died without mercy under two or three witnesses:

Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, . . . and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?" (10:28, 29).

38. "By it [faith] the elders obtained a good report." "And these all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise:

God having provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect" (11:2, 39, 40).

39. "Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses,

Let us lay aside every weight, and the sin doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us, looking unto Jesus." "Seeing then that we have a great high priest, that is passed into the heavens, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold fast our profession. . . . Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need" (12:1, 2; 4:14, 16).

HEBREWS

The Supreme Position and Authority of Jesus Christ (1:1-2:18)

His Equality with the Father

- 1 God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets,
- 2 Hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds;
- 3 Who being the brightness of his glory, and the express image of his person, and upholding all things by the word of his power, when he had by himself purged our sins, sat down on the right hand of the Majesty on high;

His Superiority over Angels

- 4 Being made so much better than the angels, as he hath by inheritance obtained a more excellent name than they.
- 5 For unto which of the angels said he at any time, Thou art my Son, this day have I begotten thee? And again, I will be to him a Father, and he shall be to me a Son?
- 6 'And again, when he bringeth in the first-begotten into the world, he saith, And let all the angels of God worship him.
- 7 And of the angels he saith, Who maketh his angels spirits, and his ministers a flame of fire.
- 8 But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom.
- 9 Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows.
- 10 And, Thou, Lord, in the beginning hast laid the foundation of the earth; and the heavens are the works of thine hands:
- 11 They shall perish; but thou remainest; and they all shall wax old as doth a garment;
- 12 And as a vesture shalt thou fold them up, and they shall be changed: but thou art the same, and thy years shall not fail.

- 13 But to which of the angels said he at any time, Sit on my right hand, until I make thine enemies thy footstool?
- 14 Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?

The Importance of Accepting Salvation Provided in Christ

- 2 Therefore we ought to give the more earnest heed to the things which we have heard, lest at any time we should 'let them slip.
- 2 For if the word spoken by angels was stedfast, and every transgression and disobedience received a just recompence of reward;
- 3 How shall we escape, if we neglect so great salvation; which at the first began to be spoken by the Lord, and was confirmed unto us by them that heard him;
- 4 God also bearing them witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and 'gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will?

The Purpose of the Incarnation of Christ: The Exalted Destiny of the Human Race

- 5 For unto the angels hath he not put in subjection the world to come, whereof we speak,
- 6 But one in a certain place testified, saying, What is man, that thou art mindful of him? or the son of man, that thou visitest him?
- 7 Thou madest him 'a little lower than the angels; thou crownedst him with glory and honour, and didst set him over the works of thy hands:
- 8 Thou hast put all things in subjection under his feet. For in that he put all in subjection under him, he left nothing that is not put under him. But now we see not yet all things put under him.

1:3 (Col. 1:15; 2:9; 3:10; see EGW on John 1:14; Acts 1:11; 17:28; Eph. 1:20; 21; Heb. 2:14-18). The Personality of God.—[He [Christ] represented God not as an essence that pervaded nature, but as a God who has a personality. Christ was the express image of His Father's person, and He came to our world to restore in man God's moral image, in order that man, although fallen, might through obedience to God's commandments become entangled with the divine image and character—adorned with the beauty of divine loveliness (MS 24, 1891).

1:4-14. The Omnipotence of Jesus.—[Heb. 1:4-12 quoted.] In this language is represented the omnipotence of the Lord Jesus. He is introduced to the Bible student as the Creator of the world, and was its rightful Ruler. [Heb. 1:13, 14 quoted.]

The first chapter of Hebrews contrasts the position of the angels and the position of Christ. God has spoken words concerning Christ that are not to be applied to the angels. They are "sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation," but Christ, as Mediator, is the great Minister in the work of redemption. The Holy Spirit is His representative in our world, to execute the divine purpose of bringing to fallen man power from above, that he may be an overcomer. All who enter into a covenant with Jesus Christ become by adoption the children of God. They are cleansed by the regenerating power of the Word, and angels are commissioned to minister unto them (MS 57, 1907).

1:14 (see EGW on Acts 10:1-6; Rev. 5:11). Power and Efficiency for the Church.—[Divine ministrations are needed to give power and efficiency to the church in this world. God's family on earth, subject to temptations and trials, is very near to His heart of love. He has ordained that communication be kept up between heavenly intelligences and His children on this earth. Angels from the courts above are sent forth to minister to those who shall be heirs of salvation (MS 142, 1899).

(James 4:8.) Good Angels Restrain Satan.—God has angels whose whole work is to draw those who shall be heirs of salvation. Whenever one takes a step toward Jesus, Jesus is taking steps toward him. The angels' work is to keep back the powers of Satan (MS 17, 1893).

(Eph. 6:12.) To the Aid of Tempted Souls.—Heavenly angels are commissioned to watch the sheep of Christ's pasture. When Satan with his deceptive snares would deceive if possible the very elect, these angels set in operation influences that will save the tempted souls if they will take heed to the Word of the Lord, realize their danger, and say: "No, I will not enter into that scheme of Satan. I have an Elder Brother on the throne in heaven, who has shown that He has a tender interest in me, and I will not grieve His heart of love. I know and am assured that He is watching over His children, keeping them as the apple of His eye. There is no diminishing of His love. I will not grieve the heart of Christ; I will try not to become a tempter to others" (Letter 52, 1906).

(Rev. 5:9-12.) Angels Share in the Final Triumph.—As invisible agencies, angels are working through human beings to proclaim the commandments of God. Angels have far more to do with the human family than many suppose. Speaking of the angels, "Are they not all ministering spirits, sent forth to minister for them who shall be heirs of salvation?"

Holy angels will join in the song of the redeemed. Though they cannot sing from experimental knowledge, "He hath washed us in His own blood, and redeemed us unto God," yet they understand the great peril from which the people of God have been saved. Were they not sent to lift up for them a standard against the enemy? They can fully sympathize with the glowing ecstasy of those who have overcome by the blood of the Lamb and the word of their testimony (Letter 79, 1900).

Angels Cooperate With Human Agencies.—Holy, ministering agencies of heaven are cooperating with human agencies to lead into safe paths all who love truth and righteousness. It is the greatest joy of the angels of heaven to spread the shield of their tender love over souls who turn to God; and Satan fights determinedly to retain every soul that has had light and evidence. His fierce, unabated desire is to destroy every soul possible. Will you choose to stand under his banner?

Angelic agencies are standing firm, determined that he shall not obtain the victory. They would recover every soul in our world who is under Satan's banner if these poor souls would not so eagerly seek to keep out of and away from their merciful ministrations and rescuing power. Their deep and earnest love for the souls for whom Christ has died is beyond measurement. They would make these deceived souls intelligent in regard to how they might arm themselves and break the spell which Satan has cast upon them.

If they would only look unto Jesus, and for one moment discern truly, sincerely, what love has been expressed in the sacrifice which has been made for them! If only they could see the determined efforts of Satan to eclipse by his hellish shadow every ray of light that would come into the mind and heart of persons now dead in trespasses and sins! O that they would awake from their torpor as the whole world will soon awake by the trumpet of God, which will announce His appearing!

Angels are keeping back the destroying agencies; for they have an intense interest for these rebellious sons, and they want to help them to return to the fold in safety and peace, that they may finally be overcomers, and be saved, eternally saved with the family of God in heaven (MS 29, 1900).

(John 17:21.) Heavenly Atmosphere Brought to Earth.—The work of these heavenly beings is to prepare the inhabitants of this world to become children of God, pure, holy, undefiled. But men, though professing to be followers of Christ, do not place themselves in a position where they can understand this ministry, and thus the work of the heavenly messengers is made hard. The angels, who do always behold the face of the Father in heaven, would prefer to remain close by the side of God, in the pure and holy atmosphere of heaven; but a work must be done in bringing this heavenly atmosphere to the souls who are tempted and tried, that Satan may not disqualify them for the place the Lord would have them fill in the heavenly courts.

Principalities and powers in heavenly places combine with these angels in their ministration for those who shall be heirs of salvation. But how sad it is that this work is hindered by the coarseness, the roughness, the worldly-mindedness of men and women who are so desirous of securing their own ends, of gratifying their own wishes, that they lose sight of the Word of God, which should be their instructor and their guide.

The Lord gives to every angel his work for this fallen world. Divine help is provided for men and women. They have the opportunity of cooperating with the heavenly intelligences, of being laborers together with God. There is placed before them the possibility of gaining a fitness for the presence of God, of being enabled to see His face. Heavenly angels are working to bring the human family into a close brotherhood, a oneness described by Christ as like that existing between the Father and the Son. How can men so highly favored by God fail to appreciate their opportunities and privileges? How can they refuse to accept the divine help proffered? How much it is possible for human beings to gain if they will keep eternity in view!

Satanic agencies are always warring for the mastery over the human mind, but the angels of God are constantly at work, strengthening the weak hands and confirming the feeble knees of all who call upon God for help (RH July 4, 1899).

The Line of Heavenly Communication.—The angels of God are communicating with and guarding His people, and are pressing back the powers of darkness that they shall not have any control over those who shall be heirs of salvation. Are we working in harmony with the angels? This is the line of communication the Lord has established with the children of men (MS 1, 1890).

A Special Work for Each Angel.—The Lord Jesus has a special work appointed for each of the angelic family. Human agencies have also an appointed work to do in behalf of their own souls and the souls of others saved through their influence. The angels of God will make effectual the work of men.

They have an intense desire that human agencies shall come where they will find a refuge. The angels had a constant guardianship over Christ from His birth until His reception into the heavenly courts. . . . Angels are working through human agents who will be worked, to bring sinners to God.

O that those who are halting between two opinions could only understand the agencies continually at work to keep at bay the armies of the power of darkness! By presenting earthly advantages or earthly obstacles to defeat the purposes of God, and by various other methods, Satan would intercept every ray of light from the messengers of God. But if the curtain could be rolled back, and eyes now blind to the invisible agencies could view with restored spiritual vision the conflict continually going on in behalf of the souls perishing away from Christ, what a difference would be made in the working of the agencies in this world! Decided advance movements would be made. Without delay their entire influence for good would be thrown on the side of Christ. They would behold the intense interest of the angels of God in behalf of souls who are throwing away the opportunities and privileges now so valuable to them to obtain an experimental knowledge of God and of Jesus Christ whom He has sent (MS 29, 1900).

2:9. See EGW on Matt. 27:21, 22, 29.

2:10 (ch. 5:8, 9; Isa. 53:10.) Sundering of the Divine Powers.—The Captain of our salvation was perfected through suffering. His soul was made an offering for sin. It was necessary for the awful darkness to gather about His soul because of the withdrawal of the Father's love and favor; for He was standing in the sinner's place, and thus

Salvation Possible as a Result of the Incarnation

- 9 But we see Jesus, who was made a little lower than the angels ^{for} the suffering of death, crowned with glory and honour; that he by the grace of God should taste death for every man.
- 10 For it became him, for whom are all things, and by whom are all things, in bringing many sons unto glory, to make the captain of their salvation perfect through sufferings.
- 11 For both he that sanctifieth and they who are sanctified are all of one: for which cause he is not ashamed to call them brethren.
- 12 Saying, I will declare thy name unto my brethren, in the midst of the church will I sing praise unto thee.
- 13 And again, I will put my trust in him. And again, Behold I and the children which God hath given me.
- 14 Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil;
- 15 And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage.
- 16 For verily ^{he} took not on him the nature of angels; but he took on him the seed of Abraham.
- 17 Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people.
- 18 For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted.

darkness every sinner must experience. The righteous One must suffer the condemnation and wrath of God, not in vindictiveness; for the heart of God yearned with greatest sorrow when His Son, the guiltless, was suffering the penalty of sin. This sundering of the divine powers will never again occur throughout the eternal ages (MS 93, 1899).

2:14 (see EGW on Matt. 27:50; John 3:14-17). Satan Vanquished at the Cross.—He (Christ) vanquished Satan in the same nature over which in Eden Satan obtained the victory. The enemy was overcome by Christ in His human nature. The power of the Saviour's Godhead was hidden. He overcame in human nature, relying upon God for power (Y1 April 25, 1901).

(Ch. 12:3; Gen. 3:15; 2 Tim. 1:10; 1 Peter 2:24.) Christ Triumphant in Death.—Christ was nailed to the cross, but He gained the victory. The whole force of evil gathered itself together in an effort to destroy Him who was the Light of the world, the Truth that makes men wise unto salvation. But no advantage was gained by this confederacy. With every advance move, Satan was bringing nearer his eternal ruin. Christ was indeed enduring the contradiction of sinners against Himself. But every pang of suffering that He bore helped tear away the foundation of the enemy's kingdom. Satan bruised Christ's heel, but Christ bruised Satan's head. Through death the Saviour destroyed him that had the power of death. In the very act of grasping his prey, death was vanquished; for by dying, Christ brought to light life and immortality through the gospel.

Never was the Son of God more beloved by His Father, by the heavenly family, and by the inhabitants of the unfallen worlds, than when He humbled Himself to bear disgrace, humiliation, shame, and abuse. By becoming the sin bearer, He lifted from the human race the curse of sin. In His own body He paid the penalty of that on which the power of Satan over humanity is founded—sin (YI June 28, 1900).

2:14-18 (ch. 1:3; John 1:1-3, 14; Phil. 2:5-8; see EGV on Mark 16:6; Luke 22:44; Rom. 5:12-19; Heb. 3:1-3). God Reached Humanity Through Humanity.—Christ alone was able to represent the Deity. He who had been in the presence of the Father from the beginning. He who was the express image of the invisible God, was alone sufficient to accomplish this work. No verbal description could reveal God to the world. Through a life of purity, a life of perfect trust and submission to the will of God, a life of humiliation such as even the highest seraph in heaven would have shrunk from, God Himself must be revealed to humanity. In order to do this, our Saviour clothed His divinity with humanity. He employed the human faculties, for only by adopting these could He be comprehended by humanity. Only humanity could reach humanity. He lived out the character of God through the human body which God had prepared for Him. He blessed the world by living out in human flesh the life of God, thus showing that He had the power to unite humanity to divinity (RH June 25, 1895).

Christ Took Our Place in the Universe.—Under the mighty impulse of His love, He took our place in the universe, and invited the Ruler of all things to treat Him as a representative of the human family. He identified Himself with our interests, bared His breast for the stroke of death, took man's guilt and its penalty, and offered in man's behalf a complete sacrifice to God. By virtue of this atonement, He has power to offer to man perfect righteousness and full salvation. Whosoever shall believe on Him as a personal Saviour shall not perish, but have everlasting life (RH April 18, 1893).

Christ Met Man as Man.—Leaving the royal courts of heaven Christ came to our world to represent the character of His Father, and thus help humanity to return to their loyalty. The image of Satan was upon men, and Christ came that He might bring to them moral power and efficiency. He came as a helpless babe, bearing the humanity we bear. "As the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same." He could not come in the form of an angel; for unless He met man as man, and testified by His connection with God that divine power was not given to Him in a different way to what it will be given to us, He could not be a perfect example for us. He came in humility, in order that the humblest being upon the face of the earth could have no excuse because of his poverty, or ignorance, and say, "Because of these things, I cannot obey the law of Jehovah." Christ clothed His divinity with humanity, that humanity might touch humanity; that He might live with humanity and bear all the trials and afflictions of man. He was tempted in all points like as we are, yet without sin. In His humanity He understood all the temptations that will come to man (MS 21, 1895).

(1 Tim. 2:5; 1 John 2:1, 2; Rev. 3:4.) The Subdued Glory of the Human Christ.—As we view Christ by the eye of faith, we see the necessity of becoming pure in thought and holy in character. Christ invites us to draw near to Him, and promises that He will draw nigh to us. Looking upon Him, we behold the invisible God, who clothed His divinity with humanity in order that through humanity He might shed forth a subdued and softened glory, so that our eyes might be enabled to rest upon Him, and our souls not be extinguished by His undimmed splendor. We behold God through Christ, our Creator and Redeemer. It is our privilege to contemplate Jesus by faith, and see Him standing between humanity and the eternal throne. He is our Advocate, presenting our prayers and offerings as spiritual sacrifices to God. Jesus is the great sinless propitiation, and through His merit, God and man may hold converse together.

Christ has carried His humanity into eternity. He stands before God as the representative of our race. When we are clothed with the wedding garment of His righteousness, we become one with Him, and He says of us, "They shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy." His saints will behold Him in His glory, with no dimming veil between (YI Oct. 28, 1897).

(Isa. 59:20.) Human Nature but Not Human Sinfulness.—He [Christ] was to take His position at the head of humanity by taking the nature but not the sinfulness of man. In heaven was heard the voice, "The Redeemer shall come to Zion, and unto them that turn from transgression in Jacob, saith the Lord" (ST May 29, 1901).

(Ch. 9:11-14, 22; Ruth 4:13, 14.) God of the Living and the Dead.—As the sin bearer, and priest and representative of man before God, He entered into the life of humanity, bearing our flesh and blood. The life is in the living, vital current of blood, which blood was given for the life of the world. Christ made a full atonement, giving His life as a ransom for us. He was born without a taint of sin, but came into the world in like manner as the human family. He did not have a mere semblance of a body, but He took human nature, participating in the life of humanity.

According to the law Christ Himself gave, the forfeited inheritance was ransomed by the nearest of kin. Jesus Christ laid off His royal robe, His kingly crown, and clothed His divinity with humanity, in order to become a substitute and surety for humanity, that dying in humanity He might by His death destroy him who had the power of death. He could not have done this as God, but by coming as man Christ could die. By death He overcame death. The death of Christ bore to the death him who had the power of death, and opened the gates of the tomb for all who receive Him as their personal Saviour.

Christ proclaimed over the rent sepulcher of Joseph, "I am the resurrection and the life." He, the world's Redeemer, has bruised the serpent's head, depriving him of all power ever to make men feel his scorpion sting; for He has brought life and immortality to light. The gates of eternal life are thrown open to all who believe on Jesus Christ. All believers who pass through a natural death, have, through eating the flesh and drinking the blood of the Son of God, eternal life in them, which is the life of Jesus Christ. In dying, Jesus has made it impossible for those who believe on Him to die eternally.

Christ lived and died as a man, that He might be God both of the living and of the dead. It was to make it impossible for men to lose eternal life if they believe on Him. The life of men and women is precious in the sight of God, for Christ has purchased that life by being executed in their stead. Thus He made it possible for us to attain to immortality (Letter 97, 1898).

Creator and Creature United in Christ.—In Christ were united the divine and the human—the Creator and the creature. The nature of God, whose law had been transgressed, and the nature of Adam, the transgressor, meet in Jesus—the Son of God, and the Son of man. And having with His own blood paid the price of redemption, having passed through man's experience, having in man's behalf met and conquered temptation, having, though Himself sinless, borne the shame and guilt and burden of sin, He becomes man's Advocate and Intercessor. What an assurance here to the tempted and struggling soul, what an assurance to the witnessing universe, that Christ will be "a merciful and faithful high priest" (MS 141, 1901).

E Edenic Mind of Man Restored.—Jesus became a man that He might mediate between man and God. He clothed His divinity with humanity, He associated with the human race, that with His long human arm He might encircle humanity, and with His divine arm grasp the throne of Divinity. And this, that He might restore to man the original mind which he lost in Eden through Satan's alluring temptation; that man might realize that it is for his present and eternal good to obey the requirements of God. Disobedience is not in accordance with the nature which God gave to man in Eden (Letter 121, 1897).

(2 Peter 1:4.) A Divine Culture for Christians.—Divine culture brings perfection. If in connection with God the work is carried forward, the human agent, through Christ, will day by day gain victory and honor in the battle. Through the grace given he will overcome, and will be placed on vantage ground. In his relation to Christ he will be bone of His bone, flesh of His flesh, one with Christ in a peculiar relationship, because Christ took the humanity of man. He became subject to temptation, endangering as it were, His divine attributes. Satan sought, by the constant and curious devices of his cunning, to make Christ yield to temptation. Man must pass over the ground over which Christ has passed. As Christ overcame every temptation which Satan brought against Him, so man is to overcome. And those who strive earnestly to overcome are brought into a oneness with Christ that the angels in heaven can never know.

The divine culture of men and women will be carried forward to completion only as they are partakers of the divine nature. Thus they may overcome as Christ overcame in their behalf. Through the grace given, fallen man may be placed on vantage ground. Through toil, through patient trust and faith in Jesus Christ, through faithful continuance in well-doing, he may rise to spiritual victory (Letter 5, 1900).

Full Obedience Possible Through Christ.—Christ came to the earth, taking humanity and standing as man's representative, to show in the controversy with Satan that man, as God created him, connected with the Father and the Son, could obey every divine requirement (ST June 9, 1898).

2:16 (Phil. 2:5-8). Jesus the Friend of Sinners.—Jesus came to the world not as an angel of light; we could not have endured His glory if He had come thus. One angel at the tomb of Christ was of such exceeding brightness that the Roman guard fell powerless to the ground. As the angel came from the heavens, he parted the darkness from his track, and the sentinels could not endure his glory; they fell as dead men to the earth. Suppose that Jesus had come in the glory of an angel. His brightness would have extinguished the feeble life of mortal men.

For our sake Jesus emptied Himself of His glory; He clothed His divinity with humanity that He might touch humanity, that His personal presence might be among us, that we might know that He was acquainted with all our trials, and sympathized with our grief, that every son and daughter of Adam might understand that Jesus is the friend of sinners (ST April 18, 1892).

Not Angelic but Human Nature.—The Lord Jesus has made a great sacrifice in order to meet man where he is. He took not on Him the nature of angels. He did not come to save angels. It is the seed of Abraham that He is helping. "I came not to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." Christ helps humanity by taking human nature (Letter 97, 1898).

2:17 (Phil. 2:7, 8; Col. 2:10; 2 Peter 1:4; see EGW on Heb. 4:14-16). Christ Took Humanity Into Himself.—By His obedience to all the commandments of God, Christ wrought out a redemption for man. This was not done by going out of Himself to another, but by taking humanity into Himself. Thus Christ gave to humanity an existence out of Himself. To bring humanity into Christ, to bring the fallen race into oneness with divinity, is the work of redemption. Christ took human nature that men might be one with Him as He is one with the Father, that God may love man as He loves His only-begotten Son, that men may be partakers of the divine nature, and be complete in Him (RII April 5, 1906).

2:18 (chs. 4:15; 5:7, 8; John 14:30; see EGW on Matt. 4:1-11; 1 John 2:1). The Refined Sensibilities of Jesus.—Would that we could comprehend the significance of the words, Christ "suffered being tempted." While He was free from the taint of sin, the refined sensibilities of His holy nature rendered contact with evil unspeakably painful to Him. Yet with human nature upon Him, He met the archapostate face to face, and single-handed withstood the foe of His throne. Not even by a thought could Christ be brought to yield to the power of temptation.

Satan finds in human hearts some point where he can gain a foothold; some sinful desire is cherished, by means of which his temptations assert their power. But Christ declared of Himself, "The prince of this world cometh, and hath nothing in me." The storms of temptation burst upon Him, but they could not cause Him to swerve from His allegiance to God (RH Nov. 8, 1887).

Jesus Not Pulled or Crowded Into Sin.—Have we forgotten that Jesus, the Majesty of heaven, suffered being tempted? Jesus did not allow the enemy to pull Him into the mire of unbelief, or crowd Him into the mire of despondency and despair. But many poor souls are feeble in moral power because they do not do the words of Christ (Letter 43, 1892).

Power Assured for the Children of Faith.—Christ in the weakness of humanity was to meet the temptations of one possessing the powers of the higher nature that God had bestowed on the angelic family. But Christ's humanity was united with divinity, and in this strength He would bear all the temptations that Satan could bring against Him, and yet keep His soul untainted by sin. And this power to overcome He would give to every son and daughter of Adam who would accept by faith the righteous attributes of His character (RII Jan. 28, 1909).

3:1-3 (chs. 1:6-8; 2:14-18; Phil. 2:5-8). A Heavier Retribution Than Israel's.—[Heb. 3:1-3 quoted.] Because of the unbelief manifested toward Christ, the originator and foundation of the whole Jewish economy, a heavier retribution will come upon men than befell unbelieving Israel in the wilderness. Moses was the prophet by whom God communicated to the church in the wilderness; but great as was Moses, a greater than he is the Son of God, who builded the house.

The presence of Jesus Christ, enshrouded in the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night, followed this people in their wilderness wandering. The Angel of the covenant came in the name of God, as the invisible leader of Israel. The Son of God over His own house is higher than Moses, higher than the highest angel. He bears the name of Jehovah upon His miter, while on His breastplate is written the name of Israel. Christ took humanity that humanity might touch humanity. In the form of man He humbled Himself, and became a servant, but as the Son of God He was higher than the angels. By His life in humanity man may become a partaker of the divine nature. As the Majesty of heaven, He was exalted above the angels, and in His work of redemption He carries with Him all who have received Him and believed on His name (Letter 97, 1898).

3:12 (ch. 11:6). No Encouragement Given for Unbelief.—There is no encouragement given for unbelief. The Lord manifests His grace and His power over and over again, and this should teach us that it is always profitable under all circumstances to cherish faith, to talk faith, to act faith. We are not to have our hearts and hands weakened by allowing the suggestions of suspicious minds to plant in our hearts the seeds of doubt and distrust [Heb. 3:12 quoted] (Letter 97, 1898).

Study to Believe and Obey.—The Lord works in cooperation with the will and action of the human agent. It is the privilege and duty of every man to take God at His word, to believe in Jesus as his personal Saviour, and to respond eagerly, immediately, to the gracious propositions which He makes. He is to study to believe and obey the divine instruction in the Scriptures. He is to base his faith not on feeling but upon the evidence and the Word of God (MS 3, 1895).

4:1. See EGW on 2 Cor. 5:11.

4:9, 11 (see EGW on Prov. 31:27). The Rest Obtained by Labor.—[Heb. 4:9, 11 quoted.] The rest here spoken of is the rest of grace, obtained by following the prescription, Labor diligently. Those who learn of Jesus His meekness and lowliness find rest in the experience of practicing His lessons. It is not in indolence, in selfish ease and pleasure-seeking, that rest is obtained. Those who are unwilling to give the Lord faithful, earnest, loving service will not find spiritual rest in this life or in the life to come. Only from earnest labor comes peace and joy in the Holy Spirit—happiness on earth and glory hereafter.

Let us therefore labor. Speak often words that will be a strength and an inspiration to those who hear. We are alto-

- sinned, whose carcasses fell in the wilderness?
 18 And to whom sware he that they should not enter into his rest, but to them that believed not?
 19 So we see that they could not enter in because of unbelief.

An Appeal to Enter into God's "Rest" through Faith in Christ: Evidence That the Promise of "Rest" Remains Valid

- 4 Let us therefore fear, lest, a promise being left us of entering into his rest, any of you should seem to come short of it.
 2 For unto us was the gospel preached, as well as unto them: but ^{the} word preached did not profit them, ^{not} being mixed with faith in them that heard it.
 3 For we which have believed do enter into rest, as he said, As I have sworn in my wrath, if they shall enter into my rest; although the works were finished from the foundation of the world.
 4 For he spake in a certain place of the seventh day on this wise, And God did rest the seventh day from all his works.
 5 And in this place again. If they shall enter into my rest.
 6 Seeing therefore it remaineth that some must enter therein, and they to whom ^{it} was first preached entered not in because of unbelief:
 7 Again, he limiteth a certain day, saying in David, To day, after so long a time; as it is said, To day if ye will hear his voice, harden not your hearts.
 8 For if ^{Jesus} had given them rest, then would he not afterward have spoken of another day.
 9 There remaineth therefore a ^{rest} to the people of God.
 10 For he that is entered into his rest, he also hath ceased from his own works, as God did from his.
 11 Let us labour therefore to enter into that rest, lest any man fall after the same example of ^{unbelief}.

15 For we have not an high priest which cannot be touched with the feeling of our infirmities; but was in all points tempted like as we are, yet without sin.

16 Let us therefore come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need.

Christ Appointed High Priest by the Father (5:1-10)

The Function of a High Priest

5 For every high priest taken from among men is ordained for men in things pertaining to God, that he may offer both gifts and sacrifices for sins:

2 Who ^{can} have compassion on the ignorant, and on them that are out of the way; for that he himself also is compassed with infirmity.

3 And by reason hereof he ought, as for the people, so also for himself, to offer for sins.

The Appointment of Christ

4 And no man taketh this honour unto himself, but he that is called of God, as was Aaron.

5 So also Christ glorified not himself to be made an high priest; but he that said unto him, Thou art my Son, to day have I begotten thee.

6 As he saith also in another place, Thou art a priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.

Christ's Preparation to Serve as High Priest

4:14 (chs. 3:6, 14; 10:23; see EGW on Rev. 3:3). Questions to Ponder.—[Heb. 4:14 quoted.] What is our profession? We profess to be following Christ. We claim to be Christians. Do we, then, reveal the Christlikeness? Do we serve the Saviour intelligently? Does the love of God continually flow from us to others? Do we, in word and action, confess our Redeemer? Do we conform our lives to His holy principles? Are we pure and undivided? Christians must hold the beginning of their confidence firm unto the end. It is not enough to profess the faith. There must be a patient endurance of all trials and a brave resistance to all temptations. Faith can be maintained only by bringing the Christian religion to the test of practice, thus demonstrating its transforming power and the faithfulness of its promises (MS 42, 1901).

4:12 (see EGW on John 17:17). Cutting Away the Surplus of Self.—Practical truth must be brought into the life, and the Word, like a sharp, two-edged sword, must cut away the surplus of self that there is in our characters [Heb. 4:12 quoted] (Letter 5, 1897).

Transforming Power of the Word.—The Word makes the proud humble, the perverse meek and contrite, the disobedient obedient. The sinful habits natural to man are interwoven with the daily practice. But the Word cuts away the fleshly lusts. It is a discernor of the thoughts and intents of the mind. It divides the joints and marrow, cutting away the lusts of the flesh, making men willing to suffer for their Lord (MS 42, 1901).

An Admonition to Acceptance of Christ as High Priest (5:11-6:20)

The Slowness of Many to Understand Christ's Role as High Priest

- 11 Of whom we have many things to say, and hard to be uttered, seeing ye are dull of hearing.
- 12 For when for the time ye ought to be teachers, ye have need that one teach you again which be the first principles of the oracles of God; and are become such as have need of milk, and not of strong meat.

- 14 But strong meat belongeth to them that are of full age, even those who by reason of use have their senses exercised to discern both good and evil.

The Writer's Confidence That His Readers Will Grow in Understanding

- 6 Therefore leaving ^{the} principles of the doctrine of Christ, let us go on unto perfection; not laying again the foundation of repentance from dead works, and of faith toward God,

The Certainty of the Christian Hope

- 13 For when God made promise to Abraham, because he could swear by no greater, he swore by himself,
- 14 Saying, Surely blessing I will bless thee, and multiplying I will multiply thee.
- 15 And so, after he had patiently endured, he obtained the promise.

- 18 That by two immutable things, in which it was impossible for God to lie, we might have a strong consolation, who have fled for refuge to lay hold upon the hope set before us:
- 19 Which hope we have as an anchor of the soul, both sure and stedfast, and which entereth into that within the veil;
- 20 Whither the forerunner is for us entered, even Jesus, made an high priest for ever after the order of Melchisedec.

Son of God . . . has fulfilled His pledge, and has passed into the heavens, to take upon Himself the government of the heavenly host. He fulfilled one phase of His priesthood by dying on the cross for the fallen race. He is now fulfilling another phase by pleading before the Father the case of the repenting, believing sinner, presenting to God the offerings of His people. Having taken human nature and in this nature having overcome the temptations of the enemy, and having divine perfection, to Him has been committed the judgment of the world. The case of each one will be brought in review before Him. He will pronounce judgment, rendering the every man according to his works (MS 42, 1901).

4:15 (ch. 3:14; Matt. 4:11-11; 19:17; John 10:30; 2 Peter 1:4; Rev. 3:21; see EGW on Mark 16:6; John 1:1-3, 14; Rom. 5:12-19; Col. 2:9, 10; 1 John 2:1). No trace of imperfection in Christ.—Those who claim that it was not possible for Christ to sin, cannot believe that He really took upon Himself human nature. But was not Christ actually tempted, not only by Satan in the wilderness, but all through His life, from childhood to manhood? In all points He was tempted as we are, and because He successfully resisted temptation under every form. He gave man the perfect example, and through the ample provision Christ has made, we may become partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption which is in the world through lust.

Jesus says, "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." Here is the beginning of our confidence which we must hold steadfast unto the end. If Jesus resisted Satan's temptations. He will help us to resist. He came to bring divine power to combine with human effort.

Jesus was free from all sin and error; there was not a trace of imperfection in His life or character. He maintained spotless purity under circumstances the most trying. True, He declared, "There is none good but one, that is, God"; but again He said, "I and my Father are one." Jesus speaks of Himself as well as the Father as God, and claims for Himself perfect righteousness (MS 141, 1901).

The Obedience of a God or a Man?—Christ's overcoming and obedience is that of a true human being. In our conclusions, we make many mistakes because of our erroneous views of the human nature of our Lord. When we give to His human nature a power that it is not possible for man to have in his conflicts with Satan, we destroy the completeness of His humanity. His imputed grace and power He gives to all who receive Him by faith.

The obedience of Christ to His Father was the same obedience that is required of man. Man cannot overcome Satan's temptations without divine power to combine with his instrumentality. So with Jesus Christ: He could lay hold of divine power. He came not to our world to give the obedience of a lesser God to a greater, but as a man to obey God's holy law; and in this way He is our example. The Lord Jesus came to our world, not to reveal what a God could do, but what a man could do, through faith in God's power to help in every emergency. Man is, through faith, to be a partaker in the divine nature, and to overcome every temptation wherewith he is beset.

The Lord now demands that every son and daughter of Adam, through faith in Jesus Christ, serve Him in human nature which we now have. The Lord Jesus has bridged the gulf that sin has made. He has connected earth with heaven, and finite man with the infinite God. Jesus, the world's Redeemer, could only keep the commandments of God in the same way that humanity can keep them (MS 1, 1892).

(Ch. 2:14.) Christ Kept the Level of Humanity.—Satan thought that by his temptations he could delude the world's Redeemer to make one bold move in manifesting His divine power. . . .

It was a difficult task for the Prince of life to carry out the plan which He had undertaken for the salvation of man, in clothing His divinity with humanity. He had received honor in the heavenly courts, and was familiar with absolute power. It was as difficult for Him to keep the level of humanity as for men to rise above the low level of their depraved natures, and be partakers of the divine nature.

Christ was put to the closest test, requiring the strength of all His faculties to resist the inclination when in danger, to use His power to deliver Himself from peril, and triumph over the power of the prince of darkness. Satan showed his knowledge of the weak points of the human heart, and put forth his utmost power to take advantage of the weakness of the humanity which Christ had assumed in order to overcome his temptations on man's account (RH April 1, 1875).

No Particular Adaptation for Obedience.—We need not place the obedience of Christ by itself, as something for which He was particularly adapted, by His particular divine nature, for He stood before God as man's representative and was tempted as man's substitute and surety. If Christ had a special power which it is not the privilege of man to have, Satan would have made capital of this matter. The work of Christ was to take from the claims of Satan his control of man, and He could do this only in the way that He came—a man, tempted as a man, rendering the obedience of a man (MS 1, 1892).

(2 Cor. 5:19) God Endured Temptation in Christ.—God was in Christ in human form, and endured all the temptations wherewith man was beset; in our behalf He participated in the suffering and trials of sorrowful human nature (SW Dec. 10, 1907).

5:5, 6 (ch. 4:15, 16; 1 John 2:1). Christ Appointed to the Priesthood.—Christ glorified not Himself in being made high Priest. God gave Him His appointment to the priesthood. He was to be an example to all the human family. He qualified Himself to be, not only the representative of the race, but their Advocate, so that every soul if he will may say, I have a Friend at court. He is a High Priest that can be touched with the feelings of our infirmities (MS 101, 1897).

A Faith That Pierces the Veil.—Our faith must pierce beyond the veil, seeing things that are invisible. No one else can look for you. You must behold for yourself. In the place of murmuring for blessings that are withheld, let us remember and appreciate the blessings already bestowed (MS 42, 1901).

7:17 (Gen. 14:18-20; Ps. 110:4). A High Priest After the Order of Melchisedec.—The high priest was designed in an especial manner to represent Christ, who was to become a high priest forever after the order of Melchisedec. This order of priesthood was not to pass to another, or be superseded by another (Redemption: The First Advent of Christ, p. 14).

He is interceding for us. By His work the threshold of heaven is flushed with the glory of God which will shine upon every soul who will open the windows of the soul heavenward. As the prayers of the sincere and contrite ones ascend to heaven Christ says to the Father, "I will take their sins. Let them stand before you innocent." As He takes their sins from them, He fills their hearts with the glorious light of truth and love (MS 28, 1901).

(Ch. 8:1, 2; 2 Peter 1:10; Rev. 8:3, 4.) The Terms of Our Election.—[Heb. 7:25 quoted.] By His spotless life, His obedience, His death on the cross of Calvary, Christ interceded for the lost race. And now not as a mere petitioner does the Captain of our salvation intercede for us, but as a conqueror claiming His victory. His offering is complete, and as our intercessor He executes His self-appointed work, holding before God the censor containing His own spotless merits and the prayers, confessions, and thanksgiving of His people. Perfumed with the fragrance of His righteousness, the incense ascends to God as a sweet savor. The offering is wholly acceptable, and pardon covers all transgression. To the true believer Christ is indeed the minister of the sanctuary, officiating for him in the sanctuary, and speaking through God's appointed agencies.

Christ is able to save to the uttermost all who come to Him in faith. He will cleanse them from all defilement if they will let Him. But if they cling to their sins, they cannot possibly be saved; for Christ's righteousness covers no sin unrepented of. God has declared that those who receive Christ as their Redeemer, accepting Him as the One who takes away all sin, will receive pardon for their transgressions. These are the terms of our election. Man's salvation depends upon his receiving Christ by faith. Those who will not receive Him lose eternal life because they refused to avail themselves of the only means provided by the Father and the Son for the salvation of a perishing world (MS 112, 1899).

Personal Character of Christ's Intercession.—Christ is watching. He knows all about our burdens, our dangers, and our difficulties; and He fills His mouth with arguments in our behalf. He fills His intercessions to the needs of each soul, as He did in the case of Peter. . . . Our Advocate fills His mouth with arguments to teach His tried, tempted ones to brace against Satan's temptations. He interprets every movement of the enemy. He orders events (Letter 90, 1906).

Christ as High Priest After the Order of Melchisedec (7:1-28)

The Exalted Position of Melchisedec

- 7 For this Melchisedec, king of Salem, priest of the most high God, who met Abraham returning from the slaughter of the kings, and blessed him;
- 2 To whom also Abraham gave a tenth part of all; first being by interpretation King of righteousness, and after that also King of Salem, which is, King of peace;
- 3 Without father, without mother, 'without descent, having neither beginning of days, nor end of life; but made like unto the Son of God; abideth a priest continually.
- 4 Now consider how great this man was, unto whom even the patriarch Abraham gave the tenth of the spoils.

The Melchisedec Priesthood Prior and Superior to the Aaronic Priesthood

- 5 And verily they that are of the sons of Levi, who receive the office of the priesthood, have a commandment to take tithes of the people according to the law, that is, of their brethren, though they come out of the loins of Abraham:
- 6 But he whose 'descent is not counted from them received tithes of Abraham, and blessed him that had the promises.

the Christian church. . . . The church on earth, composed of those who are faithful and loyal to God, is the "true tabernacle," whereof the Redeemer is the minister. God, and not man, pitched this tabernacle on a high, elevated platform.

This tabernacle is Christ's body, and from north, south, east, and west He gathers those who shall help to compose it. . . . A holy tabernacle is built up of those who receive Christ as their personal saviour. . . . Christ is the minister of the true tabernacle, the high priest of all who believe in Him as a personal Saviour (ST Heb. 14, 1900).

The Lord specifies, I will do thus and thus unto all who turn to Me, forsaking the evil and choosing the good. "I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more." All who humble their hearts, confessing their sins, will find mercy and grace and assurance. Has God, in showing mercy to the sinner, ceased to be just? Has He dishonored His holy law, and will He henceforth pass over the violation of it? God is true. He changes not. The conditions of salvation are ever the same. Life, eternal life, is for all who will obey God's law. . . .

Under the new covenant, the conditions by which eternal life may be gained are the same as under the old—perfect obedience. Under the old covenant, there were many offenses of a daring, presumptuous character, for which there was no atonement specified by law. In the new and better covenant, Christ has fulfilled the law for the transgressors of law, if they receive Him by faith as a personal Saviour. "As many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God." Mercy and forgiveness are the reward of all who come to Christ trusting in

- 9 Then verily the first covenant had also ordinances of divine service, and a worldly sanctuary.
- 2 For there was a tabernacle made: the first, wherein was the candlestick, and the table, and the shewbread; which is called the sanctuary.
- 3 And after the second veil, the tabernacle which is called the Holiest of all;
- 4 Which had the golden censer, and the ark of the covenant overlaid round about with gold, wherein was the golden pot that had manna, and Aaron's rod that budded, and the tables of the covenant;
- 5 And over it the cherubims of glory shadowing the mercyseat; of which we cannot now speak particularly.
- 6 Now when these things were thus ordained, the priests went always into the first tabernacle, accomplishing the service of God.
- 7 But into the second went the high priest alone once every year, not without blood, which he offered for himself, and for the errors of the people:

8:6, 7 (chs. 7:22, 10:19, 20; 13:20; Matt. 27:51; Luke 10:27, 28; 2 Cor. 3:6-9). Terms of God's Covenant.—God's people are justified through the administration of the "better covenant," through Christ's righteousness. A covenant is an agreement by which parties bind themselves and each other to the fulfillment of certain conditions. Thus the human agent enters into agreement with God to comply with the conditions specified in His Word. His conduct shows whether or not he respects these conditions.

Man gains everything by obeying the covenant-keeping God. God's attributes are imparted to man, enabling him to exercise mercy and compassion. God's covenant assures us of His unchangeable character. Why, then, are those who claim to believe in God changeable, fickle, untrustworthy? Why do they not do service heartily, as under obligation to please and glorify God? It is not enough for us to have a general idea of God's requirements. We must know for ourselves what His requirements and our obligations are. The terms of God's covenant are, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and with all thy soul, and with all thy strength, and with all thy mind; and thy neighbour as thyself." These are the conditions of life. "This do," Christ said, "and thou shalt live."

Christ's death and resurrection completed His covenant. Before this time, it was revealed through types and shadows, which pointed to the great offering to be made by the world's Redeemer, offered in promise for the sins of the world. Anciently believers were saved by the same Saviour as now, but it was a God veiled. They saw God's mercy in figures. The promise given to Adam and Eve in Eden was the gospel to a fallen race. The promise was and divers washings, and carnal ordinances, imposed on them until the time of reformation.

11 But Christ being come an high priest of good things to come, by a greater and more perfect tabernacle, not made with hands, that is to say, not of this building;

12 Neither by the blood of goats and calves, but by his own blood he entered in once into the holy place, having obtained eternal redemption for us.

13 For if the blood of bulls and of goats, and the ashes of an heifer sprinkling the unclean, sanctifieth to the purifying of the flesh:

14 How much more shall the blood of Christ, who through the eternal Spirit offered himself without spot to God, purge your conscience from dead works to serve the living God?

Christ as Mediator of the New Covenant: Ratification of the Old Covenant and Dedication of His Sanctuary by Blood

15 And for this cause he is the mediator of the new testament, that by means of death, for the redemption of the transgressions that were under the first testament, they which are called might receive the promise of eternal inheritance.

16 For where a testament is, there must also of necessity be the death of the testator.

17 For a testament is of force after men are dead: otherwise it is of no strength at all while the testator liveth.

18 Whereupon neither the first testament was dedicated without blood.

19 For when Moses had spoken every precept to all the people according to the law, he took the blood of calves and of goats, with water, and scarlet wool, and hyssop, and sprinkled both the book, and all the people.

20 Saying, This is the blood of the testament which God hath enjoined unto you.

21 Moreover he sprinkled with blood both the tabernacle, and all the vessels of the ministry.

22 And almost all things are by the law purged with blood; and without shedding

The Blood of Christ Makes the New Covenant Effective

23 It was therefore necessary that the patterns of things in the heavens should be purified with these; but the heavenly things themselves with better sacrifices than these.

24 For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us:

25 Nor yet that he should offer himself often, as the high priest entereth into the holy place every year with blood of others;

26 For then must he often have suffered since the foundation of the world: but now once in the end of the world hath he appeared to put away sin by the sacrifice of himself.

27 And as it is appointed unto men once to die, but after this the judgment:

28 So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation.

*Christ's Sacrifice Superior to Animal Sacrifices:
The Ineffectiveness of Animal Sacrifices*

10 For the law having a shadow of good things to come, and not the very image of the things, can never with those sacrifices which they offered year by year continually make the comers thereunto perfect.

2 For then would they not have ceased to be offered? because that the worshippers once purged should have had no more conscience of sins.

3 But in those sacrifices there is a remembrance again made of sins every year.

4 For it is not possible that the blood of bulls and of goats should take away sins.

The Efficacy and Permanence of Christ's Sacrifice

5 Wherefore when he cometh into the world, he saith, Sacrifice and offering thou wouldest not, but a body hast thou prepared me:

made that the seed of the woman should bruise the serpent's head, and it should bruise His heel. Christ's sacrifice is the glorious fulfillment of the whole Jewish economy. The Sun of Righteousness has risen. Christ our righteousness is shining in brightness upon us.

God did not lessen His claim upon men in order to save them. When as a sinless offering Christ bowed His head and died, when by the Almighty's unseen hand the veil of the temple was rent in twain, a new and living way was opened. All can now approach God through the merits of Christ. It is because the veil has been rent that men can draw nigh to God. They need not depend on priest or ceremonial sacrifice. Liberty is given to all to go directly to God through a personal Saviour.

It is God's pleasure and will that the blessings bestowed on man shall be given in perfect completeness. He has made provision that every difficulty may be overcome, every want supplied through the Holy Spirit. Thus He designs that man shall perfect a Christian character. God would have us contemplate His love. His promises, given so freely to those who have no merit in themselves. He would have us depend fully, gratefully, rejoicingly, in the righteousness provided for us in Christ. To all who come to God in His appointed way, He freely listens (MS 148, 1897).

9:11, 12 (chs. 7:25; 8:6; see EGW on ch. 9:24). The Rewards of Christ's Sacrifice.—Christ's priestly intercession is now going on in the sanctuary above in our behalf. But how few have a real understanding of our great High Priest presents before the Father His own blood, claiming for the sinner who receives Him as his personal Saviour all the graces which His covenant embraces as the reward of His sacrifice. This sacrifice made Him abundantly able to save to the uttermost all that come unto God by Him, seeing He liveth to make intercession for them (MS 92,

An Appeal to Faithfulness and Godly Living (10:23-13:17)

In View of the Day of Judgment and the Coming of Christ

- 23 Let us hold fast the profession of our faith without wavering: (for he is faithful that promised:)
- 24 And let us consider one another to provoke unto love and to good works:
- 25 Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is; but exhorting one another: and so much the more, as ye see the day approaching.
- 26 For if we sin wilfully after that we have received the knowledge of the truth, there remaineth no more sacrifice for sins.
- 27 But a certain fearful looking for of judgment and fiery indignation, which shall devour the adversaries.
- 28 He that despised Moses' law died without mercy under two or three witnesses:
- 29 Of how much sorer punishment, suppose ye, shall he be thought worthy, who hath trodden under foot the Son of God, and hath counted the blood of the covenant, wherewith he was sanctified, an unholy thing, and hath done despite unto the Spirit of grace?
- 30 For we know him that hath said, Vengeance belongeth unto me, I will recompense, saith the Lord. And again, The Lord shall judge his people.
- 31 It is a fearful thing to fall into the hands of the living God.
- 32 But call to remembrance the former days, in which, after ye were illuminated, ye endured a great fight of afflictions:
- 33 Partly, whilst ye were made a gazestock both by reproaches and afflictions; and partly, whilst ye became companions of them that were so used.
- 34 For ye had compassion of me in my bonds, and took joyfully the spoiling of your goods, knowing in yourselves that ye have in heaven a better and an enduring substance.
- 35 Cast not away therefore your confidence, which hath great recompence of reward.
- 36 For ye have need of patience, that, after ye have done the will of God, ye might

9:11-14, 22 (John 1:29; Rev. 13:8; see EGW on Rom. 8:34; Heb. 2:14-18; 1 John 1:7, 9). Without Shedding of Blood Is No Remission.—Christ was the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world. To many it has been a mystery why so many sacrificial offerings were required in the old dispensation, why so many bleeding victims were led to the altar. But the great truth that was to be kept before men, and imprinted upon mind and heart, was this, "Without shedding of blood is no remission." In every bleeding sacrifice was typified "the Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world."

Christ Himself was the originator of the Jewish system of worship, in which, by types and symbols, were shadowed forth spiritual and heavenly things. Many forgot the true significance of these offerings; and the great truth that through Christ alone there is forgiveness of sin, was lost to them. The multiplying of sacrificial offerings, the blood of bulls and goats, could not take away sin (ST Jan. 2, 1893).

The Lesson of the Animal Sacrifices.—A lesson was embodied in every sacrifice, impressed in every ceremony, solemnly preached by the priest in his holy office, and inculcated by God Himself—that through the blood of Christ alone is there forgiveness of sins. How little we as a people feel the force of this great truth! How seldom, by living, acting faith, do we bring into our lives this great truth, that there is forgiveness for the least sin, forgiveness for the greatest sin (RH Sept. 21, 1886)!

9:14 (chs. 7:26; 13:20; see EGW on Acts 15:11; Eph. 2:16). Everlasting Covenant Sealed Forever.—Christ was without sin, else His life in human flesh and His death on the cross would have been of no more value in procuring grace for the sinner than the death of any other man. While He took upon Him humanity, it was a life

- 37 For yet a little while, and he that shall come will come, and will not tarry.
 38 Now the just shall live by faith; but if any man draw back, my soul shall have no pleasure in him.
 39 But we are not of them who draw back unto perdition; but of them that believe to the saving of the soul.

In View of the Faithful Example of the Ancient Worthies

- 11 Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen.
 2 For by it the elders obtained a good report.
 3 Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear.
 4 By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous. God testifying of his gifts: and by it he being dead yet speaketh.
 5 By faith Enoch was translated that he should not see death: and was not found, because God had translated him: for before his translation he had this testimony, that he pleased God.
 6 But without faith it is impossible to please him: for he that cometh to God must believe that he is, and that he is a rewarder of them that diligently seek him.
 7 By faith Noah, being warned of God of things not seen as yet, moved with fear, prepared an ark to the saving of his house: by the which he condemned the world, and became heir of the righteousness which is by faith.
 8 By faith Abraham, when he was called to go out into a place which he should after receive for an inheritance, obeyed; and he went out, not knowing whither he went.
 9 By faith he sojourned in the land of promise, as in a strange country, dwelling in tabernacles with Isaac and Jacob, the heirs with him of the same promise:
 10 For he looked for a city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.
 11 Through faith also Sara herself received strength to conceive seed, and was delivered of a child when she was past age, because she judged him faithful who had promised.

- 12 Therefore sprang there even of one, and him as good as dead, so many as the stars of the sky in multitude, and as the sand which is by the sea shore innumerable.
 13 These all died in faith, not having received the promises, but having seen them afar off, and were persuaded of them, and embraced them, and confessed that they were strangers and pilgrims on the earth.
 14 For they that say such things declare plainly that they seek a country.
 15 And truly, if they had been mindful of that country from whence they came out, they might have had opportunity to have returned.
 16 But now they desire a better country, that is, an heavenly: wherefore God is not ashamed to be called their God: for he hath prepared for them a city.
 17 By faith Abraham, when he was tried, offered up Isaac: and he that had received the promises offered up his only begotten son.

 20 By faith Isaac blessed Jacob and Esau concerning things to come.
 21 By faith Jacob, when he was a dying, blessed both the sons of Joseph; and worshipped, leaning upon the top of his staff.
 22 By faith Joseph, when he died, made mention of the departing of the children of Israel; and gave commandment concerning his bones.
 23 By faith Moses, when he was born, was hid three months of his parents, because they saw he was a proper child; and they were not afraid of the king's commandment.
 24 By faith Moses, when he was come to years, refused to be called the son of Pharaoh's daughter;
 25 Choosing rather to suffer affliction with taken into union with Deity. He could lay down His life as priest and also victim. He possessed in Himself power to lay it down and take it up again. He offered Himself without spot to God.

The apostle of Christ sealed forever the everlasting covenant of grace. It was the fulfilling of every condition upon which God suspended the free communication of grace to the human family. Every barrier was then broken down which intercepted the freest exercise of grace, mercy, peace, and love to the most guilty of Adam's race (MS 92, 1899).

(John 14:30.) Offerer and Offering, Priest and Victim.—The infinite sufficiency of Christ is demonstrated by His bearing the sins of the whole world. He occupies the double position of offerer and of offering, of priest and of victim. He was holy, harmless, undefiled, and separate from sinners. "The prince of this world cometh," He declares, "and hath nothing in me." He was a Lamb without blemish and without spot (Letter 192, 1906).

There He ceases not to present His people moment by moment, complete in Himself. But because we are thus represented before the Father, we are not to imagine that we are to presume upon His mercy, and become careless, indifferent, and self-indulgent. Christ is not the minister of sin. We are complete in Him, accepted in the Beloved, only as we abide in Him by faith (ST July 4, 1892).

(Rev. 5:11.) Not in a State of Solitude and Grandeur.—Do not let your thoughts dwell upon yourselves. Think of Jesus. He is in His holy place, not in a state of solitude and grandeur, but surrounded by ten thousand times ten thousand of heavenly beings who wait to

- the people of God, than to enjoy the pleasures of sin for a season;
- 26 Esteeming the reproach ⁷of Christ greater riches than the treasures in Egypt: for he had respect unto the recompense of the reward.
- 27 By faith he forsook Egypt, not fearing the wrath of the king: for he endured, as seeing him who is invisible.
- 28 Through faith he kept the passover, and the sprinkling of blood, lest he that destroyed the firstborn should touch them.
- 29 By faith they passed through the Red sea as by dry land: which the Egyptians assaying to do were drowned.
- 30 By faith the walls of Jericho fell down, after they were compassed about seven days.
- 31 By faith the harlot Rahab perished not with them ⁸that believed not, when she had received the spies with peace.
- 32 And what shall I more say? for the time would fail me to tell of Gedeon, and of Barak, and of Samson, and of Jephthae: of David also, and Samuel, and of the prophets:
- 33 Who through faith subdued kingdoms, wrought righteousness, obtained promises, stopped the mouths of lions,
- 34 Quenched the violence of fire, escaped the edge of the sword, out of weakness were made strong, waxed valiant in fight, turned to flight the armies of the aliens.
- 35 Women received their dead raised to life again: and others were tortured, not accepting deliverance; that they might obtain a better resurrection:
- 36 And others had trial of cruel mockings and scourgings, yea, moreover of bonds and imprisonment:
- 37 They were stoned, they were sawn asunder, were tempted, were slain with the sword: they wandered about in sheepskins and goatskins; being destitute, afflicted, tormented;
- 38 (Of whom the world was not worthy:) they wandered in deserts, and in mountains, and in dens and caves of the earth.
- 39 And these all, having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise:

- 40 God having ⁹provided some better thing for us, that they without us should not be made perfect.

12 Wherefore seeing we also are compassed about with so great a cloud of witnesses, let us lay aside every weight, and the sin which doth so easily beset us, and let us run with patience the race that is set before us,

2 Looking unto Jesus the 'author and finisher of our faith; who for the joy that was set before him endured the cross, despising the shame, and is set down at the right hand of the throne of God.

In Spite of Trials and Persecutions

- 3 For consider him that endured such contradiction of sinners against himself, lest ye be wearied and faint in your minds.
- 4 Ye have not yet resisted unto blood, striving against sin.
- 5 And ye have forgotten the exhortation which speaketh unto you as unto children, My son, despise not thou the chastening of the Lord, nor faint when thou art rebuked of him:
- 6 For whom the Lord loveth he chasteneth, and scourgeth every son whom he receiveth.
- 7 If ye endure chastening, God dealeth with you as with sons; for what son is he whom the father chasteneth not?
- 8 But if ye be without chastisement, whereof all are partakers, then are ye bastards, and not sons.
- 9 Furthermore we have had fathers of our flesh which corrected us, and we gave them reverence: shall we not much rather be in subjection unto the Father of spirits, and live?
- 10 For they verily for a few days chastened us ¹⁰after their own pleasure: but he for our profit, that we might be partakers of his holiness.
- 11 Now no chastening for the present seemeth to be joyous, but grievous: nevertheless afterward it yieldeth the peaceable fruit of righteousness unto them which are exercised thereby.
- 12 Wherefore lift up the hands which hang down, and the feeble knees; do their Master's bidding. And He bids them go and work for the weakest saint who puts his trust in God. High and low, rich and poor, have the same help provided (Letter 134, 1899).

10:19-21 (ch. 7:25; 1 John 2:1). Entering the Sanctuary With Christ.—This is the great day of atonement, and our Advocate is standing before the Father, pleading as our intercessor. In place of wrapping about us the garments of self-righteousness, we should be found daily humbling ourselves before God, confessing our own individual sins, seeking the pardon of our transgressions, and cooperating with Christ in the work of preparing our souls to reflect the divine image. Unless we enter the sanctuary above, and unite with Christ in working out our own salvation with fear and trembling, we shall be weighed in the balances of the sanctuary, and shall be pronounced wanting (MS 168, 1898).

10:23. See EGW on ch. 4:14; 2 Peter 1:4; Rev. 3:3.

10:25 (See EGW on Mal. 3:16). Seeking the Assembly of the Saints.—Those who do not feel the necessity of seeking the assembly of the saints, with the precious assurance that the Lord will meet with them, show how lightly they value the help that God has provided for them. Satan is constantly at work to wound and poison the soul; in order to withstand his efforts we must breathe the atmosphere of heaven. We must individually get hold and keep hold of Christ (MS 16, 1890).

- 13 And make 'straight paths for your feet, lest that which is lame be turned out of the way; but let it rather be healed.

In Spite of Temptation

- 14 Follow peace with all men, and holiness, without which no man shall see the Lord:
- 15 Looking diligently lest any man 'fail of the grace of God; lest any root of bitterness springing up trouble you, and thereby many be defiled;
- 16 Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person, as Esau, who for one morsel of meat sold his birthright.
- 17 For ye know how that afterward, when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no 'place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with tears.
- 18 For ye are not come unto the mount that might be touched, and that burned with fire, nor unto blackness, and darkness, and tempest.
- 19 And the sound of a trumpet, and the voice of words; which voice they that heard intreated that the word should not be spoken to them any more:
- 20 (For they could not endure that which was commanded, And if so much as a beast touch the mountain, it shall be stoned, or thrust through with a dart:
- 21 And so terrible was the sight, that Moses said, I exceedingly fear and quake:)
- 22 But ye are come unto mount Zion, and unto the city of the living God, the heavenly Jerusalem, and to an innumerable company of angels.
- 23 To the general assembly and church of the firstborn, which are 'written in heaven, and to God the Judge of all, and to the spirits of just men made perfect,
- 24 And to Jesus the mediator of the new 'covenant, and to the blood of sprinkling, that speaketh better things than that of Abel.
- 25 See that ye refuse not him that speaketh. For if they escaped not who refused him that spake on earth, much more shall not we escape, if we turn away from him that speaketh from heaven:
- 26 Whose voice then shook the earth: but now he hath promised, saying, Yet once more I shake not the earth only, but also heaven.

- 27 And this word, Yet once more, signifieth the removing of those things that 'are shaken, as of things that are made, that those things which cannot be shaken may remain.
- 28 Wherefore we receiving a kingdom which cannot be moved, 'let us have grace, whereby we may serve God acceptably with reverence and godly fear:
- 29 For our God is a consuming fire.

With Respect to Specific Situations in Daily Life

- 13 Let brotherly love continue.
- 2 Be not forgetful to entertain strangers: for thereby some have entertained angels unawares.
- 3 Remember them that are in bonds, as bound with them; and them which suffer adversity, as being yourselves also in the body.
- 4 Marriage is honourable in all, and the bed undefiled: but whoremongers and adulterers God will judge.
- 5 Let your conversation be without covetousness; and be content with such things as ye have: for he hath said, I will never leave thee, nor forsake thee.
- 6 So that we may boldly say, The Lord is my helper, and I will not fear what man shall do unto me.
- 7 Remember them which 'have the rule over you, who have spoken unto you the word of God: whose faith follow, considering the end of their conversation.
- 8 Jesus Christ the same yesterday, and to day, and for ever.
- 9 Be not carried about with divers and strange doctrines. For it is a good thing that the heart be established with grace; not with meats, which have not profited them that have been occupied therein.
- 10 We have an altar, whereof they have no right to eat which serve the tabernacle.
- 11 For the bodies of those beasts, whose blood is brought into the sanctuary by the high priest for sin, are burned without the camp.
- 12 Wherefore Jesus also, that he might sanctify the people with his own blood, 12:1 (Col. 3:8). Who Are the Witnesses?—[Heb. 12:1 quoted.] The weights that are here referred to are the evil habits and practices we have formed by following our own natural dispositions. Who are the witnesses? They are those spoken of in the previous chapter—those who have breasted the evils and difficulties in their way, and who in the name of the Lord have braced themselves successfully against the opposing forces of evil. They were sustained and strengthened and the Lord held them by His hand.

There are other witnesses. All about us are those who are watching us closely, to see how we who profess a belief in the truth conduct ourselves. At all times and in all places, so far as possible, we must magnify the truth before the world (MS 61, 1907).

13:11-13 (Gal. 3:13). He Suffered Without the Camp.—As Adam and Eve were banished from Eden for transgressing the law of God, so Christ was to suffer without the boundaries of the holy place. He died outside the camp, where felons and murderers were executed. There He trod the winepress alone, bearing the penalty that should have fallen on the sinner. How deep and full of suffered without the gate.

- 13 Let us go forth therefore unto him without the camp, bearing his reproach.
- 14 For here have we no continuing city, but we seek one to come.
- 15 By him therefore let us offer the sacrifice of praise to God continually, that is, the fruit of our lips 'giving thanks to his name.
- 16 But to do good and to communicate forget not: for with such sacrifices God is well pleased.
- 17 Obey them that 'have the rule over you, and submit yourselves: for they watch for your souls, as they that must give account, that they may do it with joy, and not with grief: for that is unprofitable for you.

Apostolic Benediction and Personal Salutation

- 18 Pray for us: for we trust we have a good conscience, in all things willing to live honestly.

- 19 But I beseech you the rather to do this, that I may be restored to you the sooner.
- 20 Now the God of peace, that brought again from the dead our Lord Jesus, that great shepherd of the sheep, through the blood of the everlasting 'covenant,
- 21 Make you perfect in every good work to do his will, 'working in you that which is wellpleasing in his sight, through Jesus Christ; to whom be glory for ever and ever. Amen.
- 22 And I beseech you, brethren, suffer the word of exhortation: for I have written a letter unto you in few words.
- 23 Know ye that our brother Timothy is set at liberty; with whom, if he come shortly, I will see you.
- 24 Salute all them that have the rule over you, and all the saints. They of Italy salute you.
- 25 Grace be with you all. Amen.

significance are the words, "Christ hath redeemed us from the curse of the law, being made a curse for us." He went forth without the camp, thus showing that He gave His life not only for the Jewish nation, but for the whole world (YI June 28, 1900).

Christ Died for All Mankind.—Christ suffered without the gates of Jerusalem, for Calvary was outside the city walls. This was to show that He died, not for the Hebrews alone, but for all mankind. He proclaims to a fallen world that He is their Redeemer, and urges them to accept the salvation He offers (SW Sept. 4, 1906).

13:15. See EGW on Rom. 8:34.

13:20 (ch. 8:5-13, 6, 7; see EGW on ch. 9:14). The Everlasting Covenant of Mercy.—Let those who are oppressed under a sense of sin remember that there is hope for them. The salvation of the human race has ever been the object of the councils of heaven. The covenant of mercy was made before the foundation of the world. It has existed from all eternity, and is called the everlasting covenant. So surely as there never was a time when God was not, so surely there never was a moment when it was not the delight of the eternal mind to manifest His grace to humanity (ST June 12, 1901).

The General Epistle of JAMES

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

Originally, like the other epistles of the NT, this one, being a letter, probably bore no title. One of the earliest manuscripts containing James, the Codex Sinaiticus, has no title at the beginning of the letter, but closes with the subscription, "Epistle of James." Other early manuscripts bear the simple title in Greek, Iakobou Epistolē ("Epistle of James"). Later manuscripts entitle this a general, or catholic, epistle, in the sense that it is addressed to the church at large rather than to any specific congregation or person.

The epistle of James is referred to by Eusebius as the first of the seven epistles called "catholic," which means "general," or "universal" (Ecclesiastical History ii. 23). They were so called because they were addressed to the church in general, although this is altogether inappropriate when applied to 2 and 3 John, which are addressed to individuals. In all the early manuscripts the seven epistles from James to Jude were placed together after Acts, preceding the epistles of Paul. The order of the general epistles as they appear in our English Bible is the one usually observed in the principal manuscripts.

2. AUTHORSHIP

There is insufficient evidence in the epistle of James to warrant any definite conclusion as to the identity of its author. The NT has many references to men by the name of James. This name was very common among the Jews, for it represents the Greek equivalent of the Hebrew name Jacob. The frequent use of this name is illustrated in the list of the twelve apostles (Matt. 10:2, 3; Mark 3:16-19; Luke 6:14-16). One of these apostles was James the son of Zebedee and the brother of John. A second James was the son of Alphaeus. Another Biblical character by the name of James was the father of one of the Twelve, who is identified as Judas "of James," that is, the son of James, rather than "the brother of James," as in the KJV (Luke 6:16).

It is reasonable to suppose that the author of the epistle of James is one of the persons by that name already mentioned in the Scripture record, rather than another James, entirely different from any otherwise known. The tone of the introduction in ch. 1:1 implies that the writer speaks as one well known to those whom he addresses, and that he speaks with recognized authority.

Although according to the Gospel narratives all the Twelve were closely associated with the Lord, James, the son of Zebedee, was the more prominent of the two apostles by that name. Only a very few writers have ever attributed the epistle to him. But even this possibility seems ruled out by the early date of his death (A.D. 44), and by the additional fact that ch. 1:1 implies that there was only one James prominent in the church at the time the epistle was written, instead of two or more.

The second apostle named James was the son of Alphaeus. He is clearly identified four times by the use of his father's name (Matt. 10:3; Mark 3:18; Luke 6:15; Acts 1:13). There has been much discussion as to whether this James is identical with "James the less" (Mark 15:40). If so, not only was his father named Alphaeus, but his mother was named Mary and he had a brother Joses (Matt. 27:56; Mark 15:47; 16:1; Luke 24:10). But elsewhere this Mary is called the wife of Cleophas (John 19:25). Although attempts have been made to equate Cleophas (or Clopas, Cleopas, Luke 24:18) with Alphaeus through the Aramaic Chalpai, equivalent to Alphaeus, such an identification remains doubtful. It seems best to conclude that the names, James the son of Alphaeus and James the less, do not describe the same man.

Besides these individuals by the name of James, the Gospel writers refer to another James, the first named and thus presumably the eldest of the four brothers of Jesus (Matt. 13:55; Mark 6:3). Like James the less, he had a brother named Joses, and their mother (rather, stepmother; see on Matt. 12:46) was named Mary. But it seems highly improbable that the one James is to be identified with the other. A reference to Jesus' mother as "Mary the mother of James and Joses" (Matt. 27:56) is highly improbable. Elsewhere, James the brother of Jesus appears for certain only in Gal. 1:19, where Paul states that, on his first visit to Jerusalem after his conversion, of all the apostles he saw only Cephas (Peter) and "James the Lord's brother."

Elsewhere in the NT, however, mention is made of a leader of the church called James, whose name is not qualified by any other identification. He first comes to prominence in the Acts after the death of James the son of Zebedee. After that there was evidently only one leader of sufficient prominence to be known as James, without further identification. Subsequent references to this James characterize him as an outstanding figure. When Peter was released from Herod's prison he specified that report of his escape be made to James (Acts 12:17). James presided at the council of the church at Jerusalem and pronounced its decision (Acts 15:13, 19). Paul reported to James concerning his work (Acts 21:18). James gave authority to people to visit churches (Gal. 2:9). This may also be the James to whom Christ made a special postresurrection appearance (1 Cor. 15:7), perhaps to give him special instruction regarding his future responsibilities. Finally, Paul mentions him first as one of the three "pillars" of the early church (Gal. 2:9). All things considered, this James would seem to be the most likely person to have introduced himself to the church at large simply as "James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ" (James 1:1).

The question remains, then, as to whether this James was the son of Alphaeus or the Lord's brother. In favor of identifying him as the son of Alphaeus is the fact that it seems strange that one James should be mentioned by name among the Twelve (Acts 1:13, 14), only to disappear shortly from the record without notice even of his death, whereas another man of the same name appears prominently (Acts 12:17) without any word of introduction. On the other hand, certain evidences may be advanced for identifying this man with James the Lord's brother. Paul's reference to James, the leader of the church, in Gal. 2, coming as it does soon after his mention of James the Lord's brother in Gal. 1, gives the impression—although it cannot be proved—that the two men are the same. Furthermore, Josephus' story of the death of James, the Lord's brother, implies that he was a leader in the church (Josephus Antiquities xx. 9. 1; cf. Vol. V, p. 71). Christian tradition, at least from the 2nd century, identifies James, the leader of the church at Jerusalem, with the Lord's brother (Hegesippus, quoted by Eusebius Ecclesiastical History ii. 23).

Early Christian writers offer a maze of discrepancies, contradictions, and personal conclusions concerning the author of this epistle. Their errors are largely based on an incorrect identification of James "of Alphaeus" with James "of Joseph," and the unsupported conclusion that the James of Gal. 1:19 is identical with the James of Gal. 2:9.

Josephus states that the death of James, "the brother of Jesus, who was called Christ," took place after the death of Festus and before the arrival of his successor Albinus (A.D. 62), and that James was stoned (Antiquities xx. 9. 1). Taken at face value, this appears to be a factual record of the death of James "of Joseph," though Eusebius applies this to James "the Just," leader of the church of Jerusalem (Ecclesiastical History ii. 23), and uses another quotation not found in any known text of Josephus.

Eusebius states, further, that the divine books show James, who first received the episcopate of Jerusalem from Christ and the apostles, to be "a brother of Christ" (ibid. vii. 19), and gives the Bible as authority. He cites Paul as identifying James "the Just" as James "the brother of the Lord" (ibid. ii. 1), again assuming more than his source states. However, in another place Eusebius refers to James as one of the alleged brethren of the Saviour and implies that he was one of the Seventy. He identifies James as "brother of the Lord," "child of Joseph," and "the Just" (ibid.). He states that James was martyred immediately before the capture of Jerusalem (A.D. 70), and says that Simeon, son of Clopas and said by some to be a cousin of the Saviour, succeeded him to the "throne of the diocese" of Jerusalem (ibid. iii. 11). Thus he contradicts Josephus' date for the death of James. He makes other references to Simeon as son of Clopas, and Jude as brother of Christ according to the flesh (ibid. iii. 19, 20, 22, 32). He cites Hegesippus to support his conclusions that Simeon was the son of Clopas, and that Clopas was the uncle of the Lord (ibid. iii. 32). He again cites Hegesippus as stating that Simeon was a cousin of James (ibid. iv. 22). He quotes the famous account of Hegesippus, of the life and death of James, though from the context this account is easily seen to be garbled and highly exaggerated (ibid. ii. 23).

Eusebius quotes Clement as supporting his theory of two men named James, one "the Just," beaten to death with a fuller's club, and the other beheaded (ibid. ii. 1). The first he identifies as the Lord's brother, though Clement does not say so. In the same passage he quotes Clement as stating, "Peter and James [of Zebedee] and John after the Ascension of the Saviour did not struggle for glory, because they had previously been given honour by the Saviour, but chose James the Just as bishop of Jerusalem."

The apocryphal Gospel According to the Hebrews, which states that James the Just had taken an oath not to eat bread from the time the Lord had drunk of the cup until he saw Him risen from the dead, evidently places him among the Twelve at the Lord's Supper. Then Jesus' appearance to him is recorded as follows: Jesus "took bread, and blessed it and brake it and gave it to James the Just, and said to him, 'My brother, eat thy bread, for the Son of Man has risen from the dead.'" Use of the phrase "My brother" is construed to mean that this James was the Lord's brother. Obviously, none of this non-Biblical material can be of much help in identifying the writer of this epistle.

Perhaps the most serious problem involved in identifying the author of the epistle with the Lord's brother is the fact that the language and the style of the epistle indicate that its author was a man of some competence in Greek literary composition. Not only is his vocabulary rich, but his style is consciously that of the Greek literary form known as the diatribe—a popular, ethical address. Nothing that is known of the Lord's brother would indicate that he had the background for such a work—he was the son of a Galilean carpenter, and apparently thoroughly Jewish in culture. However, nothing conclusive can be said on this point, for the arguments involved are based more upon what is not known, than upon what is.

In conclusion, it may be said that the authorship of James remains an unsettled question. Probably the author was one of the three principal men by the name of James mentioned elsewhere in the NT.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

A number of geographical allusions in this epistle suggest Palestine as the place of writing. It may be conjectured that the writer lived in a land blessed with oil, wine, and figs, that he was not far from the sea, that there were salt and bitter springs nearby, and that the land was exposed to drought, and rain was a matter of great importance.

There is no certain method of determining the date of the epistle. As noted above, it seems to have been written when there was only one prominent James in the church, and hence after A.D. 44, when James the son of Zebedee was killed. The internal evidence points to an early date. There is no reference to any large group of Gentile Christians, or to any problems concerning Gentiles. The synagogue is still the church, yet Christianity is widespread (see Acts 2:9-11; 4:6; 9:2, 10, 14, 19, 26; 11:19, 20). The general tenor of the epistle is that Christianity is the culmination of all true Judaism.

4. THEME

This epistle is one of practical Christianity, showing what results or works a genuine, living faith will produce in the life of a disciple. Emphasized throughout is the contrast between the manifestations, effects, or results of true religion and those of false religion. This homiletical epistle is filled with beautiful and striking illustrations. The style is simple and direct, with the thoughts in groups clearly marked from one another, rather than arranged in any evident plan. James writes freely out of the fullness of his heart, touching upon subjects as they are suggested to his mind. There are many allusions to the Sermon on the Mount, of which the following is a partial list.

In this epistle there are many parallels to the writings of Paul (such as James 1:22; cf. Rom. 2:13), and to the writings of Peter (such as James 1:7; cf. 1 Peter 5:8, 9).

JAMES

Salutation

- 1 James, a servant of God and of the Lord Jesus Christ, to the twelve tribes which are scattered abroad, greeting.

Temptation (1:2-18)

The Need of Patience and Wisdom

- 2 My brethren, count it all joy when ye fall into divers temptations;
3 Knowing this, that the trying of your faith worketh patience.
4 But let patience have her perfect work, that ye may be perfect and entire, wanting nothing.
5 If any of you lack wisdom, let him ask of God, that giveth to all men liberally, and upbraideth not; and it shall be given him.
6 But let him ask in faith, nothing wavering. For he that wavereth is like a wave of the sea driven with the wind and tossed.
7 For let not that man think that he shall receive any thing of the Lord.
8 A double minded man is unstable in all his ways.

Endurance under Earthly Affliction or under Exaltation

- 9 Let the brother of low degree rejoice in that he is exalted:
10 But the rich, in that he is made low: because as the flower of the grass he shall pass away.
11 For the sun is no sooner risen with a burning heat, but it withereth the grass, and the flower thereof falleth, and the grace of the fashion of it perisheth: so also shall the rich man fade away in his ways.
12 Blessed is the man that endureth temptation: for when he is tried, he shall receive the crown of life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love him.

The Source of Temptation

- 13 Let no man say when he is tempted, I am tempted of God: for God cannot be tempted with evil, neither tempteth he any man:

- 14 But every man is tempted, when he is drawn away of his own lust, and enticed.
15 Then when lust hath conceived, it bringeth forth sin: and sin, when it is finished, bringeth forth death.
16 Do not err, my beloved brethren.
17 Every good gift and every perfect gift is from above, and cometh down from the Father of lights, with whom is no variableness, neither shadow of turning.
18 Of his own will begat he us with the word of truth, that we should be a kind of first-fruits of his creatures.

Evidences of True Religion (1:19-27)

Hearing Rather than Speaking

- 19 Wherefore, my beloved brethren, let every man be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath:
20 For the wrath of man worketh not the righteousness of God.
21 Wherefore lay apart all filthiness and superfluity of naughtiness, and receive with meekness the engrafted word, which is able to save your souls.
22 But be ye doers of the word, and not hearers only, deceiving your own selves.

Doing as well as Hearing

- 23 For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass:
24 For he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was.
25 But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed.
26 If any man among you seem to be religious, and brideth not his tongue, but deceiveth his own heart, this man's religion is vain.
27 Pure religion and undefiled before God and the Father is this. To visit the fatherless and widows in their affliction, and to Looking Glass.—[James 1:23-27 quoted.] This is the word of the living God. The law is God's great moral looking glass. Man is to compare his words, his spirit, his actions with the Word of God. . . . True religion means living the Word in your practical life. Your profession is not of any value without the practical doing of the Word (MS 7, 1898).

1:25 (1 John 2:1, 2). The Office of the Mirror.—Here is a mirror into which we are to look, and search out every defect of character. But suppose that you look into this mirror and see many defects in your character, and then go away and say, "I am righteous"; will you be righteous? In your own eyes you will be righteous and holy. But how will it be at the bar of God? God has given us a rule, and we are to comply with its requirements; if we dare to do otherwise, to trample this under our feet, and then stand up before God and say, "I am holy, I am holy," we shall be lost in the great day of accounts.

What if we were to go out into the streets and soil our clothes with mud, and then come into the house and, beholding our filthy garments as we stand before the glass, we should say to the mirror, "Cleanse me from my filth," would it cleanse us from our filth? That is not the office of the looking glass. All that it can do is to reveal that our garments are defiled; it cannot take the defilement away.

So it is with the law of God. It points out the defects of character. It condemns us as sinners, but it offers no pardon to the transgressor. It cannot save him from his sins. But God has made a provision. Says John, "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." So we come to Him and there we find the chan-keep himself unspotted from the world.

Warnings Against Common Dangers in the Early Church (2:1-5:6)

Against Respect of Persons

- 2 My brethren, have not the faith of our Lord Jesus Christ, the Lord of glory, with respect of persons.
- 2 For if there come unto your assembly a man with a gold ring, in goodly apparel, and there come in also a poor man in vile raiment;
- 3 And ye have respect to him that weareth the gay clothing, and say unto him, Sit thou here in a good place; and say to the poor, Stand thou there, or sit here under my footstool:
- 4 Are ye not then partial in yourselves, and are become judges of evil thoughts?
- 5 Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him?
- 6 But ye have despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment seats?
- 7 Do not they blaspheme that worthy name by the which ye are called?
- 8 If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well:
- 9 But if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors.
- 10 For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all.
- 11 For 'he that said, Do not commit adultery, said also, Do not kill. Now if thou commit no adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law.
- 12 So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty.
- 13 For he shall have judgment without mercy, that hath shewed no mercy; and mercy rejoiceth against judgment.

Examples of Genuine Faith That Produced Works

- 21 Was not Abraham our father justified by works, when he had offered Isaac his son upon the altar?
- 22 Seest thou how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect?
- 23 And the scripture was fulfilled which saith, Abraham believed God, and it was imputed unto him for righteousness: and he was called the Friend of God.
- 24 Ye see then how that by works a man is justified, and not by faith only.
- 25 Likewise also was not Rahab the harlot justified by works, when she had received the messengers, and had sent them out another way?
- 26 For as the body without the spirit is dead, so faith without works is dead also.

Against Sins of the Tongue: Control of the Tongue, Especially in Teaching

- 3 My brethren, be not many masters, knowing that we shall receive the greater condemnation.
- 2 For in many things we offend all. If any man offend not in word, the same is a perfect man, and able also to bridle the whole body.

acter of Jesus, and the righteousness of His character saves the transgressor—if we have done on our part all that we could.

And yet while He saves the transgressor, He does not do away with the law of God, but He exalts the law. He exalts the law because it is the detector of sin. And it is Christ's cleansing blood that takes away our sins, when we come to Him with contrition of soul seeking His pardon. He imputes His righteousness, He takes the guilt upon Himself (MS 5, 1885).

1:26. See EGW on ch. 3:2.

1:27. True Religion a Fountain of Charity.—The pure religion of Jesus is the fountain from which flow streams of charity, love, self-sacrifice (Letter 7, 1883).

A Christian is a Christlike man, a Christlike woman, who is active in God's service, who is present at the social meeting, whose presence will encourage others also. Religion does not consist in works, but religion works; it is not dormant (Letter 7, 1883).

Genuine Religion Never Cramps.—Many seem to feel that religion has a tendency to make its possessor narrow and cramped, but genuine religion does not have a narrowing influence; it is the lack of religion that cramps the faculties and narrows the mind. When a man is narrow, it is an evidence that he needs the grace of God, the heavenly anointing; for a Christian is one whom the Lord, the God of hosts, can work through, that he may keep the ways of the Lord of the earth and make manifest His will to men (MS 3, 1892).

2:13 (Ps. 89:14; Gal. 6:14). The Cross Joins Justice and Mercy.—His [Christ's] object was to reconcile the prerogatives of Justice and Mercy, and let each stand separate in its dignity, yet united. His mercy was not weakness, but a terrible power to punish sin because it is sin; yet a power to draw to it the love of humanity. Through Christ, Justice is enabled to forgive without sacrificing one jot of

Illustrations of the Proper and Improper Use of the Tongue

- 3 Behold, we put bits in the horses' mouths, that they may obey us; and we turn about their whole body.
- 4 Behold also the ships, which though they be so great, and are driven of fierce winds, yet are they turned about with a very small helm, whithersoever the governor listeth.
- 5 Even so the tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things. Behold, how great a matter a little fire kindleth!
- 6 And the tongue is a fire, a world of iniquity: so is the tongue among our members, that it defileth the whole body, and setteth on fire the course of nature; and it is set on fire of hell.
- 7 For every kind of beasts, and of birds, and of serpents, and of things in the sea, is tamed, and hath been tamed of mankind;
- 8 But the tongue can no man tame; it is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison.
- 9 Therewith bless we God, even the Father; and therewith curse we men, which are made after the similitude of God.
- 10 Out of the same mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing. My brethren, these things ought not so to be.
- 11 Doth a fountain send forth at the same place sweet water and bitter?
- 12 Can the fig tree, my brethren, bear olive berries? either a vine, figs? so can no fountain both yield salt water and fresh.

Exhortations to Proper Conduct, Including the Use of the Tongue

- 13 Who is a wise man and endowed with knowledge among you? let him shew out of a good conversation his works with meekness of wisdom.
- 14 But if ye have bitter envying and strife in your hearts, glory not, and lie not against the truth.
- 15 This wisdom descendeth not from above, but is earthly, sensual, devilish.
- 16 For where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work.
- 17 But the wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good

Against Contention and Strife Among Brethren: The Source of Contention and Self-seeking

- 4 From whence come wars and fightings among you? come they not hence, even of your lusts that war in your members?
- 2 Ye lust, and have not: ye kill, and desire to have, and cannot obtain: ye fight and war, yet ye have not, because ye ask not.
- 3 Ye ask, and receive not, because ye ask amiss, that ye may consume it upon your lusts.
- 4 Ye adulterers and adulteresses, know ye not that the friendship of the world is enmity with God? whosoever therefore will be a friend of the world is the enemy of God.

Exhortation to Submit to God

- 5 Do ye think that the scripture saith in vain. The spirit that dwelleth in us lusteth to envy?
- 6 But he giveth more grace. Wherefore he saith, God resisteth the proud, but giveth grace unto the humble.
- 7 Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil, and he will flee from you.
- 8 Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you. Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded.
- 9 Be afflicted, and mourn, and weep: let your laughter be turned to mourning, and your joy to heaviness.
- 10 Humble yourselves in the sight of the Lord, and he shall lift you up.

Exhortation Against Evil-speaking

- 11 Speak not evil one of another, brethren. He that speaketh evil of his brother, and judgeth his brother, speaketh evil of the law, and judgeth the law: but if thou judge the law, thou art not a doer of the law, but a judge.
- 12 There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?

its exalted holiness.

Justice and Mercy stood apart, in opposition to each other, separated by a wide gulf. The Lord our Redeemer clothed His divinity with humanity, and wrought out in behalf of man a character that was without spot or blemish. He planted His cross midway between heaven and earth, and made it the object of attraction which reached both ways, drawing both Justice and Mercy across the gulf. Justice moved from its exalted throne, and with all the armies of heaven approached the cross. There it saw One equal with God bearing the penalty for all injustice and sin. With perfect satisfaction Justice bowed in reverence at the cross, saying, It is enough (MS 94, 1899).

2:14-20, see EGW on Gal. 5:6.

2:11-26 (Rom. 3:31). Saving Faith More Than Mere Belief.—The apostle James saw that dangers would arise in presenting the subject of justification by faith, and he labored to show that genuine faith cannot exist without corresponding works. The experience of Abraham is presented. "Seest thou," he says, "how faith wrought with his works, and by works was faith made perfect?" Thus genuine faith does a genuine work in the believer. Faith and obedience bring a solid, valuable experience.

There is a belief that is not a saving faith. The Word declares that the devils believe and tremble. The so-called faith that does not work by love and purify the soul will not justify any man. . . . Abraham believed God. How do we know that he believed? His works testified to the character of his faith, and his faith was accounted to him for righteousness.

We need the faith of Abraham in our day, to lighten the darkness that gathers around us, shutting out the sweet sunlight of God's love, and dwarfing spiritual growth. Our faith should be prolific of good works; for faith without works is dead. Every duty performed, every sacrifice made in the name of Jesus, brings an exceeding great reward. In the very act of duty. God speaks and gives His blessing (ST May 19, 1899).

2:22. See EGW on Luke 17:10; Eph. 2:8, 9.

3:2. One of the Highest Gifts.—The talent of speech ranks with the highest gifts (MS 92, 1899).

(Ch. 1:26.) Power to Bridle the Tongue.—Through the help that Christ can give, we shall be able to learn to bridle the tongue. Sorely as He was tried on the point of hasty and angry speech, He never once sinned with His lips. With patient calmness He met the sneers, the taunts, and the ridicule of His fellow workers at the carpenter's bench. Instead of retorting angrily, He would begin to sing one of David's beautiful psalms; and His companions, before realizing what they were doing, would unite with Him in the hymn. What a transformation would be wrought in this world if men and women today would follow Christ's example in the use of words (RH May 26, 1904).

3:8. See EGW on Ps. 5:5-12.

3:13, 14. Heavenly Fragrance of Truth.—[James 3:13, 14 quoted.] What is lying against the truth? It is claiming to believe the truth while the spirit, the words, the deportment, represent not Christ but Satan. To surmise evil, to be impatient and unforgiving, is lying against the truth; but love, patience, and long forbearance are in accordance with the principles of truth. Truth is ever pure, ever kind, breathing a heavenly fragrance unmingled with selfishness (RH March 12, 1895).

3:15, 16 (Heb. 12:15). Climbing on the Judgment Seat.—[James 3:15-18 quoted.] . . . He who opens his heart to the suggestions of the enemy, taking in evil surmisings, and cherishing jealousy, frequently misconstrues this evil-mindedness, calling it special foresight, discrimination, or discernment in detecting guilt and fathoming the evil motives of others. He considers that a precious gift has been vouchsafed to him; and he draws apart from the very brethren with whom he should be in harmony; he climbs upon the judgment seat, and shuts his heart against the one he supposes to be in error, as though he himself were above temptation. Jesus separates from him, and leaves him to walk in the sparks of his own kindling.

Let no one among you glory any longer against the truth by declaring that this spirit is a necessary consequence of dealing faithfully with wrongdoers and of standing in defense of the truth. Such wisdom has many admirers, but it is very deceptive and harmful. It does not come from above, but is the fruit of an unregenerated heart. Its originator is Satan himself. Let no accuser of others credit himself with discernment; for in so doing he clothes the attributes of Satan with the garments of righteousness. I call upon you, my brethren, to purify the soul temple of all these things that defile; for they are roots of bitterness.

How true are the words of the apostle, "Where envying and strife is, there is confusion and every evil work." One person in an institution or in a church who gives loose rein to unkind thoughts by speaking evil of the brethren, may stir up the worst passions of the human heart, and spread abroad a leaven of evil that will work in all who come into association with him. In this way the enemy of all righteousness gains the victory, and the result of his work is to make of no effect the Saviour's prayer when He pleaded that His disciples might be one as He is one with the Father (RH March 12, 1895).

3:17 (see EGW on John 13:34). The Right Kind of Sensitiveness.—Those who criticize and condemn one another are breaking God's commandments, and are an offense to Him. They neither love God nor their fellow beings. Brethren and sisters, let us clear away the rubbish of criticism and suspicion and complaint, and do not wear your nerves on the outside. Some are so sensitive that they cannot be reasoned with. Be very sensitive in regard to what it means to keep the law of God, and in regard to whether you are keeping or breaking the law. It is this that God wants us to be sensitive about (GCB April 1, 1903).

4:4. See EGW on Matt. 6:24.

4:7, 8. Annoyances Vanish When Jesus Draws Near.—Resist the devil, and he will flee from you. Draw nigh to God, and he will draw nigh to you." How precious to the tempted soul is this positive promise. Now if the one in trouble and temptation keeps his eye fixed on Jesus, and draws nigh to God, talking of His goodness and mercy, Jesus draws nigh to him, and his annoyances that he thought almost unbearable vanish (Letter 43, 1892).

Breaking Satan's Power.—The soul that loves God, loves to draw strength from Him by constant communion with Him. When it becomes the habit of the soul to converse with God, the power of the evil one is broken; for Satan cannot abide near the soul that draws nigh unto God (RH Dec. 3, 1889).

4:8 (ch. 5:16; see EGW on Heb. 1:14). Safe in God's Presence.—"Draw nigh to God." What is the result of this? We cannot draw nigh to God and behold His loveliness and compassion without realizing our defects and being filled with a desire to rise higher. "And he will draw nigh to you." The Lord will draw nigh to him who confesses to his brethren the wrongs he has done them, and then comes to God in humility and contrition.

He who feels his own danger is on the watch lest he shall grieve the Holy Spirit and then draw away from God because he knows that He is not pleased with his course of action. How much better and safer it is to draw nigh to God, that the pure light shining from His Word may heal the wounds that sin has made in the soul. The closer we are to God, the safer we are, for Satan hates and fears the presence of God (Letter 40, 1901).

(John 17:21-23.) Answering the Prayer of Christ.—If we draw nigh to God, individually, then don't you see what the result will be? Can't you see that we will draw nigh to one another? We cannot draw nigh to God, and come to the same cross, without our hearts being blended together in perfect unity, answering the prayer of Christ "that they may be one" as He is one with the Father. And therefore we should seek in spirit, in understanding, in faith, that we may be one, that God may be glorified in us as He is glorified in the Son; and that God shall love us as He loves the Son (MS 7, 1890).

Draw Nigh By Prayer.—"Draw nigh to God, and He will draw nigh to you." Draw nigh to Him by prayer, by contemplation, by reading His Word. When He draws nigh to you, He lifts up for you a standard against the enemy. Let us take courage; for the enemy cannot pass this standard (MS 92, 1901).

(Ch. 1:8; Matt. 6:24.) Essential Work for the Sinner Defined.—The Lord says, "Draw nigh to God." How? By secret, earnest examination of your own heart, by childlike, heartfelt, humble dependence upon God, making known all your weakness to Jesus, and by confessing your sins. Thus you may draw nigh to God, and He will draw nigh to you.

But let us read the remainder of the lesson given for our instruction, that we may more fully comprehend what it means to draw nigh to God. "Cleanse your hands, ye sinners; and purify your hearts, ye double minded." The work that is essential to be done by the sinner is here clearly defined. It is a work not agreeable to the inclination of the human heart; but unless it is done the soul is not in a condition to appreciate the purity and perfection of the character of Christ, and in no condition either to understand the offensiveness of sin. The exhortation is given, "Purify your hearts, ye double minded." While professing to be Christians, many have the mold of the world upon them, and their affections are not set upon God. They are double minded, making an attempt to serve God and mammon at the same time; but the world's Redeemer has declared, "Ye cannot serve God and mammon" (Matt. 6:24). By trying to serve two masters, they are unstable in all their ways, and cannot be depended upon. To all appearances they are serving God, while at the same time in heart they are yielding to the temptation of Satan and cherishing sin. They may speak words that are smoother than oil, yet their hearts are full of deception and deceit in all their practices. Professing to be righteous, yet they have a heart that is desperately wicked.

Of what profit is it to say pleasant things, to deplore the work of Satan, and yet at the same time to enter into the fulfillment of all his devices? This is being double minded (Letter 13, 1893).

Exhortation Against Presumptuous Boasting

- 13 Go to now, ye that say, To day or to morrow we will go into such a city, and continue there a year, and buy and sell, and get gain:
- 14 Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away.
- 15 For that ye ought to say. If the Lord will, we shall live, and do this, or that.
- 16 But now ye rejoice in your boastings: all such rejoicing is evil.
- 17 Therefore to him that knoweth to do good, and doeth it not, to him it is sin.

Against Fraudulent Gain and Wrong Use of Riches

- 5 Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you.
- 2 Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten.
- 3 Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days.
- 4 Behold, the hire of the labourers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth: and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of sabaoth.
- 5 Ye have lived in pleasure on the earth, and been wanton: ye have nourished your hearts, as in a day of slaughter.
- 6 Ye have condemned and killed the just; and he doth not resist you.

Concluding Exhortations (5:7-20)Patience Needed until Christ's Coming

- 18 And he prayed again, and the heaven gave rain, and the earth brought forth her fruit.

4:8, 9 (Matt. 5:4; 2 Cor. 7:10). The Sorrow of True Repentance.—Be afflicted, and mourn and weep: let your laughter be turned to mourning, and your joy into heaviness." It is right to be cheerful, and even joyful. It is right to cultivate cheerfulness of spirit through sanctification of the truth: but it is not right to indulge in foolish jesting and joking, in lightness and trifling, in words of criticism and condemnation of others.

Those who observe such persons who make a profession of religion, know that they are deceived. They know that the hands of such professors need to be cleansed, their hearts need to be purified. They need to experience genuine repentance for sin. What have they to mourn over? They should mourn over their inclination to sin, over the danger they are in from inward corruption and from outward temptation. They should be afraid because they have so feeble a sense of the sinfulness of sin, and so little idea of what constitutes sin (Letter 13, 1893).

4:10 (1 Peter 5:6). Humility Before Pardon.—God grants no pardon to him whose penitence produces no humility (MS 11, 1888).

5:14-16. Miracles and Natural Remedies.—God's miracles do not always bear the outward semblance of miracles. Often they are brought about in a way which looks like the natural course of events. When we pray for the sick, we also work for them. We answer our own prayers by using the remedies within our reach. Water wisely applied, is a most powerful remedy. As it is used intelligently, favorable results are seen. God has given us intelligence, and He desires us to make the most of His health-giving blessings. We ask that God will give bread to the hungry, we are then to act as His helping hand in relieving hunger. We are to use every blessing God has placed within our reach for the deliverance of those in danger.

Natural means, used in accordance with God's will, bring about supernatural results. We ask for a miracle, and the Lord directs the mind to some simple remedy. We ask to be kept from the pestilence that walketh in darkness, that is stalking with such power through the world: we are then to cooperate with God, observing the laws of health and life. Having done all that we possibly can, we are to keep asking in faith for health and strength. We are to eat that food which will preserve the health of the body.

God gives us no encouragement that He will do for us what we can do for ourselves. Natural laws are to be obeyed. We are not to fail of doing our part. God says to us, "Work out your own salvation with fear and trembling. For it is God which worketh in you both to will and to do of his good pleasure."

Exhortation to Work for Others' Salvation
19 Brethren, if any of you do err from the truth, and one convert him;
20 Let him know, that he which converteth

5:19 Ps 119:21; Ps 119:118; Pr 19:27; Isa 5:2;
5:20 Jas 5:19; Pr 11:30; Rom 11:14; 1 Co 9:22, 1 Ti 4:16;

the sinner from the error of his way shall save a soul from death, and shall hide a multitude of sins.

We cannot disregard the laws of nature without disregarding the laws of God. We cannot expect the Lord to work a miracle for us while we neglect the simple remedies He has provided for our use, which aptly and opportunely applied, will bring about a miraculous result. Therefore, pray, believe, and work (Letter 66, 1901).

Healed in Spite of Unconsecrated Minister.—A case was held up before me of a . . . minister; eighty miles he was sent for, to pray for a sick sister who sent for him in compliance with the teaching of James. He went and prayed in earnest, and she prayed; she believed the minister to be a man of God, a man of faith. Physicians had given her up to die of consumption. She was healed immediately. She arose and prepared supper, a thing she had not done for ten years. Now the minister was vile, his life was corrupt, and yet here was a great work. He took the glory all to himself.

Then again the scene mentioned above passed before me. I saw that the woman was a true disciple of Christ; her faith was that she should be healed. I saw their prayers: one was misty, dark, fell downward. The other prayer was mixed with light or specks which looked to me like diamonds, and arose upward to Jesus and He sent it up to His Father like sweet incense, and a beam of light was immediately sent to the afflicted one and she revived and strengthened under its influence. Said the angel, God will gather every particle of true, sincere faith; like diamonds shall they be gathered up and will surely bring a return or answer, and God will separate the precious from the vile. Although He bears long with the hypocrite and sinner, yet he will be searched out. Though he may flourish with the honest a while like the green bay tree, yet the time will come when his folly will be made manifest (Letter 2, 1851).

(2 Thess. 2:7-12.) The Work of False Healers.—Men under the influence of evil spirits will work miracles. They will make people sick by casting their spell upon them, and will then remove the spell, leading others to say that those who were sick have been miraculously healed. This Satan has done again and again (Letter 259, 1903).

5:16 (see EGW on ch. 4:8). The Eloquence That God Accepts.—He who strives for eloquent language when praying is entirely out of place. The eloquence that God accepts is the earnest, longing cry of the soul which feels that it must have help.

Long prayers are not essential. Those who labor in the right spirit will pray in the right spirit. He who labors as Christ labored will be in earnest when he prays. And the Word of God assures us, "The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much" (Letter 121, 1901).

The First Epistle General of PETER

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the earliest Greek manuscripts the title of this epistle is simply Petrou A ("Of Peter I"). The words "Epistle General," found in the KJV, refer to the fact that this letter is addressed, not to an individual or a single congregation, but to the church in general throughout most of Asia Minor (see on ch. 1:1). For the same reason this letter is sometimes called a "catholic," or "general," epistle.

2. AUTHORSHIP

The epistle bears the name of Peter as its author (ch. 1:1). Various theories have been put forth to indicate that in reality not he, but some other person, wrote the letter. The most commonly suggested name is that of Silvanus (ch. 5:12). The objections to the Petrine authorship are that (1) the Greek of the epistle is too elegant for a man of Peter's limited educational background; (2) the theology resembles that of Paul more closely than it does that of Peter; (3) little mention is made of incidents in the life of Christ, which would be strange for one so close to Christ personally as Peter was; (4) Peter had no personal relations with the churches of Asia Minor, a supposition that cannot be proved. However, none of these objections is conclusive. The elegant Greek may be explained on the basis that Silvanus, who presumably served as Peter's scribe (ch. 5:12), was responsible for the quality of the Greek in the epistle. Furthermore, it is possible to see in the use of words and expressions a general resemblance of style between the epistle, Peter's sermons, and his personal characteristics. The third objection owes its plausibility to the assumption that we can safely say what Peter should have written. The fourth objection is, as already remarked, simply an assumption. This commentary accepts the Petrine authorship of the epistle.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

The apostle writes what might be termed a circular letter addressed to "strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia." These five areas included almost the whole of what is now called Asia Minor. The majority of the believers of these churches were Gentiles. Jewish Christians were in the minority. As their appointed missionary (Gal. 2:9), Peter was especially interested in the Jews, but he was not restricting his greetings and instruction to the minority group in these churches, as is indicated by his referring to his readers as formerly not of the people of God, and as converted idolaters (1 Peter 2:10; 4:3, 4). The apostle, who was the first to baptize Gentiles and to assert their equal status in the church, would no doubt regard all Christians, of both Jewish and Gentile origin, as one in Christ Jesus, without distinction in addressing them.

The precise date of the writing of this epistle cannot be determined. The letter was written probably from Rome, as the name "Babylon" suggests (see on ch. 5:13). This would mean that it was written near the end of the apostle's life. The absence of any reference to Peter's presence in Rome in Paul's letters from that city suggests that Peter did not arrive there until "about the time of Paul's final arrest" (AA 537), about A.D. 66. Although nothing definite can be said regarding the date of 1 Peter, the foregoing suggests as a likely date the middle of the sixties of the 1st century. The epistle reflects the existence of an unfriendly attitude toward Christians (chs. 2:12; 4:12-16). This may suggest the time of Nero's persecution, which began in A.D. 64.

4. THEME

Peter has a pastoral purpose in mind in writing this epistle. The warp into which the woof of his counsel is woven is the peril of persecution, the imminence of "the fiery trial" (ch. 4:12), and an awareness of the troubled times in which the believers were living. With that as a background he seeks to strengthen his reader's faith, to exhort them to blameless conduct, to exemplary citizenship, to loyal witness for Christ, and to effective preparation to meet their Lord. To help them attain these objectives he includes specific counsel for servants (ch. 2:18), wives (ch. 3:1-6), husbands (ch. 3:7), elders (ch. 5:1-4), and younger members of the church (ch. 5:5-9). Throughout the letter a tender spirit is linked to a firm sense of leadership, and both are sanctified by a lofty conception of Christ.

1 PETER

Introduction (1:1-12)

Salutation

- 1 Peter, an apostle of Jesus Christ, to the strangers scattered throughout Pontus, Galatia, Cappadocia, Asia, and Bithynia,
- 2 Elect according to the foreknowledge of God the Father, through sanctification of the Spirit, unto obedience and sprinkling of the blood of Jesus Christ: Grace unto you, and peace, be multiplied.

An Ascription of Praise to God and Christ for Salvation

- 3 Blessed be the God and Father of our Lord Jesus Christ, which according to his abundant mercy hath begotten us again unto a lively hope by the resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead,
- 4 To an inheritance incorruptible, and undefiled, and that fadeth not away, reserved in heaven for you,
- 5 Who are kept by the power of God through faith unto salvation ready to be revealed in the last time.
- 6 Wherein ye greatly rejoice, though now for a season, if need be, ye are in heaviness through manifold temptations:
- 7 That the trial of your faith, being much more precious than of gold that perisheth, though it be tried with fire, might be found unto praise and honour and glory at the appearing of Jesus Christ:
- 8 Whom having not seen, ye love; in whom, though now ye see him not, yet believing, ye rejoice with joy unspeakable and full of glory:
- 9 Receiving the end of your faith, even the salvation of your souls.

The Attitude of Prophets and Angels Toward Salvation

- 10 Of which salvation the prophets have inquired and searched diligently, who prophesied of the grace that should come unto you:
- 11 Searching what, or what manner of time the Spirit of Christ which was in them did

Exhortation to Steadfast Christian Living (1:13-4:13)

Live Worthy of the High Calling

- 13 Wherefore gird up the loins of your mind, be sober, and hope to the end for the grace that is to be brought unto you at the revelation of Jesus Christ;
- 14 As obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance;
- 15 But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy in all manner of conversation;
- 16 Because it is written, Be ye holy; for I am holy.
- 17 And if ye call on the Father, who without respect of persons judgeth according to every man's work, pass the time of your sojourning here in fear:
- 18 Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers;
- 19 But with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot:
- 20 Who verily was foreordained before the foundation of the world, but was manifest in these last times for you.
- 21 Who by him do believe in God, that raised him up from the dead, and gave him glory; that your faith and hope might be in God.
- 22 Seeing ye have purified your souls in obeying the truth through the Spirit unto unfeigned love of the brethren, see that ye

1:16 (Heb. 12:14). The Drawing Cords of Love.—As Jehovah is holy, He requires His people to be holy, pure, undefiled, for without holiness no man shall see the Lord. Those who worship Him in sincerity and truth will be accepted by Him. If church members will put away all self-worship, and will receive in their hearts the love for God and for one another that filled Christ's heart, our heavenly Father will constantly manifest His power through them. Let His people be drawn together with the cords of divine love. Then the world will recognize the miracle-working power of God, and will acknowledge that He is the Strength and the Helper of His commandment-keeping people (MS 125, 1907).

1:22 (Rom. 5:1; Gal. 5:6; Eph. 2:8; Heb. 11:1). The Creation of Faith.—Under the inspiration of the Spirit, the apostle Peter represents Christians as those who have purified their souls in obeying the truth. Just in accordance with the faith and love we bring into our work will be the power brought into it. No man can create faith. The Spirit operating upon and enlightening the human mind, creates faith in God. In the Scriptures faith is stated to be the gift of God, powerful unto salvation, enlightening the hearts of those who search for truth as for hidden treasure. The Spirit of God impresses the truth on the heart. The gospel is called the power of God unto salvation because God alone can make the truth a power which sanctifies the soul. He alone can render the cross of Christ triumphant (MS 56, 1899).

love one another with a pure heart fervently:

- 23 Being born again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever.
- 24 "For all flesh is as grass, and all the glory of man as the flower of grass. The grass withereth, and the flower thereof falleth away:
- 25 But the word of the Lord endureth for ever. And this is the word which by the gospel is preached unto you.

Advance in Knowledge and Christian Maturity

- 2 Wherefore laying aside all malice, and all guile, and hypocrisies, and envies, and all evil speakings,
- 2 As newborn babes, desire the sincere milk of the word, that ye may grow thereby:
- 3 If so be ye have tasted that the Lord is gracious.
- 4 To whom coming, as unto a living stone, disallowed indeed of men, but chosen of God, and precious,
- 5 Ye also, as lively stones, 'are built up a spiritual house, an holy priesthood, to offer up spiritual sacrifices, acceptable to God by Jesus Christ.
- 6 Wherefore also it is contained in the scripture. Behold, I lay in Sion a chief corner stone, elect, precious: and he that believeth on him shall not be confounded.
- 7 Unto you therefore which believe he is 'precious: but unto them which be disobedient, the stone which the builders disallowed, the same is made the head of the corner,
- 8 And a stone of stumbling, and a rock of offence, even to them which stumble at the word, being disobedient: whereunto also they were appointed.

As God's Chosen People, Live Exemplary Lives Among the Gentiles

- 9 But ye are a chosen generation, a royal priesthood, an holy nation, 'a peculiar people; that ye should shew forth the 'praises of him who hath called you out of darkness into his marvellous light:
- 10 Which in time past were not a people, but are now the people of God: which had not whose stripes ye were healed.

- 25 For ye were as sheep going astray; but are now returned unto the Shepherd and Bishop of your souls.

Counsel to Husbands and Wives

- 3 Likewise, ye wives, be in subjection to your own husbands; that, if any obey not the word, they also may without the word be won by the conversation of the wives;
- 2 While they behold your chaste conversation coupled with fear.
- 3 Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel;
- 4 But let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price.
- 5 For after this manner in the old time the holy women also, who trusted in God, adorned themselves, being in subjection unto their own husbands:
- 6 Even as Sara obeyed Abraham, calling him lord: whose daughters ye are, as long as ye do well, and are not afraid with any amazement.
- 7 Likewise, ye husbands, dwell with them according to knowledge, giving honour unto the wife, as unto the weaker vessel, and as being heirs together of the grace of life; that your prayers be not hindered.

Encouragement to Unity

- 8 Finally, be ye all of one mind, having compassion one of another, love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous:
- 9 Not rendering evil for evil, or railing for railing: but contrariwise blessing; knowing that ye are thereunto called, that ye should inherit a blessing.
- 10 For he that will love life, and see good days, let him refrain his tongue from evil, and his lips that they speak no guile:
- 11 Let him eschew evil, and do good; let him seek peace, and ensue it.
- 12 For the eyes of the Lord are over the righteous, and his ears are open unto their prayers: but the face of the Lord is against them that do evil.
- 13 And who is he that will harm you, if ye be followers of that which is good?

The Privilege and Reward of Suffering with Christ

- 14 But and if ye suffer for righteousness' sake, happy are ye: and be not afraid of their terror, neither be troubled;
- 15 But sanctify the Lord God in your hearts: and be ready always to give an answer to every man that asketh you a reason of the hope that is in you with meekness and fear.
- 16 Having a good conscience; that, whereas they speak evil of you, as of evildoers, they may be ashamed that falsely accuse your good conversation in Christ.
- 17 For it is better, if the will of God be so, that ye suffer for well doing, than for evil doing.
- 18 For Christ also hath once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but quickened by the Spirit:
- 19 By which also he went and preached unto the spirits in prison;
- 20 Which sometime were disobedient, when once the longsuffering of God waited in the days of Noah, while the ark was a preparing, wherein few, that is, eight souls were saved by water.
- 21 The like figure whereunto even baptism doth also now save us (not the putting away of the filth of the flesh, but the answer of a good conscience toward God,) by the resurrection of Jesus Christ:
- 22 Who is gone into heaven, and is on the right hand of God; angels and authorities and powers being made subject unto him.

An Appeal to Christlike Control of the Flesh

- 4 Forasmuch then as Christ hath suffered for us in the flesh, arm yourselves likewise with the same mind: for he that hath suffered in the flesh hath ceased from sin;
- 2 That he no longer should live the rest of his time in the flesh to the lusts of men, but to the will of God.
- 3 For the time past of our life may suffice us to have wrought the will of the Gentiles, when we walked in lasciviousness, lusts, excess of wine, revellings, banquetings, and abominable idolatries:
- 4 Wherein they think it strange that ye run springs up to bear an abundant harvest.

The enemy of all righteousness sets in operation objectionable missionary work of this kind. One who is professedly working for Christ is tempted by him to probe the minds of others, and ask their opinions of words which have been spoken. In this way suspicion and envy are planted in many breasts. If those who carry on this missionary work could see it as it is regarded by the Lord of heaven; if for one day they could trace the course of their work, and see its baleful results, they would repent.

To do good to all, to faithfully perform our home duties, to devote our time to comparing our lives with the life of Christ, praying for a humble, sanctified mind—this is the missionary work which the Lord requires us to do. Angels of heaven cannot work with the human agent who sows the seeds of dissension and strife, but evil angels attend him wherever he goes (MS 47, 1896).

2:2. Feeding the Soul With Truth.—Coming to God

- 3 ¹ Gr. children ² or, loving to the ³ Gr. upon ⁴ or, reverence inspires confidence, and stimulates the soul to action. The body will die if deprived of suitable nourishment, and so with the soul. In order to have spiritual strength, or even life, it must be nourished by the Word, which is spirit and life. It must be constantly fed by the truth which connects the soul with Him in whom we live, and move, and have our being (MS 16, 1890).

2:5. See EGW on Ps. 144:12.

2:11. See EGW on 1 Cor. 9:24-27.

2:12. See EGW on Rom. 12:17.

2:21. See EGW on Rev. 14:4.

2:24 (see EGW on Heb. 2:14; 7:25). Bad Habits to Be Firmly Resisted.—Christ is represented as bearing the griefs and sorrows caused by sin, and He does this, not only as our sympathizing friend, but as our substitute. Therefore our sins of selfishness, of unamiable temper, of indolence, of wrong habits and practices, are to be posi-not with them to the same excess of riot, speaking evil of you:

- 5 Who shall give account to him that is ready to judge the quick and the dead.
6 For for this cause was the gospel preached also to them that are dead, that they might be judged according to men in the flesh, but live according to God in the spirit.

An Appeal to Sober, Charitable Living

- 7 But the end of all things is at hand; be ye therefore sober, and watch unto prayer.
8 And above all things have fervent charity among yourselves: for charity shall cover the multitude of sins.
9 Use hospitality one to another without grudging.
10 As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God.
11 If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth: that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.

An Appeal to Steadfastness under Persecution

- 12 Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you:
13 But rejoice, inasmuch as ye are partakers of Christ's sufferings; that, when his glory shall be revealed, ye may be glad also with exceeding joy.
14 If ye be reproached for the name of Christ, happy are ye; for the spirit of glory and of God resteth upon you: on their part he is evil spoken of, but on your part he is glorified.
15 But let none of you suffer as a murderer, or as a thief, or as an evildoer, or as a busybody in other men's matters.
16 Yet if any man suffer as a Christian, let him not be ashamed; but let him glorify God on this behalf.
17 For the time is come that judgment must begin at the house of God: and if it first begin at us, what shall the end be of them

Counsel to Church Officers and Members (5:1-9)

To Elders

- 5 The elders which are among you I exhort, who am also an elder, and a witness of the sufferings of Christ, and also a partaker of the glory that shall be revealed:
2 Feed the flock of God 'which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind;
3 Neither as 'being lords over God's heritage, but being ensamples to the flock.
4 And when the chief Shepherd shall appear, ye shall receive a crown of glory that fadeth not away.

To Younger Members

- 5 Likewise, ye younger, submit yourselves unto the elder. Yea, all of you be subject one to another, and be clothed with humility; for God resisteth the proud, and giveth grace to the humble.
6 Humble yourselves therefore under the mighty hand of God, that he may exalt you in due time:
7 Casting all your care upon him; for he careth for you.
8 Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour:
9 Whom resist stedfast in the faith, knowing that the same afflictions are accomplished in your brethren that are in the world.

Conclusion (5:10-14)

Benediction and Doxology

- 10 But the God of all grace, who hath called tively and firmly put away. The one who breaks with Satan is to give no place to his temptations. Let the souls who come to Christ consider that He is the sin bearer. . . . Let the repenting soul lay hold by faith of the provision made to save him, not in his sin, but from his sin. Christ as the sin bearer must take away the sin and rescue the sinner from his morbid spiritual condition (MS 50, 1900).

A Bridge Over the Gulf.—By transgression man was severed from God, the communion between them was broken; but Jesus Christ died upon the cross of Calvary, bearing in His body the sins of the whole world, and the gulf between heaven and earth was bridged by that cross. Christ leads men to the gulf, and points to the bridge by which it is spanned, saying, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me" (MS 21, 1895).

Buds and Blossoms of Pride.—There are idols cherished in our families and in our churches today which have the same influence upon us as did the golden calf upon the Israelites. Will the people search themselves? Will the shepherds do their work as faithful sentinels of God? Will they see what idols they are cherishing? Will every one that is in moderate circumstances consider that they are to be a people distinct and separate in their fashions of dress, their speech, their deportment, from the world? Will they see their idolatry in small as well as in large matters, and that it is separating them from God? When reprovals come they are ashamed, but not repentant. They have had great light, great opportunities, line upon line, and precept upon precept, but pride buds and blossoms in their apparel, revealing the thoughts and intents of the heart (MS 52, 1898).

God; but are there not idols just as offensive cherished in our families and in our churches today—idols which have the same influence upon us as did the golden calf upon the Israelites? On the part of God's professed people there is a manifest disregard of the warnings given by Peter: "Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning. . . ."

The time has come when we as a people should search ourselves to see what idols we are cherishing, when the shepherds of the flock should do faithful work as the sentinels of God. In dress, in speech, in deportment, we are to be a people distinct and separate from the world. "I will therefore that men pray everywhere, lifting up holy hands, without wrath and doubting. In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety, not with broidered hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array; but (which becometh women professing godliness) with good works" (RH March 7, 1899).

The Passion for Display.—At the foundation of the ruin of many homes lies the passion for display. Men and women scheme and plan to get means in order that they may appear richer than their neighbors. But even though they may succeed in their desperate struggle, they are not truly happy. True happiness springs from a heart at peace with God [1 Peter 3:3, 4 quoted] (MS 99, 1902).

The Charm of Moral Worth.—Moral worth has a charm that wealth and outward attractions do not possess. The woman having the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, in the sight of God has an endowment of great value, before which the silver of Tarshish, and the gold of Ophir, are worthless. Solomon's bride, in all her glory, cannot compare with one of these household treasures (HR May, 1878).

3:8. A Supreme Reverence for Truth.—"Love as brethren, be pitiful, be courteous." Cherish a supreme reverence for justice and truth, and a hatred for all cruelty and oppression. Do unto others as you would wish them to do to you. God forbids you to favor self, to the disadvantage of another (RI April 13, 1905).

4:17. See EGW on Rev. 11:1.

4:19. The Spirit Works with the Contrite Ones.—It means much to commit the keeping of the soul to God. It means that we are to live and walk by faith, not trusting in or glorifying self, but looking to Jesus our Advocate, as the author and finisher of our faith. The Holy Spirit will do its work upon the heart that is contrite, but never can He work upon a self-important, self-righteous soul. In his own wisdom such a one would mend himself. He interposes between his soul and the Holy Spirit. The Holy Spirit will work if self will not interpose (MS 148, 1897).

5:2, 3 (Acts 20:28). A Wide Field for Church Leaders.—God is not glorified by leaders in the church who seek to drive the sheep. No, no. "Feed the flock of God which is among you, taking the oversight thereof, not by constraint, but willingly; not for filthy lucre, but of a ready mind; neither as being lords over God's heritage, but being ensamples to the flock." There is a wide field for the elders and the helpers in every church. They are to feed the flock of God with pure provender, thoroughly winnowed from the chaff, the poisonous mixture of error. You who have any part to act in the church of God, be sure that you act wisely in feeding the flock of God; for its prosperity much depends upon the quality of this food (MS 59, 1900).

The Second Epistle General of PETER

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the earliest Greek manuscripts this epistle is entitled simply Petrou B ("Of Peter II"). Compare the title of 1 Peter.

2. AUTHORSHIP

Since early times there has been considerable discussion with respect to the authorship of 2 Peter. Origen (c. A.D. 185-c. 254), the earliest writer who names the epistle, expresses doubt as to its authenticity (Eusebius Ecclesiastical History vi. 25). Jerome (c. A.D. 340-420) says that questions had been raised about the style of the epistle. Other Church Fathers either felt grave doubts about it or rejected it outright. Eusebius (ibid. iii. 3; Loeb ed., vol. 1, pp. 191, 193) says: "Of Peter, one epistle, that which is called his first, is admitted, and the ancient presbyters used this in their own writings as unquestioned, but the so-called second epistle we have not received as canonical, but nevertheless it had appeared useful to many, and has been studied with other Scriptures." There are apparently no direct quotations from 2 Peter in the Christian writings of the first two centuries, but only scattered allusions that suggest an acquaintance with it. Doubt with respect to this epistle was most forcefully expressed in the church at Antioch, chiefly because of the absence of 2 Peter, together with 2 John, 3 John, Jude, and the Revelation, from the Peshitta. This commentary holds that though these objections are impressive, they are more than offset by the evidence in behalf of the claim that the apostle Peter was the author of 2 Peter.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

2 Peter is addressed to "them that have obtained like precious faith with us" (ch. 1:1), presumably referring to the readers of the first epistle. This appears to be confirmed by ch. 3:1. Peter must have been martyred no later than A.D. 67 (see B.C. Vol. VI, pp. 34, 102). His second epistle is thought to have been written shortly before this date. There is no evidence to determine where the epistle was written; most probably it was Rome.

4. THEME

As with 1 Peter, the theme is pastoral. The writer exhorts his readers to continue growth in grace and in spiritual knowledge, the God's design in their calling and election might be fulfilled. In ch. 1 he encourages them by reference to his own experience and to the prophetic word. In ch. 2 he warns against false teachers. In ch. 3 a discussion of the scoffers' rejection of the promise of Christ's return leads to an affirmation of the certainty of the second coming and an exhortation to be ready for that great event.

2 PETER

Salutation and Introduction (1:1-11)

Salutation

- 1 Simon Peter, a servant and an apostle of Jesus Christ, to them that have obtained like precious faith with us through the righteousness of God and our Saviour Jesus Christ:
- 2 Grace and peace be multiplied unto you through the knowledge of God, and of Jesus our Lord,

Exhortation

- 3 According as his divine power hath given unto us all things that pertain unto life and godliness, through the knowledge of him that hath called us to glory and virtue:
- 4 Whereby are given unto us exceeding great and precious promises: that by these ye might be partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.
- 5 And beside this, giving all diligence, add to your faith virtue; and to virtue knowledge;
- 6 And to knowledge temperance; and to temperance patience; and to patience godliness;
- 7 And to godliness brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness charity.
- 8 For if these things be in you, and abound, they make you that ye shall neither be barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ.
- 9 But he that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off, and hath forgotten that he was purged from his old sins.
- 10 Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall:
- 11 For so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ.

Purpose of the Epistle (1:12-21)

To Establish Believers in Present Truth

- 12 Wherefore I will not be negligent to put you always in remembrance of these things, though ye know them, and be established in the present truth.
- 13 Yea, I think it meet, as long as I am in this tabernacle, to stir you up by putting you in remembrance;
- 14 Knowing that shortly I must put off this my tabernacle, even as our Lord Jesus Christ hath shewed me.
- 15 Moreover I will endeavour that ye may be able after my decease to have these things always in remembrance.

Confirmation of the Gospel Through Personal Experience

- 16 For we have not followed cunningly devised fables, when we made known unto you the power and coming of our Lord Jesus Christ, but were eyewitnesses of his majesty.
- 17 For he received from God the Father honour and glory, when there came such a voice to him from the excellent glory. This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased.
- 18 And this voice which came from heaven we heard, when we were with him in the holy mount.

Confirmation of the Gospel in Prophecy

- 19 We have also a more sure word of prophecy; whereunto ye do well that ye take heed, as unto a light that shineth in a dark place, until the day dawn, and the day star arise in your hearts:
- 20 Knowing this first, that no prophecy of the

The Keynote of Victory.—The first chapter of Second Peter is full of instruction, and strikes the keynote of victory. The truth is impressively forced upon the mind by the way it is presented in this chapter. Let us more abundantly recommend the study of these words, and the practicing of these precepts (Letter 43, 1895).

1:1-3. No Standstill in the Christian Life.—[2 Peter 1:1-3 quoted.] What a grand theme this is for contemplation—the righteousness of God and our Saviour Jesus Christ. Contemplating Christ and His righteousness leaves no room for self-righteousness, for the glorifying of self. In this chapter there is no standstill. There is continual advancement in every stage of the knowledge of Christ (Letter 43, 1895).

1:2, 5-7. See EGVW on Rom. 6:1-4.

1:4 (Heb. 10:23). God Behind All His Promises.—Promises are estimated by the truth of the one who makes them. Many men make promises only to break them, to mock the heart that trusted in them. Those who lean upon such men lean upon broken reeds. But God is behind the promises He makes. He is ever mindful of His covenant, and His truth endureth to all generations (MS 23, 1899).

(Eph. 2:1-6; see EGVW on Gen. 2:7; Ex. 20:1-17; Matt. 4:1-11; Heb. 2:14-18; 4:15.) Partakers of the Divine Nature.—We must learn of Christ. We must know what He is to those He has ransomed. We must realize that through belief in Him it is our privilege to be partakers of the divine nature, and so escape the corruption that is in the world through lust. Then we are cleansed from all sin, all defects of character. We need not retain one sinful propensity. . . . [Eph. 2:1-6 quoted.] . . .

As we partake of the divine nature, hereditary and cultivated tendencies to wrong are cut away from the character, and we are made a living power for good. Ever learning of the divine Teacher, daily partaking of His nature, we cooperate with God in overcoming Satan's temptations. God works, and man works, that man may be one with Christ as Christ is one with God. Then we sit together with Christ in heavenly places. The mind rests with peace and assurance in Jesus (RII April 24, 1900).

The Enabling Grace of God.—In His Word God reveals what He can do for human beings. He molds and fashions after the divine similitude the characters of those who will wear His yoke. Through His grace they are made partakers of the divine nature, and are thus enabled to overcome the corruption that is in the world through lust. It is God who gives us power to overcome. Those who hear His voice and obey His commandments are enabled to form righteous characters. Those who disregard His expressed commands will form characters like the propensities that they indulge (Letter 44, 1903).

One With God.—It is a knowledge of the perfection of the divine character, manifested to us in Jesus Christ, that opens up to us communion with God. It is by appropriating the great and precious promises that we are to become partakers of the divine nature, having escaped the corruption that is in the world through lust.

What possibilities are opened up to the youth who lay hold of the divine assurances of God's Word! Scarcely can the human mind comprehend what is the breadth and depth and height of the spiritual attainments that can be reached by becoming partakers of the divine nature. The human agent who daily yields obedience to God, who becomes a partaker of the divine nature, finds pleasure daily in keeping the commandments of God; for he is one with God. It is essential that he hold as vital a relation with God as does the Son to the Father. He understands the oneness that Christ prayed might exist between the Father and the Son (Letter 43, 1895).

1:5-7. Graces to Grow Up Together.—We are to add to faith, virtue; and to virtue, knowledge; and to knowledge, temperance; and to temperance, patience; and to patience, godliness; and to godliness, brotherly kindness; and to brotherly kindness, charity. You are not to think that you must wait until you have perfected one grace before cultivating another. No; they are to grow up together, fed continually from the fountain of charity; every day that you live, you can be perfecting the blessed attributes fully revealed in the character of Christ; and when you do this, you will bring light, love, peace, and joy into your homes (RH July 29, 1890).

1:5-11 (Phil. 2:12, 13). Daily Diligence Needed.—Temptation must be met and resisted. Day by day the spiritual battle goes on. Day by day we are to work out our own salvation with fear and trembling. It is God that works in us, to will and to do of His good pleasure. Every soul is to strive with "all diligence" to add constantly to his spiritual attainments, strengthening every grace, increasing in efficiency that he may grow in usefulness and holiness, as a fruit-bearing tree in the Lord's garden. He is to be neither barren nor unfruitful in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. True religion leads to the cultivation of the gifts that make a man more precious in God's sight than the gold of Ophir.

"All diligence" means much. It means a daily diligence. There is danger that we shall be blind in regard to the working of satanic agencies, and that we shall be ensnared by Satan's alluring temptations. Therefore the word comes to us, "Giving all diligence," add to your character the graces that will make you strong to resist evil. "He that lacketh these things is blind, and cannot see afar off." He does not realize his spiritual poverty (2 Peter 1:10, 11 quoted) (Letter 141, 1903).

1:6. Temperance Precedes Patience.—"And to temperance patience." An impatient man never can be a patient man. Temperance comes first, and then patience (MS 49, 1894).

1:10 (John 1:12; 1 Cor. 6:19, 20; 1 Peter 1:2, 18-20; see EGW on Rom. 11:4-6; Eph. 1:4, 5, 11; Heb. 7:25). Election Price Paid for All.—There could be no such thing as one not prepared for heaven entering heaven. There is no such thing as a human being sanctified and fitted for the heavenly kingdom not having an election to that kingdom. God elects those who have been working on the plan of addition. The explanation is given in the first chapter of Second Peter. For every human being, Christ has paid the election price. No one need be lost. All have been redeemed. To those who receive Christ as a personal Saviour will be given power to become the sons and daughters of God. An eternal life insurance policy has been provided for all.

Whom God elects, Christ redeems. The Saviour has paid the redemption price for every soul: We are not our own; for we are bought with a price. From the Redeemer, who from the foundation of the world has chosen us, we receive the insurance policy that entitles us to eternal life (Letter 53, 1904).

Election Within Our Reach.—There is the election of God on the condition of practice, and there is no other election in the Bible. Election is within our reach. "If ye do these things, ye shall never fall" (MS 49, 1894).

1:10, 11 (see EGW on Rev. 11:1). The Best Life Insurance.—(2 Peter 1:10, 11 quoted.) Here are your life-insurance papers. This is not an insurance policy the value of which some one else will receive after your death; it is a policy that assures you a life measuring with the life of God—even eternal life. O what an assurance! what a hope! Let us ever reveal to the world that we are seeking for a better country, even a heavenly. Heaven has been made for us, and we want a part in it. We cannot afford to allow anything to separate us from God and heaven. In this life we must be partakers of the divine nature. Brethren and sisters, you have only one life to live. O let it be a life of virtue, a life hid with Christ in God (RH May 26, 1904).

(See EGW on 1 John 3:1). Benefits Secured by the Elect.—It depends upon your course of action as to whether or not you will secure the benefits bestowed upon those who, as the elect of God, receive an eternal life-insurance policy (MS 81, 1900).

1:14, 15. See EGW on Acts 8:9-24.

1:21 (2 Tim. 3:16). Inspiration of the Bible Writers.—God committed the preparation of His divinely inspired Word to finite man. This Word arranged into books, the Old and New Testaments, is the guidebook to the inhabitants of a fallen world; bequeathed to them, that by studying and obeying the directions, not one soul would lose its way to heaven.

Those who think to make the supposed difficulties of Scripture plain, in measuring by their finite rule that which is inspired and that which is not inspired, had better cover their faces, as Elijah when the still small voice spoke to him, for they are in the presence of God and holy angels, who for ages have communicated to men light and knowledge, telling them what to do, and what not to do, unfolding before them scenes of thrilling interest, waymark by waymark in symbols and signs and illustrations.

And He has not, while presenting the perils clustering about the last days, qualified any finite man to unravel hidden mysteries, or inspired one man or any class of men to pronounce judgment as to that which is inspired or is not. When men, in their finite judgment, find it necessary to go into an examination of Scriptures to define that which is inspired and that which is not, they have stepped before Jesus to show Him a better way than He has led us.

I take the Bible just as it is, as the Inspired Word. I believe its utterances in an entire Bible.

Simplicity and plain utterance are comprehended by the illiterate, by the peasant, and the child as well as by the full-grown man or the giant in intellect. If the individual is possessed of large talents of mental powers, he will find in the Oracles of God treasures of truth, beautiful and valuable, which he can appropriate. He will also find difficulties, and secrets and wonders which will give him the highest satisfaction to study during a long lifetime, and yet there is an infinity beyond.

Men of humble acquirements, possessing but limited capabilities and opportunities to become conversant in the Scriptures, find in the Living Oracles comfort, guidance, counsel, and the plan of salvation as clear as a sunbeam. No one need be lost for want of knowledge unless he is willfully blind.

We thank God that the Bible is prepared for the poor man as well as for the learned man. It is fitted for all ages and all classes (MS 16, 1888).

The writers of the Bible had to express their ideas in human language. It was written by human men. These men were inspired of the Holy Spirit. Because of the imperfections of human understanding of language, or the perversity of the human mind, ingenious in evading truth, many read and understand the Bible to please themselves. It is scripture is of any private interpretation.

- 21 For the prophecy came not ⁱⁿ old time by the will of man: but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost.

Warnings Against False Teachers (2:1-22)

False Teachers and Their Deceptive Heresies

- 2 But there were false prophets also among the people, even as there shall be false teachers among you, who privily shall bring in damnable heresies, even denying the Lord that bought them, and bring upon themselves swift destruction.
- 2 And many shall follow their 'pernicious ways; by reason of whom the way of truth shall be evil spoken of.
- 3 And through covetousness shall they with feigned words make merchandise of you: whose judgment now of a long time lingereth not, and their damnation slumbereth not.

Punishment of the Ungodly; Deliverance of the Righteous

- 4 For if God spared not the angels that sinned, but cast them down to hell, and delivered them into chains of darkness, to be reserved unto judgment;
- 5 And spared not the old world, but saved Noah the eighth person, a preacher of righteousness, bringing in the flood upon the world of the ungodly;
- 6 And turning the cities of Sodom and Gomorrah into ashes condemned them with an overthrow, making them an ensample unto those that after should live ungodly;
- 7 And delivered just Lot, vexed with the filthy conversation of the wicked:
- 8 (For that righteous man dwelling among them, in seeing and hearing, vexed his righteous soul from day to day with their unlawful deeds;)
- 9 The Lord knoweth how to deliver the godly out of temptations, and to reserve the unjust unto the day of judgment to be punished:

in the lust of uncleanness, and despise government. Presumptuous are they, self-willed, they are not afraid to speak evil of dignities.

- 11 Whereas angels, which are greater in power and might, bring not railing accusation against them before the Lord.
- 12 But these, as natural brute beasts, made to be taken and destroyed, speak evil of the things that they understand not; and shall utterly perish in their own corruption;
- 13 And shall receive the reward of unrighteousness, as they that count it pleasure to riot in the day time. Spots they are and blemishes, sporting themselves with their own deceivings while they feast with you;
- 14 Having eyes full of adultery, and that cannot cease from sin; beguiling unstable souls: an heart they have exercised with covetous practices; cursed children:
- 15 Which have forsaken the right way, and are gone astray, following the way of Balaam the son of Bosor, who loved the wages of unrighteousness;
- 16 But was rebuked for his iniquity: the dumb ass speaking with man's voice forbad the madness of the prophet.
- 17 These are wells without water, clouds that are carried with a tempest; to whom the mist of darkness is reserved for ever.
- 18 For when they speak great swelling words of vanity, they allure through the lusts of the flesh, through much wantonness, those that were clean escaped from them who live in error.
- 19 While they promise them liberty, they themselves are the servants of corruption: for of whom a man is overcome, of the same is he brought in bondage.
- 20 For if after they have escaped the pollutions of the world through the knowledge of the Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ, they are again entangled therein, and overcome, the latter end is worse with them than the beginning.
- 21 For it had been better for them not to have known the way of righteousness, than, after they have known it, to turn from the holy commandment delivered unto them.
- 22 But it is happened unto them according not that the difficulty is in the Bible. Opposing politicians argue points of law in the statute book, and take opposite views in their application and in these laws.

The Scriptures were given to men, not in a continuous chain of unbroken utterances, but piece by piece through successive generations, as God in His providence saw a fitting opportunity to impress man at sundry times and divers places. Men wrote as they were moved upon by the Holy Ghost. There is "first the bud, then the blossom, and next the fruit," "first the blade, then the ear, after that the full corn in the ear." This is exactly what the Bible utterances are to us.

There is not always perfect order or apparent unity in the Scriptures. The miracles of Christ are not given in exact order, but are given just as the circumstances occurred, which called for this divine revealing of the power of Christ. The truths of the Bible are as pearls hidden. They must be searched, dug out by painstaking effort. Those who take only a surface view of the Scriptures, will, with their superficial knowledge, which they think is very deep, talk of the contradictions of the Bible, and question the authority of the Scriptures. But those whose hearts are in harmony with truth and duty will search the Scriptures with a heart prepared to receive divine impressions. The illuminated soul sees a spiritual unity, one grand golden thread running through the whole, but it requires patience, thought, and prayer to trace out the precious golden thread. Sharp contentions over the Bible have led to investigation and revealed the precious jewels of truth. Many tears have been shed, many prayers offered, that the Lord would open the understanding to His Word.

The Bible is not given to us in grand superhuman language. Jesus, in order to reach man where he is, took humanity. The Bible must be given in the language of men. Everything that is human is imperfect. Different meanings are expressed by the same word; there is not one word for 2 or, dominion 3 some read, themselves 4 Gr. an adulteress 5 or, for a little, or, a while, as some read each distinct idea. The Bible was given for practical purposes.

The stamps of minds are different. All do not understand expressions and statements alike. Some understand the statements of the Scriptures to suit their own particular minds and cases. Prepossessions, prejudices, and passions have a strong influence to darken the understanding and confuse the mind even in reading the words of Holy Writ.

The Bible is written by inspired men, but it is not God's mode of thought and expression. It is that of humanity. God, as a writer, is not represented. Men will often say such an expression is not like God. But God has not put Himself in words, in logic, in rhetoric, on trial in the Bible. The writers of the Bible were God's penmen, not His pen. Look at the different writers.

It is not the words of the Bible that are inspired, but the men that were inspired. Inspiration acts not on the man's words or his expressions but on the man himself, who, under the influence of the Holy Ghost, is imbued with thoughts. But the words receive the impress of the individual mind. The divine mind is diffused. The divine mind and will is combined with the human mind and will; thus the utterances of the man are the Word of God (MS 24, 1886).

Finite Vehicles of Thought.—The Lord speaks to human beings in imperfect speech, in order that the degenerate senses, the dull, earthly perception, of earthly beings may comprehend His words. Thus is shown God's condescension. He meets fallen human beings where they are. The Bible, perfect as it is in its simplicity, does not answer to the great ideas of God: for infinite ideas cannot be perfectly embodied in finite vehicles of thought. Instead of the expressions of the Bible being exaggerated, as many people suppose, the strong expressions break down before the magnificence of the thought, though the penman selected the most expressive language through which to convey the truths of higher education. Sinful beings can only bear to look upon a shadow of the brightness of heaven's glory (Letter 121, 1901).

3:3, 4. Those That Deny the Second Advent of Jesus.—Looking down through the ages to the close of time, Peter was inspired to outline conditions that would exist in the world just prior to the second coming of Christ. "There shall come in the last days scoffers," he wrote, "walking after their own lusts, and saying, Where is the promise of His coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation." But "when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them." 1 Thessalonians 5:3. Not all, however, would be ensnared by the enemy's devices. As the end of all things earthly should approach, there "536 would be faithful ones able to discern the signs of the times. While a large number of professing believers would deny their faith by their works, there would be a remnant who would endure to the end."

Peter kept alive in his heart the hope of Christ's return, and he assured the church of the certain fulfillment of the Saviour's promise. "If I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto Myself." John 14:3. To the tried and faithful ones the coming might seem long delayed, but the apostle assured them: "The Lord is not slack concerning His promise, as some men count slackness; but is long-suffering to usward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance. But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up (AA 365, 366).

3:9 (Rev. 22:10-12). The Boundary of Divine Forbearance.—God is long-suffering, not willing that any should perish; but His forbearance has a limit, and when the boundary is past, there is no second probation. His wrath will go forth and He will destroy without remedy.

When men, being in power, oppress and spoil their fellow men, and no earthly tribunal can be found to do justice, God will interpose in behalf of those who cannot defend themselves. He will punish for every act of oppression. No earthly wisdom can secure wrongdoers against the judgments of heaven. And when men put their trust in earthly powers instead of their Maker, when they become lifted up in pride and self-confidence, God will in His own time make them to be despised (Letter 122, 1900).

3:10 (Ps. 27:5; 91:9, 10; Isa. 2:17-21; see EGW on Gen. 6:17; Rev. 20:9, 10, 14). God the Refuge of His People.—Before the Son of man appears in the clouds of heaven, everything in nature will be convulsed. Lightning from heaven uniting with the fire in the earth, will cause the mountains to burn like a furnace, and pour out their floods of lava over villages and cities. Molten masses of rock, thrown into the water by the upheaval of things hidden in the earth, will cause the water to boil and send forth rocks and earth. There will be mighty earthquakes and great destruction of human life. But as in the days of the great Deluge Noah was preserved in the ark that God had prepared for him, so in these days of destruction and calamity, God will be the refuge of His believing ones . . . (Ps. 91:9, 10, 27:5 quoted) (Letter 258, 1907).

Destruction From Earth and Sky.—The hand of Omnipotence is at no loss for ways and means to accomplish His purposes. He could reach into the bowels of the earth and call forth His weapons, waters there concealed, to aid in the destruction of the corrupt inhabitants of the old world.

Water will never destroy the earth again, but the weapons of God are concealed in the bowels of the earth, which He will draw forth to unite with the fire from heaven to accomplish His purpose in the destruction of all those who would not receive the message of warning and purify their souls in obeying the truth and being obedient to the laws of God (ST Jan. 3, 1878).

(Ps. 144:5, 6; Nahum 1:5, 6). Destruction by Water and Fire.—In the bowels of the earth God has in reserve the weapons that He will use to destroy the sinful race. Since the Flood, God has used, to destroy wicked cities, both the water and the fire that are concealed in the earth. In the final conflagration God will in His wrath send lightning from heaven that will unite with the fire in the earth. The mountains will burn like a furnace, and pour forth streams of lava [Nahum 1:5, 6; Ps. 144:5, 6 quoted] (MS 21, 1902).

3:11. See EGW on Rev. 3:14-18.

3:18 (Prov. 11:25; Eph. 4:15; see EGW on Rev. 2:4). Divine Law of Impartation.—It is the Lord's desire that His followers shall grow in grace, that their love shall abound more and more, that they shall be filled with the fruits of righteousness, which are by Jesus Christ, unto the praise and glory of God.

One of the divine plans for growth is impartation. The Christian is to gain strength by strengthening others. "He that watereth shall be watered also himself." This is not merely a promise; it is a divine law, a law by which God designs that the streams of benevolence, like the waters of the great deep, shall be kept in constant circulation, continually flowing back to their source. In the fulfilling of this law is the secret of spiritual growth (ST June 12, 1901).

(1 Thess. 4:3.) Sanctification a Continual Growth in Grace.—[2 Peter 3:14, 18 quoted.] There is no Bible sanctification for those who cast a part of the truth behind them.

Sanctification is not the work of a moment, an hour, or a day. It is a continual growth in grace. We know not one day how strong will be our conflict the next. Satan lives, and is active, and every day we need to earnestly cry to God for help and strength to resist him. As long as Satan reigns we shall have self to subdue, besetments to overcome, and there is no stopping place. There is no point to which we can come and say we have fully attained (RH May 6, 1862).

(2 Cor. 3:18; Heb. 11:27.) A Connection With the Channel of Light.—How is it possible that we may grow in grace? It is possible to us only as we empty our hearts of to the true proverb, The dog is turned to his own vomit again; and the sow that was washed to her wallowing in the mire.

Christ's Second Coming and Preparation for His Appearing (3:1-18)

Reference to the Testimony of Prophets and Apostles

- 3 This second epistle, beloved, I now write unto you; in both which I stir up your pure minds by way of remembrance:
2 That ye may be mindful of the words which were spoken before by the holy prophets, and of the commandment of us the apostles of the Lord and Saviour:

Scoffers Refuted by the Facts of the Flood

- 3 Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts,
4 And saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation.
5 For this they willingly are ignorant of, that by the word of God the heavens were of old, and the earth 'standing out of the water and in the water:
6 Whereby the world that then was, being overflowed with water, perished:
7 But the heavens and the earth, which are now, by the same word are kept in store, reserved unto fire against the day of judgment and perdition of ungodly men.

Certainty of Christ's Return

- 8 But, beloved, be not ignorant of this one thing, that one day is with the Lord as a thousand years, and a thousand years as one day.
9 The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance.

- 10 But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night; in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up.

Exhortation to Holy Living in Anticipation of the Advent

- 11 Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness,
12 Looking for and 'hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat?
13 Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness.
14 Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless.
15 And account that the longsuffering of our Lord is salvation; even as our beloved brother Paul also according to the wisdom given unto him hath written unto you:
16 As also in all his epistles, speaking in them of these things; in which are some things hard to be understood, which they that are unlearned and unstable wrest, as they do also the other scriptures, unto their own destruction.
17 Ye therefore, beloved, seeing ye know these things before, beware lest ye also, being led away with the error of the wicked, fall from your own steadfastness.
18 But grow in grace, and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. To him be glory both now and for ever. Amen.

self, and present them to Heaven, to be molded after the divine Pattern. We may have a connection with the living channel of light: we may be refreshed with the heavenly dew, and have the showers of Heaven descend upon us. As we appropriate the blessing of God, we shall be able to receive greater measures of His grace. As we learn to endure as seeing Him who is invisible, we shall become changed into the image of Christ. The grace of Christ will not make us proud, cause us to be lifted up in self, but we shall become meek and lowly in heart (ST Jan. 16, 1893).

The First Epistle General of JOHN

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the earliest Greek manuscripts the title of this epistle is simply Joannou A, literally, "Of John, 1," that is, the First (Epistle) of John. There is no way of knowing whether this was the first pastoral epistle John ever wrote, but it is the first of those that have been preserved by the Christian church.

2. AUTHORSHIP

In none of the NT epistles credited to John does the author identify himself. Nevertheless, there is so great a similarity between the first epistle and the Gospel of John that most scholars accept the common authorship of the two works. If we hold that the Fourth Gospel was written by the beloved disciple (John 21:20-24), identified as the apostle John, a son of Zebedee, we have valid grounds for holding that he is also the author of the first epistle bearing the name John. A similar relationship links the first epistle with the second and the second with the third.

Some of the notable similarities in phraseology between this epistle and the Gospel are as follows:

The Epistle	The Gospel
"That your joy may be full" (1:4).	"That your joy may be full" (16:24).
"We have an advocate" (2:1).	"Give you another Comforter [Advocate]" (14:16).
"We know him, if we keep his commandments" (2:3).	"If ye love me, keep my commandments" (14:15).
"A new commandment I write unto you" (2:8).	"A new commandment I give unto you" (13:34).
"The true light now shineth" (2:8).	"The true Light, which lighteth" (1:9).
"Knoweth not whither he goeth" (2:11).	"Knoweth not whither he goeth" (12:35).
"Abideth for ever" (2:17).	"Abideth [for] ever" (8:35).
"Whosoever denieth the Son, the same hath not the Father" (2:23).	"He that hateth me hateth my Father also" (15:23).
"The same anointing teacheth you of all things" (2:27).	"He shall teach you all things" (14:26).
"That we should love one another" (3:11).	"That ye love one another" (15:12).
"We have passed from death unto life" (3:14).	"Is passed from death unto life" (5:24).
"Do those things that are pleasing in his sight" (3:22).	"I do always those things that please him" (8:29).
"The spirit of truth" (4:6).	"The Spirit of truth" (14:17).
"God sent his only begotten Son" (4:9).	"He gave his only begotten Son" (3:16).
"This life is in his Son" (5:11).	"In him was life" (1:4).

In Greek the parallelisms in wording and construction are often more impressive than in English, but the above list gives the English reader a fair sample of the similarities.

In addition to near parallels in wording there are many other readily perceived similarities between the epistle and the Gospel. Both begin abruptly, without any formal epistolary introduction, one with "That which was from the beginning. . . the Word of life," the other with "In the beginning was the Word." There is a close resemblance in style, in vocabulary, word order, use of prepositions, grammatical construction, the pairing of opposites, such as dark and light, death and life, hate and love, which is a distinctly Johannine characteristic.

Though the difference in purpose and length of the two books permits great divergence, the subject matter of the two is so similar that the epistle may serve as a summary for the dominant themes in the Gospel.

Differences between the two writings must not be ignored, but may be accounted for on various grounds, such as differing objectives, dates of composition, the advancing age of a common author, and natural differences that exist in any works known to have come from the same pen. The epistle appears to have been written spontaneously as a pastoral letter, whereas the Gospel gives evidence of having come from long and profound meditation on the incarnation of the Word of God. To express the same observation in a different way, the objective of the epistle is limited while that of the Gospel is broad. Nevertheless, a common thread runs through both works and may be sensed by even the untrained reader.

However, scholarly opinion is still divided on the question of authorship. Some of the unwillingness to accept the apostle John as the author of the epistle may be due to subconscious wishful doubting. The conservative Christian may rightly declare that he has adequate ground for holding that John the beloved disciple is the writer of this epistle.

For a recent discussion of the problem see A. P. Salom, "Some Aspects of the Grammatical Style of I John," Journal of Biblical Literature, LXXIV, Part II, June, 1955.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

Since the epistle contains no specific reference to the author, to the people to whom the letter is addressed, to the place from which it was written, or to the time of its writing, conclusions relating to its historical setting must be inferred from internal evidence. Such evidence needs to be closely linked with the accepted conclusions concerning the authorship and date of the Fourth Gospel. Since this commentary favors the common Johannine authorship of the Gospel and the epistle, the main question concerns priority—which was written first, the Gospel or the epistle? No definite conclusion is possible, and scholarly opinion has been ranged on both sides. But it can hardly be denied that the epistle presupposes and draws on a background of such Christian knowledge as is contained in John's Gospel. If this point be given decisive weight, then it appears that the epistle was written later than the Gospel, and may be thought of as a postscript to it. Alternatively, it will be readily acknowledged that before ever committing his memories and profound meditations to writing, the apostle would have thought of, and have taught to his flock, much of the contents of his Gospel. Thus it is possible for the epistle to have preceded the writing of the Gospel. From these and other more technical considerations, it appears that it is impossible from internal evidence to come to any firm conclusion as to the relative dating of the two works.

It is clear, however, that the epistle was written by an elderly man who could rightly address his converts as "little children" (chs. 2:1, 12, 18, 28; 3:7, 18; 4:4; 5:21). The destination of the letter is not stated, but it is obviously addressed to a known group of Christians with whom the revered author was personally acquainted. No conclusive reason has yet been advanced for rejecting the widely held tradition that it was written by John in his old age to believers in Ephesus, or at least in Asia Minor, where he had ministered. The date of writing is probably during the first half of the nineties of the 1st century A.D.

Evidence as to the existence of the epistle occurs very early in the 2nd century. Polycarp, who is reputed to have known personally several of the apostles, has words that closely echo 1 John 4:3 (The Epistle of Polycarp to the Philippians vii, c. A.D. 115); and Eusebius states that Papias (c. A.D. 150) "used testimonies from the first [former] epistle of John" (Ecclesiastical History iii. 24). Irenaeus (c. A.D. 200) identifies several verses that he quotes as coming from the first and second epistles of John (Irenaeus Against heresies iii. 16. 5, 8), and the Muratorian Fragment c. A.D. 170 not only includes the first and second epistles in its canon but ascribes them to the apostle John. The first epistle thus has early and reliable attestation, and its place in the canon is firmly fixed.

4. THEME

The primary purpose of the epistle is pastoral. John writes lovingly to his spiritual children that they may be better able to live the Christian life. The keynote of the letter is love. The setting is a simple, yet profoundly spiritual, exhortation. God is love (ch. 4:8); love is of God (v. 7); God loved us and sent His Son; therefore we ought also to love one another (vs. 10, 11). But these lofty themes are portrayed against a background of opposition that gives the epistle a polemical as well as a pastoral aim.

It is clear that heresies had troubled the church, and that false teachers from within had tried to subvert the faith (ch. 2:18, 19). Although they had left the church, their influence lingered and threatened continued damage. John writes to counteract this danger, to establish the member's grip on the essentials of Christian doctrine, and to make the truth so attractive that Christ's followers will not be led into error.

The basic heresy against which John is contending has been identified as a sort of proto-Gnosticism, which taught false gnosis, that is, false knowledge. From the emphases given in the epistle it appears that opposition came from two main forms of Gnosticism, Docetism and Cerinthianism, both of which set forth heresy concerning the nature of Christ. Docetism denied the reality of the incarnation and taught that Christ only appeared to have a human body. The second heresy derived from one of John's contemporaries, Cerinthus, who, after training in Egypt, taught in Asia Minor, and propagated Judaizing teachings. He held that Jesus was the natural-born son of Joseph and Mary, and that Christ entered the body of Jesus at His baptism and withdrew prior to the crucifixion. The originators and supporters of these

Declaration of Personal Acquaintance with Christ, the Word of Life

1 That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we have looked upon, and our hands have handled, of the Word of life;

2 (For the life was manifested, and we have seen it, and bear witness, and shew unto you that eternal life, which was with the Father, and was manifested unto us;)

Purpose in Writing the Epistle: To Foster Fellowship with Christians, God, and Christ

3 That which we have seen and heard declare we unto you, that ye also may have fellowship with us: and truly our fellowship is with the Father, and with his Son Jesus Christ.

To Bring Fullness of Joy

4 And these things write we unto you, that your joy may be full.

The Requirements for Fellowship With God and Man (1:5-10)

Walk in the Light

5 This then is the message which we have heard of him, and declare unto you, that God is light, and in him is no darkness at all.

6 If we say that we have fellowship with him, and walk in darkness, we lie, and do not the truth:

7 But if we walk in the light, as he is in the light, we have fellowship one with another, and the blood of Jesus Christ his Son cleanseth us from all sin.

Confession of Sin

8 If we say that we have no sin, we deceive ourselves, and the truth is not in us.

9 If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.

10 If we say that we have not sinned, we make him a liar, and his word is not in us.

Exhortation to Sinless Living (2:1-28)

Christ the Advocate, the Propitiation for Sin

2 My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous:

2 And he is the propitiation for our sins: and not for ours only, but also for the sins of the whole world.

Walking as He Walked

3 And hereby we do know that we know him, if we keep his commandments.

4 He that saith, I know him, and keepeth not his commandments, is a liar, and the truth is not in him.

5 But whoso keepeth his word, in him verily is the love of God perfected: hereby know we that we are in him.

6 He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked.

The New Commandment

7 Brethren, I write no new commandment unto you, but an old commandment which ye had from the beginning. The old commandment is the word which ye have heard from the beginning.

8 Again, a new commandment I write unto you, which thing is true in him and in you: because the darkness is past, and the true light now shineth.

9 He that saith he is in the light, and hateth his brother, is in darkness even until now.

10 He that loveth his brother abideth in the light, and there is none occasion of stumbling in him.

11 But he that hateth his brother is in darkness, and walketh in darkness, and knoweth not whither he goeth, because that darkness hath blinded his eyes.

1:1-3. Testimony of John Invaluable.—[1 Jn 1:1-3 quoted.] Thus John bears testimony that he had seen Christ, had been with Christ. In the early history of the Christian church, the enemy tried to bring in questions that would lead to doubt and dissension. At this time the testimony of John was invaluable in establishing the faith of the believers. He could say with assurance, I know that Christ lived on this earth; and I can bear testimony regarding His words and works (MS 29, 1911).

1:1-10 (see EGW on Rev. 1:9). John the Aged Servant of Jesus.—The apostle John is an example of the way in which God can use aged workers. Read his stirring words, written when he was an old man. Who could bear a firmer, more decided testimony? [1 Jn 1:1-10; 2:1-5 quoted.]

In his old age John revealed the life of Christ in his life. He lived to be nearly one hundred years old, and over and over again he repeated the story of the crucified and risen Saviour. Persecution came upon the believers, and those young in experience were often in danger of losing their hold on Christ. But the old, tried servant of Jesus steadfastly maintained his faith (MS 92, 1903).

1:7-9. See EGW on 1 Tim. 2:5.

1:7, 9 (Heb. 9:11-14, 22; Rev. 22:1). Efficacy of Christ's Blood.—“Thank God that He who spilled His blood for us, lives to plead it, lives to make intercession for every soul who receives Him. ‘If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness.’ The blood of Jesus Christ cleanses us from all sin. It speaketh better things than the blood of Abel, for Christ ever liveth to make intercession for us. We need to keep ever before us the efficacy of the blood of Jesus. That life-cleansing, life-sustaining blood, appropriated by living faith, is our hope. We need to grow in appreciation of its inestimable value, for it speaks for us only as we by faith claim its virtue, keeping the conscience clean and at peace with God.

Personal Appeals to Spiritual Children: Reasons for Writing

- 12 I write unto you, little children, because your sins are forgiven you for his name's sake.
- 13 I write unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I write unto you, young men, because ye have overcome the wicked one. I write unto you, little children, because ye have known the Father.
- 14 I have written unto you, fathers, because ye have known him that is from the beginning. I have written unto you, young men, because ye are strong, and the word of God abideth in you, and ye have overcome the wicked one.

Love Not the World

- 15 Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him.
- 16 For all that is in the world, the lust of the flesh, and the lust of the eyes, and the pride of life, is not of the Father, but is of the world.
- 17 And the world passeth away, and the lust thereof; but he that doeth the will of God abideth for ever.

Beware of Antichrists and Their Heresies

- 18 Little children, it is the last time: and as ye have heard that antichrist shall come, even now are there many antichrists: whereby we know that it is the last time.
- 19 They went out from us, but they were not of us; for if they had been of us, they would no doubt have continued with us: but they went out, that they might be made manifest that they were not all of us.
- 20 But ye have an unction from the Holy One, and ye know all things.
- 21 I have not written unto you because ye know not the truth, but because ye know it, and that no lie is of the truth.
- 22 Who is a liar but he that denieth that Jesus is the Christ? He is antichrist, that denieth the Father and the Son.
- 23 Whosoever denieth the Son, the same

Abide in Christ to Prepare for His Coming

Sons of God Contrasted With Children of the Devil (2:29-3:24)

The Righteousness of God's Sons

- 29 If ye know that he is righteous, ye know that every one that doeth righteousness is born of him.
- 3 Behold, what manner of love the Father hath bestowed upon us, that we should be called the sons of God: therefore the world knoweth us not, because it knew him not.
- 2 Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him: for we shall see him as he is.
- 3 And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure.
- 4 Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law.
- 5 And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins: and in him is no sin.
- 6 Whosoever abideth in him sinneth not, whosoever sinneth hath not seen him.

This is represented as the pardoning blood, inseparably connected with the resurrection and life of our Redeemer, illustrated by the ever-flowing stream that proceeds from the throne of God, the water of the river of life (Letter 87, 1894).

2:1 (Rom. 8:34; 1 Tim. 2:5; Heb. 2:18; 7: 25; 9:24; see EGW on John 17:5, 24). Fenced From Satan's Attacks.—"If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ, the righteous." How careful is the Lord Jesus to give no occasion for a soul to despair. How He fences about the soul from Satan's fierce attacks. If through manifold temptations we are surprised or deceived into sin. He does not turn from us and leave us to perish. No, no, that is not our Saviour. Christ prayed for us. He was tempted in all points like as we are; and having been tempted, He knows how to succor those who are tempted.

Our crucified Lord is pleading for us in the presence of the Father at the throne of grace. His atoning sacrifice we may plead for our pardon, our justification, and our sanctification. The Lamb slain is our only hope. Our faith looks up to Him, grasps Him as the One who can save to the uttermost, and the fragrance of the all-sufficient offering is accepted of the Father. Unto Christ is committed all power in heaven and in earth, and all things are possible to him that believeth. Christ's glory is concerned in our success. He has a common interest in all humanity. He is our sympathizing Saviour (Letter 33, 1895).

(Isa. 49:16; Zech. 3:1; Heb. 4:14-16; see EGW on Matt. 28:18; Heb. 5:5, 6; 10:19-21.) Efficiency of Christ's Priesthood.—Let us remember that our great High Priest is pleading before the mercy seat in behalf of His ransomed people. He ever liveth to make intercession for us. "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous."

The blood of Jesus is pleading with power and efficacy for those who are back-slidden, for those who are relap-lions, for those who sin against great light and love. Satan stands at our right hand to accuse us, and our Advocate stands at God's right hand to plead for us. He has never lost a case that has been committed to Him. We may trust in our Advocate, for He pleads His own merits in our behalf. Hear His prayer before His betrayal and trial. Listen to His prayer for us; for He had us in remembrance.

He will not forget His church in the world of temptation. He looks upon His tried and suffering people, and prays for them. . . . Yes, He beholds His people in this world, which is a persecuting world, and all seared and marred with the curse, and [He] knows that they need all the divine resources of His sympathy and His love. Our Forerunner hath for us entered within the veil, and yet by the golden chain of love and truth, He is linked with His people in closest sympathy.

He is making intercession for the most lowly, the most oppressed and suffering, for the most tried and tempted ones. With unpraised hands He pleads, "I have graven thee upon the palms of my hands." God loves to hear, and responds to the pleadings of His Son . . . [Heb. 4:14-16 quoted] (RH Aug. 15, 1893).

Fixing Our Eyes Upon Our Advocate.—In all our acts of true devotion, we fix our eye of faith upon our Advocate, who is standing between man and the eternal throne, waiting to meet our every effort, and by His Spirit assist us to a more perfect knowledge of God (MS 7, 1898).

2:1, 2. See EGW on [Heb. 2:14-18, James 1:25].

2:3, 4. See EGW on 1 Thess. 4:3.

2:3. See EGW on John 14:15; Rom. 3:31.

2:6 (see EGW on 2 Cor. 5:17; Rev. 14:4). Walking as Christ Walked.—Those who walk even as Christ walked, who are patient, gentle, kind, meek and lowly in heart, those who yoke up with Christ and lift His burdens, who yearn for souls as He yearned for them—these will enter into the joy of their Lord. They will see with Christ the travail of His soul, and be satisfied. Heaven will triumph, for the vacancies made in heaven by the fall of Satan and his angels will be filled by the redeemed of the Lord (RH May 29, 1900).

The Imitation of Christ.—True religion is the imitation of Christ. Those who follow Christ will deny self, take up the cross, and walk in His footsteps. Following Christ means obedience to all His commandments. No soldier can be said to follow his commander unless he obeys orders. Christ is our model. To copy Jesus, full of love and tenderness and compassion, will require that we draw near to Him daily. O how God has been dishonored by His professed representatives (Letter 31a, 1894)!

2:15. Space Between the Soul and Jesus.—Those who are ever pressing a little closer to the world, and becoming more like them in feelings, in plans, in ideas, have left a space between them and the Saviour, and Satan has pressed his way into this space, and low, worldly-tainted, selfish plans become interwoven with their experience (RH June 7, 1887).

Not the Golden Currency of Heaven.—As the lovers of the world make religion subservient to the world, God requires His worshippers to subordinate the world to religion. The things of the world, that perish with the using, are not to be made the first consideration; these are not the golden currency of heaven. God has not stamped upon them His image and superscription (MS 16, 1890).

2:18 (Dan. 12:13; Rev. 14:6-12). Meaning of Antichrist to Be Understood.—Those who become confused in their understanding of the Word, who fail to see the meaning of antichrist, will surely place themselves on the side of antichrist. There is no time now for us to assimilate with the world. Daniel is standing in his lot and in his place. The prophecies of Daniel and of John are to be understood. They interpret each other. They give to the world truths which every one should understand. These prophecies are to be witnesses in the world. By their fulfillment in these last days they will explain themselves.

The Lord is about to punish the world for its iniquity. He is about to punish religious bodies for their rejection of the light and truth which has been given them. The great message, combining the first, second, and third angels' messages, is to be given to the world. This is to be the burden of our work. Those who truly believe in Christ will openly conform to the law of Jehovah. The Sabbath is the sign between God and His people; and we are to make visible our conformity to the law of God by observing the Sabbath. It is to be the mark of distinction between God's chosen people and the world (MS 10, 1900).

(2 Thess. 2:3-10; Rev. 13:16, 17; 18:3-7.) Society Ranging into Two Classes.—All society is ranging into two great classes, the obedient and the disobedient. Among which class shall we be found?

Those who keep God's commandments, those who live not by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God, compose the church of the living God. Those who choose to follow antichrist are subjects of the great apostate. Ranged under the banner of Satan, they break God's law and lead others to break it. They endeavor so to frame the laws of nations that men shall show their loyalty to earthly governments by trampling upon the laws of God's kingdom.

Satan is diverting minds with unimportant questions, in order that they shall not with clear and distinct vision see matters of vast importance. The enemy is planning to ensnare the world.

The so-called Christian world is to be the theater of great and decisive actions. Men in authority will enact laws controlling the conscience, after the example of the papacy. Babylon will make all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication. Every nation will be involved. . . . [Rev. 18:3-7 quoted] (MS 24, 1891).

All Heaven on Christ's Side.—The determination of Antichrist to carry out the rebellion he began in heaven will continue to work in the children of disobedience. Their envy and hatred against those who obey the fourth commandment will wax more and more bitter. But the people of God are not to hide their banner. They are not to ignore the commandments of God, and in order to have an easy time, go with the multitude to do evil. . . .

The greater man's influence for good, under the control of the Spirit of God, the more determined will be the enemy to indulge his envy and jealousy toward him by religious persecution. But all heaven is on the side of Christ, not of Antichrist. Those who love God and are willing to be partakers with Christ in His sufferings, God will honor. Antichrist, meaning all who exalt themselves against the will and work of God, will at the appointed time feel the wrath of Him who gave Himself that they might not perish but have eternal life. All who persevere in obedience, all who will not sell their souls for money or for the favor of men, God will register in the book of life (MS 9, 1900).

(Col. 2:8; 1 Tim. 6:20.) Human Reason vs. God's Wisdom.—Many exalt human reason, idolize human wisdom, and set the opinions of men above the revealed wisdom of God. This affords opportunity for the working of Satan, and the spirit of Antichrist is far more widespread than any of us imagine. . . .

The maxims of the world, that know not God, have been worked into the theories of the church. In the eyes of men, vain philosophy and science, falsely so-called, are of more value than the Word of God. The sentiment prevails to a large extent that the divine Mediator is not essential to the salvation of man. A variety of theories advanced by the so-called worldly-wise men for man's elevation, are believed and trusted in more than is the truth of God, as taught by Christ and His apostles.

The lying spirit that enticed Eve in Eden, finds acceptance with the majority of earth's inhabitants today. Even the Christian world refuses to be converted by the Spirit of God, but listens to the prince of darkness, as he comes to them in the garb of an angel of light. The spirit of Antichrist is prevailing in the world to a far greater extent than it has ever prevailed before.

The day of test and purification is just upon us. Signs of a most startling character appear, in floods, in hurricanes, in tornadoes, in cloudbursts, in casualties by land and by sea, that proclaim the approach of the end of all things. The judgments of God are falling on the world, that men may be awakened to the fact that Christ will come speedily neither known him.

- 7 Little children, let no man deceive you: he that doeth righteousness is righteous, even as he is righteous.

He Who Sins Is of the Devil

- 8 He that committeth sin is of the devil; for the devil sinneth from the beginning. For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that he might destroy the works of the devil.

- 9 Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: and he cannot sin, because he is born of God.

He Who Loves Not His Brother Is of the Devil

- 10 In this the children of God are manifest, and the children of the devil: whosoever doeth not righteousness is not of God, neither he that loveth not his brother.

- 11 For this is the message that ye heard from the beginning, that we should love one another.

- 12 Not as Cain, who was of that wicked one, and slew his brother. And wherefore slew he him? Because his own works were evil, and his brother's righteous.

- 13 Marvel not, my brethren, if the world hate you.

- 14 We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren. He that loveth not his brother abideth in death.

- 15 Whosoever hateth his brother is a murderer: and ye know that no murderer hath eternal life abiding in him.

- 16 Hereby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us: and we ought to lay down our lives for the brethren.

- 17 But whoso hath this world's good, and seeth his brother have need, and shutteth up his bowels of compassion from him, how dwelleth the love of God in him?

- 18 My little children, let us not love in word, neither in tongue; but in deed and in truth.

God Assures His Children of Salvation

- 20 For if our heart condemn us, God is greater than our heart, and knoweth all things.

- 21 Beloved, if our heart condemn us not, then have we confidence toward God.

- 22 And whatsoever we ask, we receive of him, because we keep his commandments, and do those things that are pleasing in his sight.

- 23 And this is his commandment, That we should believe on the name of his Son Jesus Christ, and love one another, as he gave us commandment.

Truth, Love, and Faith Are Essential to Fellowship (4:1-5:12)

The Spirit of Truth and the Spirit of Error

- 4 Beloved, believe not every spirit, but try the spirits whether they are of God: because many false prophets are gone out into the world.

- 2 Hereby know ye the Spirit of God: Every spirit that confesseth that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is of God:

- 3 And every spirit that confesseth not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh is not of God: and this is that spirit of antichrist, whereof ye have heard that it should come: and even now already is it in the world.

- 4 Ye are of God, little children, and have overcome them: because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world.

- 5 They are of the world: therefore speak they of the world, and the world heareth them.

- 6 We are of God: he that knoweth God heareth us; he that is not of God heareth not us. Hereby know we the spirit of truth, and the spirit of error.

Love Is of God, for God Is Love

- 7 Beloved, let us love one another: for love is of God; and every one that loveth is born of God, and knoweth God.

- 8 He that loveth not knoweth not God; for (RH Nov. 8, 1892).

3:1 (John 3:16; 2 Peter 1:10, 11; see EGW on 1 John 4:7, 8). Welcomed as a Child.—The plan of redemption is not merely a way of escape from the penalty of transgression, but through it the sinner is forgiven his sins, and will be finally received into heaven—not as a forgiven culprit pardoned and released from captivity, yet looked upon with suspicion and not admitted to friendship and trust; but welcomed as a child, and taken back into fullest confidence.

The sacrifice of our Saviour has made ample provision for every repenting, believing soul. We are saved because God loves the purchase of the blood of Christ; and not only will He pardon the repentant sinner, not only will He permit him to enter heaven, but He, the Father of mercies, will wait at the very gates of heaven to welcome us, to give us an abundant entrance to the mansions of the blest. Oh, what love, what wondrous love the Father has shown in the gift of His beloved Son for this fallen race! And this Sacrifice is a channel for the outflow of His infinite love, that all who believe on Jesus Christ may, like the prodigal son, receive full and free restoration to the favor of Heaven (RH Sept. 21, 1886).

3:3-6 (1 Peter 1:22). Power to Keep Us in Temptation.—"And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure."

Does this text mean that the human agent can remove one stain of sin from his soul? No. Then what does it mean to purify himself? It means to look upon the Lord's great moral standard of righteousness, the holy law of God, and see that he is a sinner in the light of that law. "Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law. And ye know that he was manifested to take away our sins; and in him is no sin."

It is through faith in Jesus Christ that the truth is

God is love.

- 9 In this was manifested the love of God toward us, because that God sent his only begotten Son into the world, that we might live through him.
- 10 Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loved us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins.
- 11 Beloved, if God so loved us, we ought also to love one another.
- 12 No man hath seen God at any time. If we love one another, God dwelleth in us, and his love is perfected in us.
- 13 Hereby know we that we dwell in him, and he in us, because he hath given us of his Spirit.
- 14 And we have seen and do testify that the Father sent the Son to be the Saviour of the world.
- 15 Whosoever shall confess that Jesus is the Son of God, God dwelleth in him, and he in God.
- 16 And we have known and believed the love that God hath to us. God is love; and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God, and God in him.
- 17 Herein is our love made perfect, that we may have boldness in the day of judgment: because as he is, so are we in this world.
- 18 There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear: because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love.
- 19 We love him, because he first loved us.
- 20 If a man say, I love God, and hateth his brother, he is a liar: for he that loveth not his brother whom he hath seen, how can he love God whom he hath not seen?
- 21 And this commandment have we from him, That he who loveth God love his brother also.

Faith Brings Victory and Life

- 5 Whosoever believeth that Jesus is the Christ is born of God: and every one that loveth him that begat loveth him also that is begotten of him.
- 2 By this we know that we love the children of God, when we love God, and keep his commandments.
- 3 For this is the love of God, that we keep his commandments: and his commandments are not grievous.

- 4 For whatsoever is born of God overcometh the world: and this is the victory that overcometh the world, even our faith.
- 5 Who is he that overcometh the world, but he that believeth that Jesus is the Son of God?
- 6 This is he that came by water and blood, even Jesus Christ: not by water only, but by water and blood. And it is the Spirit that beareth witness, because the Spirit is truth.
- 7 For there are three that bear record in heaven, the Father, the Word, and the Holy Ghost: and these three are one.
- 8 And there are three that bear witness in earth, the Spirit, and the water, and the blood: and these three agree in one.
- 9 If we receive the witness of men, the witness of God is greater: for this is the witness of God which he hath testified of his Son.
- 10 He that believeth on the Son of God hath the witness in himself: he that believeth not God hath made him a liar: because he believeth not the record that God gave of his Son.
- 11 And this is the record, that God hath given to us eternal life, and this life is in his Son.
- 12 He that hath the Son hath life; and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life.

Conclusion (5:13-21)

Restatement of Airm

- 13 These things have I written unto you that believe on the name of the Son of God; that ye may know that ye have eternal life, and that ye may believe on the name of the Son of God.

Admonition to Sinlessness

- 14 And this is the confidence that we have in him, that, if we ask any thing according to his will, he heareth us:
- 15 And if we know that he hear us, whatsoever we ask, we know that we have the petitions that we desired of him.

accepted in the heart, and the human agent is purified and cleansed. . . . He has an abiding principle in the soul, that enables him to overcome temptation. "Whosoever abideth in him sinneth not." God has power to keep the soul that is in Christ who is under temptation. . . .

A mere profession of godliness is worthless. It is he that abideth in Christ that is a Christian. . . . Unless the mind of God becomes the mind of men, every effort to purify himself will be useless; for it is impossible to elevate man except through a knowledge of God. The outward gloss may be put on, and men may be as were the Pharisees whom Jesus describes as "whited sepulchres" full of corruption and dead men's bones. But all the deformity of the soul is open to Him who judgeth righteously, and unless the truth is planted in the heart, it cannot control the life. Cleansing the outside of the cup will never make the vessel pure within. A nominal acceptance of truth is good as far as it goes, and the ability to give a reason for our faith is a good accomplishment, but if the truth does not go deeper than this, the soul will never be saved. The heart must be purified from all moral defilement (Letter 13, 1893).

3:4 (Rom. 3:20; see EGW on Gal. 3:24-26; Eph. 2:14-16). Only Definition of Sin.—"Sin is the transgression of the law." This is the only definition of sin. Without the law there can be no transgression. "By the law is the knowledge of sin." The standard of righteousness is exceeding broad, prohibiting every evil thing (MS 27, 1899).

3:4, 5. What Is the Justice of God?—"The transgression of God's law in a single instance, in the smallest particular, is sin. And the nonexecution of the penalty of that sin would be a crime in the divine administration. God is a judge, the avenger of justice, which is the habitation and foundation of His throne. He cannot dispense with His law, He cannot do away with its smallest item in order to meet and pardon sin. The rectitude and justice and moral excel-

- 17 All unrighteousness is sin: and there is a sin not unto death.

Final Encouragement to Know God and His Son lenice of the law must be maintained and vindicated before the heavenly universe and the worlds unfallen.

What is the justice of God? It is the holiness of God in relation to sin. Christ bore the sins of the world in man's behalf that the sinner might have another trial, with all the divine opportunities and advantages which God has provided in man's behalf (MS 145, 1897).

3:8 (see EGW on Gen. 6:3). Simple Godliness Not Shallowness.—John bears testimony of Christ, the giver of the Word, saying, "For this purpose the Son of God was manifested, that He might destroy the works of the devil." In the simplest language John sets before us true practical godliness. This simplicity does not show shallowness, but depth. John is speaking to real men and women, and the Holy Spirit directed him to write in such a way that they would be brought in contact with a real, living God. He shows us what God is doing, and what man must do to meet God's requirements. John does not present the truth hesitatingly, but in a decided manner. He speaks positively (1 Jn 1:1-7 quoted) (ST Jan. 11, 1899).

4:1 (Isa. 8:20; Matt. 7:15, 16; 24:11, 23, 24; 1 Thess. 5:19-21; 1 Tim. 4:1; see EGW on Col. 2:8; Rev. 1:1, 2). Beware of False Prophets.—In these days of peril we are not to accept everything that men bring to us as truth. As professed teachers from God come to us declaring that they have a message from God, it is proper to inquire carefully. How do we know that this is truth? Jesus has told us that "false prophets shall arise and shall deceive many." But we need not be deceived; for the Word of God gives us a test whereby we may know what is truth. The prophet says, "To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them."

From this statement it is evident that it becomes us to be diligent Bible students, that we may know what is according to the law and the testimony. We are safe in no other course of action. Jesus says, "Beware of false prophets, which come to you in sheep's clothing, but inwardly they are ravening wolves. Ye shall know them by their fruits" (Mt. 23, 1892).

In these days of delusion, every one who is established in the truth will have to contend for the faith once delivered to the saints. Every variety of error will be brought out in the mysterious working of Satan, which would, if it were possible, deceive the very elect, and turn them from the truth.

There will be false dreams and false visions, which have some truth, but lead away from the original faith. The Lord has given men a rule by which to detect them. "To the law and to the testimony: if they speak not according to this word, it is because there is no light in them." If they belittle the law of God, if they pay no heed to His will as revealed in the testimonies of His Spirit, they are deceivers. They are controlled by impulse and impressions which they believe to be from the Holy Spirit and consider more reliable than the Inspired Word. They claim that every thought and feeling is an impression of the Spirit; and when they are reasoned with out of the Scriptures, they declare that they have something more reliable. But while they think that they are led by the Spirit of God, they are in reality following an imagination wrought upon by Satan (BE Sept. 1886).

(Acts 20:30, 31.) I would say to our dear brethren who have been so eager to accept everything that came in the form of visions and dreams. Beware that you be not ensnared. Read the warnings that have been given by the world's Redeemer to His disciples to be given again by them to the world. The Word of God is solid rock, and we may plant our feet securely upon it. Every soul must needs be tested, every faith and doctrine must needs be tried by the law and the testimony. Take heed that no man deceive you. The warnings of Christ on this matter are needed at this time; for delusions and deceptions will come in among us, and will multiply as we near the end.

"Of your own selves shall men arise, speaking perverse things, to draw away disciples after them. Therefore watch, and remember." Bear in mind that trials of this character are to come upon us, not only from without, but from within our own ranks. Our individual safety is in entire consecration to God (MS 27, 1891).

4:7, 8 (1 Peter 1:22). Working With Love.—Pure love is simple in its operations, and separate from every other principle of action. When combined with earthly motives and selfish interests, it ceases to be pure. God considers more with how much love we work, than the amount we do. Love is a heavenly attribute. The natural heart cannot originate it. This heavenly plant only flourishes where Christ reigns supreme. Where love exists, there is power and truth in the life. Love does good and nothing but good. Those who have love bear fruit unto holiness, and in the end everlasting life (1 Jn. 13, 1898).

The Second Epistle of JOHN

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

In the ancient Greek manuscripts the title is simply Ioannou B, literally, "Of John 2." See on the Title of the First Epistle. No external evidence enables us to decide whether the present letter is second in order of writing, but from a comparison of the contents of the three epistles credited to John, it seems likely that the second was written after the first. The second appears to refer to the contents of the first in a manner that is natural if the writer had already penned the longer letter, but which would be strange if the shorter were written first (cf. 2 John 5-7, 9, 12 with 1 John 1:4; 2:4, 5, 7, 18; 5: 10-12).

2. AUTHORSHIP

To a certain extent the question of authorship is settled by the first two words of the epistle, "the elder," but the identity of "the elder" still calls for discussion. Scholarly consensus favors John as the author, and it is generally agreed that the title "elder" is singularly fitting for the aged apostle who lingered long after his fellow disciples had died. If John were writing to an individual or a group with whom he was well acquainted, there would be no need for other identification beyond the affectionate title by which he was already known to his readers.

The identification of "the elder" largely depends on the relationship that is found to exist between the second and first epistles, and between them and the Fourth Gospel. The obvious similarities between the second and first letters suggest a common authorship. The word "antichrist" occurs only in v. 7 and in 1 John 2:18, 22; 4:3. For similarity in phraseology, cf. "walking in truth" (2 John 4) with "walk in the light" (1 John 1:7); "a new commandment" (2 John 5; 1 John 2:8); "love one another" (2 John 5; 1 John 3:11); "he hath both the Father and the Son" (2 John 9) with "he that hath the Son" (1 John 5:12). As outlined in the Introduction to the First Epistle, there are valid reasons for accepting the apostle John as the author of that letter as well as of the Gospel. If those reasons be accepted, John may also be taken to be the author of the present epistle.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

For reasons given above, it seems probable that this letter was written after the first epistle, and, if John be accepted as the author, soon after the first letter, in view of the apostle's age (See Introduction to the First Epistle). The additional factor brought to light by the second epistle is that false teachers were taking advantage of Christian hospitality to disseminate erroneous doctrine.

4. THEME

Even a casual reading of the epistle will reveal its intimate nature. It is indeed a personal letter, but whether it is addressed to an individual or to a group depends on the interpretation given to the phrase "the elect lady and her children" (see on v. 1). Within these limits, the theme of the epistle is one of satisfaction with the spiritual state of the readers, encouragement for them in the Christian way, warning against false teachers, and suggestions for dealing with the deceivers. The letter reveals the writer's tender, loving spirit, and the beauty of spiritual intimacy that could exist between fellow believers in the early church.

It has been suggested that the almost identical length of the second and third epistles was determined by the size of the papyrus sheet then commonly used.

5. OUTLINE

So brief a letter, touching upon so many different topics, must be divided into very small units in order to list the subjects it contains. However, there are three main sections in the epistle.

I. Introduction, 1-3.

- A. Salutation, 1a.
- B. The tie that binds, 1a, 2.
- C. Benediction, 3.

II. Message, 4-11.

- A. Praise for faithfulness, 4.
- B. Exhortation to continue in love, 5, 6.
- C. Warning against false teachers, 7-11.
 - 1. Warning against deceivers, 7, 8.
 - 2. Results of continued friendship with deceivers, 9.
 - 3. How to deal with heretical teachers, 10, 11.

III. Conclusion, 12, 13.

- A. Holy of an early meeting, 12.
- B. Greetings from friends or relatives, 13.

2 JOHN

Introduction (1-3)

Salutation: The Tie That Binds

- 1 The elder unto the elect lady and her children, whom I love in the truth; and not I only, but also all they that have known the truth;
- 2 For the truth's sake, which dwelleth in us, and shall be with us for ever.

Benediction

- 3 Grace be with you, mercy, and peace, from God the Father, and from the Lord Jesus Christ, the Son of the Father, in truth and love.

Message (4-11)

Praise for Faithfulness

- 4 I rejoiced greatly that I found of thy children walking in truth, as we have received a commandment from the Father.

Exhortation to Continue in Love

- 5 And now I beseech thee, lady, not as though I wrote a new commandment unto thee, but that which we had from the beginning, that we love one another.
- 6 And this is love, that we walk after his commandments. This is the commandment, That, as ye have heard from the beginning, ye should walk in it.

Warning Against Deceivers

- 7 For many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist.
- 8 Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward.

Results of Continued Friendship with Deceivers

- 9 Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son.

How to Deal with Heretical Teachers

- 10 If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him God speed:
- 11 For he that biddeth him God speed is partaker of his evil deeds.

Conclusion (12, 13)

Holy of An Early Meeting

- 12 Having many things to write unto you, I would not write with paper and ink: but I trust to come unto you, and speak face to face, that our joy may be full.

Greetings from Friends or Relatives

- 13 The children of thy elect sister greet thee. Amen.

7-11. The Danger of Errors That Crept into the Church.—As the years went by and the number of believers grew, John labored with increasing fidelity and earnestness for his brethren. The times were full of peril for the church. Satanic delusions existed everywhere. By misrepresentation and falsehood the emissaries of Satan sought to arouse opposition against the doctrines of Christ, and in consequence dissensions and heresies were imperiling the church. Some who professed Christ claimed that His love released them from obedience to the law of God. On the other hand, many taught that it was necessary to observe the Jewish customs and ceremonies; that a mere observance of the law, without faith in the blood of Christ, was sufficient for salvation. Some held that Christ was a good man, but denied His divinity. Some who pretended to be true to the cause of God were deceivers, and in practice they denied Christ and His gospel. Living themselves in transgression, they were bringing heresies into the church. Thus many were being led into the mazes of skepticism and delusion.

John was filled with sadness as he saw these poisonous errors creeping into the church. He saw the dangers to which the church was exposed, and he met the emergency with promptness and decision. The epistles of John breathe the spirit of love. It seems as if he wrote with a pen dipped in love. But when he came in contact with those who were breaking the law of God, yet claiming that they were living without sin, he did not hesitate to warn them of their fearful deception.

Writing to a helper in the gospel work, a woman of good repute and wide influence, he said: "Many deceivers are entered into the world, who confess not that Jesus Christ is come in the flesh. This is a deceiver and an antichrist. Look to yourselves, that we lose not those things which we have wrought, but that we receive a full reward. Whosoever transgresseth, and abideth not in the doctrine of Christ, hath not God. He that abideth in the doctrine of Christ, he hath both the Father and the Son. If there come any unto you, and bring not this doctrine, receive him not into your house, neither bid him Godspeed: for he that biddeth him Godspeed is partaker of his evil deeds."

We are authorized to hold in the same estimation as did the beloved disciple those who claim to abide in Christ while living in transgression of God's law. There exist in these last days evils similar to those that threatened the prosperity of the early church; and the teachings of the apostle John on these points should be carefully heeded. "You must have charity," is the cry heard everywhere, especially from those who profess sanctification. But true charity is too pure to cover an unconfessed sin. While we are to love the souls for whom Christ died, we are to make no compromise with evil. We are not to unite with the rebellious and call this charity. God requires His people in this age of the world to stand for the right as unflinchingly as did John in opposition to soul-destroying errors (AA 553-555).

1. TITLE

In the ancient Greek manuscripts the title is simply Joannou G. literally, "Of John 3." See on the Title of the First Epistle.

2. AUTHORSHIP

Had there been no second epistle, the authorship of the third might have been a matter for considerable dispute. But the similarity in style between the second and third epistles points to a common authorship, so that once John is accepted as the author of the second epistle, he may also be accepted as author of the third.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

The epistle is clearly a personal letter written to an unidentified Gaius, a faithful Christian who is highly commended for his hospitable charity toward traveling teachers. Two other characters are named: Diotrephes, a contentious leader; and Demetrius, who is possibly one of the traveling teachers. The picture that emerges from what is written about these three men represents an advanced stage of development in the Christian church, and suggests that this epistle was written after the second, and consequently still closer to the end of John's life. The ministry of itinerant preachers, or of visiting brethren, appears to be well established (vs. 5-8); Diotrephes assumes the power to cast from the church, possibly by a form of excommunication (v.10), those of whom he does not personally approve; and the apostle's authority has been undermined by the Diotrephes faction (vs. 9-11). All this points to a development of the situation revealed in the second epistle, and makes the third the last in the trio of letters preserved to us. This is not to say that John wrote no other letters. There is no evidence to prove that the letter referred to in v. 9 was the second epistle, although it is an attractive possibility; and there is no way of determining the length of time that passed between the writing of the second epistle and that of the third, but it seems probable that the interval was brief, since the letters are so closely related in style and content.

4. THEME

This is simple and direct. Whereas the second epistle was written to warn against itinerant false teachers, this one is sent to oppose the schismatic tendencies exemplified by the actions of Diotrephes.

It is probable that Diotrephes was the elder of the church and that he had accepted some of the false teachings of the Gnostics. When John wrote to the churches to rebuke such false teaching, Diotrephes appears to have refused to read the letter to the members (v. 9). Visiting ministers who may have been sent by John were also refused a hearing, and those who listened to them privately were signally disfellowshipped by this arrogant man.

By writing to Gaius, John endeavors to ensure the delivery of his message to the loyal members. He may have been preparing them to accept a change of church elders when he should come and "remember" the deeds of Diotrephes (v. 10).

The same spirit of tender personal affection is evinced in this letter as in the apostle's other writings, and, over and above the immediate purpose of the epistle, there shines the beauty of the apostle's own character and the inspiration that he brings to his readers in all ages.

Introduction

- 1 The elder unto the wellbeloved Gaius, whom I love 'in the truth.

Message (2-12)

Good Wishes and Satisfaction

- 2 Beloved, I 'wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth.
3 For I rejoiced greatly, when the brethren came and testified of the truth that is in thee, even as thou walkest in the truth.
4 I have no greater joy than to hear that my children walk in truth.

Hospitality Praised

- 5 Beloved, thou doest faithfully whatsoever thou doest to the brethren, and to strangers;
6 Which have borne witness of thy charity before the church: whom if thou bring forward on their journey 'after a godly sort, thou shalt do well:
7 Because that for his name's sake they went forth, taking nothing of the Gentiles.
8 We therefore ought to receive such, that we might be fellowhelpers to the truth.

Hostility Opposed

- 9 I wrote unto the church: but Diotrefes, who loveth to have the preeminence among them, receiveth us not.
10 Wherefore, if I come, I will remember his deeds which he doeth, prating against us with malicious words: and not content therewith, neither doth he himself receive the brethren, and forbid them that would, and casteth them out of the church.

A Lesson and Recommendation

- 11 Beloved, follow not that which is evil, but that which is good. He that doeth good is of God: but he that doeth evil hath not seen God.
12 Demetrius hath good report of all men, and of the truth itself: yea, and we also bear record; and ye know that our record is true.

Conclusion

- 13 I had many things to write, but I will not with ink and pen write unto thee:
14 But I trust I shall shortly see thee, and we shall speak 'face to face. Peace be to thee. Our friends salute thee. Greet the friends by name.

2. Body and Mind to Be Sound.—Our work is to be practical. We are to remember that man has a body as well as a soul to save. Our work includes far more than standing before the people to preach to them. In our work we are to minister to the physical infirmities of those with whom we are brought in contact. We are to present the principles of health reform, impressing our hearers with the thought that they have a part to act in keeping themselves in health.

The body must be kept in a healthy condition in order that the soul may be in health. The condition of the body affects the condition of the soul. He who would have physical and spiritual strength must educate his appetite in right lines. He must be careful not to burden the soul by overtaxing his physical or spiritual powers. Faithful adherence to right principles in eating, drinking, and dressing is a duty that God has laid upon human beings.

The Lord desires us to obey the laws of health and life. He holds each one responsible to care properly for his body, that it may be kept in health (Letter 123, 1905).

The Saviour in His miracles revealed the power that is continually at work in man's behalf, to sustain and to heal him. Through the agencies of nature, God is working, day by day, hour by hour, moment by moment, to keep us alive, to build up and restore us. When any part of the body sustains injury, a healing process is at once begun; nature's agencies are set at work to restore soundness. But the power working through these agencies is the power of God. All life-giving power is from Him. When one recovers from disease, it is God who restores him.

Sickness, suffering, and death are work of an antagonistic power. Satan is the destroyer; God is the restorer.

The words spoken to Israel are true today of those who recover health of body or health of soul. "I am the Lord that healeth thee." Exodus 15:26.

The desire of God for every human being is expressed in the words, "Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth." 3 John 2.

He it is who "forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with loving-kindness and tender mercies." Psalm 103:3,4.

When Christ healed disease, He warned many of the afflicted ones, "Sin no more, lest a worse thing come unto thee." John 5:14. Thus He taught that they had brought disease upon themselves by transgressing the laws of God, and that health could be preserved only by obedience.

The physician should teach his patients that they are to cooperate with God in the work of restoration. The physician has a continually increasing realization of the fact that disease is the result of sin. He knows that the laws of nature, as truly as the precepts of the Decalogue, are divine, and that only in obedience to them can health be recovered or preserved. He sees many suffering as the result of hurtful practices who might be restored to health if they would do what they might for their own restoration. They need to be taught that every practice which destroys the physical, mental, or spiritual energies is sin, and that health is to be secured through obedience to the laws that God has established for the good of all mankind (MH 113).

The General Epistle of JUDE

INTRODUCTION

THE GENERAL EPISTLE OF JUDE

In the earliest Greek manuscripts the title of this epistle is simply Ioudas ("Judas," or "Jude"). The words "The General Epistle of," found in the KJV, refer to the fact that this letter is addressed, not to any specific individual, or church, or group of churches, but "to them [that is, all] that are sanctified" (see on v. 1). For the same reason it is sometimes called a "catholic epistle," in the sense that "catholic" means "universal."

2. AUTHORSHIP

The writer calls himself "Jude, the servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James" (v. 1), and there is no reason to doubt the identification, though the words may be interpreted in more than one way.

In the NT several men by the name of Judas are mentioned. These are Judas Iscariot (Mark 3:19), Judas "not Iscariot" (see on John 14:22), Judas of Galilee (Acts 5:37), Judas of Damascus (Acts 9:11), Judas surnamed Barsabas (Acts 15:22), and Judas (Judas) who, as were James, Joseph, and Simon, was a brother of Jesus (see on Mark 6:3). It is generally agreed that James, the Lord's brother, is the James who presided at the Council of Jerusalem (see on Acts 12:17; 15:13) and who possibly also later wrote the Epistle of James (see Introduction to the book). The writer of Jude, therefore, may well have been the brother of this James, and thus a brother of the Lord Jesus. This relationship would tend to make him prominent in the church and to give him the degree of authority reflected in his epistle. That he does not openly claim his family connection with the Lord, but calls himself "the servant of Jesus Christ" (Jude 1), may be accounted for by a sense of delicate reticence that would prohibit him from making capital of his relationship with Jesus.

3. HISTORICAL SETTING

The epistle contains no direct statement concerning the circumstances that led to its being written, and no clue as to the congregation to which it was addressed, but certain information can be deduced from its contents. It is clear that disruptive elements had crept into the church (vs. 4, 8, etc.) and drawn many away from the purity of the gospel. Allusions in Colossians, the pastoral epistles, and Revelation indicate that Gnostic heresies had begun to come into the churches of Asia Minor. It is therefore possible that Jude's letter was addressed to these churches.

An interesting question is raised by the fact that much of Jude's material is found also in 2 Peter (cf. Jude 4-18 with 2 Peter 2:1 to 3:3). Not only the same thoughts, but in many instances the same words are used, with some words quite unusual. Did Jude borrow from 2 Peter, Peter from Jude, or did they both borrow from a common but unknown source? This question cannot be answered with finality. Most Biblical scholars think that Jude is the earlier of the two letters, since it would be difficult to explain why Jude would write a letter at all if he had little to say beyond what was already well expressed in 2 Peter. These scholars assert that it is easy to explain how Peter might have used thoughts expressed in Jude's brief epistle, and then have added material to it. Literary studies show that the shorter of two similar works is usually the earlier. However, a minority of scholars defends the priority of 2 Peter over that of Jude. Among the reasons set forth are the following: (1) 2 Peter 2:1 speaks of the future appearance of false teachers whereas Jude gives the impression that these teachers are already at work (Jude 4). (2) Jude speaks of the warning about the coming of skeptics as being in the past (vs. 17, 18), whereas Peter utters a current warning (2 Peter 3:3).

The arguments on either side are not sufficiently decisive to determine which of the two epistles, Jude or 2 Peter, was the earlier (cf. Vol. V, p. 186). For this reason it is impossible to date Jude's letter. If written before 2 Peter it must have been composed before A.D. 67, the probable year of Peter's death; if Jude followed 2 Peter, it may have been written between the years A.D. 70 and 85.

4. THEME

From v. 3 it would appear that the author intended to write a regular pastoral epistle to confirm the believers in their Christian faith, but news of the havoc being wrought by libertine teachers led him, under the guidance of the Divine Spirit, to change his original plan and to urge his readers to a bold defense of the faith. To encourage them in such work he unmasks the deceivers, shows their connections with earlier rebels against divine authority, and exhorts his flock to avoid these deceivers and to concentrate on preparation to meet their Lord in glory. For an understanding of the contents of the epistle frequent reference to and comparison with 2 Peter is necessary.

JUDE

Salutation

- 1 Jude, the servant of Jesus Christ, and brother of James, to them that are sanctified by God the Father, and preserved in Jesus Christ, and called:
- 2 Mercy unto you, and peace and love, be multiplied.

The Occasion for Writing

- 3 Beloved, when I gave all diligence to write unto you of the common salvation, it was needful for me to write unto you, and exhort you that ye should earnestly contend for the faith which was once delivered unto the saints.
- 4 For there are certain men crept in unawares, who were before of old ordained to this condemnation, ungodly men, turning the grace of our God into lasciviousness, and denying the only Lord God, and our Lord Jesus Christ.

Historical Warnings Against Backsliding (5-7)

The Israelites

- 5 I will therefore put you in remembrance, though ye once knew this, how that the Lord, having saved the people out of the land of Egypt, afterward destroyed them that believed not.

The Angels

- 6 And the angels which kept not their first estate, but left their own habitation, he hath reserved in everlasting chains under darkness unto the judgment of the great day.

Sodom and Gomorrah

- 7 Even as Sodom and Gomorrah, and the cities about them in like manner, giving themselves over to fornication, and going after strange flesh, are set forth for an example, suffering the vengeance of eternal fire.

- 8 Likewise also these filthy dreamers defile the flesh, despise dominion, and speak evil of dignities.

- 9 Yet Michael the archangel, when contending with the devil he disputed about the body of Moses, durst not bring against him a railing accusation, but said, The Lord rebuke thee.

- 10 But these speak evil of those things which they know not; but what they know naturally, as brute beasts, in those things they corrupt themselves.

- 11 Woe unto them! for they have gone in the way of Cain, and ran greedily after the error of Balaam for reward, and perished in the gainsaying of Core.

The Fruitlessness of Sin

- 12 These are spots in your feasts of charity, when they feast with you, feeding themselves without fear: clouds they are without water, carried about of winds; trees whose fruit withereth, without fruit, twice dead, plucked up by the roots:

- 13 Raging waves of the sea, foaming out their own shame; wandering stars, to whom is reserved the blackness of darkness for ever.

The Certainty of the Doom of the Ungodly (14-16)

Propheesied Long Before

- 14 And Enoch also, the seventh from Adam, prophesied of these, saying, Behold, the Lord cometh with ten thousands of his saints,

- 15 To execute judgment upon all, and to convince all that are ungodly among them of all their ungodly deeds which they have ungodly committed, and of all their hard speeches which ungodly sinners have spoken against him.

Their Fitness for Destruction

- 16 These are murmurers, complainers, walking after their own lusts; and their mouth speaketh great swelling words.

4. See EGW on Rev. 2:6.

9 (Isa. 49:24, 25). Christ's Right to Free the Captives.—What right had Christ to take the captives out of the enemy's hands?—the right of having made a sacrifice that satisfies the principles of justice by which the kingdom of heaven is governed. He came to this earth as the Redeemer of the lost race, to conquer the wily foe, and, by His steadfast allegiance to right, to save all who accept Him as their Saviour. On the cross of Calvary He paid the redemption price of the race. And thus He gained the right to take the captives from the grasp of the great deceiver, who, by a lie framed against the government of God, caused the fall of man, and thus forfeited all claim to be called a loyal subject of God's glorious everlasting kingdom (ST Sept. 30, 1903).

The False Claims of Satan.—Satan, the rebel and apostate, works by every possible device to defeat the purpose of God. Because men have sinned, he claims that they have come under his dominion, and that the heavenly agencies, angels that excel in strength, should not take his subjects from under his control. Should men receive divine power, he knows that he cannot prevail against them, and work his will in cruelty upon body and mind, therefore he accuses them before God, and claims that the power of God shall not be imparted to them (RH June 20, 1893).

15 (Eccl. 12:13, 14; see EGW on Gen. 6:3; Rom. 3:19). Every Action Weighed in the Scales.—[Jude 14, 15; Eccl. 12:13, 14 quoted in part.] God places every action in the scale. What a scene it will be! What impressions will be made regarding the holy character of God and the terrible enormity of sin, when the judgment, based on the law, is carried forward in the presence of all the worlds! Then before the mind of the unrepentant sinner there will be opened all the sins that he has committed, and he will see and understand the aggregate of sin and his own guilt.

When the loyal overcomers are crowned, God would having men's persons in admiration because of advantage.

The Crisis Foretold

- 17 But, beloved, remember ye the words which were spoken before of the apostles of our Lord Jesus Christ;
- 18 How that they told you there should be mockers in the last time, who should walk after their own ungodly lusts.
- 19 These be they who separate themselves, sensual, having not the Spirit.

Exhortation (20-23)

Personal Application to the Believers

- 20 But ye, beloved, building up yourselves on your most holy faith, praying in the Holy Ghost, 17 Mal 4:4; Ac 20:35; Eph 2:20; Eph 4:1; 18 Ac 20:29; 1 Ti 4:1-2; 2 Ti 3:1-5; 19 Pr 18:1; Isa 65:5; Eze 11:7; Hos 4:11; 20 Ac 9:31; Rom 15:2; 1 Co 1:8; 21 Jude 24; Jn 14:21; Jn 15:9-10; Ac 11:24; 1 Jn 4:16; 23 Rom 11:14; 1 Co 5:3-5; 2 Co 7:10-12; 1 Ti 4:16; Zec 3:2; 1 Co 5:15; Am 1:11; Lev 13:47-59; 24 Jude 21; Jn 10:29-30; Rom 8:31; Rom 14:1; Rom 16:25-27; Eph 3:20; 2 Ti 4:18; 2 Co 4:14; 25 Ps 104:24; Ps 147:5; Rom 11:33; Rom 16:27; Eph 1:8; Eph 3:10; 1 Ti 1:17; Ps 78:20; Isa 12:2.

Responsibility Toward Others

- 22 And of some have compassion, making a difference:
- 23 And others save with fear, pulling them out of the fire; hating even the garment spotted by the flesh.

The Ascription of Praise

- 24 Now unto him that is able to keep you from falling, and to present you faultless before the presence of his glory with exceeding joy.
- 25 To the only wise God our Saviour, be glory and majesty, dominion and power, both now and for ever. Amen.

have present all who have transgressed His law and broken their covenant with Him. And not one of the righteous will be absent. They see in the Judge, Christ Jesus, the One whom every sinner has crucified. The Son of man shall come in His glory, and before Him shall be gathered all nations. The Father judgeth no man, but hath committed all judgment to the Son (Ms 77, 1906).

20-25. Most Earnest Work to Be Done.—The instruction given by Jude from verse twenty to the close of the chapter, will make our work a complete whole, teaching us how to conduct the warfare in the service of Christ. No one-sided extravagance is to be revealed, no indolence of shiftlessness is to be indulged. We are not to ignore any man's individuality, or in any way to justify cool-headed criticism or selfish practice.

This scripture brings to view the fact that there is most earnest work to be done, and we need divine intuition that we may know how to work for souls ready to perish. There are souls to be plucked out of the fire, there are souls who are to be treated with the tenderest compassion. Workers are needed who have learned in the school of Christ His method of saving souls (Letter 7, 1895).

THE REVELATION

St. John the Divine

INTRODUCTION

1. TITLE

The earliest extant Greek manuscripts, as well as the writings of several Church Fathers beginning with Irenaeus (c. A.D. 130-c. 202), entitle this book simply "Apocalypse of John." Later, medieval manuscripts elaborated the title to "Apocalypse of John the Theologian and Evangelist" and "Apocalypse of St. John the Theologian." The name as it stands in the KJV is a variant English rendering of this last title. The Greek word apokalupsis, "apocalypse," "revelation," means literally, "an unveiling," and in religious literature, especially, an unveiling of the future. The apocalyptic was a characteristic literary form among the Jews of the intertestamental and early Christian periods, and also among certain writers of the primitive church (see below on "theme").

2. AUTHORSHIP

The author of the Revelation repeatedly identifies himself as "John" (chs. 1:1, 4, 9; 21:2; 22:8). The Greek form of this name, Ioannes (see on Luke 1:13), represents the common Hebrew name Yochanan, "Johanan," which appears numerous times in the later books of the OT, the Apocrypha, and Josephus. This identifies the author as a Jew.

Various evidences clearly indicate that the name John was that of the author, and not a pseudonym, such as many Jewish and early Christian apocalyptic works bore. First is the fact that, in identifying himself as John, the author of the Revelation makes no attempt to establish himself as holding any position in the church. Various Jewish and Christian apocalypses are attributed to Hebrew patriarchs and prophets and to Christian apostles. If the Revelation were also pseudonymous, it would be expected that its author would attempt to identify himself specifically as an apostle. But the simple statement of the author that his name is John, "your brother" (Rev. 1:9; cf. Peter's reference to Paul, 2 Peter 3:15), is testimony that he is giving his true name. Obviously the writer was so well known to the churches that his name alone was sufficient to identify him and to lend credence to his record of the visions he had seen.

Furthermore, it appears that the practice of pseudonymity did not flourish when the exercise of the gift of prophecy was vigorous. On the other hand, during the intertestamental period, when, so far as we know, there was no recognized prophet among the Jews, religious writers often felt it necessary to attach the name of some ancient personage of high repute to their work in order to gain for it general acceptance. There was apparently no true prophet speaking for God, as the OT prophets had done. But with the coming of Christianity the gift of prophecy once more flourished. In the Christian church of the 1st century the supposed need for pseudonymity did not exist. Christians were convinced that their apostles and prophets spoke directly for God. But when the prophetic office among Christians fell into disrepute and finally disappeared in the 2d century, pseudonymous works bearing names of various apostles began to appear (see Vol. VI, pp. 41, 42). In the light of these facts it is reasonable to conclude that the Revelation, coming from the 1st century, is not pseudonymous, but is the work of a man whose real name was John.

Who was this John? The NT mentions several men by this name, the Baptist, the son of Zebedee, who was one of the Twelve, John, who was surnamed Mark, and a certain relative of the high priest Annas (see on Acts 4:6). Obviously the author of the Revelation could not be John the Baptist, for that John died before the crucifixion of Jesus; nor is there any reasonable probability that it was the relative of Annas, of whom there is no indication that he ever became a Christian. Similarly, there is little evidence that John Mark was the author of the Revelation. The style, wording, and approach of the second Gospel are quite different from those of the Revelation, and there is no evidence that anyone in the early church ever seriously connected the Revelation with Mark.

By a process of elimination, John the son of Zebedee and the brother of James is left for consideration. He was not only one of the Twelve but also a member of Jesus' inner circle. Almost unanimously early Christian tradition recognizes him as the author of the Revelation. In fact, every Christian writer until the middle of the 3d century, whose works are extant today and who mentions the matter at all, attributes the Revelation to John the apostle. These writers are Justin Martyr at Rome (c. A.D. 100-c. 165; Dialogue With Trypho 81), Irenaeus at Lyons (c. A.D. 130-c. 202; Against Heresies iv. 20. 11), Tertullian at Carthage (c. A.D. 160-c. 240; On Prescription Against Heretics 36).

Hippolytus at Rome (died c. A.D. 235; Treatise on Christ and Antichrist xxxvii), and Clement of Alexandria (died c. A.D. 220; Who is the Rich Man That Shall Be Saved? xlii). These testimonies demonstrate the strong and widespread belief in the early church that the author of the Revelation was the apostle John. Furthermore, several early Christian traditions associate the later years of John with the city of Ephesus. Thus Irenaeus (op. cit. iii. 3, 4; ANF, vol. 1, p. 416) declares that in his youth he had seen the aged Polycarp of Smyrna, who "conversed with many who had seen Christ," among them John, who had remained permanently at Ephesus until the days of Trajan (A.D. 98-117). Polycrates (A.D. 130-c. 200), bishop of Ephesus, the eighth of his family to be a Christian bishop, testifies that the John "who reclined on the Lord's bosom, . . . he rests at Ephesus" (Epistle to Victor and the Roman Church Concerning the Day of Keeping the Passover; ANF, vol. 8, p. 773). These statements coincide with the fact that John addresses himself to Ephesus and the other churches of Asia (Rev. 1:4, 11).

The only testimony during this period that would seem to discount the view that the author of the Revelation was the apostle John comes from the early Christian Father Papias (died c. A.D. 163). The works of Papias are lost, and all that is extant from his works is contained in highly fragmentary form in quotations preserved by later writers. Two of these relate to John's death. One, a manuscript from the 7th or 8th century A.D., which appears to be an epitome of the Chronicle by Philip of Side (5th century), declares: "Papias in his second book says that John the Divine and James his brother were slain by the Jews" (in R. H. Charles, Revelation [International Critical Commentary], vol. 1, p. xlvi). Similarly, a manuscript of the Chronicle of Georgius Hamartolus (C. A.D. 860) says, "For Papias, the bishop of Hierapolis, being an eyewitness of this, in the second book of the Lord's sayings, says that he [John] was destroyed, by the Jews, plainly fulfilling, with his brother, Christ's prediction concerning them" (Greek text in H. B. Swete, The apocalypse of St. John, p. clxxv).

At first sight these quotations would seem to indicate that a Christian official living in the late 1st and early 2d centuries and in the vicinity of Ephesus testified that the apostle John was, like his brother, killed by the Jews too early to have written the Revelation in the time of either Nero or Domitian, the periods in which scholars usually place it (see below on "historical setting"). On closer scrutiny, however, several questions must be raised in regard to these quotations. The fact that the passage from the Oxford manuscript refers to John as "the theologian" indicates that the quotation has undergone some modification by a medieval scribe, for this title is not applied to John in any extant Bible manuscript before the 8th century, and it is virtually inconceivable that Papias could have used it. The second quotation, from Georgius Hamartolus, is found in only one manuscript of that writer. Other manuscripts of his work say simply that John died in peace, but apparently they do not quote Papias at all. Consequently it is difficult to know just what Papias said regarding the death of John. If he did write that John, like James, was killed by the Jews, by no means does it follow that their deaths occurred at, or even near, the same time. The Revelation itself reveals that at the time of its writing the Jews still were causing difficulty for Christians, and if John did finally suffer a martyr's death, it may well have been the result of Jewish machinations.

A third quotation from Papias is recorded by the church historian Eusebius (d.A.D. 340):

"And I shall not hesitate to append to the interpretations all that I ever learnt well from the presbyters and remember well, for of their truth I am confident.... But if ever anyone came who had followed the presbyters, I inquired into the words of the presbyters, what Andrew or Peter or Philip or Thomas or James or John or Matthew, or any other of the Lord's disciples, had said [Gr. eipen], and what Aristion and the presbyter John, the Lord's disciples, were saying [Gr. legousin]. For I did not suppose that information from books would help me so much as the word of a living and surviving voice" (Ecclesiastical History iii. 39. 3, 4; Loeb ed., vol. 1, pp. 291, 293).

This passage has been the subject of much conjecture. Eusebius interpreted it to mean that there were two men by the name of John who had lived in Asia in the late 1st century—the apostle, and another man who was a presbyter, or elder. Eusebius' opinion was that this latter man was the one whom Papias had known personally and that it was he who had written the Revelation, whereas the apostle had been the author of the Gospel.

It is possible, however, to interpret Papias' words in another way. As the German New Testament scholar Zahn (Introduction to the New Testament, 2d ed., vol. 2, pp. 451-453) has pointed out, in Papias' statement there is no real distinction made between presbyters and apostles. Papias says that he "inquired into the words of the presbyters," and immediately goes on to list apostles; then when he mentions "the presbyter John" he identifies him at once as one of "the Lord's disciples." The real distinction between the two groups he mentions lies in the words eipen, "said," and legousin, "were saying," which suggests that those in the first group mentioned were disciples of Jesus who had lived and borne their testimony before Papias' time, whereas those in the second group were still living, and available for information in his day. If Irenaeus' testimony is accepted, the apostle John would be included in both groups, and so might conceivably be mentioned twice.

Eusebius' effort to derive two Johns from Papias' statement is made more understandable by the fact that his conclusions were influenced by the work of Dionysius, bishop of Alexandria (d. A.D. 265; see Eusebius op. cit. vii. 24, 25). In reaction against some Christians who were stressing a literal millennium, Dionysius wrote a work entitled 4 Treatise on the Promises, in which he sought to show by scholarly arguments that the Revelation was not written by the apostle John, but by another man of the same name. Dionysius is the first Church Father to question the apostolic authorship of the Revelation, and his arguments have remained the classic ones for those scholars who share his point of view.

Dionysius centered his criticisms chiefly about the fact that there are obvious differences between the language of the Gospel and that of the Revelation. The vocabularies of the two books portray marked differences; a number of words that occur with particular frequency in one are found but infrequently in the other. The following examples are particularly striking: kosmos, "world," appears in John 79 times, but in the Revelation only 3 times; aletheia, "truth," in John 5 times, in the Revelation not at all; phos, "light," in John 22 times, in the Revelation 3 times; agapao, "to love," in John 37 times, in the Revelation 4 times; pisteuo, "to believe," in John 100 times, in the Revelation not at all; alla, "but," in John more than 100 times, in the Revelation 13 times; enopion, "before," in John once, in the Revelation 36 times; emos, "mine," in John 42 times, in the Revelation once. In referring to Christ as "the Lamb," the Gospel always uses the word amnos, whereas the Revelation always uses arnion, both of which mean "lamb." In the Gospel, Jerusalem is always Hierosoloma, whereas in the Revelation it is consistently Hierusalem.

Dionysius also pointed out the fact that the Greek of the Gospel of John is correct and idiomatic, whereas that of the Revelation contains a number of passages that are unusual and cannot be explained in terms of correct Greek grammar and syntax. In view of these marked differences between the Gospel and the Revelation, Dionysius concluded that they were not by the same author. These criticisms appear to have had a wide influence upon the thinking of the Eastern Church in regard to the apostolicity, and therefore the canonicity, of the Revelation. Not only did Eusebius record the details of Dionysius' arguments, but he sought to establish them further by the passage from Papias quoted above. Similarly, in regard to the canonicity of Revelation, he reported:

Of the writings of John in addition to the gospel the first of his epistles has been accepted without controversy by ancients and modern alike but the other two are disputed, and as to the Revelation there have been many advocate of either opinion up to the present (op. cit. iii. 24, 17, 18; Loeb., vol. 1, pp. 255, 257).

Although the evidence adduced by Dionysius to indicate two Johns is weighty, several other facts must be considered before a judgment is made. The view of Dionysius and Eusebius rests chiefly on two points—the ambiguous quotation from Papias, and Dionysius' arguments from linguistic differences between the Gospel and the Revelation. Although it cannot be proved that Papias did not refer to two different men by the name of John, if he did, his testimony—in so far as it may be used as evidence for the nonapostolic authorship of the Revelation—is contradicted by a half dozen other Church Fathers. Particularly important in this regard are the statements of Irenaeus, who himself had personal contact with Polycarp, a contemporary of both John and Papias. He seems to have known of only one John, the apostle, and states clearly that this one wrote the Revelation. In view of this, it seems reasonable to conclude that Papias' ambiguous statement must not be pressed strongly as proof of the existence of two Johns.

The linguistic differences between the Gospel and the Revelation are significant. Although differences in subject matter and style, which obviously exist between the two books, may account to some extent for the divergent vocabularies, one writer does not ordinarily vary so widely in his use of such words as alla, enopion, and emos. Regardless of subject matter or literary form, the same writer commonly uses or omits such words quite unconsciously. When two works vary as widely as do the Gospel and the Revelation in the employment of these words, it may seem difficult at first to think that they represent the work of the same writer.

However, this fact in itself does not necessarily mean that John was not the author of both works. The circumstances under which the two books seem to have been written may reasonably account for such differences as exist. In the Revelation, John declares that he received his visions while he "was in the isle that is called Patmos, for the word of God, and for the testimony of Jesus" (ch. 1:9). That John was an exile there would imply that he was forced to rely upon his own linguistic abilities in the composition of the Revelation. Therefore it is not surprising that the language of this book is not always idiomatic, that Semiticisms sometimes shine through the Greek, and that its author was not at all times sure of his grammar. Such a situation is quite in keeping with the circumstances under which John is known to have written the Revelation. Furthermore, the visions were apparently written down as the scenes passed vividly before the prophet's eyes (see ch. 10:4). John may have purposely avoided revision lest the sense of drama be lost.

On the other hand, early Christian tradition incl cates that the Gospel was written under entirely different conditions. The Muratorian Fragment, composed at Rome probably about A.D. 170—only a few decades after John's disciple Polycarp had visited there—declares:

The fourth of the Gospels is of John, one of the disciples. When encouraged by his fellow-disciples and bishops, he said to them: "Fast together with me the next three days, and whatever shall be revealed to each of us we shall recount to one another." That night it was revealed to Andrew, one of the apostles, that while they all revised, John should narrate it all in his own name (Latin text in S. P. Tregelles, ed., Canon Muratorianus, pp. 17, 18).

Although this story obviously has fanciful features, such as the presence of Andrew and other apostles with John at the time he wrote the Gospel, it still may retain a kernel of truth, suggesting that in the composition of the Gospel, John may have had assistance. That this may have been so is indicated also by a statement attributed to Papias, preserved in a 10th-century manuscript:

This Gospel, then, it is clear, was written after the Apocalypse, and was given to the churches in Asia by John, being still in the body, as the bishop of Hierapolis, Papias by name, a beloved disciple of John, who wrote this Gospel with John by dictation, recounts in his Exoterica, that is, in the last five books (Latin text in Wordsworth and White, Novum Testamentum . . . Latine, vol. 1, pp. 490, 491).

Although the details of this account cannot be taken as proved, these two statements strongly suggest that in the 2d century the idea was abroad that John had composed his Gospel with the assistance of others. In the light of this very early tradition, the statement at the end of his Gospel, "This is the disciple which testifieth of these things, and wrote these things: and we know that his testimony is true" (ch. 21:24), would seem to be the affidavit of John's helpers to the truth of his account. If this reconstruction of the evidence is correct, it is not difficult to account for the linguistic and literary differences that exist between the Revelation, written probably when John was alone on Patmos, and the Gospel, written with the help of one or more fellow believers at Ephesus.

To the foregoing evidence may be added the fact that there are certain striking literary parallels between the Revelation and the Gospel of John that suggest identity of authorship. Thus the Revelation speaks of "water of life" (chs. 21:6; 22:17), and the Gospel of "living water" (chs. 4:10; 7:38). The Revelation invites, "Let him that is athirst come" (ch. 22:17), and the Gospel declares, "If any man thirst, let him come" (ch. 7:37). The word opsis, "appearance," or "face," is used in the NT only in the Johannine writings (John 7:24; 11:44; Rev. 1:16). The same is true of the expression terein ton logon, "keep my saying [or, 'word']"

(John 8:51, 52, 55; 14:23, 24; 15:20; 17:6; 1 John 2:5; Rev. 3:8, 10; 22:7, 9), and onoma auto, "his name," literally, "a name to him" (John 1:6; 3:1; Rev. 6:8). Except where direct reference is made to OT symbolism, Christ is characterized as the Lamb only in the Gospel of John and in the Revelation (John 1:29, 36; Rev. 5:6; and 28 other times).

Therefore, although evidence may be presented against the Johannine authorship of the Revelation, it must be recognized that the arguments for the traditional view, that the author of the Revelation was the apostle John, are reasonable and sound. This commentary accepts the traditional view. Compare AA 578-585.

II. HISTORICAL SETTING

Modern scholars are divided as to whether the writing of the Revelation should be assigned to a comparatively early date during the reign of Nero (A.D. 54-68) or to that of Vespasian (A.D. 69-79), or to a later date toward the end of the reign of Domitian (A.D. 81-96).

Generally, those scholars who prefer an early date for the Revelation identify the persecution referred to in the letters to the seven churches as that suffered by Christians under Nero (A.D. 64), or possibly subsequently under Vespasian, although it is not clear to what extent the latter emperor persecuted the church. They believe that the disordered world portrayed by the Revelation reflects the troubles that disturbed the city of Rome from the last years of Nero to the early years of Vespasian. They see in the beast that suffers a deadly wound and is healed (ch. 13:3) and in the beast that "was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit" (ch. 17:8) a representation of Nero, of whom, after his death, a popular legend declared that he would one day reappear. Similarly they see the mystic number 666 (ch. 13:18) as symbolic of Nero Caesar, when spelled in Hebrew consonantal letters (Nrwn Qsr). These evidences have led a number of outstanding scholars to date the Revelation in the late 60's or 70's of the 1st century.

This reasoning, though apparently based on historical incidents, depends for its plausibility on the interpretation given to certain of the statements in the Revelation. But such an interpretation is, of course, subjective, and has not been accepted by many able scholars in the past. Nor is it accepted by this commentary, which believes that the prophecies of the Revelation have an application also to what is beyond the immediate and local situation (cf. on ch. 1:11). Any evidence for the date of the writing of the Revelation must be based primarily, at least, on other kinds of evidence and reasoning.

The testimony of early Christian writers is almost unanimous that the book of Revelation was written during the reign of Domitian. Irenaeus, who claims to have had a personal connection with John through Polycarp, declares of the Revelation, "For that was seen no very long time since, but almost in our day, towards the end of Domitian's reign" (op. cit. v. 30. 3; ANF, vol. 1, pp. 559, 560). Victorinus (died c. A.D. 303) says, "When John said these things he was in the island of Patmos, condemned to the labour of the mines by Caesar Domitian. There, therefore, he saw the Apocalypse" (Commentary on the Apocalypse, on ch. 10:11; ANF, vol. 7, p. 353; see on Rev. 1:9). Eusebius (op. cit. iii. 20. 8, 9) records that John was sent to Patmos by Domitian, and that when those who had been unjustly banished by Domitian were released by his successor, Nerva (A.D. 96-98), the apostle returned to Ephesus.

Such early Christian testimony leads the authors of this commentary to place the writing of the Revelation during the time of Domitian's reign, which ended in A.D. 96.

It is interesting, therefore, to mention briefly something of the conditions existing in the empire particularly as they affect Christians during the time of Domitian. It was under this emperor that the question of emperor worship became, for the first time, a crucial issue for Christians. Nowhere was this more true than in the Roman province of Asia, the area to which the letters to the seven churches were first directed. See on ch. 1:1, 11.

Emperor worship was common in the Near East even before Alexander the Great. He had been deified, and so had his successors. When the Romans conquered the East, their generals and proconsuls were often hailed as deities. This was especially true in the province of Asia, where the Romans had always been popular. It was common to build temples to the goddess Roma, a personification of the spirit of empire, and with her worship was associated that of the emperors. In 195 B.C. a temple was erected to her at Smyrna. In 29 B.C. Augustus granted permission for the building of a temple at Ephesus for the joint worship of Roma and Julius Caesar, and of one at Pergamum for the worship of Roma and himself. This was the first instance of a cult for a living emperor. Augustus did not urge the worship of himself, but in view of the desires of the local people he doubtless considered such worship a wise measure from a political point of view. Gradually, in these cults, the worship of Roma became less important and that of the emperor became the salient feature. Worship of the emperor by no means replaced that of the local gods, but was added, and served as a means of uniting the empire. Rituals in worship of the emperor were not always easily distinguishable from patriotic ceremonies. At the same time the worship of a living emperor was discouraged at Rome, although the Senate did officially deify certain dead emperors.

Gaius Caligula (A.D. 37-41) was the first emperor to urge the worship of himself. He persecuted the Jews for refusing to worship him, and doubtless would also have directed his wrath at Christians had they been significant enough at the time for his notice. His successors were more lenient on the question and did not persecute for nonconformity.

The next emperor to make an issue over the worship of himself was Domitian (A.D. 81-96). Christianity was as yet without legal recognition by the Roman government but even such a religion as that was not likely to be persecuted by the Romans unless it ran afoul of the law. Now Christianity did just that. Domitian zealously sought to establish his claim to deity in the minds of the populace, and to force his subjects to worship him. Suetonius records that he issued a circular letter in the name of his procurators, beginning with the words, "Our Master and our God bids that this be done" (Domitian xiii. 2; Loeb ed., Suetonius vol. 2, p. 367).

An intriguing passage from the Roman historian Dio (Roman History lxxvii. 14. 1-3; Loeb ed., vol. 8, p. 349) seems to throw some light on this persecution:

And the same year [A.D. 95] Domitian slew, along with many others, Flavius Clemens the consul, although he was a cousin and had to wife Flavia Domitilla, who was also a relative of the emperor's. The charge brought against them both was that of atheism, a charge on which many others who drifted into Jewish ways were condemned. Some of these were put to death, and the rest were at least deprived of their property. Domitilla was merely banished to Pandateria.

Although on first sight this passage seems to record a persecution of Jews (and according to the Jewish historian H. Graetz, Domitian's cousin was a Jewish proselyte [History of the Jews, vol. 2, pp. 387-389]), scholars have suggested that it is really Christianity for which Flavius Clemens and his wife were punished. From the standpoint of a pagan historian not intimately acquainted with Christianity, "Jewish ways" would be a logical description for Christianity, and "atheism" might well represent the refusal of Christians to worship the emperor. Eusebius (op. cit. iii. 18. 4), apparently confusing the relationship between Domitilla and Clemens, says that Domitian exiled a niece of Clemens, named Flavia Domitilla, because she was a Christian. Probably the two references are to the same person, and they suggest that the persecution involved even the imperial family.

Such conditions of persecution for refusal to worship at the emperor's shrine doubtless constitute the immediate background of John's exile to Patmos, and thus of the writing of the book of Revelation. Apparently all the twelve apostles but John were dead, and he was an exile on the isle of Patmos. Christianity had entered its second generation. Most of those who had known the Master were now in their graves. The church was faced with the fiercest external threat it had yet known, and it needed a new revelation of Jesus Christ. Thus, the visions given to John met a specific need in their own time. Through them heaven was opened to the suffering church, and Christians, who refused to bow to the pomp and circumstance of the emperor, were given reassurance that their Lord, now ascended and standing at the throne of God, infinitely transcended in majesty and power any earthly monarch who might demand their worship. See AA 581-583. For the significance of emperor worship in relation to John's statement regarding the "Lord's day" see on ch. 1:10.

4. THEME

At the very beginning (ch. 1:1) this book announces itself as an apocalypse, an unveiling of the mysteries of the future culminating in the triumph of Jesus Christ. Apocalyptic writings had been a prominent type of Jewish religious literature for more than two centuries. Indeed, the first-known apocalypse, the book of Daniel, appeared at the time of the Babylonian captivity in the 6th century B.C. When the Maccabean wars once more brought political independence to the Jews 400 years later, Messianic expectations looking toward the expected new Jewish kingdom ran high, and gave rise to a body of apocalyptic literature that drew to a greater or less degree on the literary form and symbols of Daniel. When, in the following century, Roman conquest dashed the hopes of the Jews for the realization of a Messianic kingdom through the Hasmonaeans, Messianic expectations became, if anything, more intense as the Jews anticipated a messiah who would overthrow the Romans. During the 1st century B.C. and the 1st century A.D. such hopes continued to provide the incentive for more apocalyptic works.

It is not surprising, then, that in the NT, written largely, if not entirely, by Jews for a church that was chiefly Jewish in its religious background, God would place an apocalypse setting forth the Christian view of the events that would lead up to and usher in the Messianic kingdom. In His messages to men through the prophets God expresses His will in human languages and in literary forms with which the people to whom His messages were originally addressed were familiar.

Although apocalypse is, indeed, prophecy, it differs from other Biblical prophecy (such as that in Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and the Minor Prophets) in several important aspects, and these distinctive features are the earmarks of apocalyptic literature. Particularly significant among these distinguishing characteristics are the following:

1. The Cosmic Sweep of Apocalyptic. Whereas most prophecy is concerned largely with national and international problems centering chiefly in the history of Israel and the glorious future that might have been hers, apocalyptic plays upon the grander stage of the universe, and takes as its central theme the great controversy between God and Christ on the one hand, and Satan on the other.

2. The Basis of Apocalyptic in Visions and Dreams. The apocalyptic writer records the dreams and visions granted him while "in the Spirit" (see on ch. 1:10). He is often snatched away and carried to distant places, where he beholds scenes of majesty and grandeur that defy adequate description in human language, and where he converses with angels. Although such experiences are found repeatedly in the other prophets also, they are particularly characteristic of apocalyptic writings; so much so, in fact, that they form virtually the whole content of the apocalyptic sections of Daniel and of the Revelation.

3. The Use of Allegory in Apocalyptic. In prophecy, generally speaking, the symbols are concrete object lessons from everyday life; for instance, the potter and the clay (Jer. 18:1-10), the yoke (Jer. 27:2), and the tile (Eze. 4:1, 2). In apocalyptic prophecy, on the other hand, the symbols employed are almost always creatures never seen as such in actual life, such as multiheaded beasts, angels flying in heaven, animals that speak and act with intelligence. Similarly, time periods, though rare in conventional prophecy, are generally given there in literal years (see Jer. 29:10), whereas in Daniel and in the Revelation, time periods repeatedly are used, and usually are to be understood on the basis of the year-day principle.

4. The Literary Form of Apocalyptic. Much prophecy is in poetic form, whereas apocalyptic prophecy (and similarly noncanonical literature) is almost entirely in prose, with only an occasional insertion of poetry, particularly in the case of hymns (see Rev. 4:11; 5:9,10; 11:17, 18; 15:3,4; 18:2-24; 19:1, 2, 6-8).

These considerations give point to the rule that to be rightly interpreted apocalyptic writing must be understood in terms of its characteristic literary structure and theological emphasis. Central to its message is the theme of the great controversy, with particular focus upon the cataclysmic end of its world and the establishment of the new. All this is portrayed in highly symbolic language, which may not always admit of exact interpretation (see on Exe. 1:10). In speaking of supernal things, literal language is sometimes utterly inadequate to convey the subtler realities of heaven. In some respects the figurative language of apocalyptic is similar to that of parables, and the same precautions are to be taken in interpreting both.

The book is a revelation of Jesus Christ at work perfecting a people on earth so that they may reflect His flawless character, and guiding His church through the vicissitudes of history toward the accomplishment of His eternal purpose. Here more completely than elsewhere in Holy Writ the curtain that separates the invisible from the visible is drawn aside in order to reveal, "behind, above, and through all the play and counterplay of human interests and power and passions, the agencies of the all-merciful One, silently, patiently working out the counsels of His own will" (Ed 173).

Revelation consists of four major divisions, or lines of prophecy: (1) the seven churches, chs. 1-3; (2) the seven seals, chs. 4 to 8:1; (3) the seven trumpets, chs. 8:2 to 11; and (4) closing events of the great controversy, chs. 12-22.

Particularly in view of the fact that the language of the book is often highly figurative, it is essential to discover the intent and purpose of the inspired writer, and the meaning the book conveyed to the readers to whom it was originally addressed. Otherwise, the interpretation of its figures, and thus its message, may reflect mere personal opinion. Those first intended readers were Greek-speaking Christians who, whether Jew or Gentile, considered the writings of the OT canon to be the inspired Word of God (see on John 5:39; Acts 24:14; 2 Tim. 3:16,17), and who would be disposed to interpret the new revelation in terms of the old. Accordingly, the following observations and principles will be found useful in an interpretation of the book.

"In the Revelation all the books of the Bible meet and end," and in a special sense, it "is the complement of the book of Daniel" (AA 585). Much of what was sealed in the book of Daniel (see on Dan. 12:4) is unsealed in the book of Revelation, and the two must be studied together. The Revelation contains citations from, or allusions to, 28 of the 39 books of the OT, according to one authority there are 505 such citations and allusions, some 325 of which are to the prophetic books of the OT—Isaiah, Jeremiah, Ezekiel, and Daniel in particular. of the Minor Prophets, references to Zechariah, Joel, Amos, and Hosea are most common. Of the books of the Pentateuch, greatest use is made of Exodus, and of the poetic sections, Psalms (see on Luke 24:44). Some also find reflections from the NT books of Matthew, Luke, 1 and 2 Corinthians, Ephesians, Colossians, and 1 Thessalonians. For illustrations of the way in which John borrows the language and figures of the OT see Additional Note on Rev. 18; see on Isa. 47:1; Jer. 25:12; 50:1; Eze. 26:13. An examination of the citations and allusions makes evident that he translated directly from the Hebrew OT, though at times under the influence of the LXX or a later Greek version.

A clear understanding of these citations and allusions in their historical setting in the OT is the first step toward understanding the passages where they occur in the Revelation. Study may then be given to the context in which John uses them, to ascertain their adapted meaning. In particular this applies to the names of persons and places, and to things, incidents, and events. Since many of the symbols of the book of Revelation were already known in extant Jewish apocalyptic literature, this literature is sometimes helpful by way of clarifying these symbols. Those familiar with contemporary Roman history will also observe that John's language is often descriptive of the Roman Empire and of the experiences of the church under its sway. Accordingly, a study of Roman history of the period clarifies some otherwise cryptic passages. Finally, attention should be given to contemporary modes of thought and expression, in the light of the cultural background of the time.

In determining the import of the successive scenes that passed before John in vision, it is well to remember that the Revelation was given to guide, comfort, and strengthen the church, not only in his day, but throughout the Christian Era, to the very close of time (see AA 581, 585). Hence the history of the church was foretold for the benefit of, and vital counsel was addressed to, believers of apostolic times, to Christians of future ages, and to those living in the last days of earth's history, in order that all might have an intelligent understanding of the perils and conflicts before them (see AA 583, 581). For instance, the names of the seven churches are symbolic of the church in different periods of history, the local church at Ephesus accordingly became a symbol of the entire Christian fellowship in apostolic times, but the message addressed to it was placed on record for the encouragement of believers in every age (see AA 578, 585).

It is reasonable to conclude that the characterization, of, and admonition to, the church at Ephesus was particularly appropriate to the needs of that church at the time the message was written. It was similarly appropriate to the needs of the entire Christian church in the apostolic age, and thus, in brief, represents the experience of that period of the history of the church. It was recorded for the inspiration and encouragement of believers in every age, for under similar circumstances the same principles apply. By analogy, the same is true of the messages to the other churches. In view of the fact that the focus of each of the four major lines of prophecy is on the closing scenes of earth's history, the messages of the book of Revelation have particular import for the church today.

That a single prophetic passage may embrace more than one fulfillment is evident (see on Deut. 18:15). Some such prophecies have both an immediate and a more remote fulfillment, and in addition contain principles that are generally applicable at all times. Furthermore, "it should be remembered that the promises and the threatenings of God are alike conditional" (EGW MS 1, 1883).

Thus certain predictions that might have met their complete fulfillment at an earlier stage of earth's history have been deferred because of the failure of the church to measure up to its privileges and opportunities.

REVELATION

Prologue

- 1 The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John:
- 2 Who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw.
- 3 Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand.

The Letters to the Seven Churches (1:4-3:22)

Salutation

- 4 John to the seven churches which are in Asia: Grace be unto you, and peace, from him which is, and which was, and which is to come; and from the seven Spirits which are before his throne;
- 5 And from Jesus Christ, who is the faithful witness, and the first begotten of the dead, and the prince of the kings of the earth. Unto him that loved us, and washed us from our sins in his own blood,
- 6 And hath made us kings and priests unto God and his Father; to him be glory and dominion for ever and ever. Amen.
- 7 Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him. Even so, Amen.
- 8 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the ending, saith the Lord, which is, and which was, and which is to come, the Almighty.

heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet,

- 11 Saying, I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last: and, What thou seest, write in a book, and send it unto the seven churches which are in Asia; unto Ephesus, and unto Smyrna, and unto Pergamos, and unto Thyatira, and unto Sardis, and unto Philadelphia, and unto Laodicea.
- 12 And I turned to see the voice that spake with me. And being turned, I saw seven golden candlesticks;
- 13 And in the midst of the seven candlesticks one like unto the Son of man, clothed with a garment down to the foot, and girt about the paps with a golden girdle.
- 14 His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow; and his eyes were as a flame of fire;
- 15 And his feet like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace; and his voice as the sound of many waters.
- 16 And he had in his right hand seven stars: and out of his mouth went a sharp twoedged sword: and his countenance was as the sun shineth in his strength.
- 17 And when I saw him, I fell at his feet as dead. And he laid his right hand upon me, saying unto me, Fear not: I am the first and the last:
- 18 I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen, and have the keys of hell and of death.
- 19 Write the things which thou hast seen, and the things which are, and the things which shall be hereafter:
- 20 The mystery of the seven stars which thou sawest in my right hand, and the seven golden candlesticks. The seven stars are the angels of the seven churches: and the seven candlesticks which thou sawest are the seven churches.

To Ephesus

- 2 Unto the angel of the church of Ephesus write: These things saith he that holdeth

1:1, 2 (2 Peter 2:1; 1 John 4:1). The Trustee of Divine Revelation.—[Rev. 1:1, 2 quoted.] The whole Bible is a revelation; for all revelation to men comes through Christ, and all centers in Him. God has spoken unto us by His Son, whose we are by creation and by redemption. Christ came to John exiled on the Isle of Patmos to give him the truth for these last days, to show him that which must shortly come to pass. Jesus Christ is the great trustee of divine revelation. It is through Him that we have a knowledge of what we are to look for in the closing scenes of this earth's history. God gave this revelation to Christ, and Christ communicated the same to John.

John, the beloved disciple, was the one chosen to receive this revelation. He was the last survivor of the first chosen disciples. Under the New Testament dispensation he was honored as the prophet Daniel was honored under the Old Testament dispensation.

The instruction to be communicated to John was so important that Christ came from heaven to give it to His servant, telling him to send it to the churches. This instruction is to be the object of our careful and prayerful study, for we are living in a time when men who are not under the teaching of the Holy Spirit will bring in false theories. These men have been standing in high places, and they have ambitious projects to carry out. They seek to exalt themselves, and to revolutionize the whole showing of things. God has given us special instruction to guard us against such ones. He bade John write in a book that which should take place in the closing scenes of this earth's history (MS 129, 1905).

1:1-3. Revelation an Open Book.—Many have entertained the idea that the book of Revelation is a sealed book, and they will not devote time and study to its mysteries. They say that they are to keep looking to the glories of salvation, and that the mysteries revealed to John on the Isle of Patmos are worthy of less consideration than these. But God does not so regard this book. . . .

The book of Revelation opens to the world what has been, what is, and what is to come; it is for our instruction upon whom the ends of the world are come. It should be studied with reverential awe. We are privileged in knowing what is for our learning. . . .

The Lord Himself revealed to His servant John the mysteries of the book of Revelation, and He designs that they shall be open to the study of all. In this book are depicted scenes that are now in the past, and some of eternal interest that are taking place around us; other of its prophecies will not receive their complete fulfillment until the close of time, when the last great conflict between the powers of darkness and the Prince of heaven will take place (RH Aug. 31, 1897).

1:8. See EGW on 1 Cor. 15:22, 45.

1:9. Companions of John on Patmos.—John was sent to the Isle of Patmos, where, separated from his companions in the faith, his enemies supposed he would die from hardship and neglect. But John made friends and converts even there. They thought that they had at last placed the faithful witness where he could no longer trouble Israel or the wicked rulers of the world.

But all the heavenly universe saw the result of the conflict with the aged disciple and his separation from his companions in the faith. God and Christ and the heavenly host were John's companions on the Isle of Patmos. From them he received instruction which he imparted to those separated with him from the world. There he wrote out the visions and revelations he received from God, telling of the things which would take place in the closing period of this earth's history. When his voice would no longer witness for the truth, when he could no longer testify of the One he loved and served, the messages given to him on that rocky, barren coast were to go forth as a lamp that burneth (MS 150, 1899).

(1 John 1:1-10.) Glorious Truths Entrusted to John.—Often the very best men, those whom God uses to His name's glory, are unrecognized by human wisdom, but not for one moment are they forgotten by God. When John was exiled to the Isle of Patmos, there were many who thought him to be past service, an old and broken reed ready to fall at any time. But the Lord saw fit to use him in that lonely island home where His servant was imprisoned. The world and the bigoted priests and rulers rejoiced that they were at last rid of his ever fresh testimony. [1 John 1:1-3 quoted.]

This whole chapter is full of brave courage, of hope and faith and assurance. It was because of this testimony, so amazing to those who wished to forget Christ, who hated the crucified Redeemer, whom they had rejected, that they wished to get that voice beyond their hearing, that his testimony might no more be a witness against their wicked deeds in crucifying the Lord of glory. But they could not put him in any place where his Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ could not find him.

Christ's servants who are true and faithful may be unrecognized and unhonored by men . . . , but the Lord will honor them. They will not be forgotten by God. He will honor them by His presence because they have been found true and faithful. Those who have grown old in the cause and work of God have an experience of great value for the church. God honors His servants who have grown old in His service. The most glorious truths concerning the last chapters of this earth's history were given to the aged disciple whom Jesus loved (MS 109, 1897).

1:9, 10 (Ps. 71:9; 92:14; Isa. 46:4). John's Last Years.—It was after John had grown old in the service of the Lord that he was exiled to Patmos. And on that lonely isle he received more communications from heaven than he had received during the rest of his lifetime (RH July 26, 1906).

Christ's aged representative was exiled that his testimony might no longer be heard; for it was a living power on the side of right. But though separated from his brethren, he was visited by Christ, whom he had not seen since the ascension (RH May 16, 1899).

1:9-15. God's Plan for Future Ages.—The hand of persecution falls heavily on the apostle. He is banished to the Isle of Patmos "for the word of God, and for the testimony of Jesus Christ." He writes, "I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day." He was filled with unspeakable joy; for heaven seemed open before him. In clear, distinct tones a voice spoke to him, saying, "I am Alpha and Omega, the first and the last." Turning, he beheld his Master, with whom he had walked and talked in Judea, on whose breast he had leaned.

But Oh, how changed is His appearance! John had seen Him clothed in an old purple robe and crowned with thorns. Now He is clothed with a garment of heavenly brightness, and girt about with a golden girdle. Writing of His appearance, John says, "His head and his hairs were white like wool, as white as snow; and his eyes were as a flame of fire; and his feet like unto fine brass, as if they burned in a furnace; and his voice as the sound of many waters." . . .

God's plan for future ages was revealed to John. The glories of heaven were opened before his enraptured vision. He saw the throne of God, and heard the anthems of joy resounding through the heavenly courts. As we read his description of what he saw in his vision, we long to stand with the redeemed in the presence of God.

Half a century had passed since Jesus ascended to present His church before God, and to prepare mansions for His faithful ones. He still loved His people; for He came to His aged servant to reveal to Him God's plans for the future.

On the rugged, desolate island John was left alone with God and his faith. Here, among the rocks and cliffs, he held communion with his Maker. He reviewed his past life, and at the thought of the blessings he had received at the hand of God, peace filled his heart. He had lived the life of a Christian, and he could say in faith, "It is well with my soul." Not so the emperor who had banished him. He could look back only on fields of warfare and carnage, on desolated homes and weeping widows and orphans—the result of his ambitious desire for pre-eminence (MS 99, 1902).

1:10. Christ Appears on the Sabbath.—The Sabbath, which God had instituted in Eden, was as precious to John on the lonely isle as when he was with his companions in the cities and towns. The precious promises that Christ had given regarding this day he repeated and claimed as his own. It was the sign to him that God was his. . . . On the Sabbath day the risen Saviour made His presence known to John. [Rev. 1:10-13, 17, 18 quoted.]

The persecution of John became a means of grace. Patmos was made resplendent with the glory of a risen Saviour. John had seen Christ in human form, with the marks of the nails, which will ever be His glory, in His hands and His feet. Now he was permitted again to behold his risen Lord, clothed with as much glory as a human being could behold, and live. What a Sabbath was that to the lonely exile, always precious in the sight of Christ, but now more than ever exalted! Never had he learned so much of Jesus. Never had he heard such exalted truth (YI April 5, 1900).

1:16, 20. See EGW on ch. 2:1, 1-5.

1:18-20 (John 1:1-3). The Self-existent, Unchangeable One.—[Rev. 1:18-20 quoted.] These are wonderfully solemn and significant statements. It was the Source of all mercy and pardon, peace and grace, the self-existent, eternal, unchangeable One, who visited His exiled servant on the isle that is called Patmos (MS 81, 1900).

2:1 (ch. 1:16, 20; Ps. 121:3, 4; see EGW on Eph. 5:25). Constant Diligence in Behalf of His Church.—In the message to the church at Ephesus, Christ is represented as holding the seven stars in His hand, and walking in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks. He is represented as "walking" among them, thus illustrating His constant diligence in behalf of His church. He that keepeth Israel neither slumbers nor sleeps. Nor does He become indifferent. These figures are to be carefully studied by the undershepherds, and faithfully applied to their own experience, that they may not lose sight of their great privilege of securing light from the Source of all light, and giving it in turn to those for whom they labor (Letter 4, 1908).

2:1-5 (1 Peter 1:5; Jude 24). The Warden of the Temple Courts.—[Rev. 2:1-5 quoted.] The words fall from the lips of One who cannot lie. The picture reveals eternal vigilance. Christ is in the midst of the seven golden candlesticks, walking from church to church, from congregation to congregation, from heart to heart. He that keepeth Israel neither slumbers nor sleeps. If the candlesticks were left to the care of human beings, how often the light would flicker and go out! But God has not given His church into the hands of men. Christ, the One who gave His life for the world, that all who believe in Him may not perish but have everlasting life, is the watchman of the house. He is the warden, faithful and true, of the temple courts of the Lord.

Christ walks in the midst of His churches through the length and breadth of the earth. He looks with intense interest to see whether His people are in such a condition spiritually that they can advance His kingdom. He is present in every assembly of the church. He knows those whose hearts He can fill with the holy oil, that they may impart it to others. Those who faithfully carry forward the work of Christ, representing in word and deed the character of God, fulfill the Lord's purpose for them, and Christ takes pleasure in them (RH May 26, 1903).

(Eph. 1:1, 15, 16.) Evil Results of Neglect.—[Rev. 2:1-5 quoted.] In this scripture are outlined the conditions of acceptance with God. The first experience of the Ephesus church led to good works. God took delight in the fact that His church reflected the light of heaven by revealing the spirit of Christ in tenderness and compassion. The love that dwelt in the heart of Christ; the love that caused Him to give Himself a sacrifice for humanity, and to suffer with forbearance the reproach of men, even to the extent of being called a devil; the love that prompted Him to perform mighty works of healing during His ministry—this was the love that was to be revealed in the lives of His disciples.

But they neglected to cherish Christ's compassion and tenderness. Self, as manifested in hereditary traits of character, spoiled the principles of the grand, good works that identified the members of the Ephesus church as Christians. The Lord Jesus must needs show them that they had lost that which was everything to them. The love that constrained the Saviour to die for us, was not revealed in its fullness in their lives; and hence they were unable to bring honor to the name of the Redeemer. And as they lost their first love, they increased in a knowledge of scientific theories originated by the father of lies (MS 11, 1906).

2:2. See EGW on Gal. 5:6.

2:2-6. Losing the Talent of Love.—This message is an example of the way in which the ministers of God are to give reproof today. Following the commendation for earnest labor comes the reproof for losing the talent of love, which is a most sacred trust. It was the love of God that saved the fallen race from eternal death (MS 136, 1902).

2:4 (2 Peter 3:18; 2 John 6). Love for Christ Need Not Flag.—“Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.” Thine is a decay, a declension in holy zeal—not forsaken is the object of it, but lost is the fervor. The first affection of the convert to Christ is deep, full, and ardent. It is not necessary that this love should become less as knowledge increases, as the more and increased light shines upon him. That love should become more fervent as he becomes better acquainted with his Lord.

God will accept nothing less than the whole heart. Happy are they who from the commencement of their religious life have been true to their first love, growing in grace and the knowledge of our Lord Jesus Christ. The sure result of their intercourse and fellowship with their beloved Lord will be to increase their piety, their purity, their fervor. They are receiving a divine education, and this is illustrated in a life of fervor, of diligence and zeal.

It is our work to know our special failings and sins, which cause darkness and spiritual feebleness, and quenched our first love (RH June 7, 1887).

2:4, 5 (see EGW on ch. 3:14-18; 1 Kings 11:4). Spiritually Fallen, but Unaware of It.—In view of the many virtues enumerated, how striking is the charge brought against the church at Ephesus: “Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.” This church had been highly favored. It was planted by the apostle Paul. In the same city was the temple of Diana, which, in point of grandeur, was one of the marvels of the world. The Ephesian church met with great opposition, and some of the early Christians suffered persecution; and yet some of these very ones turned from the truths that had united them with Christ's followers, and adopted, in their stead, the specious errors devised by Satan.

This change is represented as a spiritual fall. “Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works”—as outlined in the preceding verses. The believers did not sense their spiritual fall. They knew not that a change had taken place in their hearts, and that they would have to repent because of the noncontinuance of their first works. But God in His mercy called for repentance, for a return to their first love and to the works that are always the result of true, Christlike love (MS 11, 1906).

Loss of Love a Moral Fall.—The losing of the first love is specified as a moral fall. The loss of this love is represented as something that will affect the entire religious life. Of those who have lost this love, God says that unless they repent, He will come to them, and remove their candlestick out of its place (MS 1, 1906).

2:6 (Jude 4). The Sin of the Nicolaitans.—Is it [our sin] the sin of the Nicolaitans, turning the grace of God into lasciviousness (RH June 7, 1887)?

(Rom. 3:31.) Doctrine of the Nicolaitans.—The doctrine is now largely taught that the gospel of Christ has made the law of God of no effect; that by “believing” we are released from the necessity of being doers of the Word. But this is the doctrine of the Nicolaitans, which Christ so unspangly condemned (ST Jan. 2, 1912).

2:7 (ch. 22:2). The Leaves of the Tree of Life.—[Rev. 2:7 quoted.] Must we wait until we are translated before we eat of the leaves of the tree of life? He who receives into his heart the words of Christ knows what it means to eat the leaves of the tree of life. [John 6:33-63 quoted.]

When the believer, in the fellowship of the Spirit, can lay his hand upon truth itself, and appropriate it, he eats the bread that comes down from heaven. He enters into the life of Christ, and appreciates the great sacrifice made in behalf of the sinful race.

The knowledge that comes from God is the bread of life. It is the leaves of the tree of life which are for the healing of the nations. The current of spiritual life thrills the soul as the words of Christ are believed and practiced. Thus it is that we are made one with Christ. The experience that was weak and feeble becomes strong. It is eternal life to us if we hold the beginning of our confidence firm unto the end.

All truth is to be received as the life of Jesus. Truth cleanses us from all impurity, and prepares the soul for Christ's presence. Christ is fanned within, the hope of glory (MS 103, 1902).

2:7, 11, 17, 29 (ch. 3:6, 13, 22). Ears Closed to Folly and Nonsense.—“He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.” If you “hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches,” and meditate upon the instruction given to them, your ears will be closed to the folly and nonsense which surround you. You will neither hear and repeat these things, nor will you ever hanker after them. When Christ satisfies the soul hunger, these trivialities are to you distasteful and disgusting. You have no desire to feast upon them, but choose instead the bread of heaven (MS 92, 1901).

2:9. The Synagogue of Satan.—Christ speaks of the church over which Satan presides as the synagogue of Satan. Its members are the children of disobedience. They are those who choose to sin, who labor to make void the holy law of God. It is Satan's work to mingle evil with good, and to remove the distinction between good and evil. Christ would have a church that labors to separate the evil from the good, whose members will not willingly

- 3 And hast borne, and hast patience, and for my name's sake hast laboured, and hast not fainted.
- 4 Nevertheless I have somewhat against thee, because thou hast left thy first love.
- 5 Remember therefore from whence thou art fallen, and repent, and do the first works; or else I will come unto thee quickly, and will remove thy candlestick out of his place, except thou repent.
- 6 But this thou hast, that thou hatest the deeds of the Nicolaitanes, which I also hate.
- 7 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; To him that overcometh will I give to eat of the tree of life, which is in the midst of the paradise of God.

To Smyrna

- 8 And unto the angel of the church in Smyrna write: These things saith the first and the last, which was dead, and is alive;
- 9 I know thy works, and tribulation, and poverty, (but thou art rich) and I know the blasphemy of them which say they are Jews, and are not, but are the synagogue of Satan.
- 10 Fear none of those things which thou shalt suffer: behold, the devil shall cast some of you into prison, that ye may be tried; and ye shall have tribulation ten days: he thou faithful unto death, and I will give thee a crown of life.
- 11 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches; He that overcometh shall not be hurt of the second death.

To Pergamum (Pergamos)

- 12 And to the angel of the church in Pergamos write: These things saith he which hath the sharp sword with two edges;

- 14 But I have a few things against thee, because thou hast there them that hold the doctrine of Balaam, who taught Balac to cast a stumblingblock before the children of Israel, to eat things sacrificed unto idols, and to commit fornication.
- 15 So hast thou also them that hold the doctrine of the Nicolaitanes, which thing I hate.

To Thyatira

- 18 And unto the angel of the church in Thyatira write: These things saith the Son of God, who hath his eyes like unto a flame of fire, and his feet are like fine brass;
- 19 I know thy works, and charity, and service, and faith, and thy patience, and thy works; and the last to be more than the first.
- 20 Notwithstanding I have a few things against thee, because thou sufferest that woman Jezebel, which calleth herself a prophetess, to teach and to seduce my servants to commit fornication, and to eat things sacrificed unto idols.
- 21 And I gave her space to repent of her fornication; and she repented not.
- 22 Behold, I will cast her into a bed, and them that commit adultery with her into great tribulation, except they repent of their deeds.
- 23 And I will kill her children with death; and all the churches shall know that I am he which searcheth the reins and hearts:

tolerate wrong-doing, but will expel it from the heart and life (RII Dec. 4, 1900).

2:10. Crowns Bestowed by Christ.—In that day of final punishment and reward, both saints and sinners will recognize in Him who was crucified the Judge of all living. Every crown that is given to the saints of the Most High will be bestowed by the hands of Christ—those hands that cruel priests and rulers condemned to be nailed to the cross. He alone can give to men the consolation of eternal life (RII Nov. 22, 1898).

3:1 (2 Cor. 4:7; Gal. 2:20; Phil. 1:21; 3:8). Faithful Stewards Over Ourselves.—(Rev. 3:1 quoted.) God calls upon this church to make a change. They had a name to live, but their works were destitute of the love of Jesus. Oh, how many have fallen because they trusted in their profession for salvation! How many are lost by their effort to keep up a name! If one has the reputation of being a successful evangelist, a gifted preacher, a man of prayer, a man of faith, a man of special devotion, there is positive danger that he will make shipwreck of faith when tried by the little tests that God suffers to come. Often his great effort will be to maintain his reputation.

He who lives in the fear that others do not appreciate his value is losing sight of Him who alone makes us worthy of glorifying God. Let us be faithful stewards over ourselves. Let us look away from self to Christ. Then there will be no trouble at all. All the work done, however excellent it may appear to be, is worthless if not done in the love of Jesus. One may go through the whole round of religious activity, and yet, unless Christ is woven into all that he says and does, he will work for his own glory (Letter 48, 1903).

3:1-3. Remember How Thou Hast Received.—A warning is given of a time when errors would come in as a thief to steal away the faith of God's people, when they must watch diligently and be constantly guarded against

- and I will give unto every one of you according to your works.
- 24 But unto you I say, and unto the rest in Thyatira, as many as have not this doctrine, and which have not known the depths of Satan, as they speak; I will put upon you none other burden.
- 25 But that which ye have already hold fast till I come.
- 26 And he that overcometh, and keepeth my works unto the end, to him will I give power over the nations:
- 27 And he shall rule them with a rod of iron; as the vessels of a potter shall they be broken to shivers: even as I received of my Father.
- 28 And I will give him the morning star.
- 29 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

To Sardis

- 3 And unto the angel of the church in Sardis write: These things saith he that hath the seven Spirits of God, and the seven stars: I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead.
- 2 Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die: for I have not found thy works perfect before God.
- 3 Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief, and thou shalt not know what hour I will come upon thee.
- 4 Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy.
- 5 He that overcometh, the same shall be clothed in white raiment; and I will not blot out his name out of the book of life, but I will confess his name before my Father, and before his angels.

To Laodicea

- 14 And unto the angel of the church of the Laodiceans write: These things saith the Amen, the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God;
- 15 I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot: I would thou wert cold or hot.
- 16 So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth.
- 17 Because thou sayest, I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing; and knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked:
- 18 I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be the delusions of the enemy.

In Sardis many had been converted through the preaching of the apostles. The truth had been received as a bright and shining light. But some had forgotten the wonderful manner in which they had received the truth, and Jesus found it necessary to send reproof.

One after another of the old standard-bearers had fallen, and some had become wearied of the oft-repeated truths. They desired a new phase of doctrine, more pleasing to many minds. They thought they needed a wonderful change, and in their spiritual blindness did not discern that their sophistries would uproot all the experiences of the past.

But the Lord Jesus could see the end from the beginning. Through John He sent them the warning, "Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent. If therefore thou shalt not watch, I will come on thee as a thief" (MS 34, 1905).

(2 Tim. 2:23-26.) Hazards of Quibbling.—[Rev. 3:1-3 quoted.] Among the people to whom this message was sent, there were those who had heard and been convinced by the preaching of John the Baptist, but who had lost the faith in which they once rejoiced. There were others who had received the truth from Christ's teaching, and who were once ardent believers, but who had lost their first love, and were without spiritual strength. They had not held the beginning of their confidence firm unto the end. They had a name to live, but as far as exerting a saving influence is concerned, they were dead. They had a form of godliness without the power. They quibbled about matters of no special importance, not given by the Lord as tests, till these matters became as mountains, separating them from Christ and from one another. . . .

"I know thy works, that thou hast a name that thou livest, and art dead." With God outward show weighs nothing. The outward forms of religion, without the love of God in the soul, are utterly worthless.

"Be watchful, and strengthen the things which remain, that are ready to die." This is our work. There are many ready to die spiritually, and the Lord calls upon us to strengthen them. God's people are to be firmly united in the bonds of Christian fellowship, and are to be strengthened in the faith by speaking often to one another about the precious truths entrusted to them. Never are they to spend their time in accusing and condemning one another (RH Aug. 10, 1905).

3:1-4 (Heb. 4:13). Weighing the Character.—[Rev. 3:1-3 quoted.] The discrimination revealed by Christ in weighing the characters of those who have taken to themselves His name, as Christians, leads us to realize more fully that every individual is under His supervision. He is acquainted with the thoughts and intents of the heart, as well as with every word and act. He knows all about our religious experience; He knows whom we love and serve (MS 81, 1900).

3:1-5 (Matt. 22:14). A Few Faithful Ones in Sardis.—The church of Sardis is represented as having in it a few faithful ones among the many who had become, as it were, careless and insensible of their obligations to God. "Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy." Who is so favored as to be numbered among these few in Sardis? Are you? Am I? Who are among this number? Is it not for us to inquire into this matter, in order that we may learn to whom the Lord refers when He says that a few have not stained their white robes of character (MS 81, 1900)?

(Vs. 14-18.) Read the Third Chapter of Revelation.—In the message to the church at Sardis two parties are presented—those who have a name to live, but are dead; and those who are striving to overcome. Study this message, found in the third chapter of Revelation. [Rev. 3:1, 2 quoted.] Who are meant by those that are ready to die? and what has made them thus? The explanation is given, "I have not found thy works perfect before God." [Vs. 3-5 quoted.]

To the church of the present day this message is sent. I call upon our church members to read the whole of the third chapter of Revelation, and to make an application of it. The message to the church of the Laodiceans applies especially to the people of God today. It is a message to professing Christians who have become so much like the world that no difference can be seen [vs. 14-18 quoted] (RH Aug. 20, 1903).

3:3 (Heb. 3:6; 4:14; 10:23). Hold Fast to the Pledge.—"Remember therefore how thou hast received and heard, and hold fast, and repent," Those who have been born again remember with what joy and gladness they received the light of heaven, and how eager they were to tell everybody of their happiness. . . .

"Hold fast." This does not mean, Hold fast to your sins; but, Hold fast to the comfort, the faith, the hope, that God has given you in His Word. Never be discouraged. A discouraged man can do nothing. Satan is seeking to discourage you, telling you it is of no use to serve God, that it does not pay, and that it is just as well to have pleasure and enjoyment in this world. But "what shall it profit a man, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? You may have worldly pleasure at the expense of the future world; but can you afford to pay such a price?"

We are to "hold fast" and live up to all the light we receive from heaven. Why? Because God wants us to grasp the eternal truth, and act as His helping hand by communicating the light to those who are not acquainted with His love for them. When you gave yourself to Christ, you made a pledge in the presence of the Father, the Son, and the Holy Spirit—the three great personal Dignitaries of heaven. "Hold fast" to this pledge.

"And repent." The life we live is to be one of continual repentance and humility. We need to repent constantly, that we may be constantly victorious. When we have true humility, we have victory. The enemy never can take out of the hand of Christ the one who is simply trusting in His promises. If the soul is trusting and working obediently, the mind is susceptible to divine impressions, and the light of God shines in, enlightening the understanding. What privileges we have in Christ Jesus!

A true sense of repentance before God does not hold us in bondage, causing us to feel like persons in a funeral procession. We are to be cheerful, not sorrowful. But all the time we are to be sorry that after Christ had given His precious life for us, we gave so many years of our life to the powers of darkness. We are to feel sorrow of heart as we remember that after Christ had given His all for our redemption, we used in the service of the enemy some of the time and capabilities which the Lord entrusted to us as talents to use to His name's glory. We are to repent because we have not endeavored in every way possible to become acquainted with the precious truth, which enables us to exercise that faith which works by love and purifies the soul.

As we see souls out of Christ, we are to put ourselves in their place, and in their behalf feel repentance before God, resting not until we bring them to repentance. If we do everything we can for them, and yet they do not repent, the sin lies at their door; but we are still to feel sorrow of heart because of their condition, showing them how to repent, and trying to lead them step by step to Jesus Christ (MS 92, 1901).

3:4. See EGW on ch. 19:7-9; Heb. 2:14-18.

3:4, 5 (Luke 12:8). True and Loyal and Faithful.—[Rev. 3:4, 5 quoted.] This is the reward to be given to those who have obtained a pure and spotless character, who before the world have held fast to the faith. Jesus Christ will confess their names before the Father and before His angels. They have been true and loyal and faithful. Through evil report as well as good report they have practiced and taught the truth (MS 26, 1905).

(2 Cor. 4:17, 18.) An Eternal Weight of Glory.—"Thou hast a few names even in Sardis which have not defiled their garments; and they shall walk with me in white: for they are worthy." Because of their faith this honor is bestowed on them. In this life they did not boast, nor lift up their souls unto vanity. With intensity of desire, with a pure, holy faith, they grasped the promise of eternal riches. Their one desire was to be like Christ. Ever they kept the standard of righteousness uplifted. To them is given an eternal weight of glory, because on the earth they walked with God, keeping themselves unspotted from the world, revealing to their fellow beings the righteousness of Christ. Of them the Saviour declares, "They shall walk with me in white, in the world that I have prepared for them" [Rev. 3:5 quoted] (RH Aug. 10, 1905).

3:4, 5, 10 (1 Cor. 10:12, 13). The Promise of Victory.—[Rev. 3:4, 5 quoted.] These words are given for the people while they are in connection with the world, subject to temptations and influences which are deceiving and deluding. While they stay their mind upon Him who is their sun and their shield, the blackness and darkness that surround them will not leave one spot or stain upon their garments. They will walk with Christ. They will pray and believe and work to save the souls that are ready to perish. These are trying to break the bands that Satan has fastened upon them, and they will not be put to shame if by faith they will make Christ their companion. Temptations and deceptions will be constantly brought up by the great deceiver to spoil the work of the human agent, but if he trusts in God, if he is humble and meek and lowly of heart, keeping the way of the Lord, heaven will rejoice, for he will gain the victory. God says, "He shall walk with me in white, with unsullied garments, for he is worthy" (MS 97, 1898).

3:5 (ch. 13:8; see EGW on chs. 7:9; 20:12-15). Angels Weighing Moral Worth.—Christ says of the overcomer, "I will not blot out his name out of the book of life." The names of all those who have once given themselves to God are written in the book of life, and their characters are now passing in review before Him. Angels of God are weighing moral worth. They are watching the development of character in those now living, to see if their names can be retained in the book of life. A probation is granted us in which to wash our robes of character and make them white in the blood of the Lamb. Who is doing this work? Who is separating from himself sin and selfishness (HS 138)?

3:6, 13, 22. See EGW on ch. 2:7, 11, 17, 29.

3:8. An Open Door.—The true Witness declares: "Behold, I have set before thee an open door." Let us thank God with heart and soul and voice; and let us learn to approach unto Him as through an open door, believing that we may come freely with our petitions, and that He will hear and answer. It is by a living faith in His power to help, that we shall receive strength to fight the battles of the Lord with the confident assurance of victory (RH July 9, 1908).

(Heb. 10:19, 20.) The Door of Communication.—The true Witness has given us the assurance that He has set before us an open door, which no man can shut. Those who are seeking to be faithful to God may be denied many of the privileges of the world; their way may be hedged up and their work hindered by the enemies of truth; but there is no power that can close the door of communication between God and their souls. The Christian himself may close this door by indulgence in sin, or by rejection of heaven's light. He may turn away his ears from hearing the message of truth, and in this way sever the connection between God and his soul. . . . Neither man nor Satan can close the door which Christ has opened for us (RH March 26, 1889).

Light From the Threshold of Heaven.—[Rev. 3:8, 9 quoted.] Whenever tempted, we have this open door to behold. No power can hide from us the light of the glory which shines from the threshold of heaven along the whole length of the ladder we are to climb; for the Lord has given us strength in His strength, courage in His courage, light in His light. When the powers of darkness are overcome, when the light of the glory of God floods the world, we shall see and understand more clearly than we do today. If we only realized that the glory of God is round about us, that heaven is nearer earth than we suppose, we should have a heaven in our homes while preparing for the heaven above (MS 92, 1901).

3:14-18 (see EGW on vs. 1-5; 2 Cor. 5:17.) Our Condition Revealed.—The message to the Laodicean church reveals our condition as a people (RH Dec. 15, 1904).

Message for the Idlers in the Vineyard.—To the idlers in the Lord's vineyard the Laodicean message is sent (MS 26, 1905).

(Rom. 2:17-24.) Application of Laodicean Message.—The message to the Laodicean church is applicable to all who have had great light and many opportunities, and yet have not appreciated them (RH March 11, 1902).

(Ch. 2:4, 5.) Fervor of Love Lacking.—The message to the Laodicean church is applicable to our condition. How plainly is pictured the position of those who think they have all the truth, who take pride in their knowledge of the Word of God, while its sanctifying power has not been felt in their lives. The fervor of the love of God is wanting in their hearts, but it is this very fervor of love that makes God's people the light of the world (RH July 23, 1889).

Laodicean Message for Adventists.—The message to the Laodicean church is highly applicable to us as a people. It has been placed before us for a long time, but has not been heeded as it should have been. When the work of repentance is earnest and deep, the individual members of the church will buy the rich goods of heaven. [Rev. 3:18 quoted.] Oh, how many behold things in a perverted light, in the light in which Satan would have them see.

You may manifest great zeal in missionary effort, and yet because it is corrupted with selfishness, and tastes strongly of self, it is nought in the sight of God; for it is a tainted, corrupted offering. Unless the door of the heart is open to Jesus, unless He occupies the soul temple, unless the heart is imbued with His divine attributes, human actions when weighed in the heavenly balances, will be pronounced "Wanting." The love of Christ would make you rich; but many do not realize the value of His love. Many do not realize that the spirit which they cherish is destitute of the meekness and lowliness of Christ, destitute of the love that would constitute them channels of light (MS 33, 1894).

(2 Peter 3:11.) Has God Made a Mistake?—The Laodicean message is applicable to the church at this time. Do you believe this message? Have you hearts that feel? Or are you constantly saying, We are rich and increased in goods, and have need of nothing? Is it in vain that the declaration of eternal truth has been given to this nation to be carried to all the nations of the world? God has chosen a people and made them the repositories of truth weighty with eternal results. To them has been given the light that must illuminate the world. Has God made a mistake? Are we indeed His chosen instrumentalities? Are we the men and women who are to bear to the world the messages of Revelation fourteen, to proclaim the message of salvation to those who are standing on the brink of ruin? Do we act as if we were (MS 51, 1901)?

Professors but Not Doers.—The Laodicean message applies to all who profess to keep the law of God, and yet are not doers of it. We are not to be selfish in anything. Every phase of the Christian life is to be a representation of the life of Christ. If it is not, we shall hear the terrible words, "I know you not" (RH Oct. 17, 1899).

An Inspid Religious Experience.—The message to the Laodicean church applies most decidedly to those whose religious experience is inspid, who do not bear decided witness in favor of the truth (Letter 98, 1901).

(Isa. 65:5; Luke 18:11, 12.) "Hear, O Hear."—I tell you in the name of the Lord, that those who have had great light are today in the state described by Christ in His message to the Laodicean church. They think that they are rich, and increased in goods, and feel that they have need of nothing. Christ speaks to you, Hear, O hear, if you have any regard for your souls, the words of the great Counselor, and act upon them (Rev. 3:18 quoted) (Letter 5, 1897).

To Rid the Church of Fanaticism.—The design of the message to the Laodiceans was to rid the church of . . . fanatical influences; but the effort of Satan has been to corrupt the message, and destroy its influence. He would be better pleased to have fanatical persons embrace the testimony, and use it in his cause, than to have them remain in a lukewarm state. I have seen that it was not the design of the message to lead brother to sit in judgment over his brother, to tell him what to do, and just how far to go, but for each individual to search his own heart, and attend to his own individual work (2SG 223).

Bankrupt!—Many are Laodiceans, living in a spiritual self-deception. They clothe themselves in the garments of their own righteousness, imagining themselves to be rich and increased with goods and in need of nothing, when they need daily to learn of Jesus. His meekness and lowliness, else they find themselves bankrupt, their whole life being a lie (Letter 66, 1894).

Self-inflated Religion.—Love of self excludes the love of Christ. Those who live for self are ranged under the head of the Laodicean church who are lukewarm, neither cold nor hot. The ardor of the first love has lapsed into a selfish egotism. The love of Christ in the heart is expressed in the actions. If love for Christ is dull, the love for those for whom Christ has died will degenerate. There may be a wonderful appearance for zeal and ceremonies, but this is the substance of their self-inflated religion. Christ represents them as nauseating to His taste [Rev. 3:17, 18 quoted] (MS 61, 1898).

(Prov. 30:12; Obadiah 3.) Self-exaltation a Dangerous Element.—Self-exaltation is a dangerous element. It tarnishes everything it touches. It is the offspring of pride, and it works so ingeniously that, unless guarded against, it will take possession of the thoughts and control the actions.

The Laodicean message must be proclaimed with power; for now it is especially applicable. Now, more than ever before, are seen pride, worldly ambition, self-exaltation, double-dealing, hypocrisy, and deception. Many are speaking great swelling words of vanity, saying, "I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing." Yet they are miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked (RH Sept. 25, 1900).

(Ecc. 10:1; Matt. 7:1-5.) Self-love, Self-deception, and Self-justification.—Those whom Christ warns have some excellent qualifications, but they are neutralized by all who have a diseased self-love, self-deception, self-justification for gross neglect to help brethren in the service of God by encouraging words and deeds. There is a dead fly in the ointment. They are being weighed by One who never makes a mistake. He tells the result of actions which demonstrate that the love of Christ is not an abiding principle in the soul. God calls upon you all to learn from Christ His meekness. Put away your faculty for seeing the mistakes of others. Turn your attention to your own defects. Your self-righteousness is nauseating to the Lord Jesus Christ. [Rev. 3:15-18 quoted.] These words apply to the churches and to many of those in positions of trust in the work of God (MS 108, 1899).

Spiritual Novices.—There are a large number of professing Christians who do not really follow Jesus. They do not bear the cross by proper self-denial and self-sacrifice. Although making a great profession of being earnest Christians, they weave into the fabric of their character so many of the threads of their own imperfections that the beautiful pattern is spoiled. Of them Christ says: "You boast of being rich and increased with supposed spiritual attainments. In reality you are neither cold nor hot, but are filled with vain conceit. Unless converted, you cannot be saved; for you would mar heaven with your unsanctified wisdom. I cannot endorse your spirit and your work. You do not act according to the divine Example. You are following a pattern merely of your own invention. Because you are lukewarm, I must spew you out of My mouth."

Let us thank the Lord that while this class is so numerous, there is still time for repentance. Jesus says, "I, your Redeemer, know your works. I am familiar with the motives that prompt you to declare boastfully in regard to your spiritual condition, 'I am rich, and increased with goods, and have need of nothing.' Thou knowest not that thou art wretched, and miserable, and poor, and blind, and naked."

Those who are in this condition are willfully ignorant. They do not discern the real character of sin. By their wrongdoing they constantly misrepresent the character of Christ and put Him to open shame. Professing to have a knowledge of the truth, they act in spirit as novices. They do not seem to understand the truth that must be expressed in word and deed to show a decided difference between him that serveth God and him that serveth Him not. They are false claimants of every Christian blessing and privilege, when, as Christ's representatives, they are not rich in spiritual grace or in good works. They are wretched, poor, blind, maimed. What a position to be in! They stand in their own light.

But notwithstanding their willful ignorance, they are not left by the Lord without added warning and counsel (MS 148, 1902).

3:15. The Mount of Vision.—If every man who has influence could ascend some mount of vision from which he could behold all his works as Christ beholds them when He declares, "I know thy works"; if the laborer could trace from cause to effect every objectionable word and act, the sight would be more than he could bear (MS 128, 1903).

3:15, 16 (Matt. 6:22-24). Worse Than Infidels.—Halfhearted Christians are worse than infidels; for their deceptive words and noncommittal position lead many astray. The infidel shows his colors. The lukewarm Christian deceives both parties. He is neither a good wordling nor a good Christian. Satan uses him to do a work that no one else can do (Letter 44, 1903).

(Luke 13:24-30.) Fate of the Halfhearted Ones.—There are those who, though professing serving God, are witnessing against Him. To them the message to the Laodicean church is given. Christ says to them, "I know thy works, that thou art neither cold nor hot." When the avenging angel shall pass through the land, Christ cannot say of them, "Touch them not. I have graven them upon the palms of my hands." No; of these halfhearted ones He says, "I will spew them out of my mouth. They are offensive to me" (Letter 44, 1903).

Dead in Trespasses and Sins.—To those who do not practice it, the Word of God is a dead letter. Christ says of such, "I would thou wert cold or hot. So then because thou art lukewarm, and neither cold nor hot, I will spue thee out of my mouth." He cannot present their case to the Father. If they realized that they were sinners, He could plead in their behalf, and the Lord would arouse them by His Holy Spirit. But they are worse than dead in trespasses and sins. They hear the Word, but make no application of it to themselves; instead, they apply the Word spoken to their neighbors (MS 163a, 1898).

3:15-20 (John 4:13, 14). A Fountain of Living Water.—The condition of many of those who claim to be the children of God is exactly represented by the message to the Laodicean church. There is opened before those who serve God, truths of inestimable value, which, brought into the practical life, show the difference between those who serve God and those who serve Him not.

The earth itself is not more richly interlaced with veins of golden ore than is the field of revelation with veins of precious truth. The Bible is the storehouse of the unsearchable riches of God. But those who have a knowledge of the truth do not understand it as fully as they might. They do not bring the love of Christ into the heart and life.

The student of the Word finds himself bending over a fountain of living water. The church needs to drink deeply of the spirituality of the Word. Their service to God needs to be very different from the tame, lifeless, emotionless religious experience that makes many believers but little different from those who believe not, very similar in spirit to the unconverted (MS 117, 1902).

3:15-21. Laodicean Message to Go to the World.—The Laodicean message has been sounding. Take this message in all its phases and sound it forth to the people wherever Providence opens the way. Justification by faith and the righteousness of Christ are the themes to be presented to a perishing world (Letter 24, 1892).

3:15-22 (Col. 4:12, 13). Labor Lost on the Church in Laodicea.—[Rev. 3:15-22 quoted.] This is the testimony borne concerning the church at Laodicea. This church had been faithfully instructed. In his letter to the Colossians, Paul wrote: "Epaphras, who is one of you, a servant of Christ, saluteth you, always labouring fervently for you in prayers, that ye may stand perfect and complete in all the will of God. For I bear him record, that he hath a great zeal for you, and them that are in Laodicea, and them in Hierapolis."

Much excellent labor was bestowed upon the Laodicean church. To them was given the exhortation, "Be ye therefore perfect, even as your Father which is in heaven is perfect." But the church did not follow up the work begun by God's messengers. They heard, but they failed to appropriate the truth to themselves, and to carry out the instruction given them. The result that followed is the result always sure to follow the rejection of the Lord's warnings and entreaties (MS 128, 1903).

3:17 (Rom. 11:20; 12:3, 16). Exhausting the Patience of God.—Christ sees that which man does not see. He sees the sins which, if not repented of, will exhaust the patience of a long-suffering God. Christ cannot take up the names of those who are satisfied in their own self-sufficiency. He cannot importune in behalf of a people who feel no need of His help, who claim to know and possess everything (RH July 23, 1889).

3:17-20. Shall We Open the Heart's Door?—We must have the buyers and the sellers cleared out of the soul temple, that Jesus may take up His abode within us. Now He stands at the door of the heart as a heavenly merchantman; He says, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock; if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me." "Open unto me; buy of me the heavenly wares; buy of me the gold tried in the fire." Buy faith and love, the precious, beautiful attributes of our Redeemer, which will enable us to find our way into the hearts of those who do not know Him, who are cold and alienated from Him through unbelief and sin. He invites us to buy the white raiment, which is His glorious righteousness; and the eyesalve, that we may discern spiritual things. Oh, shall we not open the heart's door to this heavenly visitor (BE Jan. 15, 1892)?

3:18 (Isa. 55:1; John 14:6). The Vendor of Priceless Treasures.—The great Vendor of spiritual riches is inviting your recognition. [Rev. 3:18 quoted.] . . . The Saviour comes with jewels of truth of the richest value in distinction from all counterfeits, all that is spurious. He comes to every house, to every door; He is knocking, presenting His priceless treasure, urging, "Buy of me" (Letter 66, 1894).

The Costly Wares of Heaven.—The wares of heaven are offered to our churches. Every individual needs to have a decided interest in the invitation of Christ. Brethren and sisters, are your thoughts after this order? "These sharp, decided words do not mean me; I am in a fairly good condition spiritually, though I may not have all the fervor and zeal that some have. I believe the truth. Those to whom this message belongs may take it. I think some need it." You who think and reason thus, be assured that you are the very ones to whom this message belongs. While the costly wares of heaven are open before you, draw nigh and buy that which you have lost—the gold of love and faith, and the white raiment which is the righteousness of Christ (Letter 30a, 1892).

Virtues Wanting Among Us.—The gold that Jesus would have us buy of Him is gold tried in the fire; it is the gold of faith and love, that has no defiling substance mingled with it. The white raiment is the righteousness of Christ, the wedding garment which Christ alone can give. The eyesalve is the true spiritual discernment that is so wanting among us, for spiritual things must be spiritually discerned (RH April 1, 1890).

(Isa. 64:6; Phil. 3:9.) Ample Provision for All.—The true Witness has said, "Buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear." What is the shame of this nakedness and poverty? It is the shame of clothing ourselves with self-righteousness, and of separating ourselves from God, when He has made ample provision for all to receive His blessing (HS 139).

(Ch. 7:14.) Encouraging Counsel for the Church.—The counsel of the true Witness is full of encouragement and comfort. The churches may yet obtain the gold of truth, faith, and love, and be rich in heavenly treasure. "Buy of me gold . . . that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear." The white raiment is the righteousness of Christ that may be wrought into the character. Purity of heart, purity of motive, will characterize every one who is washing his robe, and making it white in the blood of the Lamb (RH July 24, 1888).

(Isa. 61:10; Zech. 3:4, 5.) Woven in the Loom of Heaven.—There is nothing in us from which we can clothe the soul so that its nakedness shall not appear. We are to receive the robe of righteousness woven in the loom of heaven, even the spotless robe of Christ's righteousness (RH July 19, 1892).

(Matt. 6:22; James 1:23-25.) Correct Views for the Conscience.—The eye is the sensitive conscience, the inner light, of the mind. Upon its correct view of things the spiritual healthfulness of the whole soul and being depends. The "eyesalve," the Word of God, makes the conscience smart under its application; for it convicts of sin. But the smarting is necessary that the healing may follow, and the eye be single to the glory of God. The sinner, beholding himself in God's great moral looking glass, sees himself as God views him, and exercises repentance toward God and faith toward our Lord Jesus Christ. . . .

The Laodiceans . . . were not entirely blind, else the eyesalve would have done nothing to restore their sight, and enable them to discern the true attributes of Christ. Says Christ, By renouncing your own self-sufficiency, giving up all things, however dear to you, you may buy the gold, the raiment, and the eyesalve that you may see (RH Nov. 23, 1897).

3:18-20. A Merchantman Laden With Riches.—The great Redeemer represents Himself as a heavenly merchantman, laden with riches, calling from house to house, presenting His priceless goods [Rev. 3:18-20 quoted] (RH July 23, 1889).

(Job 22:21-25.) Knocking at the Heart's Door.—The Lord knocks at the door of your heart, desiring to enter, that He may impart spiritual riches to your soul. He would anoint the blind eyes, that they may discover the holy character of God in His law, and understand the love of Christ, which is indeed gold tried in the fire (RH Feb. 25, 1890).

(Isa. 61:12; Matt. 13:45, 46.) Spiritual Riches for the Soul.—Jesus is going from door to door, standing in front of every soul temple, proclaiming, "I stand at the door, and knock." As a heavenly merchantman, He opens His treasures and cries, "Buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear." The gold that He offers is without alloy, more precious than that of Ophir; for it is faith and love. The white raiment He invites the soul to wear is His own robe of righteousness; and the oil for anointing is the oil of His grace, which will give spiritual eyesight to the soul in blindness and darkness, that he may distinguish between the workings of the Spirit of God and the spirit of the enemy. "Open your doors," says the great Merchantman, the possessor of spiritual riches, "and transact your business with Me. It is I, your Redeemer, who counsels you to buy of Me" (RH Aug. 7, 1894).

3:18-21 (Phil. 3:12-15). The Conflict Is for Us.—The true Witness presents encouragements to all who are seeking to walk in the path of humble obedience, through faith in His name. He declares, "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne."

These are the words of our Substitute and Surety. He who is the divine Head of the church, the mightiest of conquerors, would point His followers to His life. His toils, His self-denials, His struggles and sufferings, through contempt, through rejection, ridicule, scorn, insult, mockery, falsehood, up the path of Calvary to the scene of the crucifixion, that they might be encouraged to press on toward the mark for the prize and reward of the overcomer. Victory is assured through faith and obedience.

Let us make an application of the words of Christ to our own individual cases. Are we poor, and blind, and wretched, and miserable? Then let us seek the gold and white raiment that He offers. The work of overcoming is not restricted to the age of the martyrs. The conflict is for us, in these days of subtle temptation to worldliness, to self-security, to indulgence of pride, covetousness, false doctrines, and immorality of life (RH July 24, 1888).

(Song of Solomon 6:10; Isa. 1:16-19.) A Hope of Reform.—The church must and will shine forth "fair as the moon, clear as the sun, and terrible as an army with banners." God's servants must, by laboring together with Christ, roll away the curse that has made the church so lukewarm. [Rev. 3:15-19 quoted.] The chastening reveals a hope of reform [vs. 20, 21 quoted] (Letter 130, 1902).

Laodicean Call Brings Fruitage.—I saw that this call to the Laodicean church will affect souls. A becoming zeal is called for by God on our part. We must repent, throw away our whole feelings, feel our destitution, buy gold that we may be rich, eyesalve that we may see, white raiment that we may be clothed (Letter 2, 1851).

(Matt. 25:1-12.) Hope for the Laodiceans.—[Rev. 3:15-17 quoted.] Yet the case of those who are rebuked is not a hopeless one; it is not beyond the power of the great Mediator. He says, "I counsel thee to buy of me gold tried in the fire, that thou mayest be rich; and white raiment, that thou mayest be clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see." Though the professed followers of Christ are in a deplorable condition, they are not yet in so desperate a strait as were the foolish virgins whose lamps were going out, and there was no time in which to replenish their vessels with oil. When the bride-

- clothed, and that the shame of thy nakedness do not appear; and anoint thine eyes with eyesalve, that thou mayest see.
- 19 As many as I love, I rebuke and chasten: be zealous therefore, and repent.
- 20 Behold, I stand at the door, and knock: if any man hear my voice, and open the door, I will come in to him, and will sup with him, and he with me.
- 21 To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne.
- 22 He that hath an ear, let him hear what the Spirit saith unto the churches.

The Throne of God and the Book With Seven Seals (4:1-8:1)

The Heavenly Throne

- 4 After this I looked, and, behold, a door was opened in heaven: and the first voice which I heard was as it were of a trumpet talking with me; which said, Come up hither, and I will shew thee things which must be hereafter.
- 2 And immediately I was in the spirit; and, behold, a throne was set in heaven, and one sat on the throne.
- 3 And he that sat was to look upon like a jasper and a sardine stone: and there was a rainbow round about the throne, in sight like unto an emerald.
- 4 And round about the throne were four and twenty seats: and upon the seats I saw four and twenty elders sitting, clothed in white raiment; and they had on their heads crowns of gold.
- 5 And out of the throne proceeded lightnings and thunders and voices: and there were seven lamps of fire burning before the throne, which are the seven Spirits of God.
- 6 And before the throne there was a sea of glass like unto crystal: and in the midst of the throne, and round about the throne, were four beasts full of eyes before and behind.
- 7 And the first beast was like a lion, and the second beast like a calf, and the third beast had a face as a man, and the fourth beast was like a flying eagle.

- 8 And the four beasts had each of them six wings about him; and they were full of eyes within: and they rest not day and night, saying, Holy, holy, holy, Lord God Almighty, which was, and is, and is to come.
- 9 And when those beasts give glory and honour and thanks to him that sat on the throne, who liveth for ever and ever,
- 10 The four and twenty elders fall down before him that sat on the throne, and worship him that liveth for ever and ever, and cast their crowns before the throne, saying,
- 11 Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created.

The Triumph of the Lamb

- 5 And I saw in the right hand of him that sat on the throne a book written within and on the backside, sealed with seven seals.
- 2 And I saw a strong angel proclaiming with a loud voice, Who is worthy to open the book, and to loose the seals thereof?
- 3 And no man in heaven, nor in earth, neither under the earth, was able to open the book, neither to look thereon.
- 4 And I wept much, because no man was found worthy to open and to read the book, neither to look thereon.
- 5 And one of the elders saith unto me, Weep not: behold, the Lion of the tribe of Juda, the Root of David, hath prevailed to open the book, and to loose the seven seals thereof.
- 6 And I beheld, and, lo, in the midst of the throne and of the four beasts, and in the midst of the elders, stood a Lamb as it had been slain, having seven horns and seven eyes, which are the seven Spirits of God sent forth into all the earth.
- 7 And he came and took the book out of the right hand of him that sat upon the throne.
- 8 And when he had taken the book, the four beasts and four and twenty elders fell down before the Lamb, having every one of them harps, and golden vials full of 'odours, which are the prayers of saints.

groom came, those that were ready went in with him to the wedding, but when the foolish virgins came, the door was shut, and they were too late to obtain an entrance.

But the counsel of the true Witness does not represent those who are lukewarm as in a hopeless case. There is yet a chance to remedy their state, and the Laodicean message is full of encouragement; for the backslidden church may yet buy the gold of faith and love, may yet have the white robe of the righteousness of Christ, that the shame of their nakedness need not appear. Purity of heart, purity of motive, may yet characterize those who are halfhearted and who are striving to serve God and man. They may yet wash their robes of character and make them white in the blood of the Lamb (RI Aug. 28, 1894).

There is hope for our churches if they will heed the message given to the Laodiceans (MS 139, 1903).

3:20 (Ch. 22:17; Prov. 1:23-33). Will You Squander God's Talents? — Says the true Witness, "Behold, I stand at the door and knock." Every warning, reproof, and entreaty in the Word of God, or through His delegated messengers, is a knock at the door of the heart; it is the voice of Jesus, asking for entrance. With every knock unheeded, your determination to open becomes weaker and weaker. If the voice of Jesus is not heeded at once, it becomes confused in the mind with a multitude of other voices, the world's care and business engross the attention, and conviction dies away. The heart becomes less impressible, and lapses into a perilous unconsciousness of the shortness of time, and of the great eternity beyond.

The heavenly Guest is standing at your door, while you are piling up obstructions to bar His entrance. Jesus is knocking through the prosperity He gives you. He loads you with blessings to test your fidelity, that they may flow out from you to others. Will you permit your selfishness to triumph? Will you squander God's talents, and lose your soul through idolatrous love of the blessings He has given Armageddon.

Angels are belting the world, refusing Satan his claims to supremacy, made because of the vast multitude of his adherents. We hear not the voices, we see not with the natural sight the work of these angels, but their hands are linked about the world, and with sleepless vigilance they are keeping the armies of Satan at bay till the sealing of God's people shall be accomplished.

The ministers of Jehovah, angels have skill and power and great strength, being commissioned to go forth from heaven to earth to minister to His people. They are given the work of keeping back the raging power of him who has come down like a roaring lion, seeking whom he may devour. The Lord is a refuge for all who put their trust in Him. He bids them hide in Him for a little moment, until the indignation shall be overpast. He is soon to come out of His place to punish the world for its iniquity. Then the earth shall disclose her blood and shall no more cover her slain (Letter 79, 1900).

Heaven a Place of Busy Activity.—Oh, that all could behold our precious Saviour as He is, a Saviour. Let His hand draw aside the veil which conceals His glory from our eyes. It shows Him in His high and holy place. What do we see? Our Saviour, not in a position of silence and inactivity. He is surrounded with heavenly intelligences, cherubim, and seraphim, ten thousand times ten thousand of angels.

All these heavenly beings have one object above all others, in which they are intensely interested—His church in a world of corruption. All these armies are in the service of the Prince of heaven, exalting the Lamb of God, who taketh away the sins of the world. They are working for Christ under His commission, to save to the uttermost all who look to Him and believe in Him. These heavenly intelligences are speeding on their mission, doing for Christ that which Herod and Pilate did against Him. They confederate together to uphold the honor and glory of God. They are united in a holy alliance, in a grand and sublime unity of purpose, to show forth the power and compassion and love and glory of the crucified and risen Saviour.

In their service, these armies of heaven illustrate what the church of God should be. Christ is working in their behalf in the heavenly courts, sending out His messengers to all parts of the globe, to the assistance of every suffering one who looks to Him for relief, for spiritual life and knowledge.

The church of Christ on earth is amid the moral darkness of a disloyal world, which is trampling upon the law of Jehovah. But their Redeemer, who has purchased their ransom with the price of His own precious blood, has made every provision that His church shall be a transformed body, illumined with the Light of the world, possessing the glory of Emmanuel. The bright beams of the Sun of Righteousness, shining through His church, will gather into His fold every lost, straying sheep, who will come unto Him and find refuge in Him. They will find peace and light and joy in Him who is peace and righteousness for ever (Letter 89c, 1897).

6:9 (ch. 18:1-5; see EGW on Rom. 12:19). Opening of the Fifth Seal.—When the fifth seal was opened, John the Revelator in vision saw beneath the altar the company that were slain for the Word of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ. After this came the scenes described in the eighteenth of Revelation, when those who are faithful and true are called out from Babylon [Rev. 18: 15 quoted] (MS 39, 1906).

Probationary Time Running Out.—Already kingdom is rising against kingdom. There is not now a determined engagement. As yet the four winds are held until the servants of God shall be sealed in their foreheads. Then the powers of earth will marshal their forces for the last great battle. How carefully we should improve the little remaining period of our probation (RH Nov. 27, 1900!)

Just before we entered it [the time of trouble], we all received the seal of the living God. Then I saw the four angels cease to hold the four winds. And I saw famine, pestilence and sword, nation rose against nation, and the whole world was in confusion (Day-Star, March 14, 1846).

Everything in the world is in an unsettled state. The nations are angry, and great preparations for war are being made. Nations are plotting against nation, and kingdom against kingdom. The great day of God is hastening greatly. But although the nations are mustering their forces for war and bloodshed, the command to the angels is still in force, that they hold the four winds until the servants of God are sealed in their foreheads (RH Jan. 28, 1909).

7:2, 3 (see EGW on chs. 13:16, 17; 14:9-12). Angels Read the Mark.—What is the seal of the living God, which is placed in the foreheads of His people? It is a mark which angels, but not human eyes, can read; for the destroying angel must see this mark of redemption. The intelligent mind has seen the sign of the cross of Calvary in the Lord's adopted sons and daughters. The sin of the transgression of the law of God is taken away. They have on the wedding garment, and are obedient and faithful to all God's commands (Letter 126, 1898).

(Ex. 12:7, 12, 13; Eze. 9:4; 20:12, 20.) The Signature of God's Appointment.—The Israelites placed over their doors a signature of blood, to show that they were God's property. So the children of God in this age will bear the signature God has appointed. They will place themselves in harmony with God's holy law. A mark is placed upon every one of God's people just as verily as a mark was placed over the doors of the Hebrew dwellings, to preserve the people from the general ruin. God declares, "I gave them my Sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, that they might know that I am the Lord that sanctify them" (RH Feb. 6, 1900).

(Ex. 31:12-17.) God's Special Possession.—Every soul in our world is the Lord's property, by creation and by redemption. Each individual soul is on trial for his life. Has he given to God that which belongs to Him? Has he surrendered to God all that is His as His purchased possession? All who cherish the Lord as their portion in this life will be under His control, and will receive the sign, the mark of God, which shows them to be God's special possession. Christ's righteousness will go before them, and the glory of the Lord will be their reward. The Lord protects every human being who bears His sign. [Ex. 31:12-17 quoted.]

This recognition of God is of the highest value to every human being. All who love and serve Him are very precious in His sight. He would have them stand where they are worthy representatives of the truth as it is in Jesus (Letter 77, 1899).

Natural Traits Must Be Transformed.—How few bear in mind that the tempter was once a covering cherub, a being whom God created for His own name's glory. Satan fell from his high position through self-exaltation; he misused the high capabilities with which God had so richly endowed him. He fell for the same reason that thousands are falling today, because of an ambition to be first, an unwillingness to be under restraint. The Lord would teach man the lesson that, though united in church capacity, he is not saved until the seal of God is placed upon him. . . .

The Lord has a work for us all to do. And if the truth is not rooted in the heart, if the natural traits of character are not transformed by the Holy Spirit, we can never be co-laborers with Jesus Christ. Self will constantly appear, and the character of Christ will not be manifested in our lives (Letter 80, 1898).

Without Spot or Wrinkle.—Missionary agencies are greatly needed in every branch of God's work. Our institutions need converted, devoted men, who will make the Lord their dependence. God will reveal through such workers the power of His grace. His servants are to be distinguished from the world by the seal of the living God; their words and their works are to reveal that they are laborers together with God.

God can use the human agent just to the extent that he will be worked by the Holy Spirit. To men who accept their brethren, that should be killed as they were, should be fulfilled.

The Sixth Seal: The Day of God's wrath

- 12 And I beheld when he had opened the sixth seal, and, lo, there was a great earthquake; and the sun became black as sackcloth of hair, and the moon became as blood;
- 13 And the stars of heaven fell unto the earth, even as a fig tree casteth her untimely figs, when she is shaken of a mighty wind.
- 14 And the heaven departed as a scroll when it is rolled together; and every mountain and island were moved out of their places.
- 15 And the kings of the earth, and the great men, and the rich men, and the chief captains, and the mighty men, and every bondman, and every free man, hid themselves in the dens and in the rocks of the mountains;
- 16 And said to the mountains and rocks, Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb:
- 17 For the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?

The Sealing of the 144,000

- 7 And after these things I saw four angels standing on the four corners of the earth, holding the four winds of the earth, that the wind should not blow on the earth, nor on the sea, nor on any tree.
- 2 And I saw another angel ascending from the east, having the seal of the living God; and he cried with a loud voice to the four angels, to whom it was given to hurt the earth and the sea,
- 3 Saying, Hurt not the earth, neither the sea, nor the trees, till we have sealed the servants of our God in their foreheads.
- 4 And I heard the number of them which were sealed: and there were sealed an hundred and forty and four thousand of all the tribes of the children of Israel.
- 5 Of the tribe of Juda were sealed twelve thousand. Of the tribe of Reuben were

The Great Multitude

- 9 After this I beheld, and, lo, a great multitude, which no man could number, of all nations, and kindreds, and people, and tongues, stood before the throne, and before the Lamb, clothed with white robes, and palms in their hands;
- 10 And cried with a loud voice, saying, Salvation to our God which sitteth upon the throne, and unto the Lamb.
- 11 And all the angels stood round about the throne, and about the elders and the four beasts, and fell before the throne on their faces, and worshipped God,
- 12 Saying, Amen: Blessing, and glory, and wisdom, and thanksgiving, and honour, and power, and might, be unto our God for ever and ever. Amen.
- 13 And one of the elders answered, saying unto me, What are these which are arrayed in white robes? and whence came they?
- 14 And I said unto him, Sir, thou knowest. And he said to me, These are they which came out of great tribulation, and have washed their robes, and made them white in the blood of the Lamb.
- 15 Therefore are they before the throne of God, and serve him day and night in his temple; and he that sitteth on the throne shall dwell among them.
- 16 They shall hunger no more, neither thirst any more; neither shall the sun light on them, nor any heat.
- 17 For the Lamb which is in the midst of the throne shall feed them, and shall lead positions of responsibility as presidents, ministers, physicians, or workers in any line, I am bidden to say: God will test every man who enters His service. He does not ask, Do they possess learning and eloquence? Have they ability to command and control and manage? He asks, Will they represent My character? Will they walk in humility, that I may teach them My way? The soul temple must not be defiled by any loose or unclean practice. Those whom I will acknowledge in the courts of heaven must be without spot and wrinkle.

The Lord will use humble men to do a great and good work. Through them He will represent to the world the interfaceable characteristics of the divine nature (Letter 270, 1907).

(Chs. 14:1-3; 22:4; John 1:12.) An Honor to Bear God's Sign.—Those who come out from the world, to stand distinct from worldlings in words and works, those who realize that it is an honor to bear God's sign, will receive power to become His sons. The Lord will have men who can be depended on. No one will enter the courts above who does not bear the sign of God. Those who in this sin-cursed earth bear this sign in holy boldness, looking upon it as an honor, will be recognized and honored by Christ in the courts above (Letter 125, 1903).

(Jer. 8:20; 1 John 3:3.) Will the Angel Pass Us By?—“And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure.” In a little while every one who is a child of God will have His seal placed upon him. O that it may be placed upon our foreheads! Who can endure the thought of being passed by when the angel goes forth to seal the servants of God in their foreheads (RH May 28, 1889)?

Passport to the Holy City.—Only those who receive the seal of the living God will have the passport through the gates of the Holy City. But there are many who take upon themselves responsibilities in connection with the them unto living fountains of waters: and God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes.

The Seventh Seal: The Controversy Ended

- 8 And when he had opened the seventh seal, there was silence in heaven about the space of half an hour.

The Judgments of God: The Seven Trumpets (8:2-11:19)

Introduction

- 2 And I saw the seven angels which stood before God; and to them were given seven trumpets.
- 3 And another angel came and stood at the altar, having a golden censer; and there was given unto him much incense, that he should offer it with the prayers of all saints upon the golden altar which was before the throne.
- 4 And the smoke of the incense, which came with the prayers of the saints, ascended up before God out of the angel's hand.
- 5 And the angel took the censer, and filled it with fire of the altar, and cast it into the earth: and there were voices, and thunders, and lightnings, and an earthquake.
- 6 And the seven angels which had the seven trumpets prepared themselves to sound.

The First Trumpet: Fire, Hail, Blood

- 7 The first angel sounded, and there followed hail and fire mingled with blood, and they were cast upon the earth: and the third part of trees was burnt up, and all green grass was burnt up.

The Second Trumpet: The Burning Mountain

- 8 And the second angel sounded, and as it were a great mountain burning with fire was cast into the sea: and the third part of the sea became blood;
- 9 And the third part of the creatures which were in the sea, and had life, died; and the third part of the ships were destroyed.

The Third Trumpet: The Falling Star

- 10 And the third angel sounded, and there fell a great star from heaven, burning as it were a lamp, and it fell upon the third part of the rivers, and upon the fountains of waters;
- 11 And the name of the star is called Wormwood: and the third part of the waters became wormwood; and many men died of the waters, because they were made bitter.

The Fourth Trumpet: Sun, Moon, Stars Smitten

- 12 And the fourth angel sounded, and the third part of the sun was smitten, and the third part of the moon, and the third part of the stars; so as the third part of them was darkened, and the day shone not for a third part of it, and the night likewise.
- 13 And I beheld, and heard an angel flying through the midst of heaven, saying with a loud voice, Woe, woe, woe, to the inhabitants of the earth by reason of the other voices of the trumpet of the three angels, which are yet to sound!

The Fifth Trumpet: Locusts

- 9 And the fifth angel sounded, and I saw a star fall from heaven unto the earth: and to him was given the key of the bottomless pit.
- 2 And he opened the bottomless pit; and there arose a smoke out of the pit, as the smoke of a great furnace; and the sun and the air were darkened by reason of the smoke of the pit.
- 3 And there came out of the smoke locusts upon the earth: and unto them was given power, as the scorpions of the earth have power.
- 4 And it was commanded them that they should not hurt the grass of the earth, neither any green thing, neither any tree; but only those men which have not the seal of God in their foreheads.
- 5 And to them it was given that they should not kill them, but that they should be tormented five months: and their torment was as the torment of a scorpion, when he striketh a man.

work of God who are not wholehearted believers, and while they remain thus cannot receive the seal of the living God. They trust in their own righteousness, which the Lord accounts as foolishness (Letter 164, 1909).

The Mark of Distinction.—Those who would have the seal of God in their foreheads must keep the Sabbath of the fourth commandment. This is what distinguishes them from the disloyal, who have accepted a man-made institution in the place of the true Sabbath. The observance of God's rest day is the mark of distinction between him that serveth God and him that serveth Him not (MS 27, 1899).

Like Christ in Character.—The seal of the living God will be placed upon those only who bear a likeness to Christ in character (RH May 21, 1895).

Image of Christ on the Soul.—As wax takes the impression of the seal, so the soul is to take the impression of the Spirit of God and retain the image of Christ (ST July 18, 1911).

The Seal and the Commandments.—Many will not receive the seal of God because they do not keep His commandments or bear the fruits of righteousness (Letter 76, 1900).

Bitter Disappointment in the Day of God.—The great mass of professing Christians will meet with bitter disappointment in the day of God. They have not upon their foreheads the seal of the living God. Lukewarm and half-hearted, they dishonor God far more than the avowed unbeliever. They grope in darkness, when they might be walking in the noonday light of the Word, under the guidance of One who never errs (Letter 121, 1903).

7:4-17 (ch. 14:1-4; 2 Cor. 3:18). Strive to Be Among the 144,000.—(Rev. 7:9-17 quoted.) Those whom the Lamb shall lead by the fountains of living waters, and from whose eyes He shall wipe away all tears, will be those now receiving the knowledge and understanding revealed in the Bible, the Word of God. . . .

We are to copy no human being. There is no human being wise enough to be our criterion. We are to look to the man Christ Jesus, who is complete in the perfection of righteousness and holiness. He is the author and finisher of our faith. He is the pattern man. His experience is the measure of the experience that we are to gain. His character is our model. Let us, then, take our minds off the perplexities and the difficulties of this life, and fix them on Him, that by beholding we may be changed into His likeness. We may behold Christ to good purpose. We may safely look to Him: for He is all-wise. As we look to Him and think of Him, He will be formed within, the hope of glory.

Let us strive with all the power that God has given us to be among the hundred and forty-four thousand (RH March 9, 1905).

7:9 (chs. 3:5; 19:7-9; John 12:12, 13). The Palms and the Robes.—The palms signify that they have gained the victory, and the white robes that they have been clothed with the righteousness of Christ. Thank God that a fountain has been opened to wash our robes of character, and make them as white as snow (Und. MS 23).

7:14. See EGW on chs. 3:18; 19:7-9; Matt. 22:11, 12.

7:17. See EGW on ch. 22:1, 2; Rom. 11:33.

8:3, 4 (Isa. 1:18; Heb. 9:13, 14; see EGW on Rom. 8:26, 34; Heb. 7:25). Prayers Made Fragrant by Christ's Merit.—As the high priest sprinkled the warm blood upon the mercy seat while the fragrant cloud of incense ascended before God, so, while we confess our sins and plead the efficacy of Christ's atoning blood, our prayers are to ascend to heaven, fragrant with the merits of our Saviour's character. Notwithstanding our unworthiness, we are to remember that there is One who can take away sin, and who is willing and anxious to save the sinner. With His own blood He paid the penalty for all wrongdoers. Every sin acknowledged before God with a contrite heart, He will remove (Isa. 1:18; Heb. 9:13, 14 quoted) (RH Sept. 29, 1896).

(Ch. 5:8; Ps. 141:2; John 1:29; Eph. 5:2.) Incense Represents Blood of Atonement.—[Rev. 8:3, 4 quoted.] Let the families, the individual Christians, and the churches bear in mind that they are closely allied to heaven. The Lord has a special interest in His church militant here below. The angels who offer the smoke of the fragrant incense are for the praying saints. Then let the evening prayers in every family rise steadily to heaven in the cool sunset hour, speaking before God in our behalf of the merits of the blood of a crucified and risen Saviour.

That blood alone is efficacious. It alone can make propitiation for our sins. It is the blood of the only-begotten Son of God that is of value for us that we may draw nigh unto God. His blood alone that taketh away the sin of the world. Morning and evening the heavenly universe behold every household that prays, and the angel with the incense, representing the blood of the atonement, finds access to God (MS 15, 1897).

10:1-11 (ch. 14:6-12; Dan. 12:4-13). No Less a Person Than Christ.—The mighty angel who instructed John was no less a personage than Jesus Christ. Setting His right foot on the sea, and His left upon the dry land, shows the part which He is acting in the closing scenes of the great controversy with Satan. This position denotes His supreme power and authority over the whole earth. The controversy had waxed stronger and more determined from age to age, and will continue to do so, to the concluding scenes when the masterly working of the powers of darkness shall reach their height. Satan, united with evil men, will deceive the whole world and the churches who receive not the love of the truth. But the mighty angel demands attention. He cries with a loud voice. He is to show the power and authority of His voice to those who have united with Satan to oppose the truth.

After these seven thunders uttered their voices, the injunction comes to John as to Daniel in regard to the little book: "Seal up those things which the seven thunders uttered." These relate to future events which will be disclosed in their order. Daniel shall stand in his lot at the end of the days. John sees the little book unsealed. Then Daniel's prophecies have their proper place in the first, second, and third angels' messages to be given to the world. The unsealing of the little book was the message in relation to time.

The books of Daniel and the Revelation are one. One is a prophecy, the other a revelation: one a book sealed, the other a book opened. John heard the mysteries which the thunders uttered, but he was commanded not to write them.

The special light given to John which was expressed in the seven thunders was a delineation of events which would transpire under the first and second angels' messages. It was not best for the people to know these things, for their faith must necessarily be tested. In the order of God most wonderful and advanced truths would be proclaimed. The first and second angels' messages were to be proclaimed, but no further light was to be revealed before these messages had done their specific work. This is represented by the angel standing with one foot on the sea, proclaiming with a most solemn oath that time should be no longer.

This time, which the angel declares with a solemn oath, is not the end of this world's history, neither of probationary time, but of prophetic time, which should precede the advent of our Lord. That is, the people will not have another message upon definite time. After this period of time, reaching from 1842 to 1844, there can be no definite tracing of the prophetic time. The longest reckoning reaches to the autumn of 1844.

The angel's position, with one foot on the sea, the other on the land, signifies the wide extent of the proclamation of the message. It will cross the broad waters and be proclaimed in other countries, even to all the world. The comprehension of truth, the glad reception of the message, is represented in the eating of the little book. The truth in regard to the time of the advent of our Lord was a precious message to our souls (MS 59, 1900).

10:7 (ch. 22:10-12). The Last Period of Probation.—The gospel dispensation is the last period of probation that will ever be granted to men. Those who live under this dispensation of test and trial and yet are not led to repent and obey will perish with the disloyal. There is no second trial. The gospel that is to be preached to all nations—kindreds, tongues, and peoples presents the truth in clear lines, showing that obedience is the condition of gaining eternal life. Christ imparts His righteousness to those who consent to let Him take away their sins. We are indebted to Christ for the grace which makes us complete in Him (MS 40, 1900).

11:1 (ch. 20:12, 13; 1 Peter 4:17; 2 Peter 1:10, 11). Measuring the Church of God.—The grand judgment is taking place, and has been going on for some time. Now the Lord says, Measure the temple and the worshippers thereof. Remember when you are walking the streets about your business, God is measuring you; when you are attending your household duties, when you engage in conversation, God is measuring you. Remember that your words and actions are being daguerretyped [photographed] in the books of heaven, as the face is reproduced by the artist on the polished plate. . . .

Here is the work going on, measuring the temple and its worshippers to see who will stand in the last day. Those who stand fast shall have an abundant entrance into the kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ. When we are doing our work remember there is One that is watching the spirit in which we are doing it. Shall we not bring the Saviour into our everyday lives, into our secular work and domestic duties? Then in the name of God we want to leave behind everything that is not necessary, all gossiping or unprofitable visiting, and present ourselves as servants of the living God (MS 1, 1888).

11:19 (see EGW on Ex. 31:18; Isa. 6:1-7; 58:12-14). Tables of Stone a Convincing Testimony.—When God's temple in heaven is opened, what a triumphant time that will be for all who have been faithful and true! In the temple will be seen the ark of the testament in which were placed the two tables of stone, on which are written God's

- 6 And in those days shall men seek death, and shall not find it; and shall desire to die, and death shall flee from them.
- 7 And the shapes of the locusts were like unto horses prepared unto battle; and on their heads were as it were crowns like gold, and their faces were as the faces of men.

The Sixth Trumpet: The Angels in the Euphrates

- 13 And the sixth angel sounded, and I heard a voice from the four horns of the golden altar which is before God.
- 14 Saying to the sixth angel which had the trumpet, Loose the four angels which are bound in the great river Euphrates.
- 15 And the four angels were loosed, which were prepared for an hour, and a day, and a month, and a year, for to slay the third part of men.
- 16 And the number of the army of the horsemen were two hundred thousand thousand: and I heard the number of them.
- 17 And thus I saw the horses in the vision, and them that sat on them, having breastplates of fire, and of jacinth, and brimstone: and the heads of the horses were as the heads of lions; and out of their mouths issued fire and smoke and brimstone.
- 18 By these three was the third part of men killed, by the fire, and by the smoke, and by the brimstone, which issued out of their mouths.
- 19 For their power is in their mouth, and in

The Angel With the Little Book

- 10 And I saw another mighty angel come down from heaven, clothed with a cloud: and a rainbow was upon his head, and his face was as it were the sun, and his feet as pillars of fire:
- 2 And he had in his hand a little book open: and he set his right foot upon the sea, and his left foot on the earth,
- 3 And cried with a loud voice, as when a lion roareth: and when he had cried, seven thunders uttered their voices.
- 4 And when the seven thunders had uttered their voices, I was about to write: and I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, Seal up those things which the seven thunders uttered, and write them not.
- 5 And the angel which I saw stand upon the sea and upon the earth lifted up his hand to heaven,
- 6 And sware by him that liveth for ever and ever, who created heaven, and the things that therein are, and the earth, and the things that therein are, and the sea, and the things which are therein, that there should be time no longer:
- 7 But in the days of the voice of the seventh angel, when he shall begin to sound, the mystery of God should be finished, as he hath declared to his servants the prophets.
- 8 And the voice which I heard from heaven spake unto me again, and said, Go and take the little book which is open in the hand of the angel which standeth upon the sea and upon the earth.
- 9 And I went unto the angel, and said unto law. These tables of stone will be brought forth from their hiding place, and on them will be seen the Ten Commandments engraved by the finger of God. These tables of stone now lying in the ark of the testament will be a convincing testimony to the truth and binding claims of God's law (Letter 17, 1902).

Ark in Heaven Contains Commandments.—Sacrilegious minds and hearts have thought they were mighty enough to change the times and laws of Jehovah; but, safe in the archives of heaven, in the ark of God, are the original commandments, written upon the two tables of stone. No potentate of earth has power to draw forth those tables from their sacred hiding place beneath the mercy seat (ST Feb. 28, 1878).

12:3-6, 13-17 (Ch. 13:1, 2, 11). God's People in the Minority.—Under the symbols of a great red dragon, a leopardlike beast, and a beast with lamblike horns, the earthly governments which would especially engage in trampling upon God's law and persecuting His people, were presented to John. The war is carried on till the close of time. The people of God, symbolized by a holy woman and her children, were represented as greatly in the minority. In the last days only a remnant still existed. Of these John speaks as they "which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ" (ST Nov. 1, 1899).

12:7. War in Heaven.—Opposition to the law of God had its beginning in the courts of heaven, with Lucifer, the covering cherub. Satan determined to be first in the councils of heaven, and equal with God. He began his work of rebellion with the angels under his command, seeking to diffuse among them the spirit of discontent. And he worked in so deceptive a way that many of the angels were won to his allegiance before his purposes were fully known. Even the loyal angels could not fully discern his character, nor see to what his work was leading. When him, Give me the little book. And he said unto me, Take it, and eat it up; and it shall make thy belly bitter, but it shall be in thy mouth sweet as honey.

- 10 And I took the little book out of the angel's hand, and ate it up; and it was in my mouth sweet as honey: and as soon as I had eaten it, my belly was bitter.
- 11 And he said unto me, Thou must prophesy again before many peoples, and nations, and tongues, and kings.

Measuring the Temple

- 11 And there was given me a reed like unto a rod: and the angel stood, saying, Rise, and measure the temple of God, and the altar, and them that worship therein.

- 2 But the court which is without the temple leave out, and measure it not; for it is given unto the Gentiles: and the holy city shall they tread under foot forty and two months.

The Two Witnesses

- 3 And I will give power unto my two witnesses, and they shall prophesy a thousand two hundred and threescore days, clothed in sackcloth.

- 4 These are the two olive trees, and the two candlesticks standing before the God of the earth.

- 5 And if any man will hurt them, fire proceedeth out of their mouth, and devoureth their enemies: and if any man will hurt them, he must in this manner be killed.

- 6 These have power to shut heaven, that it rain not in the days of their prophecy: and have power over waters to turn them to blood, and to smite the earth with all plagues, as often as they will.

- 7 And when they shall have finished their testimony, the beast that ascendeth out of the bottomless pit shall make war against them, and shall overcome them, and kill them.

- 8 And their dead bodies shall lie in the street of the great city, which spiritually is called Sodom and Egypt, where also our Lord was crucified.

- 9 And they of the people and kindreds and

- 15 And the seventh angel sounded; and there were great voices in heaven, saying, The kingdoms of this world are become the kingdoms of our Lord, and of his Christ; and he shall reign for ever and ever.

- 16 And the four and twenty elders, which sat before God on their seats, fell upon their faces, and worshipped God.

- 18 And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldst give reward unto thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear thy name, small and great; and shouldst destroy them which destroy the earth.

- 19 And the temple of God was opened in heaven, and there was seen in his temple the ark of his testament: and there were Satan had succeeded in winning many angels to his side, he took his cause to God, representing that it was the desire of the angels that he occupy the position that Christ held.

The evil continued to work until the spirit of disaffection ripened into active revolt. Then there was war in heaven, and Satan, with all who sympathized with him, was cast out. Satan had warred for the mastery in heaven, and had lost the battle. God could no longer trust him with honor and supremacy, and these, with the part he had taken in the government of heaven, were taken from him.

Since that time Satan and his army of confederates have been the avowed enemies of God in our world, continually warring against the cause of truth and righteousness. Satan has continued to present to men, as he presented to the angels, his false representations of Christ and of God, and he has won the world to his side. Even the professedly Christian churches have taken sides with the great apostate (RH Jan. 28, 1909).

(See EGW on 2 Cor. 10:5.) The Influence of Mind on Mind.—In so deceptive a way did he [Lucifer] work that the sentiments that he inculcated could not be dealt with until they had developed in the minds of those who received them.

The influence of mind on mind, so strong a power for good when sanctified, is equally strong for evil in the hands of those opposed to God. This power Satan used in his work of instilling evil into the minds of the angels, and he made it appear that he was seeking the good of the universe. As the anointed cherub, Lucifer had been highly exalted; he was greatly loved by the heavenly beings, and his influence over them was strong. Many of them listened to his suggestions and believed his words. "And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels, and prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in

THE FINAL CONFLICT OF THE GREAT CONTROVERSY Satan Makes War upon the Remnant People (12:1-13:14)

Background of the Conflict

- 12 And there appeared a great ¹wonder in heaven; a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars:
- 2 And she being with child cried, travailing in birth, and pained to be delivered.
- 3 And there appeared another ²wonder in heaven; and behold a great red dragon, having seven heads and ten horns, and seven crowns upon his heads.
- 4 And his tail drew the third part of the stars of heaven, and did cast them to the earth: and the dragon stood before the woman which was ready to be delivered, for to devour her child as soon as it was born.
- 5 And she brought forth a man child, who was to rule all nations with a rod of iron: and her child was caught up unto God, and to his throne.
- 6 And the woman fled into the wilderness, where she hath a place prepared of God, that they should feed her there a thousand two hundred and threescore days.
- 7 And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels,
- 8 And prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven.
- 9 And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him.
- 10 And I heard a loud voice saying in heaven, Now is come salvation, and strength, and the kingdom of our God, and the power of his Christ: for the accuser of our brethren is cast down, which accused them before our God day and night.
- 11 And they overcame him by the blood of the Lamb, and by the word of their testimony; and they loved not their lives unto the death.

- 12 Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea! for the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time.
- 13 And when the dragon saw that he was cast unto the earth, he persecuted the woman which brought forth the man child.
- 14 And to the woman were given two wings of a great eagle, that she might fly into the wilderness, into her place, where she is nourished for a time, and times, and half a time, from the face of the serpent.
- 15 And the serpent cast out of his mouth water as a flood after the woman, that he might cause her to be carried away of the flood.
- 16 And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood which the dragon cast out of his mouth.

Satan's Declaration of War

- 17 And the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

The Role of the Leopard Beast

- 13 And I stood upon the sand of the sea, and saw a beast rise up out of the sea, having seven heads and ten horns, and upon his horns ten crowns, and upon his heads the name of blasphemy.
- 2 And the beast which I saw was like unto a leopard, and his feet were as the feet of a bear, and his mouth as the mouth of a lion: and the dragon gave him his power, and his seat, and great authority.
- 3 And I saw one of his heads as it were ²wounded to death; and his deadly wound was healed: and all the world wondered after the beast.
- 4 And they worshipped the dragon which gave power unto the beast: and they worshipped the beast, saying, Who is like unto the beast? who is able to make war with him?

heaven.*

Cast out of heaven, Satan set up his kingdom in this world, and ever since, he has been untiringly striving to seduce human beings from their allegiance to God. He uses the same power that he used in heaven—the influence of mind on mind. Men become tempters of their fellow men. The strong, corrupting sentiments of Satan are cherished, and they exert a masterly, compelling power. Under the influence of these sentiments, men bind up with one another in confederacies (Letter 114, 1903).

Satan's Refusal to Obey Christ.—He [Satan] declares he cannot submit to be under Christ's command, that God's commands alone will obey him. Good angels weep to hear the words of Satan, and to see how he despises to follow the direction of Christ, their exalted and loving Commander.

The Father decides the case of Satan, and declares that he must be turned out of heaven for his daring rebellion, and that all those who united with him in his rebellion should be turned out with him. Then there was war in heaven. Christ and His angels fought against Satan and his angels, for they were determined to remain in heaven with all their rebellion. But they prevailed not. Christ and loyal angels triumphed, and drove Satan and his rebel sympathizers from heaven. (3SG 38).

Rebellion Transferred to This World.—When Satan rebelled, there was war in heaven, and he, with all his sympathizers, was cast out. He had held a high office in heaven, possessing a throne radiant with light. But he swerved from his allegiance to the blessed and only Potentate, and fell from his first estate. All who sympathized with him were driven from the presence of God, doomed to be no more acknowledged in the heavenly courts as having a right there. Satan became the avowed antagonist of Christ. On the earth he planted the standard of rebellion, and found it his sympathizers rallied (MS 78, 1905).

12:7-9. See EGW on Eze. 28:15-19; Eph. 6:12. 1 John 2:6.

12:10. Satan Cast Down by Death of Christ.—The casting down of Satan as an accuser of the brethren in heaven was accomplished by the great work of Christ in giving up His life. Notwithstanding Satan's persistent opposition, the plan of redemption was being carried out. Man was esteemed of sufficient value for Christ to sacrifice His life for him. Satan, knowing that the empire he had usurped would in the end be wrested from him, determined to spare no pains to destroy as many as possible of the creatures whom God had created in His image. He hated man because Christ had manifested for him such forgiving love and pity, and he now prepared to practice upon him every species of deception by which he might be lost. He pursued his course with more energy because of his own hopeless condition (8SP 194, 195).

(2 Cor. 5:19; Phil. 2:6.) Satan Uprooted From Affections of the Universe. In carrying out his enmity to Christ until He hung upon the cross of Calvary with wounded, bruised body and broken heart, Satan completely uprooted himself from the affections of the universe. It was then seen that God had in His Son denied Himself, giving Himself for the sins of the world, because He loved mankind. The Creator was revealed in the Son of the infinite God. Here the question, Can there be self-denial with God? was forever answered. Christ was God, and condescending to be made flesh, He assumed humanity and became obedient unto death, that He might undergo infinite sacrifice (MS 50, 1900).

(John 3:14-17; Gal. 6:14; Heb. 9:22.) Accusing Power of Satan Broken.—Christ on the cross, not only draws men to repentance toward God for the transgression of His law—for whom God pardons. He first makes penitent—for Christ has satisfied justice. He has proffered Himself as an atonement. His gushing blood, His broken body, satisfy the claims of the broken law, and thus He bridges the gulf which sin has made. He suffered in the flesh that with His bruised and broken body He might cover the defenseless sinner. The victory gained at His death on Calvary broke forever the accusing power of Satan over the universe, and silenced his charges that self-denial was impossible with God and therefore not essential in the human family (MS 50, 1900).

12:11 (Deut. 33:25; see EGW on 2 Thess. 2:7-12). Power to Conquer Day by Day.—All who will can be overcomers. Let us strive earnestly to reach the standard set before us. Christ knows our weakness, and to Him we can go daily for help. It is not necessary for us to gain strength a month ahead. We are to conquer from day to day (MS 28, 1880).

The Secret of Overcoming Sin.—We become overcomers by helping others to overcome by the blood of the Lamb and the word of our testimony. The keeping of the commandments of God will yield in us an obedient spirit, and the service that is the offspring of such a spirit. God can accept (Letter 250, 1908).

12:12. See EGW on ch. 7:6-13-16; Ps. 17.

12:17 (ch. 14:9-12; see EGW on Isa. 59:13-17). Satan's Masterpiece of Evil.—Those who love and keep the commandments of God are most obnoxious to the synagogue of Satan, and the powers of evil will manifest their hatred toward them to the fullest extent possible. John foresaw the conflict between the remnant church and the power of evil, and said, The dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ.

The forces of darkness will unite with human agents who have given themselves into the control of Satan, and the same scenes that were exhibited at the trial, rejection and crucifixion of Christ will be revived. Through yielding to satanic influences, men will be transformed into fiends, and those who were created in the image of God, who were formed to honor and glorify their Creator, will become the habitation of dragons, and Satan will see in an apostate race his masterpiece of evil—men who reflect his own image (RH April 14, 1896).

Only Two Parties Upon Earth.—There are only two parties upon this earth—those who stand under the blood-stained banner of Jesus Christ and those who stand under the black banner of rebellion. In the twelfth chapter of Revelation is represented the great conflict between the obedient and the disobedient (Rev. 12:17, 13:11-17 quoted) (MS 16, 1900).

(Eph. 6:10-12.) The Earth a Stage for Horrors.—[Rev. 12:17 quoted.] Satanic agencies have made the earth a stage for horrors, which no language can describe. War and bloodshed are carried on by nations claiming to be Christian. A disregard for the law of God has brought dire results.

The great conflict now being waged is not merely strife of man against man. On one side stands the Prince of life, acting as man's substitute and surety. On the other the prince of darkness, with the fallen angels under his command (Lph. 6:12, 13, 10, 11 quoted) (RH Feb. 6, 1890).

13:1, 2, 11. See EGW on ch. 12:5-6, 13:17.

13:8. See EGW on chs. 3:5, 20:12-15; Heb. 9:11-14, 22.

13:11. A Unique Symbol.—Here is a striking figure of the rise and growth of our own nation. And the lamblike horns, emblems of innocence and gentleness, well represent the character of our government, as expressed in its two fundamental principles, republicanism and Protestantism (8SP 277).

Shield of Omnipotence Over America.—The United States is a land that has been under the special shield of the Omnipotent One. God has done great things for this country, but in the transgression of His law, men have been doing a work originated by the man of sin. Satan is working out his designs to involve the human family in disloyalty (MS 177, 1900).

The Prospect Before Us. Prophecy represents Protestantism as having lamblike horns, but speaking like a dragon. Already we are beginning to hear the voice of the dragon. There is a satanic force propelling the Satan movement, but it is concealed. Even the men who are engaged in the work are themselves blinded to the results which will follow their movement.

Let not the commandment-keeping people of God be silent at this time, as though we graciously accepted the situation. There is the prospect before us of waging a continuous war at the risk of imprisonment, of losing property and even life itself to defend the law of God, which is being made void by the laws of men (RH Jan. 1, 1889).

13:11-17 (ch. 14:9-12; Dan. 7:25; 2 Thess. 2:3, 4; see EGW on Rev. 17:13, 14; 18:1-5). Persecuting Hand of the Enemy.—[Rev. 13:11-13 quoted.] Religious powers, allied to heaven by protection and claiming to have the characteristics of a lamb, will show by their acts that they have the heart of a dragon, and that they are instigated and controlled by Satan. The time is coming when God's people will feel the hand of persecution because they keep holy the seventh day. Satan has caused the change of the Sabbath in the hope of carrying out his purpose for the defeat of God's plans. He seeks to make the commands of God of less force in this world than human laws.

The man of sin, who thought to change times and laws, and who has always oppressed the people of God, will cause laws to be made enforcing the observance of the first day of the week. But God's people are to stand firm for Him. And the Lord will work in their behalf, showing plainly that He is the God of gods (MS 135, 1902).

Church and the World in Corrupt Harmony.—The Word of God plainly declares that His law is to be scorned, trampled upon, by the world; there will be an extraordinary prevalence of iniquity. The professed Protestant world will form a confederacy with the man of sin, and the church and the world will be in corrupt harmony.

Here the great crisis is coming upon the world. The Scriptures teach that popery is to regain its lost supremacy, and that the fires of persecution will be kindled through the timeserving concessions of the so-called Protestant world (GCB April 13, 1891).

13:13, 14 (2 Thess. 2:7-12; see EGW on ch. 16:13-16; Matt. 7:21-23). Miracles Performed in Our Sight.—The time is at hand when Satan will work miracles to confirm minds in the belief that he is God. All the people of God are now to stand on the platform of truth as it has been given in the third angel's message. All the pleasant pictures, all the miracles wrought, will be presented in order that, if possible, the very elect will be deceived. The only hope for anyone is to hold fast the evidences that have confirmed the truth in righteousness (RH Aug. 9, 1906).

Miracles Wrought Under Supervision of the Enemy.—[Matt. 7:21-23 quoted.] These may profess to be followers of Christ, but they have lost sight of their Leader. They may say, "Lord, Lord"; they may point to the sick who are healed through them, and to other marvelous works, and claim that they have more of the Spirit and power of God than is manifested by those who keep His law. But their works are done under the supervision of the enemy of righteousness, whose aim it is to deceive souls, and are designed to lead away from obedience, truth, and duty. In the near future there will be still more marked manifestations of this miracle-working power; for it is said of him, "And he doeth great wonders, so that he maketh fire come down from heaven on the earth in the sight of men" (ST Feb. 26, 1885).

13:14. Preparing for the Image of the Beast.—Already preparations are advancing, and movements are in progress, which will result in making an image to the beast. Events will be brought about in the earth's history that will fulfill the predictions of prophecy for these last days (RH April 23, 1889).

13:14-17 (ch. 14:9-12). Tested by the Image.—The Lord has shown me clearly that the image of the beast will be formed before probation closes; for it is to be the great test for the people of God, by which their eternal destiny will be decided. . . . [Rev. 13:11-17 quoted.] . . .

This is the test that the people of God must have before they are sealed. All who proved their loyalty to God by observing His law, and refusing to accept a spurious sabbath, will rank under the banner of the Lord God Jehovah, and will receive the seal of the living God. Those who yield the truth of heavenly origin and accept the Sunday sabbath, will receive the mark of the beast (Letter 11, 1890).

Apostasy and National Ruin.—When the Protestant churches shall unite with the secular power to sustain a false religion for opposing which their ancestors endured the fiercest persecution; when the state shall use its power to enforce the decrees and sustain the institutions of the church—then will Protestant America have formed an image to the papacy, and there will be a national apostasy which will end only in national ruin (ST March 22, 1910).

The Mark of Apostasy and God's Patience.—There are many who have never had the light. They are deceived by their teachers, and they have not received the mark of the beast. The Lord is working with them; He has not left them to their own ways. Until they shall be convicted of the truth and trample upon the evidence given to enlighten them, the Lord will not withdraw His grace from them (Letter 7, 1895).

13:15-17 (see EGW on 2 Thess. 2:3, 4). Perfecting the Device of Satan.—When the legislature frames laws which exalt the first day of the week, and put it in the place of the seventh day, the device of Satan will be perfected (RH April 15, 1890).

13:16, 17 (Dan. 3:1-18; see EGW on 1 John 2:18). History Will Be Repeated.—History will be repeated. False religion will be exalted. The first day of the week, a common working day, possessing no sanctity whatever, will be set up as was the image at Babylon. All nations and tongues and peoples will be commanded to worship this spurious sabbath. This is Satan's plan to make of no account the day instituted by God, and given to the world as a memorial of creation.

The decree enforcing the worship of this day is to go forth to all the world. In a limited decree, it has already gone forth. In several places the civil power is speaking with the voice of a dragon, just as the heathen king spoke to the Hebrew captives.

Trial and persecution will come to all who, in obedience to the Word of God, refuse to worship this false sabbath. Force is the last resort of every false religion. At first it tries attraction, as the king of Babylon tried the power of music and outward show. If these attractions, invented by men inspired by Satan, failed to make men worship the image, the hungry flames of the furnace were ready to consume them. So it will be now. The papacy has exercised her power to compel men to obey her, and she will continue to do so. We need the same spirit that was manifested by God's servants in the conflict with paganism (ST May 6, 1897).

(Ch. 14:9-12.) Men in Authority to Hear.—God is going to bring around a condition of things where the good men and the men in authority will have an opportunity to know what is truth indeed. And because a people will not bow the knee to the image, and receive the mark of the beast in the hand or the forehead, but will stand to the truth because it is truth, there will be oppression, and an attempt to compel the conscience; but those who have known the truth will be afraid to yield to the powers of darkness. God has a people who will not receive the mark of the beast in their right hand or in their forehead.

Not a move has been made in exalting the idol sabbath, in bringing around Sunday observance through legislation, but Satan has been behind it, and has been the chief worker; but the conscience should not be compelled even for the observance of the genuine Sabbath, for God will accept only willing service (RH April 15, 1890).

The Law of God Made Void.—A time is coming when the law of God is, in a special sense, to be made void in our land. The rulers of our nation will, by legislative enactments, enforce the Sunday law, and thus God's people be brought into great peril. When our nation, in its legislative councils, shall enact laws to bind the consciences of men in regard to their religious privileges, enforcing Sunday observance, and bringing oppressive power to bear against those who keep the seventh-day Sabbath, the law of God will, to all intents and purposes, be made void in our land; and national apostasy will be followed by national ruin (RH Dec. 18, 1888).

Contempt for the Great Lawgiver.—The sins of the world will have reached unto heaven when the law of God is made void; when the Sabbath of the Lord is trampled in the dust, and men are compelled to accept in its stead an institution of the papacy through the strong hand of the law of the land. In exalting an institution of man above the institution ordained of God, they show contempt for the great Lawgiver, and refuse His sign or seal (RH Nov. 5, 1889).

Prepared for Injustice.—As Christ was hated without cause, so will His people be hated because they are obedient to the commandments of God. If He who was pure, holy, and undefiled, who did good and only good in our world, was treated as a base criminal and condemned to death, His disciples must expect but similar treatment, however faultless may be their life and blameless their character.

Human enactments, laws manufactured by satanic agencies under a plea of goodness and restriction of evil, will be exalted, while God's holy commandments are despised and trampled underfoot. And all who prove their loyalty by obedience to the law of Jehovah must be prepared to be arrested, to be brought before councils that have not for their standard the high and holy law of God (RII Dec. 26, 1899).

(2 Thess. 2:3, 4.) Living in a Momentous Period.—We are living in a momentous period of this earth's history. The great conflict is just before us. We see the world corrupted under the inhabitants thereof. The man of sin has worked with a marvelous perseverance to exalt the spurious sabbath, and the disloyal Protestant world has wondered after the beast, and has called obedience to the Sabbath instituted by Jehovah disloyalty to the laws of the nations. Kingdoms have confederated to sustain a false sabbath institution, which has not a word of authority in the oracles of God (RII Feb. 6, 1900).

(Chs. 7:2, 3.) The Question Before Us Now.—The Sabbath question is to be the issue in the great final conflict, in which all the world will act a part. Men have honored Satan's principles above the principles that rule in the heavens. They have accepted the spurious sabbath, which Satan has exalted as the sign of his authority. But God has set His seal upon His royal requirement. Each Sabbath institution, both true and false, bears the name of its author, an ineffaceable mark that shows the authority of each.

The great decision now to be made by every one is, whether he will receive the mark of the beast and his image, or the seal of the living and true God (ST March 22, 1910).

Mark of Beast Not Yet Applied.—Sundaykeeping is not yet the mark of the beast, and will not be until the decree goes forth causing men to worship this idol sabbath. The time will come when this day will be the test, but that time has not come yet (MS 118, 1899).

Mark of Character.—[Rev. 14:1-4 quoted.] This scripture represents the character of the people of God for these last days (MS 139, 1903).

(Vs. 9-12; see EGW on ch. 16:13-16.) The Signet of Heaven.—John saw a Lamb on Mount Zion, and with Him 144,000 having His Father's name written in their foreheads. They bore the signet of heaven. They reflected the image of God. They were full of the light and the glory of the Holy One. If we would have the image and superscription of God upon us, we must separate ourselves from all iniquity. We must forsake every evil way, and then we must trust our cases in the hands of Christ. While we are working out our own salvation with fear and trembling, God will work in us to will and to do of His own good pleasure (RH March 19, 1889).

Christ Formed Within.—[Rev. 14:1-3 quoted.] Why were they so specially singled out? Because they had to stand with a wonderful truth right before the whole world, and receive their opposition, and while receiving this opposition they were to remember that they were sons and daughters of God, that they must have Christ formed within them the hope of glory (MS 13, 1888).

Eternal Interests Supreme.—Those who have in their foreheads the seal of the infinite God will regard the world and its attractions as subordinate to eternal interests (RH July 13, 1897).

(2 Tim. 2:14-16; see EGW on Rev. 7:4-17.) Identity of 144,000 Not Revealed.—Christ says that there will be those in the church who will present fables and suppositions, when God has given grand, elevating, ennobling truths, which should ever be kept in the treasure house of the mind. When men pick up this theory and that theory, when they are curious to know something it is not necessary for them to know, God is not leading them. It is not His plan that His people shall present something which they have to suppose, which is not taught in the Word. It is not His will that they shall get into controversy over questions which will not help them spiritually, such as, Who is to compose the hundred and forty-four thousand. This those who are the elect of God will in a short time know without question.

My brethren and sisters, appreciate and study the truths God has given for you and your children. Spend not your time in seeking to know that which will be no spiritual help. "What shall I do to inherit eternal life?" This is the all-important question, and it has been clearly answered. "What is written in the law? how readest thou?" (MS 26, 1901).

14:4 (1 Peter 2:21; 1 John 2:6). God's People Follow the Lamb Now.—The Lord has a people on the earth, who follow the Lamb whithersoever He goeth. He has His thousands who have not bowed the knee to Baal. Such will stand with Him on Mount Zion. But they must stand on this earth, girded with the whole armor, ready to engage in the work of saving those who are ready to perish. Heavenly angels conduct this search, and spiritual activity is demanded of all who believe present truth, that they may join the angels in their work.

We need not wait till we are translated to follow Christ. God's people may do this here below. We shall follow the Lamb of God in the courts above only if we follow Him here. Following Him in heaven depends on our keeping His commandments now. We are not to follow Christ fittily or capriciously, only when it is for our advantage.

We must choose to follow Him. In daily life we must follow His example, as a flock trustfully follows its shepherd. We are to follow Him by suffering for His sake, saying, at every step, "Though he slay me, yet will I trust in him." His life practice must be our life practice. And as we thus seek to be like Him, and to bring our wills into conformity to His will, we shall reveal Him (RH April 12, 1898).

14:5. See EGW on 2 Thess. 2:7-12.

14:6-12 (see EGW on ch. 10:1-11; 1 John 2:18). Soon to Be Understood.—The fourteenth chapter of Revelation is a chapter of the deepest interest. This scripture will soon be understood in all its bearings, and the messages given to John the revelator will be repeated with distinct utterance (RH Oct. 13, 1904).

Identifying the Three Angels.—Christ is coming the second time, with power unto salvation. To prepare human beings for this event, He has sent the first, second, and third angels' messages. These angels represent those who receive the truth, and with power open the gospel to the world (Letter 79, 1900).

(Ch. 18:1-5.) A Loyal Company.—The churches have become as described in the eighteenth chapter of Revelation. Why are the messages of Revelation fourteen given? Because the principles of the churches have become corrupted. . . . [Rev. 14:6-10 quoted.]

Apparently the whole world is guilty of receiving the mark of the beast. But the prophet sees a company who are not worshipping the beast, and who have not received his mark in their foreheads or in their hands. "Here is the patience of the saints," he declares; "here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus" (MS 92, 1904).

Large Numbers Accept the Truth.—The time of God's destructive judgments is the time of mercy for those who have no opportunity to learn what is truth. Tenderly will the Lord look upon them. His heart of mercy is touched; His hand is still stretched out to save, while the door is closed to those who would not enter. Large numbers will be admitted who in these last days hear the truth for the first time (RH July 5, 1906).

14:7. Giving Glory to God.—To give glory to God is to reveal His character in our own, and thus make Him known. And in whatever way we make known the Father or the Son, we glorify God (MS 16, 1890).

14:8 (Dan. 7:25; 2 Thess. 2:3, 4; see EGW on Rev. 18:1-5). World Drunk With Wine of Babylon.—God denounces Babylon "because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication." This means that she has disregarded the only commandment which points out the true God, and has torn down the Sabbath, God's memorial of creation.

God made the world in six days and rested on the seventh, sanctifying this day, and setting it apart from all others as holy to Himself, to be observed by His people throughout their generations.

But the man of sin, exalting himself above God, sitting in the temple of God, and showing himself to be God, thought to change times and laws. This power, thinking to prove that it was not only equal to God, but above God, changed the rest day, placing the first day of the week where the seventh should be. And the Protestant world has taken this child of the papacy to be regarded as sacred. In the Word of God this is called her fornication.

God has a controversy with the churches of today. They are fulfilling the prophecy of John. "All nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication." They have divorced themselves from God by refusing to receive His sign. They have not the spirit of God's true commandment-keeping people. And the people of the world, in giving their sanction to a false sabbath, and in trampling under their feet the Sabbath of the Lord, have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication (Letter 98, 1900).

14:9-12 (ch. 13:11-17; see EGW on chs. 12:17; 18:1; Isa. 58:12-14). The Real Issue in the Final Conflict.—[Rev. 14:9, 10 quoted.] It is for the interest of all to understand what the mark of the beast is, and how they may escape the dread threatenings of God. Why are men not interested to know what constitutes the mark of the beast and his image? It is in direct contrast with the mark of God. [Ex. 31:12-17 quoted.]

The Sabbath question will be the issue in the great conflict in which all the world will act a part. [Rev. 13:4-8, 10 quoted.] This entire chapter is a revelation of what will surely take place [Rev. 13:11, 15-17 quoted] (MS 88, 1897).

What Is the Mark of the Beast?—John was called to behold a people distinct from those who worship the beast and his image by keeping the first day of the week. The observance of this day is the mark of the beast (Letter 31, 1898).

(Ch. 13:16, 17.) Warning Against Mark of the Beast.—The third angel's message has been sent forth to the world, warning men against receiving the mark of the beast or of his image in their foreheads or in their hands. To receive this mark means to come to the same decision as the beast has done, and to advocate the same ideas, in direct opposition to the Word of God. Of all who receive this mark, God says, "The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb." . . .

If the light of truth has been presented to you, revealing the Sabbath of the fourth commandment, and showing that there is no foundation in the Word of God for Sunday observance, and yet you still cling to the false sabbath, refusing to keep holy the Sabbath which God calls "My holy day," you receive the mark of the beast. When does this take place? When you obey the decree that commands you to cease from labor on Sunday and worship God, while you know that there is not a word in the Bible showing Sunday to be other than a common working day, you consent to receive the mark of the beast, and refuse the seal of God.

If we receive this mark in our foreheads or in our hands, the judgments pronounced against the disobedient must fall upon us. But the seal of the living God is placed upon those who conscientiously keep the Sabbath of the Lord (RH July 13, 1897).

A Life and Death Question.—This message embraces the two preceding messages. It is represented as being given with a loud voice; that is, with the power of the Holy Spirit. Everything is now at stake. The third angel's message is to be regarded as of the highest importance. It is a life and death question. The impression made by this message will be proportionate to the earnestness and solemnity with which it is proclaimed (MS 16, 1900).

(Vs. 1-4.) Not a Visible Mark.—In the issue of the great contest two parties are developed, those who "worship the beast and his image," and receive his mark, and those who receive "the seal of the living God," who have the "Father's name written in their foreheads." This is not a visible mark (ST Nov. 1, 1899).

(Ch. 18:1-8; 2 Thess. 2:7-12.) Guard Against Mystery of Iniquity.—The third angel's message increases in importance as we near the close of this earth's history.

God has presented to me the dangers that are threatening those who have been given the sacred work of proclaiming the third angel's message. They are to remember that this message is of the utmost consequence to the whole world. They need to search the Scriptures diligently, that they may learn how to guard against the mystery of iniquity, which plays so large a part in the closing scenes of this earth's history.

There will be more and still more external parade by worldly powers. Under different symbols, God presented to John the wicked character and seductive influence of those who have been distinguished for their persecution of His people. The eighteenth chapter of Revelation speaks of mystic Babylon, fallen from her high estate to become a persecuting power. Those who keep the commandments of God and have the faith of Jesus are the object of the wrath of this power (Rev. 18:1-8 quoted) (MS 135, 1902).

The Time of Test Makes the Issue Clear.—The work of the Holy Spirit is to convince the world of sin, of righteousness, and of judgment. The world can only be warned by seeing those who believe the truth sanctified through the truth, acting upon high and holy principles, showing in a high, elevated sense, the line of demarcation between those who keep the commandments of God and those who trample them under their feet. The sanctification of the Spirit signals the difference between those who have the seal of God and those who keep a spurious rest day.

When the test comes, it will be clearly shown what the mark of the beast is. It is the keeping of Sunday. Those who, after having heard the truth, continue to regard this day as holy bear the signature of the man of sin, who thought to change times and laws (Letter 12, 1900).

The Last Act in the Drama.—The substitution of the false for the true is the last act in the drama. When this substitution becomes universal, God will reveal Himself. When the laws of men are exalted above the laws of God, when the powers of this earth try to force men to keep the first day of the week, know that the time has come for God to work. He will arise in His majesty, and will shake terribly the earth. He will come out of His place to punish the inhabitants of the world for their iniquity (RH April 23, 1901).

(Vs. 1-4; chs. 7:2, 3; 13:13, 16; Ex. 31:13-17; 2 Thess. 2:3, 4.) The Mark of Distinction.—We are nearing the close of this earth's history. Satan is making desperate efforts to make himself god, to speak and act like God, to appear as one who has a right to control the consciences of men. He strives with all his power to place a human institution in the position of God's holy rest day. Under the jurisdiction of the man of sin, men have exalted a false standard in complete opposition to God's enactment. Each Sabbath institution bears the name of its author, an inflexible mark showing the authority of each. The first day of the week has not one particle of sanctity. It is the production of the man of sin, who strives in this way to counterwork God's purposes.

God has designated the seventh day as His Sabbath. (Ex. 31:13, 17, 16 quoted.)

Thus the distinction is drawn between the loyal and the disloyal. Those who desire to have the seal of God in their foreheads must keep the Sabbath of the fourth commandment. Thus they are distinguished from the disloyal, who have accepted a manmade institution in place of the true Sabbath. The observance of God's rest day is a mark of distinction between him that serveth God and him that serveth Him not (RH April 23, 1901).

14:10. See EGW on Gen. 6:17; Matt. 27:21, 22, 29.

14:12. God's Denominated People.—Who are these? God's denominated people—those who on this earth have witnessed to their loyalty. Who are they? Those who have kept the commandments of God and the testimony of Jesus Christ; those who have owned the Crucified One as their Saviour (MS 132, 1903).

(Ex. 31:13-17.) What Is God's Sign?—The sign of obedience is the observance of the Sabbath of the fourth commandment. If men keep the fourth commandment, they will keep all the rest (Letter 31, 1898).

(Ch. 7:2, 3; Exe. 9:4.) The Mark of the Holy Sabbath.—There is to be a mark placed upon God's people, and that mark is the keeping of His holy Sabbath (HS 217).

Loyal to Whom?—God has declared that it means much to discard the Word of the living God, and accept the assertions of those who seek to change times and laws [Ex. 31:12-17 quoted].

Those who in the face of these specifications refuse to repent of their transgressions will realize the result of disobedience. Individually we need to inquire, In observing a day of rest, have I drawn my faith from the Scriptures, or from a spurious representation of truth? Every soul who fastens himself to the divine, everlasting covenant, made and presented to us as a sign and mark of God's government, fastens himself to the golden chain of obedience, every link of which is a promise. He shows that he regards God's Word as above the word of man, God's love as preferable to the love of man. And those who repent of transgression, and return to their loyalty by accepting God's mark, show themselves to be true subjects, ready to do His will, to obey His commandments. True observance of the Sabbath is the sign of loyalty to God (MS 63, 1899).

Fidelity Grows With the Emergency.—In revelation 14 John beholds another scene. He sees a people whose fidelity and loyalty to the laws of God's kingdom, grow with the emergency. The contempt placed upon the law of God only makes them reveal more decidedly their love for that law. It increases with the contempt that is placed upon it (MS 163, 1897).

(Ps. 119:126, 127; Mal. 3:18.) It Is Time to Fight!—Let no one yield to temptation and become less fervent in his attachment to God's law because of the contempt placed upon it; for that is the very thing that should make us pray with all our heart and soul and voice, "It is time for thee, seven angels were fulfilled.

The Seven Last Plagues

- 2 And the first went, and poured out his vial upon the earth; and there fell a noisome and grievous sore upon the men which had the mark of the beast, and upon them which worshipped his image.

- 4 And the third angel poured out his vial upon the rivers and fountains of waters; and they became blood.
- 5 And I heard the angel of the waters say, Thou art righteous, O Lord, which art, and wast, and shalt be, because thou hast judged thus.
- 6 For they have shed the blood of saints and prophets, and thou hast given them blood to drink; for they are worthy.
- 7 And I heard another out of the altar say, Even so, Lord God Almighty, true and righteous are thy judgments.
- 8 And the fourth angel poured out his vial upon the sun; and power was given unto him to scorch men with fire.
- 9 And men were scorched with great heat, and blasphemed the name of God, which hath power over these plagues: and they repented not to give him glory.
- 10 And the fifth angel poured out his vial upon the seat of the beast; and his kingdom was full of darkness; and they gnawed their tongues for pain.
- 11 And blasphemed the God of heaven because of their pains and their sores, and repented not of their deeds.
- 12 And the sixth angel poured out his vial upon the great river Euphrates; and the water thereof was dried up, that the way of the kings of the east might be prepared.
- 13 And I saw three unclean spirits like frogs come out of the mouth of the dragon, and out of the mouth of the beast, and out of the mouth of the false prophet.

The Arraignment of Babylon the Great

- 17 And there came one of the seven angels which had the seven vials, and talked with me, saying unto me, Come hither: I will shew unto thee the judgment of the great whore that sitteth upon many waters:

- 2 With whom the kings of the earth have committed fornication, and the inhabitants of the earth have been made drunk with the wine of her fornication.

- 3 So he carried me away in the spirit into the wilderness: and I saw a woman sit upon a scarlet coloured beast, full of names of blasphemy, having seven heads and ten horns.

- 4 And the woman was arrayed in purple and scarlet colour, and decked with gold when the ransomed of the Lord meet at the gate of the Holy City, which is thrown back on its glittering hinges and the nations that have kept His word—His commandments—enter into the city, the crown of the overcomer is placed upon their heads, and the golden harps are placed in their hands! All heaven is filled with rich music, and with songs of praise to the Lamb. Saved, everlastingly saved, in the kingdom of glory! To have a life that measures with the life of God—that is the reward (MS 92, 1908).

16:1-21 (Ch. 6:13-17; Ps. 46:1-3; Matt. 24:7). John Witnessed Terrors of the Last Days.—John . . . was a witness of the terrible scenes that will take place as signs of Christ's coming. He saw armies mustering for battle, and men's hearts failing them for fear. He saw the earth moved out of its place, the mountains carried into the midst of the sea, the waves thereof roaring and troubled, and the mountains shaking with the swelling thereof. He saw the vials of God's wrath opened, and pestilence, famine, and death come upon the inhabitants of the earth (RH Jan. 11, 1887).

16:13-16 (Chs. 13:13, 14; 17:13, 14; 19:11-16; see EGW on ch. 7:1-3). Battle of Armageddon Soon to be Fought.—There are only two parties in our world, those who are loyal to God, and those who stand under the banner of the prince of darkness. Satan and his angels will come down with power and signs and lying wonders to deceive those who dwell on the earth, and if possible the very elect. The crisis is right upon us. Is this to paralyze the energies of those who have a knowledge of the truth? Is the influence of the powers of deception so far reaching that the influence of the truth will be overpowered?

The battle of Armageddon is soon to be fought. He on whose vesture is written the name, King of kings and Lord of lords, leads forth the armies of heaven on white horses, clothed in fine linen, clean and white (MS 172, 1890).

Every form of evil is to spring into intense activity. Evil angels unite their powers with evil men, and as they have

- and precious stones and pearls, having a golden cup in her hand full of abominations and filthiness of her fornication:
- 5 And upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH.
- 6 And I saw the woman drunken with the blood of the saints, and with the blood of the martyrs of Jesus: and when I saw her, I wondered with great admiration.
- 7 And the angel said unto me, Wherefore didst thou marvel? I will tell thee the mystery of the woman, and of the beast that carrieth her, which hath the seven heads and ten horns.
- 8 The beast that thou sawest was, and is not; and shall ascend out of the bottomless pit, and go into perdition: and they that dwell on the earth shall wonder, whose names were not written in the book of life from the foundation of the world, when they behold the beast that was, and is not, and yet is.
- 9 And here is the mind which hath wisdom. The seven heads are seven mountains, on which the woman sitteth.
- 10 And there are seven kings: five are fallen, and one is, and the other is not yet come; and when he cometh, he must continue a short space.
- 11 And the beast that was, and is not, even he is the eighth, and is of the seven, and goeth into perdition.
- 12 And the ten horns which thou sawest are ten kings, which have received no kingdom as yet; but receive power as kings one hour with the beast.
- 13 These have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast.
- 14 These shall make war with the Lamb, and the Lamb shall overcome them: for he is Lord of lords, and King of kings: and they that are with him are called, and chosen, and faithful.
- 15 And he saith unto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues.

The Extermination of Evil (18:1-20:15)

*An Affirmation of Divine Mercy;
A Final Call to Leave Babylon*

- 18 And after these things I saw another angel come down from heaven, having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory.
- 2 And he cried mightily with a strong voice, saying, Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen, and is become the habitation of devils, and the hold of every foul spirit, and a cage of every unclean and hateful bird.
- 3 For all nations have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication, and the kings of the earth have committed fornication with her, and the merchants of the earth are waxed rich through the abundance of her delicacies.
- 4 And I heard another voice from heaven, saying, Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins. and that ye receive not of her plagues.

*The End of Organized Religious Opposition:
The Desolation of Babylon*

- 5 For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities.
- 6 Reward her even as she rewarded you, and double unto her double according to her works: in the cup which she hath filled fill to her double.
- 7 How much she hath glorified herself, and lived deliciously, so much torment and sorrow give her: for she saith in her heart, I sit a queen, and am no widow, and shall see no sorrow.
- 8 Therefore shall her plagues come in one day, death, and mourning, and famine; and she shall be utterly burned with fire:

been in constant conflict and attained an experience in the best modes of deception and battle, and have been strengthening for centuries, they will not yield the last great final contest without a desperate struggle. All the world will be on one side or the other of the question. The battle of Armageddon will be fought, and that day must find none of us sleeping. Wide awake we must be, as wise virgins having oil in our vessels with our lamps. . . .

The power of the Holy Ghost must be upon us, and the Captain of the Lord's host will stand at the head of the angels of heaven to direct the battle. Solemn events before us are yet to transpire. Trumpet after trumpet is to be sounded, vial after vial poured out one after another upon the inhabitants of the earth. Scenes of stupendous interest are right upon us (Letter 109, 1890).

16:14-16 (Eph. 6:12; see EGW on Rev. 5:11). Two Opposing Powers.—Two great opposing powers are revealed in the last great battle. On one side stands the Creator of heaven and earth. All on His side bear His signet. They are obedient to His commands. On the other side stands the prince of darkness, with those who have chosen apostasy and rebellion (RH May 7, 1901).

(Ch. 12:12.) Satan Mustering His Forces for Last Battle.—The present is a solemn, fearful time for the church. The angels are already girded, awaiting the mandate of God to pour their vials of wrath upon the world. Destroying angels are taking up the work of vengeance; for the Spirit of God is gradually withdrawing from the world. Satan is also mustering his forces of evil, going forth "unto the kings of the earth and of the whole world," to gather them under his banner, to be trained for "the battle of that great day of God Almighty." Satan is to make most powerful efforts for the mastery in the last great conflict. Fundamental principles will be brought out, and decisions made in regard to them. Skepticism is prevailing everywhere. Ungodliness abounds. The faith of individual members of the church will be tested as though there were not another person in the world (MS 1a, 1890).

16:14-17 (ch. 18:1). The Armies of God Take the Field.—We need to study the pouring out of the seventh vial. The powers of evil will not yield up the conflict without a struggle. But Providence has a part to act in the battle of Armageddon. When the earth is lighted with the glory of the angel of Revelation eighteen, the religious elements, good and evil, will awake from slumber, and the armies of the living God will take the field (MS 175, 1899).

17:1-5 (chs. 13:11-17; 18:1-5; 2 Thess. 2:7-12). Deceiver of All Nations.—In the seventeenth of Revelation is foretold the destruction of all the churches who corrupt themselves by idolatrous devotion to the service of the papacy, those who have drunk of the wine of the wrath of her fornication. [Rev. 17:1-4 quoted.]

Thus is represented the papal power, which with all deceivableness of unrighteousness, by outside attraction and gorgeous display, deceives all nations; promising them, as did Satan our first parents, all good to those who receive its mark, and all harm to those who oppose its fallacies. The power which has the deepest inward corruption will make the greatest display, and will clothe itself with the most elaborate signs of power. The Bible plainly declares that this covers a corrupt and deceiving wickedness. "Upon her forehead was a name written, MYSTERY, BABYLON THE GREAT, THE MOTHER OF HARLOTS AND ABOMINATIONS OF THE EARTH."

What is it that gives its kingdom to this power? Protestantism, a power which, while professing to have the temper and spirit of a lamb and to be allied to Heaven, speaks with the voice of a dragon. It is moved by a power from beneath (Letter 232, 1899).

17:13, 14 (chs. 13:11-17; 16:13-16). A Confederacy of Satan's Forces.—[Rev. 17:13, 14 quoted.] "These have one mind." There will be a universal bond of union, one great harmony, a confederacy of Satan's forces. "And shall give their power and strength unto the beast." Thus is manifested the same arbitrary, oppressive power against religious liberty, freedom to worship God according to the dictates of conscience, as was manifested by the papacy, when in the past it persecuted those who dared to refuse to conform with the religious rites and ceremonies of Romanism.

In the warfare to be waged in the last days there will be united, in opposition to God's people, all the corrupt powers that have apostatized from allegiance to the law of Jehovah. In this warfare the Sabbath of the fourth commandment will be the great point at issue; for in the Sabbath commandment the great Lawgiver identifies Himself as the Creator of the heavens and the earth (MS 24, 1891).

17:14. Christ Glorified in the Last Crisis.—As Christ was glorified on the day of Pentecost, so will He again be glorified in the closing work of the gospel, when He shall prepare a people to stand the final test, in the closing conflict of the great controversy (RH Nov. 29, 1892).

18:1 (ch. 14:9-12; Hab. 2:14; see EGW on Acts 2:1-4). The Angel of Revelation 18.—The prophecies in the eighth of Revelation will soon be fulfilled. During the proclamation of the third angel's message, "another angel" is to "come down from heaven, having great power," and the earth is to be "lightened with his glory." The Spirit of the Lord will so graciously bless consecrated human instrumentalities that men, women, and children will open their lips in praise and thanksgiving, filling the earth with the knowledge of God, and with His unsurpassed glory, as the waters cover the sea.

Those who have held the beginning of their confidence firm unto the end will be wide awake during the time that the third angel's message is proclaimed with great power (RH Oct. 13, 1904).

(2 Tim. 2:14-16; see EGW on ch. 16:14-17). Message Prepares for Translation.—Amid the confusing cries, "Lo, here is Christ! Lo, there is Christ!" will be borne a special testimony, a special message of truth appropriate for this time, which message is to be received, believed, and acted upon. It is the truth, not fanciful ideas, that is efficacious.

The eternal truth of the Word will stand forth free from all seductive errors and spiritualistic interpretations, free from all fancifully drawn, alluring pictures. Falsehoods will be urged upon the attention of God's people, but the truth is to stand clothed in its beautiful, pure garments. The Word, precious in its holy, uplifting influence, is not to be degraded to a level with common, ordinary matters. It is always to remain uncontaminated by the fallacies by which Satan seeks to deceive, if possible, the very elect.

The proclamation of the gospel is the only means in which God can employ human beings as His instrumentalities for the salvation of souls. As men, women, and children proclaim the gospel, the Lord will open the eyes of the blind to see His statutes, and will write upon the hearts of the truly penitent His law. The animating Spirit of God, working through human agencies, leads the believers to be of one mind, one soul, unitedly loving God and keeping His commandments—preparing here below for translation (RH Oct. 13, 1904).

(Jer. 30:7; Hosea 6:3; Joel 2:23; Zech. 10:1; Eph. 4:13, 15.) Refreshing of the Latter Rain.—As the members of the body of Christ approach the period of their last conflict, "the time of Jacob's trouble," they will grow up into Christ, and will partake largely of His Spirit. As the third message swells to a loud cry, and as great power and glory attend the closing work, the faithful people of God will partake of that glory. It is the latter rain which revives and strengthens them to pass through the time of trouble. Their faces will shine with the glory of that light which attends the third angel (RH May 27, 1862).

(Isa. 61:11.) Not to Wait for Latter Rain.—We must not wait for the latter rain. It is coming upon all who will recognize and appropriate the dew and showers of grace that fall upon us. When we gather up the fragments of light, when we appreciate the sure mercies of God, who loves to have us trust Him, then every promise will be fulfilled. [Isa. 61:11 quoted.] The whole earth is to be filled with the glory of God (Letter 151, 1897).

Revelation of the Righteousness of Christ.—The time of test is just upon us, for the loud cry of the third angel has already begun in the revelation of the righteousness of Christ, the sin-pardoning Redeemer. This is the beginning of the light of the angel whose glory shall fill the whole earth (RH Nov. 22, 1892).

No Time Specified for Outpouring.—I have no specific time of which to speak when the outpouring of the Holy Spirit will take place—when the mighty angel will come down from heaven, and unite with the third angel in closing up the work for this world; my message is that our only safety is in being ready for the heavenly refreshing, having our lamps trimmed and burning (RH March 29, 1892).

18:1-5 (chs. 13:11-17; 14:6-12; Dan. 7:25; 2 Thess. 2:3, 4; see EGW on Rev. 6:9; 17:1-5). Every Power of Evil Will Work.—As God called the children of Israel out of Egypt, that they might keep His Sabbath, so He calls His people out of Babylon, that they may not worship the beast or his image. The man of sin, who thought to change times and laws, has exalted himself above God, by presenting a spurious sabbath to the world; the Christian world has accepted the child of the papacy, and cradled and nourished it, thus defying God by removing His memorial, and setting up a rival sabbath.

After the truth has been proclaimed as a witness to all nations, every conceivable power of evil will be set in operation, and minds will be confused by many voices crying, "Lo, here is Christ, lo, He is there. This is the truth. I have the message from God. He has sent me with great light." Then there will be a removing of the landmarks, and an attempt to tear down the pillars of our faith. A more decided effort will be made to exalt the false sabbath, and to cast contempt upon God Himself by supplanting the day He has blessed and sanctified. This false sabbath is to be enforced by an oppressive law.

Satan and his angels are wide awake and intensely active, working with energy and perseverance through human instrumentalities to bring about his purpose of obliterating from the minds of men the knowledge of God.

- for strong is the Lord God who judgeth her.
- 9 And the kings of the earth, who have committed fornication and lived deliciously with her, shall bewail her, and lament for her, when they shall see the smoke of her burning,
- 10 Standing afar off for the fear of her torment, saying, Alas, alas that great city Babylon, that mighty city! for in one hour is thy judgment come.
- 11 And the merchants of the earth shall weep and mourn over her: for no man buyeth their merchandise any more:
- 12 The merchandise of gold, and silver, and precious stones, and of pearls, and fine linen, and purple, and silk, and scarlet, and all ¹thyine wood, and all manner vessels of most precious wood, and of brass, and iron, and marble,
- 13 And cinnamon, and odours, and ointments, and frankincense, and wine, and oil, and fine flour, and wheat, and beasts, and sheep, and horses, and chariots, and ²slaves, and souls of men.
- 14 And the fruits that thy soul lusted after are departed from thee, and all things which were dainty and goodly are departed from thee, and thou shalt find them no more at all.
- 15 The merchants of these things, which were made rich by her, shall stand afar off for the fear of her torment, weeping and wailing,
- 16 And saying, Alas, alas, that great city, that was clothed in fine linen, and purple, and scarlet, and decked with gold, and precious stones, and pearls!
- 17 For in one hour so great riches are come to nought. And every shipmaster, and all the company in ships, and sailors, and as many as trade by sea, stood afar off,
- 18 And cried when they saw the smoke of her burning, saying, What city is like unto this great city!
- 19 And they cast dust on their heads, and cried, weeping and wailing, saying, Alas, alas, that great city, wherein were made rich all that had ships in the sea by reason of her costliness! for in one hour is she made desolate.

- 22 And the voice of harpers, and musicians, and of pipers, and trumpeters, shall be heard no more at all in thee; and no craftsman, of whatsoever craft he be, shall be found any more in thee; and the sound of a millstone shall be heard no more at all in thee;

The Coronation of Christ as King of Kings

- 19 And after these things I heard a great voice of much people in heaven, saying, Alleluia; Salvation, and glory, and honour, and power, unto the Lord our God:
- 2 For true and righteous are his judgments: for he hath judged the great whore, which did corrupt the earth with her fornication, and hath avenged the blood of his servants at her hand.
- 3 And again they said, Alleluia. And her smoke rose up for ever and ever.
- 4 And the four and twenty elders and the four beasts fell down and worshipped God that sat on the throne, saying, Amen; Alleluia.
- 5 And a voice came out of the throne, saying, Praise our God, all ye his servants, and ye that fear him, both small and great.
- 6 And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thunders, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth.

But while Satan works with his lying wonders, the time will be fulfilled foldfold in the Revelation, and the mighty angel that shall lighten the earth with his glory will proclaim the fall of Babylon, and call upon God's people to forsake her (RI Dec 13, 1892).

(Ch. 14:8.) Part of a Series of Events.—The message in regard to the fall of Babylon must be given. God's people are to understand in regard to the angel who is to lighten the whole world with his glory, while he cries mightily, with a loud voice, "Babylon the great is fallen, is fallen." The solemn events which are now taking place belong to a series of events in the chain of history, the first link of which is connected with Eden. Let the people of God prepare for what is coming upon the earth. Extravagance in the use of means, selfishness, heresies, have taken the world captive. For centuries satanic agencies have been at work. Will they now give up without a struggle (MS 172, 1899)?

2 or, fornications 18 1

(Matt. 15:9; 21:11, 12; John 2:13-16; see EGW on Rev. 6:9.) Two Calls to the Churches.—(Rev. 18:1, 2 quoted.) This is the same message that was given by the second angel. Babylon is fallen, "because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication." What is that wine?—her false doctrines. She has given to the world a false sabbath instead of the Sabbath of the fourth commandment, and has repeated the falsehood that Satan first told to Eve in Eden—the natural immortality of the soul. Many kindred errors she has spread far and wide, "teaching for doctrines the commandments of men."

When Jesus began His public ministry, He cleansed the temple from its sacrilegious profanation. Among the last acts of His ministry was the second cleansing of the temple. So in the last work for the warning of the world, two distinct calls are made to the churches. The second angel's message is, "Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication." And in the loud cry of the third angel's message a voice is heard from heaven saying, "Come out of her, my people, that ye be not partakers of her sins, and that ye receive not of her plagues. For her sins have reached unto heaven, and God hath remembered her iniquities" (RH Dec. 6, 1892).

Three Messages to Be Combined.—The three angels' messages are to be combined, giving their threefold light to the world. In the Revelation, John says, "I saw another angel come down from heaven, having great power; and the earth was lightened with his glory." [Rev. 18:2-5 quoted.] This represents the giving of the last and threefold message of warning to the world (MS 52, 1900).

18:1-8 (see EGW on ch. 14:9-12). Danger in Worldly Alliances.—[Rev. 18:1-8 quoted.] This terrible picture, drawn by John to show how completely the powers of earth will give themselves over to evil, should show those who have received the truth how dangerous it is to link up with secret societies or to join themselves in any way with those who do not keep God's commandments (MS 135, 1902).

18:3-7. See EGW on 1 John 2:18.

19:7-9 (Eph. 5:23-25; see EGW on ch. 7:9). God the Husband of His Church.—God is the husband of His church. The church is the bride, the Lamb's wife. Every true believer is a part of the body of Christ. Christ regards unfaithfulness shown to Him by His people as the unfaithfulness of a wife to her husband. We are to remember that we are members of Christ's body (Letter 39, 1902).

Conduct Befitting the Bride of a King.—The church is the bride, the Lamb's wife. She should keep herself pure, sanctified, holy. Never should she indulge in any foolishness; for she is the bride of a King. Yet she does not realize her exalted position. If she understood this, she would be all-glorious within (Letter 177, 1901).

(Chs. 3:4; 7:14; 16:15). Clean Garments.—The church is the bride of Christ, and her members are to yoke up with their Leader. God warns us not to defile our garments (Letter 123 1/2, 1898).

19:11-16. See EGW on ch. 16:13-16.

20:5, 6. Marks of Curse in Second Resurrection.—At the first resurrection all come forth in immortal bloom, but at the second, the marks of the curse are visible upon all. All come up as they went down into their graves. Those who lived before the Flood, come forth with their giant-like stature, more than twice as tall as men now living upon the earth, and well proportioned. The generations after the Flood were less in stature (3SG 84, 85).

20:9, 10, 14 (Gen. 8:1; 2 Peter 3:10). New Jerusalem Preserved Amid Flames.—When the flood of waters was at its height upon the earth, it had the appearance of a boundless lake of water. When God finally purifies the earth, it will appear like a boundless lake of fire. As God preserved the ark amid the commotions of the Flood, because it contained eight righteous persons, He will preserve the New Jerusalem, containing the faithful of all ages, from righteous Abel down to the last saint which lived. Although the whole earth, with the exception of that portion where the city rests, will be wrapped in a sea of liquid fire, yet the city is preserved as was the ark, by a miracle of Almighty power. It stands unharmed amid the devouring elements (3SG 87).

20:12, 13 (Dan. 7:9, 10; see EGW on Ex. 31:18; Matt. 5:21, 22, 27, 28; 1 Tim. 5:24, 25; Rev. 11:1; 22:14). God's Law Seen in New Light.—When the judgment shall sit, and everyone shall be judged by the things written in the books, the authority of God's law will be looked upon in a light altogether different from that in which it is now regarded by the Christian world. Satan has blinded their eyes and confused their understanding, as he blinded and confused Adam and Eve, and led them into transgression. The law of Jehovah is great, even as its Author is great. In the judgment it will be recognized as holy, just, and good in all its requirements. Those who transgress this law will find that they have a serious account to settle with God; for His claims are decisive (RH May 7, 1901).

(Rom. 3:19; 7:12; Jude 15.) All the Worlds Witness Judgment.—Christ would have all understand the events of His second appearing. The judgment scene will take place in the presence of all the worlds; for in this judgment the government of God will be vindicated, and His law will stand forth as "holy, and just, and good." Then every case will be decided, and sentence will be passed upon all. Sin will not then appear attractive, but will be seen in all its hideous magnitude. All will see the relation in which they stand to God and to one another (RH Sept. 20, 1898).

Deep Heart Searching.—[Rev. 20:12 quoted.] Then men will have a clear, sharp remembrance of all their transactions in this life. Not a word or a deed will escape their memory. Those will be trying times. And while we are not to mourn over the time of trouble to come, let us, as Christ's followers, search our hearts as with a lighted candle to see what manner of spirit we are of. For our present and eternal good, let us criticize our actions, to see how they stand in the light of the law of God. For this law is our standard. Let every soul search his own heart (Letter 22, 1901).

(Ps. 33:13-15; Eccl. 12:13, 14; Jer. 17:10; Heb. 4:13; see EGW on Ps. 139:1-12.) Every Case Examined.—Though all nations are to pass in judgment before Him, yet He will examine the case of each individual with as close and searching scrutiny as if there were not another being on earth (RH Jan. 19, 1886).

(Mal. 3:16, 17; 1 Cor. 3:13.) Angels Marking Deeds of Men.—All heaven is interested in our salvation. The angels of God are walking up and down the streets of these cities, and marking the deeds of men. They record in the books of God's remembrance the words of faith, the acts of love, the humility of spirit, and in that day when every man's work shall be tried of what sort it is, the work of the humble follower of Christ will stand the test, and will receive the commendation of Heaven (RH Sept. 6, 1890).

As Accurate as Photographer's Plate.—All of us, as beings blessed of God with reasoning powers, with intellect and judgment, should acknowledge our accountability to God. The life He has given us is a sacred responsibility, and no moment of it is to be trifled with; for we shall have to meet it again in the record of the judgment. In the books of heaven our lives are as accurately traced as in the picture on the plate of the photographer. Not only are we held accountable for what we have done, but for what we have left undone. We are held to account for our undeveloped characters, our unimproved opportunities (RH Sept. 22, 1891).

Our Characters Represented in Books.—In the books of heaven are accurately recorded the sneers and the trivial remarks of sinners who pay no heed to the call of mercy made, as Christ is presented to them by His ministering servants. As the artist takes on the polished glass a true picture of the human face, so the angels of God daily place upon the books of heaven an exact representation of the character of every human being (ST Feb. 11, 1903).

Heaven's Service Record.—All who are partakers of this great salvation wrought out by Jesus Christ are under obligation to work as laborers together with God. In the heavenly courts the roll is called, on which every name is registered, and the heavenly agencies respond to the call. The service given by every human being upon earth is there recorded. If any are negligent, it is recorded; if diligent, the same is reported; if idlers, the fact stands against their names. In all the great mass of humanity, not one is lost sight of. Then let every one be ready to answer the call, saying, "Here, Lord, ready for action."

The world has claims upon you. If you fail to shine as lights in the world, some will rise in the judgment, and charge upon you the blood of their souls. It will be seen that you were an agent in the hands of the enemy of God and man to mislead and deceive by your profession of Christianity. You did not lead souls to piety and devotion. You had a name to live, but were spiritually dead. You had not the vitalizing influence of the Spirit of God, which is abundantly provided for all who, in faith, make demands upon it (RH Aug. 16, 1898).

A Daily Inventory.—God judges every man according to his work. Not only does He judge, but He sums up, day

- 7 Let us be glad and rejoice, and give honour to him: for the marriage of the Lamb is come, and his wife hath made herself ready.
- 8 And to her was granted that she should be arrayed in fine linen, clean and white: for the fine linen is the righteousness of saints.
- 9 And he saith unto me, Write, Blessed are they which are called unto the marriage supper of the Lamb. And he saith unto me, These are the true sayings of God.
- 10 And I fell at his feet to worship him. And he said unto me, See thou do it not: I am thy fellowservant, and of thy brethren that have the testimony of Jesus: worship God: for the testimony of Jesus is the spirit of prophecy.

Christ's Second Advent and Conquest of This Earth

- 11 And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse; and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war.
- 12 His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns; and he had a name written, that no man knew, but he himself.
- 13 And he was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God.
- 14 And the armies which were in heaven followed him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean.
- 15 And out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nations: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God.
- 16 And he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS.
- 17 And I saw an angel standing in the sun; and he cried with a loud voice, saying to all the fowls that fly in the midst of heaven, Come and gather yourselves together unto the supper of the great God;
- 18 That ye may eat the flesh of kings, and the flesh of captains, and the flesh of mighty men, and the flesh of horses, and of them that sit on them, and the flesh of all men, both free and bond, both small and great.

- 19 And I saw the beast, and the kings of the earth, and their armies, gathered together to make war against him that sat on the horse, and against his army.
- 20 And the beast was taken, and with him the false prophet that wrought miracles before him, with which he deceived them that had received the mark of the beast, and them that worshipped his image. These both were cast alive into a lake of fire burning with brimstone.
- 21 And the remnant were slain with the sword of him that sat upon the horse, which sword proceeded out of his mouth: and all the fowls were filled with their flesh.

The Millennium the Extermination of Sin and Sinners

- 20 And I saw an angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand.
- 2 And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years.
- 3 And cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled: and after that he must be loosed a little season.
- 4 And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them: and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years.
- 5 But the rest of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished. This is the first resurrection.
- 6 Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years.

by day and hour by hour, our progress in well-doing (RH May 16, 1899).

20:12-15 (chs. 3-5; 13-8; 21:27; 22:19). The Book of Life.—When we become children of God, our names are written in the Lamb's book of life, and they remain there until the time of the investigative judgment. Then the name of every individual will be called, and his record examined, by Him who declares, "I know thy works." If in that day it shall appear that all our wicked deeds have not been fully repented of, our names will be blotted from the book of life, and our sins will stand against us (ST Aug. 6, 1885).

(Ex. 32:30-33; see EGW on Matt. 12:31, 32.) A Just Punishment for the Sinner.—Moses manifested his great love for Israel in his entreaty to the Lord to forgive their sin, or blot his name out of the book which He had written. This intercession here illustrates Christ's love and mediation for the sinful race. But the Lord refused to let Moses suffer for the sins of His backsliding people. He declared to him that those who had sinned against Him He would blot out of His book which He had written, for the righteous should not suffer for the guilt of the sinner.

The book here referred to is the book of records in heaven, in which every name is inscribed, and the acts of all, their sins, and obedience, are faithfully written. When individuals commit sins which are too grievous for the Lord to pardon, their names are erased from the book, and they are devoted to destruction (ST May 27, 1880).

21:1 (Isa. 33:21). No Engulfing Ocean.—The sea divides friends. It is a barrier between us and those whom we love. Our associations are broken up by the broad, fathomless ocean. In the new earth there will be no more sea, and there shall pass there "no galley with oars." In the past many who have loved and served God have been bound by chains to their seats in galleys, compelled to serve the purpose of cruel, hardhearted men. The Lord has looked upon their suffering in sympathy and compassion.

- 7 And when the thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison.
- 8 And shall go out to deceive the nations which are in the four quarters of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle: the number of whom is as the sand of the sea.
- 9 And they went up on the breadth of the earth, and compassed the camp of the saints about, and the beloved city: and fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them.
- 10 And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever.
- 11 And I saw a great white throne, and him that sat on it, from whose face the earth and the heaven fled away; and there was found no place for them.
- 12 And I saw the dead, small and great, stand before God; and the books were opened: and another book was opened, which is the book of life: and the dead were judged out of those things which were written in the books, according to their works.
- 13 And the sea gave up the dead which were in it; and death and hell delivered up the dead which were in them: and they were judged every man according to their works.
- 14 And death and hell were cast into the lake of fire. This is the second death.
- 15 And whosoever was not found written in the book of life was cast into the lake of fire.

The New Earth and Its Inhabitants (21:1-22:5)

The New Jerusalem

- 21 And I saw a new heaven and a new earth: for the first heaven and the first earth were passed away; and there was no more sea.
- 2 And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband.

- 4 And God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying, neither shall there be any more pain: for the former things are passed away.

- 6 And he said unto me, It is done. I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end. I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely.

Thank God, in the earth made new there will be no fierce torrents, nor engulfing ocean, nor restless, murmuring waves (MS 33, 1911).

21:1-4 (Isa. 30:26). God's Family United at Last.—Now the church is militant, now we are confronted with a world in midnight darkness, almost wholly given over to idolatry. But the day is coming in which the battle will have been fought, the victory won. The will of God is to be done on earth, as it is done in heaven. Then the nations will own no other law than the law of heaven. All will be a happy, united family, clothed with the garments of praise and thanksgiving—the robe of Christ's righteousness.

All nature in its surpassing loveliness will offer to God a constant tribute of praise and adoration. The world will be bathed in the light of heaven. The years will move on in gladness. The light of the moon will be as the light of the sun, and the light of the sun will be sevenfold greater than it is now. Over the scene the morning stars will sing together, and the sons of God will shout for joy, while Christ and God will unite in proclaiming, "There shall be no more sin, neither shall there be any more death" (RI Dec. 17, 1908).

21:4 (see EGW on 1 Cor. 15:51-55). The Christian's Summer.—This earth is the place of preparation for heaven. The time spent here is the Christian's winter. Then the chilly winds of affliction blow upon us, and the waves of trouble roll against us. But in the near future, when Christ comes, sorrow and sighing will be forever ended. Then will be the Christian's summer. All trials will be over, and there will be no more sickness or death. "God shall wipe away all tears from their eyes; and there shall be no more death, neither sorrow, nor crying . . . for the former things are passed away" (MS 28, 1886).

reed to measure the city, and the gates thereof, and the wall thereof.

16 And the city lieth foursquare, and the length is as large as the breadth: and he measured the city with the reed, twelve thousand furlongs. The length and the breadth and the height of it are equal.

17 And he measured the wall thereof, an hundred and forty and four cubits, according to the measure of a man, that is, of the angel.

18 And the building of the wall of it was of jasper: and the city was pure gold, like unto clear glass.

19 And the foundations of the wall of the city were garnished with all manner of precious stones. The first foundation was jasper; the second, sapphire; the third, a chalcedony; the fourth, an emerald;

20 The fifth, sardonyx; the sixth, sardius; the seventh, chrysolite; the eighth, beryl; the ninth, a topaz; the tenth, a chrysoprasus; the eleventh, a jacinth; the twelfth, an amethyst.

21 And the twelve gates were twelve pearls; every several gate was of one pearl: and the street of the city was pure gold, as it were transparent glass.

22 And I saw no temple therein: for the Lord God Almighty and the Lamb are the temple of it.

23 And the city had no need of the sun, neither of the moon, to shine in it: for the glory of God did lighten it, and the Lamb is the light thereof.

24 And the nations of them which are saved shall walk in the light of it: and the kings of the earth do bring their glory and honour into it.

25 And the gates of it shall not be shut at all by day: for there shall be no night there.

26 And they shall bring the glory and honour of the nations into it.

27 And there shall in no wise enter into it any thing that defileth, neither whatsoever worketh abomination, or maketh a lie: but they which are written in the Lamb's book of life.

The Eternal Dominion of the Saints

3 And there shall be no more curse: but the throne of God and of the Lamb shall be in it; and his servants shall serve him:

Epilogue: Admonition and Invitation (22:6-21)

Reception of the Book and Its Message

6 And he said unto me, These sayings are faithful and true: and the Lord God of the holy prophets sent his angel to shew unto his servants the things which must shortly be done.

7 Behold, I come quickly: blessed is he that keepeth the sayings of the prophecy of this book.

8 And I John saw these things, and heard them. And when I had heard and seen, I fell down to worship before the feet of the angel which shewed me these things.

9 Then saith he unto me, See thou do it not: for I am thy fellowservant, and of thy brethren the prophets, and of them which keep the sayings of this book: worship God.

10 And he saith unto me, Seal not the sayings of the prophecy of this book: for the time is at hand.

An Appeal to Be Ready for the Coming of Christ

11 He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still.

12 And, behold, I come quickly; and my

22:1, 2 (ch. 7:17; see EGV on Luke 23:40-43). Higher Education in the Future Life.—Christ, the heavenly Teacher, will lead His people to the tree of life that grows on either side of the river of life, and He will explain to them the truths they could not in this life understand. In that future life His people will gain the higher education in its completeness. Those who enter the city of God will have the golden crowns placed upon their heads. That will be a joyful scene that none of us can afford to miss. We shall cast our crowns at the feet of Jesus, and again and again we will give Him the glory and praise His holy name. Angels will unite in the songs of triumph. Touching their golden harps, they will fill all heaven with rich music and songs to the Lamb (MS 31, 1909).

22:2 (ch. 2:7; Gen. 2:9; see EGV on Gen. 3:22-24; John 5:39). Life-giving Power in Tree of Life.—The tree of life is a representation of the preserving care of Christ for His children. As Adam and Eve ate of this tree, they acknowledged their dependence upon God. The tree of life possessed the power to perpetuate life, and as long as they ate of it, they could not die. The lives of the antediluvians were protracted because of the life-giving power of this tree, which was transmitted to them from Adam and Eve (RH Jan. 26, 1897).

(John 1:4.) Life-giving Fruit Ours Through Christ.—The fruit of the tree of life in the Garden of Eden possessed supernatural virtue. To eat of it was to live forever. Its fruit was the antidote of death: its leaves were for the sustaining of life and immortality. But through man's disobedience, death entered the world. Adam ate of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, the fruit of which he had been forbidden to touch. This transgression opened the floodgates of woe upon our race.

After the entrance of sin, the heavenly Husbandman transplanted the tree of life to the Paradise above; but its branches hang over the wall to the lower world. Through reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be.

13 I am Alpha and Omega, the beginning and the end, the first and the last.

14 Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city.

15 For without are dogs, and sorcerers, and whoremongers, and murderers, and idolaters, and whosoever loveth and maketh a lie.

16 I Jesus have sent mine angel to testify unto you these things in the churches. I am the root and the offspring of David, and the bright and morning star.

17 And the Spirit and the bride say, Come. And let him that heareth say, Come. And let him that is athirst come. And whosoever will, let him take the water of life freely.

18 For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book:

19 And if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book.

21 The grace of our Lord Jesus Christ be with you all. Amen.

the redemption purchased by the blood of Christ, we may still eat of its life-giving fruit.

Of Christ it is written, "In him was life, and the life was the light of men." He is the fountain of life. Obedience to Him is the life-giving power that gladdens the soul.

Christ declares: "I am the bread of life; he that cometh to me shall never hunger, and he that believeth on me shall never thirst" (John 6:57, 65; Rev. 2:7, last part, quoted) (ST March 31, 1909).

(Ps. 19:10; John 6:54-57.) Tree of Life Planted for Us.—The sons of men have had a practical knowledge of evil, but Christ came to the world to show them that He had planted for them the tree of life, the leaves of which were for the healing of the nations (MS 67, 1898).

The leaves of the tree of life are proffered you. They are sweeter than honey and the honeycomb. Take them, eat them, digest them, and your faintheartedness will pass away (MS 71, 1898).

Christ . . . was the tree of life to all who would pluck and eat (MS 95, 1898).

Bible the Tree of Life to Us.—Let all bear in mind that the tree of life bears twelve manner of fruits. This represents the spiritual work of our earthly missions. The Word of God is to us the tree of life. Every portion of the Scripture has its use. In every part of the Word is some lesson to be learned. Then learn how to study your Bibles. This book is not a heap of odds and ends. It is an educator. Your own thoughts must be called into exercise before you can be really benefited by Bible study. Spiritual sinew and muscle must be brought to bear upon the Word. The Holy Spirit will bring to remembrance the words of Christ. He will enlighten the mind, and guide the research (Letter 3, 1898).

Christ the Tree of Life.—Christ is the source of our life, the source of immortality. He is the tree of life, and to all who come to Him He gives spiritual life (RH Jan. 26, 1897).

22:3, 4. A Definition of Heaven.—Christ is the truth of all that we find in the Father. The definition of heaven is the presence of Christ (Und. MS 58).

22:4. See EGW on ch. 7:2, 3.

22:10-12 (chs. 4:3; 10:1; see EGW on ch. 10:7; 2 Peter 3:9). Christ's Intercession Soon to Cease.—The One who has stood as our intercessor, who hears all penitential prayers and confessions; who is represented with a rainbow, the symbol of grace and love, encircling His head, is soon to cease His work in the heavenly sanctuary. Grace and mercy will then descend from the throne, and justice will take their place. He for whom His people have looked will assume His right—the office of Supreme Judge (RH Jan. 1, 1889).

Probation Ends When Least Expected.—When probation ends, it will come suddenly, unexpectedly—at a time when we are least expecting it. But we can have a clean record in heaven today, and know that God accepts us; and finally, if faithful, we shall be gathered into the kingdom of heaven (MS 95, 1906).

20 ¹ or, the grave 21 ¹ or, these things 22 ¹ or, from the tree of life

No Second Probation.—There is not a second probation for anyone. Now is probationary time, before the angel shall fold her golden wings, the angel of mercy, and shall step down from the throne, and mercy, mercy is gone forever (MS 49, 1894).

(John 9:4.) Time of Probation's Close Not Revealed.—God has not revealed to us the time when this message will close, or when probation will have an end. Those things that are revealed we shall accept for ourselves and for our children; but let us not seek to know that which has been kept secret in the councils of the Almighty. . . .

Letters have come to me asking me if I have any special light as to the time when probation will close; and I answer that I have only this message to bear, that it is now time to work while the day lasts, for the night cometh in which no man can work. Now, just now, it is time for us to be watching, working, and waiting.

The Word of the Lord reveals the fact that the end of all things is at hand, and its testimony is most decided that it is necessary for every soul to have the truth planted in the heart so that it will control the life and sanctify the character. The Spirit of the Lord is working to take the truth of the Inspired Word and stamp it upon the soul so that the professed followers of Christ will have a holy, sacred joy that they will be able to impart to others. The opportune time for us to work is now, just now, while the day lasts. But there is no command for anyone to search the Scriptures in order to ascertain, if possible, when probation will close. God has no such message for any mortal lips. He would have no mortal tongue declare that which He has hidden in His secret councils (RH Oct. 9, 1894).

22:13. See EGW on 1 Cor. 15:22, 45.

22:13-17 (ch. 1:8). The Alpha and Omega of Scripture.—(Rev. 22:13-17 quoted.) Here we have the Alpha of Genesis and the Omega of Revelation. The blessing is promised to all those who keep the commandments of God, and who cooperate with Him in the proclamation of the third angel's message (RH June 8, 1897).

22:14 (ch. 20:12, 13; see EGW on Gen. 3:22-24; Rom. 3:31; 2 Cor. 3:7-11). City of God for Commandment Keepers.—None who have had the light of truth will enter the city of God as commandment breakers. His law lies at the foundation of His government in earth and in heaven. If they have knowingly trampled upon and despised His law on the earth, they will not be taken to heaven to do the same work there; there is no change of character when Christ comes. The character building is to go on during the hours of probation. Day by day their actions are registered in the books of heaven, and they will, in the great day of God, be rewarded as their works have been. It will then be seen who receives the blessing. "Blessed are they that do his commandments, that they may have right to the tree of life, and may enter in through the gates into the city" (RH Jan. 25, 1885).

(Col. 1:26, 27.) Travel in the Future Life.—Many seem to have the idea that this world and the heavenly mansions constitute the universe of God. Not so. The redeemed throng will range from world to world, and much of their time will be employed in searching out the mysteries of redemption. And throughout the whole stretch of eternity, this subject will be continually opening to their minds. The privileges of those who overcome by the blood of the Lamb and the word of their testimony are beyond comprehension (RH March 9, 1886).

*Some editions of the LXX give Methuselah's age at the birth of Lamech as 187 years, possibly in an attempt to avoid the obvious difficulty of having Methuselah live 14 years after the Flood.

*Ancient texts of the LXX disagree on these figures. The figures here given are from the oldest LXX texts known.

^aIt is possible to assign only conjectural dates for the various judgeships and other events of this period; the dates given set forth a possible solution to the problem of fitting all the periods of the book of Judges into the 480 years of 1 Kings 6:1. The dates of Egyptian kings are approximately correct. No dates for the Hittite kings are given, since their chronology is not yet established.

3. Tentative Chronology of the Hebrew Kingdoms* and the Exile

					(Darius the Mede 539-537?)
					Cyrus (Persian) 539-530
Psamtik III	526-525

The Hebrew reigns thus marked () are reckoned as overlapping; that is, the earlier years of one reign coincide with the closing years of the preceding reign, representing coregencies. The one exception is Pekah, whose years seem to have been reckoned from 752 B.C., ten years before he took over actual control of the kingdom by murdering Menahem's son Pekahiah.

#Dates of the Egyptian kings of dynasties 22 to 25 are unknown, and the dynasty dates here given are approximate only.

The dates of Assyrian kings from about 900 B.C. and on are generally accepted today as fixed with reasonable certainty within a year (for example, Sargon's reign began at some time between spring 722 and spring 721); a few are more exact than that.

Babylonian dates are well known, for Nebuchadnezzar's B.C. dating is completely certain; an astronomical tablet from his 37th year aligns that year with 568/67 B.C., Spring to spring.

The dates assigned to most of the Hebrew kings are tentative; the Judah and Israel lines are aligned according to the most reasonably workable interpretation of the Bible data, then the B.C. dates are arrived at on the basis of synchronisms of the last kings of Judah with the known years of Nebuchadnezzar. Since certain B.C. dates of Judah's line are fixed, and there is a synchronization of the years of Ahab and Jehu of Israel with Assyrian data for Shalmaneser III, the chronology of the Hebrew kings may be considered approximately correct. Any difference of interpretation might shift the earlier reigns, but the difference would be a very few years.

These regnal years are not given in exact form (as 931/30, etc.), to indicate that the year began in either the spring or fall of 931 and ended in 930, etc.). Hence a plus or minus 1 should be allowed unless exact dates of accession appear in the dictionary articles under names of specific kings.

*The history of the last years of Assyria is confused. This is the reason that the date of Ashurbanipal's death is uncertain, as well as the dates of his two successors, except the date of death of Sin-shar-ishkun. It is even possible that Ashur-etil-ilani and Sin-shar-ishkun are two names of one individual.

4. Chronology of Postexilic Period

In this period fall well-established dates, for the Bible gives many regnal dates for Persian kings whose reigns are accurately established.

INSPIRATION OF THE BIBLE

1. WHERE THE BIBLE CAME FROM

The Bible is a revelation of God to man consisting of sixty-six books bound together and forming one book. Twenty-two of the books of the Bible are mainly historical, twenty-one are largely books of prophecy, twenty-one are in the form of letters, and two are primarily poetic.

Even though written by at least thirty-six different authors who were kings, farmers, lawyers, generals, fishermen, ministers, and priests, a tax collector, a doctor, some rich and some poor, stretching over a period of 1,600 years, yet the Bible is one book because God was its real author.

1. Who gave the prophecies of the Bible by means of the Holy Spirit?

"For the prophecy came not in old time by the will of man; but holy men of God spake as they were moved by the Holy Ghost." 2 Peter 1:21. Read 1 Peter 1:10, 11.

 "The Spirit of Christ" inspired the prophets to show that the whole Bible is a Christian book.

2. How much of the Bible is inspired by God?

"All scripture is given by inspiration of God." 2 Timothy 3:16, first part.

3. Who revealed the future to the prophets through the inspiration of the Holy Spirit?

"Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing but he revealeth his secrets unto his servants the prophets." Amos 3:7.

4. Did the prophets recognize that their messages were from God?

Yes. Here are a few examples:

David said, "The Spirit of the LORD spake by me, and his word was in my tongue." 2 Samuel 23:2.

Jeremiah said, "The LORD said unto me, Behold, I have put my words in thy mouth." Jeremiah 1: 9, last part. Read Jeremiah 1:4-9.

God told Ezekiel, "Thou shalt speak my words." Ezekiel 2:7, first part.

When Zacharias, the father of John the Baptist, "was filled with the Holy Ghost" he said that God had spoken "by the mouth of his holy prophets, which have been since the world began." Luke 1:70.

5. By what means does John say the Book of Revelation was given?

"The Revelation of Jesus Christ, which God gave unto him, to shew unto his servants things which must shortly come to pass; and he sent and signified it by his angel unto his servant John: who bare record of the word of God, and of the testimony of Jesus Christ, and of all things that he saw." Revelation 1:1, 2.

 In this example of the steps in God's messages to the prophets we see that God is the fountainhead of truth. Christ received truth from the Father. Jesus then gave it to the chosen angel. The angel communicated the message to the prophet, who in turn passed it to the people either orally, or by writing, or both.

Conclusion

It is evident that it was "God, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets." Hebrews 1:1. The Bible is God's book.

Because it is His Word it will stand forever. Read Isaiah 40:8. It would be well for us to place the same value on God's Word as did Job. "Neither have I gone back from the commandment of his lips; I have esteemed the words of his mouth more than my necessary food." Job 23:12.

2. FULFILLED PROPHECIES — ILLUSTRATIONS OF INSPIRATION

God claims to be able to reveal the future. He says, "Behold, the former things are come to pass, and new things do I declare: before they spring forth I tell you of them." Isaiah 42:9. God is able to declare "the end from the beginning." Isaiah 46:9, 10. Therefore fulfilled prophecy becomes a mighty testimony to the inspiration of the Bible.

1. What did God predict concerning ancient Babylon?

"And Babylon, the glory of kingdoms, the beauty of the Chaldees' excellency, shall be as when God overthrew Sodom and Gomorrah. It shall never be inhabited, neither shall it be dwelt in from generation to generation, neither shall the Arabian pitch tent there: neither shall the shepherds make their fold there." Isaiah 13:19, 20.

 Read also Jeremiah 51:26, 37. Go to the site of ancient Babylon and you will find it is in ruins just as God said it would be.

2. What did the prophet say God would do to the great city of Nineveh?

"And he will stretch out his hand against the north, and destroy Assyria; and will make Nineveh a desolation, and dry like a wilderness. . . . This is the rejoicing city that dwelt carelessly, that said in her heart, I am, and there is none beside me: how is she become a desolation, a place for beasts to lie down in! every one that passeth by her shall hiss, and wag his hand." Zephaniah 2:13, 15.

 Nineveh was a large city. It was seven and a half miles around, its walls enclosing 1,640 acres of land. In the excavations of Nineveh parts of Sennacherib's and Ashurbanipal's palaces have been uncovered. A clay prism of Sennacherib names fifteen gates in the walls of Nineveh. These walls were about sixty feet high and forty feet thick.

3. Did God predict accurately the downfall of Egypt—will she be a world power again?

"It shall be the basest of the kingdoms: neither shall it exalt itself any more above the nations: for I will diminish them, that they shall no more rule over the nations." Ezekiel 29:15.

 Read also Ezekiel 30:4, 12, 13. Egypt was at one time the leading nation of the world. It was a center of the arts, sciences and religion.

4. What was God's prediction concerning ancient Tyre?

"And they shall make a spoil of thy riches, and make a prey of thy merchandise: and they shall break down thy walls, and destroy thy pleasant houses: and they shall lay thy stones and thy timber and thy dust in the midst of the water. And I will cause the noise of thy songs to cease: and the sound of thy harps shall be no more heard. And I will make thee like the top of a rock: thou shalt be a place to spread nets upon; thou shalt be built no more: for I the LORD have spoken it, saith the Lord GOD." Ezekiel 26:12-14.

13 Tyre was a city of merchants who traded with all countries around the Mediterranean Sea and even beyond. Because of their wealth they were many times involved in undesired wars. Nebuchadnezzar besieged the mainland Tyre and destroyed it. He earned on a thirteen-year siege of the island which he never conquered. However, a compromise was entered into which permitted Tyre to retain its kingship on a semi-independent status. Babylon maintained in the city a commissioner whose duty it was to make sure that the proper tribute was paid regularly to Babylon.

Tyre on the mainland was not rebuilt at that time but the island city continued past the Persian period. When Alexander threatened Tyre this island city refused to submit to Grecian control. So Alexander, using timbers and debris from the old city of Tyre, built a causeway out to the island and fulfilled the prophecy of Ezekiel 26:12. His army marched over the causeway to the island and captured and destroyed the city. He killed the leaders and sold the remaining inhabitants into slavery. The city was rebuilt but never was quite as it had been before its fall. Later in A.D. 1291 it was almost completely destroyed by the Saracens. The present day village is partly on the northern part of the island and partly on the causeway, which has increased through the years to a width of almost a half mile. Some remains of the ancient buildings can still be seen in the water. There is still a fishing harbor on the north side of the island. The great nation of Ezekiel's day is no more.

5. What did God predict about the nations of modern Europe?

"And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay." Daniel 2:43.

13 In the dream given to Nebuchadnezzar God revealed the future of certain nations to the end of time. Read Daniel 2:31-45. The king was shown an image, and the various parts of the image represented great world powers. The head of gold represented Babylon. The breast and arms of silver depicted the next world empire, Medo-Persia. The belly and thighs of brass represented the Grecian Empire. The legs of iron represented Rome. The feet and toes of iron and clay represented the nations into which Rome was divided. Just as it is impossible to mix iron and clay and unite them, so the prediction is that the nations of Europe will never unite. Charlemagne, Louis XIV, Napoleon, Kaiser Wilhelm, and Hitler all tried to bring about a united Europe and failed. Why? Read Daniel 2:43 again.

Conclusion

We are living in the last days of earth. We must take heed to the Bible counsel, "Now all these things happened unto them for ensamples: and they are written for our admonition, upon whom the ends of the world are come." 1 Corinthians 10:11. "Believe in the LORD your God, so shall ye be established; believe his prophets, so shall ye prosper." 2 Chronicles 20:20, last part.

3. THE CREATION OF ALL THINGS

Who made the world? How did man arrive upon the earth? From where did the flowers, the trees, the birds, the animals, and the fish come? For the correct answer to these questions we must turn to the Bible. God's Book contains a record of creation.

1. What is the origin of the material universe?

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth." Genesis 1:1.

2. How were the heavens made?

"By the word of the LORD were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth . . . For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast." Psalm 33:6, 9.

3. How long was the earth to endure?

"Who laid the foundations of the earth, that it should not be removed for ever." Psalm 104:5

4. Who has created all things?

"Lift up your eyes on high, and behold who hath created these things, that bringeth out their host by number: he calleth them all by names by the greatness of his might, for that he is strong in power; not one faileth . . . Hast thou not known? hast thou not heard, that the everlasting God, the LORD, the Creator of the ends of the earth, fainteth not, neither is weary? there is no searching of his understanding." Isaiah 40:26, 28.

"God . . . hath in these last days spoken unto us by his Son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds." Hebrews 1:1, 2.

5. How was man brought into existence?

"And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul." Genesis 2:7.

6. How is it possible to understand the creation story?

"Through faith we understand that the worlds were framed by the word of God, so that things which are seen were not made of things which do appear." Hebrews 11:3.

7. Can we be sure that each day of creation week was a twenty-four hour day?

The first chapter of Genesis gives a definite record of each day's work and there is a positive marking of the exact duration of each day. At the close of the first day's work the Bible says, "The evening and the morning were the first day." Genesis 1:5, last part. And in the very same way each of the remaining days of the week are marked off. Each day consists of two parts, the light and the dark. In God's plan the setting of the sun marks the close of the day. Read Genesis 1:14-18. Each day of creation week began and ended with the setting of the sun, and was thus twenty-four hours long.

13 Sometimes the idea is advanced that a day in some instances may be an indefinite period of time. However, a study of the Hebrew manuscripts reveals that whenever the word day is used with a definite number as an adjective a day of twenty-four hours is always indicated.

8. Why was the world created?

"For thus saith the LORD that created the heavens: God himself that formed the earth and made it; he hath established it, he created it not in vain, he formed it to be inhabited: I am the LORD; and there is none else." Isaiah 45:18.

13 Read Job 38:1 through Job 42:6. In these verses you will read evidences of God's creative might and Job's final confession as he comes to see God's power and wisdom.

9. What are the basic elements of nature presented in Genesis, chapter one?

In Chapter one each of these laws is preceded by the phrase, "And God said."

First, God created light. Read Verse 3.

Second, He created the atmosphere.

Third, in Verse 9 God set the bounds for the land and the sea.

Fourth, God fixed the species in the vegetable kingdom. Each would produce after its kind. Read Verse 11.

Fifth, God divided time into days, months, seasons by the rotation of the sun, moon, earth in their several paths. Read Verse 14.

Sixth, God fixed the species of aerial and marine life. Each would produce also after its kind. Read Verses 20, 21.

Seventh, in Verse 24 God fixed the species of cattle and beasts. Each would produce after his kind.

Eighth, man's creation was a separate and distinct act of creation. Read Verse 26.

Ninth, God then gave the law of man's generation. Read Verse 28.

Tenth, finally God gave man's diet. Read Verses 29, 30.

10. What principles having to do with man's conduct are revealed in Genesis, chapter 2?

First, God mentioned the Sabbath. He made the seventh day holy. Read Genesis 2:1-3.

Second, He gave labor. Read Verse 15.

Third, God placed restraint on man. Man was to manifest self-control. He was to acknowledge God's ownership. The tree of knowledge of good and evil became the test of man's obedience. Read Verses 16, 17.

Fourth, God gave marriage. This was the foundation of the home and human society. Read Verses 18, 24.

Conclusion

Everything God did was "very good." Man was made perfect. There is no God like the Creator. Let us worship Him. Read Isaiah 43:10-13.

4. CAN THE BIBLE BE UNDERSTOOD?

There was a time when the Christian church did not permit the laity to read the Bible. Only the clergy had access to copies of God's Word. It was thought that only the learned and better educated could rightly understand the Bible. However, this reasoning is not in accord with the Bible.

1. What is the first basic rule for a knowledge of truth?

"If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." John 7:17.

To understand the Bible one must study the Scriptures. Read 2 Timothy 2:15. Ask God for help as David did in Psalm 119:18.

Rule 1: Study the Bible reverently with a sincere desire to know and to practice truth.

2. What is truth?

"Sanctify them through thy truth: thy word is truth." John 17:17.

Rule 2: Accept the Bible as God's voice to you. Read John 10:27, 28 and 1 Thessalonians 2:13.

3. How can one find the truth on a particular subject?

"Whom shall he teach knowledge? and whom shall he make to understand doctrine? them that are weaned from the milk, and drawn from the breasts. For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little." Isaiah 28:9, 10. Read also 1 Corinthians 2:13, 14. Remember that the evidence of truth is in the Bible itself. One scripture can be the key to unlock the meaning of other scriptures.

When one studies the Scriptures he discovers various Bible writers touch on similar subjects. This is much like a puzzle to find the Bible's full teaching on a given subject one gathers together all the various authors have written on a given topic.

4. What was the method Jesus used when endeavoring to find truth?

"And beginning at Moses and all the prophets, he expounded unto them in all the scriptures the things concerning himself. . . . And he said unto them, These are the words which I spake unto you, while I was yet with you, that all things must be fulfilled, which were written in the law of Moses, and in the prophets, and in the psalms, concerning me. Then opened he their understanding, that they might understand the scriptures." Luke 24:27, 44, 45.

Rule 3: The Bible is its own best commentary.

5. In what way were the Bereans more noble than the people at Thessalonica?

"These were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, and searched the scriptures daily, whether those things were so." Acts 17:11. Read also John 5:39.

Rule 4: There should be perseverance in research.

6. What warning about the Book of Revelation helps us to see how serious it is to add to or to subtract from God's Word?

"For I testify unto every man that heareth the words of the prophecy of this book, If any man shall add unto these things, God shall add unto him the plagues that are written in this book: and if any man shall take away from the words of the book of this prophecy, God shall take away his part out of the book of life, and out of the holy city, and from the things which are written in this book." Revelation 22:18, 19.

Rule 5: There is to be no adding or taking away from what the Bible says. Read Proverbs 30:5, 6 and Deuteronomy 4:2.

The text refers not only to cutting out or writing in material but also to making the Bible say what it does not say or denying what it truly affirms by false interpretation. Therefore we must let the total Bible speak and from the weight of evidence conclude what it teaches.

Conclusion

Remember that "the secret things belong unto the LORD our God: but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children for ever: that we may do all the words of this law." Deuteronomy 29:29. There are some things hard to understand (2 Peter 3:16, 17). However the essential truths can be understood.

5. THE FOUNDATION OF TRUTH

At one point in the Sermon on the Mount Jesus spoke about false prophets. He pointed out also the folly of profession unless the life measures up to the profession. He concluded His sermon by comparing those who heard His Word and did it to a wise man who built his house on a rock. His house withstood the rain, the floods, and the winds. On the other hand a man who built on the sand He likened to a person who heard His Word but was unwilling to obey. That house did not stand. The moral-both hear and do Christ's Word.

1. What was the reaction of the people to Jesus' doctrine?

"And it came to pass, when Jesus had ended these sayings, the people were astonished at his doctrine: for he taught them as one having authority, and not as the scribes." Matthew 7:28, 29.

2. What does Paul declare to be the true foundation upon which we are to build?

"For other foundation can no man lay than that is laid, which is Jesus Christ." 1 Corinthians 3:11.

3. Can a person be saved without believing truth?

"But we are bound to give thanks always to God for you, brethren beloved of the Lord, because God hath from the beginning chosen you to salvation through sanctification of the Spirit and belief of the truth." 2 Thessalonians 2:13.

Paul reminds his readers that "from the beginning" God has chosen them. This is not an arbitrary choice. The choice is contingent upon the sanctification of the chosen ones. The sanctification is accomplished by the Holy Spirit.

4. According to Paul's counsel to Titus what kind of doctrine should preachers proclaim?

"But speak thou the things which become sound doctrine...In all things showing thyself a pattern of good works: in doctrine showing uncorruptness, gravity, sincerity." Titus 2:1, 7.

"Sound doctrine" must be the basis of all exhortation and it will bring conviction (Titus 1:9). When instructing Timothy to preach God's Word Paul cautioned him that there would come a time when people would not want to hear "sound doctrine" (2 Timothy 4:1-4).

5. If a person should reject truth what will be the result?

"And with all deceivableness of unrighteousness in them that perish, because they received not the love of the truth, that they might be saved. And for this cause God shall send them strong delusion, that they should believe a lie: that they all might be damned who believed not the truth, but had pleasure in unrighteousness." 2 Thessalonians 2:10-12.

If a person refuses to hear truth that person's prayer becomes an abomination (Proverbs 28:9). Paul instructed Timothy that obeying doctrine is important. Read 1 Timothy 4:16.

Conclusion

We should never close our eyes to truth. Read John 12:35, 36. Jesus showed the folly of this (Matthew 15:14). False doctrine overthrows the faith of some (2 Timothy 2:18). Therefore we ought to determine to test what we believe by the law (the books of Moses) and the testimony of all the prophets as we are instructed in Isaiah 8:20. Let us turn down traditions of men as a foundation of truth. Jesus points out all worship is in vain while teaching man's commandments as God's doctrines (Matthew 15:3-9).

THE FALL AND RESTORATION OF MAN

1. THE APOSTASY OF SATAN

Where did sin originate? Could it have been prohibited? Why does sin exist today? Each of these questions can be answered. There need be no perplexity. What does the Bible say?

1. Did God create the devil?

There is no scripture to indicate God created a devil. All that God created was good and perfect.

2. Whom did God create?

"Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou art created, till iniquity was found in thee." Ezekiel 28:15.

In this chapter the Prince of Tyne represents Lucifer. This is a prophecy of the literal King of Tyre, but a careful reading shows it has this wider meaning because of certain inferences such as "thou hast been in Eden the garden of God." Verse 13.

3. What was Lucifer's position before he sinned?

"Thou art the anointed cherub [angel] that covereth." Ezekiel 28:14, first part. He is called the "covering cherub" in Verse 16. Because of his position near to God's throne he seems to have been the leader of the angels.

4. How did Lucifer become the devil?

"Thine heart was lifted up because of thy beauty, thou hast corrupted thy wisdom by reason of thy brightness." Ezekiel 28:17, first part.

"How art thou fallen from heaven, O Lucifer, son of the morning! how art thou cut down to the ground, which didst weaken the nations! For thou hast said in thine heart, I will ascend into heaven, I will exalt my throne above the stars of God: I will sit also upon the mount of the congregation, in the sides of the north: I will ascend above the heights of the clouds: I will be like the most High." Isaiah 14: 12-14.

Here Satan is presented under the figure of the King of Babylon. Just as God was the king behind Israel's throne, so Satan was king behind the pagan thrones of Tyre and Babylon and at times these nations and leaders reflected Satan's characteristics.

5. What did Satan's apostasy lead him to do?

"And there was war in heaven: Michael and his angels fought against the dragon; and the dragon fought and his angels." Revelation 12:7.

6. What was the result of this battle in heaven?

"And prevailed not; neither was their place found any more in heaven. And the great dragon was cast out, that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world: he was cast out into the earth, and his angels were cast out with him." Revelation 12:8, 9. This corresponds to what Jesus said, "I beheld Satan as lightning fall from heaven." Luke 10:18.

7. Where is the devil now?

"Therefore rejoice, ye heavens, and ye that dwell in them. Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea! for the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time." Revelation 12:12.

8. What is Satan doing on earth?

"Be sober, be vigilant; because your adversary the devil, as a roaring lion, walketh about, seeking whom he may devour." 1 Peter 5:8.

Conclusion

The controversy between Christ and Satan continues on earth. The devil is especially angry with a person who endeavors to keep God's commandments (Revelation 12:17). The reason for this is clear because commandment keepers will enter God's kingdom and live forever (Revelation 22:14). Since Satan is a "liar" and a "murderer" (John 8:44) it is unsafe to follow his suggestions. Therefore let us determine to heed Christ's injunction: "If ye love me, keep my commandments." John 14:15.

2. HOW MAN SINNED

Sin originated when Lucifer and his angel forsook their allegiance to God. When they were cast out of heaven (Revelation 12:9) Satan devised a plan to get man to follow him. This is what the controversy between Christ and Satan is all about. Both are seeking converts.

1. What did the serpent do in the Garden of Eden where man was?

"Now the serpent was more subtle than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden? And the woman said unto the serpent, But of the fruit of the tree which is in the midst of the garden, God hath said, Ye shall not eat of it, neither shall ye touch it, lest ye die. And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die." Genesis 3:1-4.

 The serpent was the medium by which Satan attracted Eve's attention. He handled truth loosely. He knew they could eat of the trees but he tried to make it appear God had forbidden this. When Eve told him that it was only the fruit of the tree in the midst of the garden they were not to eat or touch lest they die then Satan contradicted God and told a lie. "Ye shall not surely die."

2. Whom did Adam and Eve believe, God or the serpent?

"And when the woman saw that the tree was good for food, and that it was pleasant to the eyes, and a tree to be desired to make one wise, she took of the fruit thereof, and did eat, and gave also unto her husband with her; and he did eat." Genesis 3:6.

3. Because Adam sinned how did this affect the human race?

"Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned." Romans 5:12. Read Romans 3:23; 1 Corinthians 15:22, first part.

4. What is sin?

"Whosoever committeth sin transgresseth also the law: for sin is the transgression of the law." 1 John 3:4. Read Romans 4:15. God's law helps us to know what sin is (Romans 3:20, last part).

Conclusion

Disobedience to God's command was sin in the Garden of Eden. That same principle hold true today. However, a person need not continue to disobey and sin. Whenever a person sins he makes that choice. Read Joshua 24:15.

3. WHY DID GOD PERMIT SIN?

Many have been perplexed because sin and its author, Satan, still exist. Some even charge God with the responsibility for it since He Permitted sin. God is good, merciful, and all-powerful but He is also love. Each created being was endowed with freedom of choice. God wants people to serve Him because they choose to do so and not because they cannot do otherwise.

1. Why didn't God kill the devil when he first sinned and prevent sin from entering this world?

"God is love." 1 John 4:8.

 The government of God is based on love. If God had destroyed Satan immediately heavenly beings would have served Him through fear. Free moral agents were given time to judge the nature of Satan's rebellion. Read Hebrews 2:14 and 1 John 3:8.

Christ's life and death exposed Satan's true nature and the results of sin. Thus in the proper time God will be able to destroy Satan and sin with the consent of the universe.

2. Will the devil be destroyed?

"Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil." Hebrews 2:14.

 Since Christ has not yet returned, the time has not come for Satan's destruction. God is permitting Satan to run his course. Furthermore, the destruction of the devil will not take place until everyone has had the opportunity to choose to accept Christ and live forever. Satan's destruction will take place before the earth is recreated after the second coming of Jesus.

3. Can we be successful in the battle against the devil, if so, how?

"Finally, my brethren, be strong in the Lord, and in the power of his might. Put on the whole armour of God, that ye may be able to stand against the wiles of the devil." Ephesians 6:10, 11.

 Read Ephesians 6:12-18 where the apostle talks of the necessity of putting on the entire armor of God. It is made up of seven parts and is the assurance of victory. It consists of truth, righteousness, the gospel of peace, faith, salvation, the Bible, and prayer.

4. How can we overcome the devil's temptations?

"Submit yourselves therefore to God. Resist the devil and he will flee from you." James 4:7. "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me." Philipians 4:13.

 You can live right even though the devil is constantly around to tempt. But how? You can be victorious by surrendering your will to Christ. Take courage, Christ was tempted in all points, yet He never sinned. There is victory over the devil by following the instruction found in Isaiah. "Look unto me, and be ye saved, all the ends of the earth: for I am God, and there is none else." Isaiah 45:22.

Conclusion

God's original purpose will one day be fulfilled. There will be a sinless world. God's hand has been placed upon the nations as the Bible says "This is the purpose that is purposed upon the whole earth: and this is the hand that is stretched out upon all the nations. For the LORD of hosts hath purposed and who shall disannul it? and his hand is stretched out, and who shall turn it back?" Isaiah 14:26, 27. As the conflict between Christ and Satan continues God's purpose and plan for man is being developed. Read John 3:16, 17. Put your will on God's side for victory over sin "because greater is he that is in you, than he that is in the world." 1 John 4:4.

4. GOD'S PLAN FOR THE RESTORATION OF MAN

The Creator made man upright (Ecclesiastes 7:29). However Satan, when cast to this earth, was successful in his deception. Through the mediumship of the beautiful serpent in Eden the devil led Adam and Eve to disbelief God's Word and then into disobedience of God's commandments. Man was thus brought into bondage to the devil (2 Peter 2:19). "Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned." Romans 5:12.

1. In Adam's darkest hour, when he realized what he had lost, what statement did God make to the serpent that would encourage Adam?

"And I will put enmity between thee and the woman, and between thy seed and her seed; it shall bruise thy head, and thou shalt bruise his heel." Genesis 3:15.

 When man sinned Christ who created all things (John 1:3) offered to die for him. Christ offered to pay the wages of sin and in this sense He was "the Lamb slain from the foundation of the world." Revelation 13:8. Read 1 Peter 1:18-20.

2. Of whose seed was man's deliverer to come?

The seed of the woman was to bruise the serpent's head (Genesis 3:15). Christ had to be of the seed of the woman and made of a woman in order to meet the serpent on his own ground at the point where sin entered the human race.

3. Was Christ made of a woman?

"But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son, made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons." Galatians 4:4, 5.

"In all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren." Hebrews 2:17.

4. When Christ was born of Mary did He partake of Mary's nature?

"Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil." Hebrews 2:14.

The Bible plainly states He took upon Himself human nature "yet without sin." Hebrews 4:15. He became weary (John 4:6). He became hungry (Matthew 4:2). He became thirsty (John 19:28). These show that Jesus was a human being, yet He never sinned even to satisfy His needs.

5. What is Christ's relationship to both God and man?

"Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus: who, being in the form of God, thought it not robbery to be equal with God; but made himself of no reputation, and took upon him the form of a servant, and was made in the likeness of men; and being found in fashion as a man, he humbled himself, and became obedient unto death, even the death of the cross." Philipians 2:5-8.

Christ was in the form of God but He took the form of man. He who was equal with God became equal with man. He was Creator and Lord but He became creature and servant. He who was God was made man and flesh (John 1:1, 14).

6. What was Christ made?

He was made flesh (John 1:14). He was "made under the law" (Galatians 4:4). Christ "was made a curse" (Galatians 3:13). The iniquity of all was laid on Him (Isaiah 53:6). He was made to be sin (2 Corinthians 5:21).

7. What prompted Christ's entrance into the human family?

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16.

When Jesus died on the cross He paid the death penalty for our sins. This makes forgiveness and eternal life possible for those who by faith accept His blood. Read Romans 3:23; 1 Peter 2:24; Romans 3:24, 25.

8. What assurance is there that Christ can help me to meet temptations successfully?

"Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people. For in that he himself hath suffered being tempted, he is able to succour them that are tempted." Hebrews 2:17, 18.

Conclusion

Christ came to seek after and then to save lost men and women (Luke 19:10). He is represented as the shepherd seeking the one lost sheep. He came to restore in man the image of God. He put Himself among the lost. He was made to be sin. Read Isaiah 1:18. God's plan is to make man perfect. Read Matthew 5:48 and 2 Peter 1:2-8.

SALVATION

1. MAN NEEDS SALVATION

Salvation is saving man from the consequences of sin; especially, deliverance from sin and eternal death through the atonement of Jesus Christ. Salvation is the need of every human heart, "for all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." Romans 3:23.

1. Through whom is salvation possible?

"Be it known unto you all, and to all the people of Israel, that by the name of Jesus Christ of Nazareth, whom ye crucified, whom God raised from the dead, even by him doth this man stand here before you whole . . . Neither is there salvation in any other; for there is none other name under heaven given among men, whereby we must be saved." Acts 4:10, 12. Read Matthew 1:21.

2. What is man's condition?

- He is born in sin. Read Psalm 51:5; 58:3; Isaiah 48:8.
- His understanding is darkened. Read Ephesians 4:18.
- His heart is full of evil. Read Jeremiah in 17:9.
- He is spiritually dead. Read Ephesians 2:1.

3. Is it possible for man himself to change his condition?

"Can the Ethiopian change his skin, or the leopard his spots? then may ye also do good, that are accustomed to do evil." Jeremiah 13:23. Read Romans 6:23, first part and Romans 3:19, 20.

4. What does man need in his quest for salvation?

- The holy Scriptures. Read 2 Timothy 3:15.
- To look to God. Read Isaiah 45:22.
- To believe in gospel of Christ. Romans 1:16.
- To look for Christ's return. Hebrews 9:28.

5. For whom is Christ the author of salvation?

"And being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him." Hebrews 5:9.

Conclusion

We can have salvation by faith in Christ. "Wherefore he is able also to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing he ever liveth to make intercession for them." Hebrews 7:25. Jude 24 tells us he "is able to keep you from falling." Salvation is free. It is a blessing from God. "Salvation belongeth unto the LORD: thy blessing is upon thy people." Psalm 3:8. The obedience God required of Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden He will see fulfilled in the remnant of His people "that keep the commandments of God, and have the faith of Jesus." Revelation 14:12.

2. WHY CHRIST CAME TO EARTH

Was it really necessary for Christ to come to earth? Could the human race have been saved some other way? Christ's purpose in coming to earth was to save man (Luke 19:10). This was the object of His earthly mission. Jesus considered lost men of more value than all the glory of heaven.

1. Why did Jesus become a partaker of flesh and blood?

"Forasmuch then as the children are partakers of flesh and blood, he also himself likewise took part of the same; that through death he might destroy him that had the power of death, that is, the devil." Hebrews 2:14.

 The incarnation was for the purpose of death. Christ's death was not a mere incident of His human life; it was the supreme purpose of it. He became man that He might die as man for man.

2. What would result from Christ's death?

"Even as the Son of man came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and to give his life a ransom for many." Matthew 20:28.

 The death of Jesus is mentioned directly in the New Testament a great many times. The Old Testament contains many prophetic references to it. This was the route He must take to destroy Satan.

3. About what did Moses and Elias talk with Christ on the mount of transfiguration?

"And, behold, there talked with him two men, which were Moses and Elias: who appeared in glory, and spake of his decease which he should accomplish at Jerusalem." Luke 9:30, 31.

4. According to a prophecy of the Messiah why was Jesus to suffer and die?

"But he was wounded for our transgressions, he was bruised for our iniquities: the chastisement of our peace was upon him; and with his stripes we are healed." Isaiah 53:5. Read Isaiah 53:8, 11, 12.

 Peter talks of the just dying for the unjust (1 Peter 3:18). He "died for our sins" (1 Corinthians 15:3). Read 1 Peter 2:24. Christ's death was vicarious—He was just and deserved to live but He died in the place of unjust men who deserved to die.

5. What did Christ's death accomplish for man?

"For it pleased the Father that in him should all fulness dwell; and, having made peace through the blood of his cross, by him to reconcile all things unto himself; by him, I say, whether they be things in earth, or things in heaven." Colossians 1:19, 20.

6. Why is Christ able to offer pardon to sinners?

"Forasmuch as ye know that ye were not redeemed with corruptible things, as silver and gold, from your vain conversation received by tradition from your fathers; but with the precious blood of Christ, as of a lamb without blemish and without spot." 1 Peter 1:18, 19.

 Jesus became a guilt offering for sin and it is on the ground of His death that pardon is granted to sinners. Read Hebrews 9:22 and Isaiah 53:12. Because of Christ's death God can deal in mercy with the whole world. "Who gave himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time." 1 Timothy 2:6. The ransom price has been paid. All men are potentially forgiven; man must accept this by faith and then the purchased pardon is his.

Conclusion

Christ came to earth and tasted death for every person (Hebrews 2:9). Because Christ came and died God can offer man salvation. He died for the unjust (1 Peter 3:18). He died for sinners (Romans 5:8). He died for the ungodly (Romans 5:6). "And I, if I be lifted up from the earth, will draw all men unto me." John 12:32, 33. The death of Christ is heaven's great magnet drawing all men to Him.

3. REPENTANCE AND CONFESSION

There are some who at times endeavor to excuse sin. This should not be. When Adam and Eve sinned they made a choice. We are free moral agents with the right of choice—we may choose right or we may choose wrong.

1. To be forgiven of sin what is necessary?

"If we confess our sins, he is faithful and just to forgive us our sins, and to cleanse us from all unrighteousness." 1 John 1:9.

2. To whom is sin to be confessed?

"I acknowledged my sin unto thee, and mine iniquity have I not hid. I said, I will confess my transgressions unto the LORD; and thou forgavest the iniquity of my sin Selah." Psalm 32:5.

 Sins of a private or personal nature should be confessed to GOD in Christ's name. Christ is the mediator between God and man. "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." 1 John 2:1, last part. All sin is against God and should be confessed to Him through Christ. In addition, open sin should be confessed openly, and when a wrong has been done to a person, that wrong should be made right with the person offended.

3. What must accompany a true confession of sin?

"He that covereth his sins shall not prosper: but whoso confesseth and forsaketh them shall have mercy." Proverbs 28:13.

 When the Pharisees and Sadducees came to be baptized of John he told them to "bring forth therefore fruits meet for repentance." Matthew 3:8.

4. Whom did Jesus come to call to repentance?

"I am not come to call the righteous, but sinners to repentance." Matthew 9:13, last part.

5. What leads a person to repentance?

"Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and longsuffering; not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?" Romans 2:4.

6. What is God's attitude toward the repentance of people?

"The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness; but is longsuffering to us-ward, not willing that any should perish, but that all should come to repentance." 2 Peter 3:9. It appears that repentance and the acknowledging of truth go together (2 Timothy 2:25). Read 2 Corinthians 6:2.

7. What accompanies repentance?

Paul says, "Ye sorrowed to repentance: for ye were made sorry after a godly manner. . . . For godly sorrow worketh repentance to salvation." 2 Corinthians 7:9, 10.

 The original word for repentance here denotes a change of mind and produces a change of life. The godly sorrow leads to repentance and separation from sin and a firm determination to resist by God's grace the temptation which led to sin in the first place.

8. Did Judas repent of his sin?

"Then Judas, which had betrayed him, when he saw that he was condemned, repented himself, and brought again the thirty pieces of silver to the chief priests and elders, saying, I have sinned in that I have betrayed the innocent blood. And they said, What is that to us? see thou to that." Matthew 27:3, 4.

 The word for repented here denotes only a change of feeling. Judas had a desire that what had been done should be undone. He confessed his sin to his partners rather than to God. His was a sorrow that "worketh death" (2 Corinthians 7:10).

9. Did Esau ever repent of his sin?

"Lest there be any fornicator, or profane person, as Esau, who for one morsel of meat sold his birthright. For ye know how that afterward, when he would have inherited the blessing, he was rejected: for he found no place of repentance, though he sought it carefully with tears." Hebrews 12:16, 17.

Esau never repented of his sin. He regretted having sold the birthright. By his own choice his character was bent and he found no way to regain the birthright he had despised.

10. What will result from true repentance?

"Repent ye therefore, and be converted, that your sins may be blotted out, when the times of refreshing shall come from the presence of the Lord." Acts 3:19.

A person cannot be pardoned who continues unrepentant. If the person has committed the unpardonable sin this has come about through continued resistance to God so that the heart is hardened and there is no longer any response to God's voice. But if one is sorry for his sins and desires to repent and confess them, this fact is evidence that the Holy Spirit is still appealing to his heart.

Conclusion

As a result of genuine repentance there is joy in heaven (Luke 15:7, 10). When the dying thief confessed his sins and repented Jesus gave him the assurance of salvation (Luke 23:43). When Zacchaeus confessed his sins and repented Jesus said, "This day is salvation come to this house." Luke 19:9.

4. SAVED BY GRACE

What is meant by the term grace? To whom has grace been extended? How can a person be the recipient of grace? Some have thought that anciently, before Christ, people were saved by keeping the law but after Christ came they are saved by grace. This is contrary to Scripture for the Bible plainly says, "The grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men." Titus 2:11.

1. Did David understand that men are not saved by works?

"Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the man, unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works." Romans 4:6.

2. Did Moses understand God's grace?

When God proclaimed His name to Moses He said, "The LORD, The LORD God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth." Exodus 34:6.

God's grace was as available then as it is today. In fact several times in Exodus Moses talks about finding grace.

3. How was Abraham saved?

Read Romans 4:1-5.

Noah was also saved by faith as indicated by Hebrews 11:7. Likewise Moses was saved by faith. Read Hebrews 11:24-26. Israel had the same saving gospel as we have. It was taught to them through types. Read Hebrews 4:1, 2.

4. Is anyone justified by the works of the law?

"Knowing that a man is not justified by the works of the law, but by the faith of Jesus Christ, even we have believed in Jesus Christ, that we might be justified by the faith of Christ, and not by the works of the law: for by the works of the law shall no flesh be justified." Galatians 2:16.

5. How can a person be just before God?

"Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus." Romans 3:24.

6. Upon whose action does justification by faith depend?

"Whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God; to declare, I say, at this time his righteousness: that he might be just, and the justifier of him which believeth in Jesus." Romans 3:25, 26.

Notice that justification depends on God the divine judge. He has set forth Christ to demonstrate His justice (righteousness) and also that He might justify anyone who puts his faith in Christ.

7. What has God done to save man?

He has done two things. First, He removed the death sentence. Second, He provided a perfect righteousness that man might be in a right relationship with Him. He removed the death sentence by the death of Christ and He provided a perfect righteousness by Christ's perfect life on earth (Hebrews 4:15).

8. What is the righteousness which saves a person?

Read Romans 3:21-24.

Only the righteousness of God revealed through Christ can save. Christ is the "Lamb of God, which taketh away the sin of the world." John 1:29, last part. We are "saved by his life." Romans 5:10, last part. Saving righteousness is granted by God through Christ (2 Corinthians 5:21).

9. Who is the source of saving righteousness?

"But of him are ye in Christ Jesus, who of God is made unto us wisdom, and righteousness, and sanctification, and redemption." 1 Corinthians 1:30. Read Philippians 3:8, 9.

Righteousness comes from Christ. Jeremiah refers to Him as "The LORD our righteousness." Jeremiah 33:16, last part. Look at Paul's reasoning in Romans 5:17-19. Christ is the only person who ever lived a perfect life. He died for the sins of all. He was resurrected and today He is alive. He is our righteousness. This can never be changed. Read 1 John 5:11, 12.

10. Does keeping the law confer righteousness?

"Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin." Romans 3:20.

Salvation does not come by right doing. If it did then it would be the salvation by the law. Jesus makes it clear in Matthew 5:20 that the kind of righteousness proclaimed by the scribes and Pharisees was insufficient to enter heaven. They were ignorant of and refused to submit to God's righteousness which is a gift to those who believe in Christ (Romans 10:3). Read also Philippians 3:9.

Conclusion

Christ does not offer His righteousness to a person on the premise that he can go on sinning. He gives His righteousness so that man will have the power to obey God. Paul says, "Do we then make void the law through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the law." Romans 3:31. God's law is the standard of righteousness, but man cannot obey the law to gain merit in God's sight. Read Galatians 2:16. Allow Christ to cover you with the robe of His righteousness. Obedience to God's law is a fruit of one's salvation. It comes as a loving response to a gracious Saviour. We are saved by grace for good works (Ephesians 2:8-10).

5. THE NEW BIRTH

When God created man in the beginning He gave him life. Just as long as man did not break his union with God his life continued. However, when Adam and Eve sinned they began to die. Man does not have life in himself. To live eternally he must be born again.

1. Why did Christ come to earth?

"I am come that they might have life." John 10:10, last part. Further He said, "I am . . . the life." John 14:6, first part.

☞ Man's eternal destiny depends on God who is the source of life.

2. How important is the new birth?

Read John 3:3-6.

☞ It is the new birth experience which brings about the change from death to life. Read John 5:24. So the penitent sinner must start at the point when Christ gives him eternal life. The "new man . . ." is created in righteousness and true holiness." Ephesians 4:24.

3. Is it possible to analyze everything which takes place when a person is born again?

"The wind bloweth where it listeth, and thou hearest the sound thereof, but canst not tell whence it cometh, and whither it goeth: so is every one that is born of the Spirit." John 3:8.

☞ Being born again is a miracle by the power of God's Holy Spirit. The Ethiopian eunuch listened to Philip give an explanation of Isaiah 53 and he was converted (Acts 8:26-39). Paul had a direct encounter with God on the road to Damascus (Acts 9). When Paul preached the gospel Lydia was converted at Thyatira (Acts 16:13-15). When the jailer witnessed the miraculous deliverance of Paul and Silas from the jail at Philippi Paul preached Christ and he and his house were converted (Acts 16:25-33).

4. What are the changes that will be seen in the life of a person born again?

- A New Heart. "I will give them one heart, and I will put a new spirit within you." Ezekiel 11:19.
- A New Mind. "Be not conformed to this world: but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind." Romans 12:2, first part.
- Different Interests. "They that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit." Romans 8:5.
- Law Written in the Heart. "I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts: and I will be to them a God, and they shall be to me a people." Hebrews 8:10, last part.
- Love for Fellowmen. "We know that we have passed from death unto life, because we love the brethren." 1 John 3:14, first part.

5. How is the spiritual life of the believer maintained?

Read John 15:4-6.

☞ The person who is born again enters into a personal union with Christ. The power of Christ becomes his and he bears the fruit of love to God's glory.

6. How is a person born again?

There must be a recognition on our part that we can do nothing without Christ's help. Jesus is our example in this. He said, "I can of mine own self do nothing. . . because I seek not mine own will, but the will of the Father which hath sent me . . ." The Son can do nothing of himself." John 5:30, 19. The way in which Christ lived in submission to His Father's will shows how the believer is to live in submission to Christ. Read Philippians 2:5-8. Living in Christ is the end of self-will and we live according to His will.

Conclusion

A person cannot work to receive the new birth. However surrender of self and commitment to Christ involves a struggle. Two men, one a Jew, the rich young ruler, and the other a Gentile, the keeper of the jail at Philippi, both asked the same question. What must I do to be saved?

To the Gentile Paul gave a very simple answer. "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ." Acts 16:31. To the Jew, Christ's answer seemed a bit more complicated when Jesus told him to sell his possessions and give to the poor. Did Paul make salvation easy while Christ made it rather difficult? Not at all. Both were required to surrender completely to Christ. Let us choose to make God's will ours.

6. SANCTIFICATION

What is involved in sanctification? Is it something apart from justification? Remember that God wants to share His righteousness with man. To what extent is God willing to share His righteousness with a person who accepts Him as Lord? Is the righteousness available only at the beginning of the Christian life or all the way through? We should remember that salvation is an experience which never ends. Salvation from the guilt of sin and its condemnation takes place when a person takes Christ as his Saviour. He is justified. Salvation also involves being delivered from the power of sin. This is sanctification and it is a lifelong process.

1. Must the believer be saved from the power of sin?

"What shall we say then? Shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound? God forbid. How shall we, that are dead to sin, live any longer therein? Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life." Romans 6:1-4.

2. To what point is the Christian's love to be focused?

"If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory." Colossians 3:1-4.

3. Is sanctification a continuing experience?

"Being confident of this very thing, that he which hath begun a good work in you will perform it until the day of Jesus Christ." Philippians 1:6.

☞ Sanctification is a total experience. It begins at conversion but it must continue through life. It is a lifetime of belonging to Christ. And within that relationship to Christ the believer will grow. Read John 17:17.

4. What relationship will self have to Christ in a Christian life?

"But what things were gain to me, those I counted loss for Christ. Yea doubtless, and I count all things but loss for the excellency of the knowledge of Christ Jesus my Lord: for whom I have suffered the loss of all things, and do count them but dung, that I may win Christ, and be found in him, not having mine own righteousness, which is of the law, but that which is through the faith of Christ, the righteousness which is of God by faith." Philippians 3:7-9. Read Galatians 6:14.

5. How close is the Christian's relationship to Christ?

"I am crucified with Christ: nevertheless I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me: and the life which I now live in the flesh I live by the faith of the Son of God, who loved me, and gave himself for me." Galatians 2:20. Read Romans 6:3, 4.

 We have the possibility of serving two masters. The choice is ours. In the Christian life we are dead to sin but alive unto God. Read Romans 6:11-14 and 17-19.

6. What is the Christian's aim in life?

Read Philippians 3:13, 14; Hebrews 12:1, 2.

7. Do we need to fear or can we have the assurance of security in Christ?

Read 1 John 4:18; 1 John 5:11-13; 2 Timothy 1:12; John 10:27-29.

Conclusion

Sanctification is conversion carried to completion. "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is." 1 John 3:2. A person in Christ has as his goal "that I may know him, and the power of his resurrection." Philippians 3:10, first part. So experiencing sanctification we say with Paul, "I live; yet not I, but Christ liveth in me." Galatians 2:20, first part.

7. PREDESTINATION

A boy is born in a wicked neighborhood. He grows up undisciplined. He learns to do evil things. The parents have trouble with him. At school he gets into difficulty. It seems he can't be good. He fights and he steals. Finally he is sent to a reform school. Despite the infliction of all kinds of punishment he has no desire to be good. Years later he becomes a leader of criminals.

How do you account for this boy's life of complete wickedness? Some say he was a victim of circumstances but others will say he was predestinated by God to be bad.

1. Is God responsible for sin?

"For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners, so by the obedience of one shall many be made righteous." Romans 5:19.

 The fact that "many were made sinners" refers to everyone born into this world. Read Romans 5:12. God has not predestined anyone to a life of sin. He could not do this and at the same time be man's propitiator (1 John 2:1, 2).

2. Was Judas predestined to deliver Christ to be crucified?

"Woe unto the world because of offences! for it must needs be that offences come; but woe to that man by whom the offence cometh!" Matthew 18:7.

"And truly the Son of man goeth, as it was determined: but woe unto that man by whom he is betrayed." Luke 22:22.

 Christ appealed to Judas not to betray Him. He did not have to be the one.

3. Does the Bible speak of predestination?

"And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God, to them who are the called according to his purpose. For whom he did foreknow, he also did predestinate to be conformed to the image of his Son, that he might be the firstborn among many brethren." Romans 8:28, 29.

 Some inquire, If God knows whether I will be saved or lost, why bother trying to be a Christian? The answer is simply this: While God knows, because He is omniscient, we do not know the future. Hence we each must exercise our right of choice and choose either to accept or to reject God's grace. God's foreknowledge never interferes with man's free choice. Those whom God foreknew He predestined. Inasmuch as God foreknew all and since He predestined (planned) that all would become like His Son, this is evidence that God predestined none to be lost. God could look ahead and know who the elect would be. Read 1 Peter 1:2, first part. The elect were predestined to salvation only upon the condition of obedience. When Israel failed to obey, even though predestined to be saved, God did not cast them entirely away because Paul himself was an Israelite. Read Romans 11:1, 7.

4. How many does God want to save?

"I exhort therefore, that, first of all, supplications, prayers, intercessions, and giving of thanks, be made for all men. . . . For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour; who will have all men to be saved, and to come unto the knowledge of the truth." 1 Timothy 2:1, 3, 4. Read 2 Peter 3:9.

5. What is the key to predestination?

"For as in Adam all die, even so in Christ shall all be made alive." 1 Corinthians 15:22.

 It is the family which is predestined rather than individuals. Adam's family is predestined to die. Christ's family is predestined to live. Two ways are marked out in Romans 5:18. Adam's offence brought death, whereas the free gift of Christ's righteousness justifies and gives life.

6. How does a person become a member of the family of God?

"But as many as received him, to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name." John 1:12.

7. What are Christians predestined to be?

"In whom also we have obtained an inheritance, being predestinated according to the purpose of him who worketh all things after the counsel of his own will. . . . Having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will." Ephesians 1:11, 5.

 Christ adopts those into His family who accept Him and therefore they are predestined to receive an inheritance if they remain faithful in God's family. This is made possible by Christ's death. Read Ephesians 2:1, 2, 12, 13 and 3:6.

8. Who can be saved?

"For God so loved the world, that he gave his only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have everlasting life." John 3:16.

"Wherefore the rather, brethren, give diligence to make your calling and election sure: for if ye do these things, ye shall never fall: for so an entrance shall be ministered unto you abundantly into the everlasting kingdom of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." 2 Peter 1:10, 11.

Conclusion

Eternal life is dependent upon your decision. What will you do with Christ? In one of the parables Jesus said, "Many are called, but few are chosen." Matthew 22:14. All who received the invitation to the wedding were predestined to eat of the feast but they chose not to come. So the king sent invitations everywhere asking all to come. When they decided to come they were given a wedding garment. One man at the feast refused the wedding garment and was cast out. The wedding garment which fits us for an entrance into the wedding feast in Christ's kingdom is Christ's righteousness. When you choose Christ you are choosing life.

LIFE AND TEACHING OF JESUS

1. WAS JESUS GOD?

One of the most challenging questions asked of anyone is recorded by Matthew. It is, "What think ye of Christ? whose son is he?" Matthew 22:42. What about His divinity? Was Jesus God? John in his gospel builds an unanswerable argument designed to prove that Jesus of Nazareth is the divine Son of God. And he frankly declares that he wrote his book that his readers "might believe that Jesus is the Christ, the Son of God; and that believing" they "might have life through his name." John 20:31.

1. Did Christ exist before coming to this world?

The first words of John's gospel reveal that God the Son is coeternal with God the Father. "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. The same was in the beginning with God. All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made." John 1:1-3. That Word which took part in the creation of the world was Jesus (John 1:14).

Jeremiah called the Messiah "THE LORD OUR RIGHTEOUSNESS" (Jeremiah 23:5, 6). The Hebrew Yahweh (Jehovah), "the self-existent One" is here applied to the Messiah. The text shows both His power and divine nature.

2. Was Jesus divine or was He only man? How does God the Father refer to Him?

"But unto the Son he saith, Thy throne, O God, is for ever and ever: a sceptre of righteousness is the sceptre of thy kingdom. Thou hast loved righteousness, and hated iniquity; therefore God, even thy God, hath anointed thee with the oil of gladness above thy fellows." Hebrews 1:8, 9.

3. What did Jesus say about His existence before His birth in human flesh?

"And now, O Father, glorify thou me with thine own self with the glory which I had with thee before the world was." John 17:5.

Take a look at Isaiah 9:6 where the prophet calls Christ the Father. Read John the Baptist's testimony in John 1:15, 30. "He was before me" (though Jesus was born after John). Paul says, "He is before all things." Colossians 1:17. Then there is Christ's own witness in John 8:58 where He says, "Before Abraham was, I am." Read also Exodus 3:14. This name "I am" both in the Hebrew and in the English is a form of the verb "to be" and implies that He is the eternal, self-existing One.

4. Through what power was the incarnation of Jesus made possible?

"And the angel answered and said unto her, The Holy Ghost shall come upon thee, and the power of the Highest shall overshadow thee: therefore also that holy thing which shall be born of thee shall be called the Son of God." Luke 1:35.

The Father, Son, and Holy Spirit worked together in the act of incarnation. Incarnation has to do with Christ becoming man. The incarnation of Christ did not in any way annul His divinity. The Scripture says, "And without controversy great is the mystery of godliness: God was manifest in the flesh, justified in the Spirit, seen of angels, preached unto the Gentiles, believed on in the world, received up into glory." 1 Timothy 3:16. When Christ was born the announcement of the angels to the shepherds referred to Him as the Saviour. Read Luke 2:11. Matthew 1:21-23 speaks of Him as "Emmanuel... God with us."

5. What reason is given in Hebrews why Christ became man?

"Wherefore in all things it behoved him to be made like unto his brethren, that he might be a merciful and faithful high priest in things pertaining to God, to make reconciliation for the sins of the people." Hebrews 2:17.

6. How did the Father refer to Jesus?

"And lo a voice from heaven, saying, This is my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." Matthew 3:17.

7. How did Jesus demonstrate He had the power of God, that He is the Son of God, and that He is God the Son?

- He had power to read human hearts (John 2:24, 25).
- He had power to foretell the future (John 13:19).
- He had creative power (John 6:1-20).
- He had power to give life (John 5:21).
- He had infallibility of utterance (John 8:46).
- He had the power to forgive sins (Mark 2:1-12).
- He had the right to receive worship (Matthew 14:33).

This is an important point since created beings such as men and angels are not to be worshipped. Read Acts 10:25, 26. Revelation 22:8, 9; Matthew 4:8-10. But Jesus accepted worship of His disciples as Deity. Thomas said of Him, "My Lord and my God." John 20:28, 29. Angels also worship Him (Hebrews 1:14). Ultimately all the universe will adore Him (Philippians 2:10).

- He had the power to raise the dead to life (John 5:25).
 - He had power to transform hearts (John 1:12, 13).
- Only a divine being could truthfully say, "I am the light of the world"; "I am the resurrection, and the life"; "I am the door"; "I am the way, the truth, and the life."

8. How could Christ be David's Lord as well as his Son?

The Pharisees had answered Christ's question, "Whose son is he [the Christ]?" by saying, "The son of David." Matthew 22:42. Then Jesus referred to Psalm 110:1 where David called the Messiah "Lord." This would indicate the Messiah was older than David. If this be so, then how could the Messiah be David's son and in this position be younger than David? These Jewish leaders were unprepared to answer this question. "If David then call him Lord, how is he his son?" Matthew 22:45. Had they faced this question properly they would have had to admit Jesus to be the Messiah, the Son of God.

Conclusion

The record of Matthew indicates that Jesus was born of a virgin (Matthew 1:18, 22-25). Paul declares, "But when the fulness of the time was come, God sent forth his Son made of a woman, made under the law, to redeem them that were under the law, that we might receive the adoption of sons." Galatians 4:4, 5. He is referred to as "holy, harmless, undefiled, separate from sinners." Hebrews

7:26. Concerning His relationship to the Father Paul says, "In him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily." Colossians 2:9. We cannot help but acknowledge, as did the centurion who was watching Jesus when He died, and say, "Truly this man was the Son of God." Mark 15:39, last part. He is "declared to be the Son of God with power, according to the spirit of holiness, by the resurrection from the dead." Romans 1:4.

2. THE MEDIATORIAL OR PRIESTLY MINISTRY OF JESUS

God's plan of salvation is full and complete taking into consideration every weakness of man and every power of the enemy. David declares, "Salvation belongeth unto the LORD: thy blessing is upon thy people." Psalm 3:8.

When Jonah refused to proclaim God's message of salvation to Nineveh he ended up in the depths of the sea, inside a great fish. When he cried out, "Salvation is of the LORD," the Bible says, "The LORD spake unto the fish, and it vomited out Jonah upon the dry land." Jonah 2:9, 10.

There are seven aspects of Christ's life which make it possible for a person to pass from death to eternal life. Each is important. In this study we shall deal mainly with Christ's present life and what He is doing for us now.

1. What was necessary for Christ to become a priest, man's representative before God?

Read Hebrews 2:14-18.

☞ Christ came to destroy the devil and to make deliverance from the bondage of sin possible. To do this He partook of flesh and blood, He died, and He was made a priest forever.

2. What was the first title given to Jesus?

"And the angel said unto them, Fear not: for, behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Saviour, which is Christ the Lord." Luke 2:10, 11.

☞ When Christ entered human flesh (this is called His incarnation) He came as man's Saviour. This was the beginning of the fulfillment of the promise of a Redeemer given in Genesis 3:15.

3. What is another important aspect of Christ's life?

"Though he were a Son, yet learned he obedience by the things which he suffered; and being made perfect, he became the author of eternal salvation unto all them that obey him." Hebrews 5:8, 9.

☞ Before Christ could die vicariously for man's sins, He must show it to be possible to live a sinless life in the flesh. Christ was made complete for His work as priest by experiencing the suffering lot of mankind. By knowing our heartaches and problems He could be a compassionate, understanding mediator. Read Hebrews 2:17, 18; 4:15; 5:1, 2, 7-9. Thus Christ was qualified to be priest by knowing our human side of things.

4. When was Christ made a priest?

Read Hebrews 10:14.

☞ Four things took place before Christ became priest - the incarnation, the crucifixion, resurrection, and ascension to heaven. Christ's sitting down at the right hand of the Father had been predicted in Psalm 110:1, 4 and Paul finds the fulfillment of this after Christ's death, resurrection, and ascension. Read Hebrews 1:3. Christ ministers the merits of His atoning sacrifice. Read Hebrews 8:3, 9:12-14.

5. What is a mediator?

He is a person who acts as conciliator between those who are at variance. Christ not only acts as conciliator but He has paid man's debt. He died in man's place and by this act Christ became our Mediator.

6. Why was it necessary for Christ to return to heaven?

- That the Holy Spirit might be given. Read John 16:7.
- That Christ might begin His intercession for us. Read Romans 8:34.
- That He might prepare a home for his people. Read John 14:2, 3.

7. How many mediators are there between God and man?

"For there is one God, and one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." 1 Timothy 2:5.

8. Is the work of Christ as mediator necessary to the plan of salvation?

In the sanctuary on earth redemption was typified by various sacrifices. When the sinner brought his sacrificial victim, the priest took the animal's blood when it was slain and put it on the horns of the altar. 12.

The Bible called this an act of atonement. Read Leviticus 4:25, 26. So the atonement consisted of the sacrifice man brought plus the application of its benefits by the priest. Likewise the plan of redemption includes not only Christ's vicarious death but also His ministry as our High Priest. In order to apply the benefits of His sacrifice, Christ after He arose from the dead "for our justification," (Romans 4:25) entered heaven as our High Priest. Read Hebrews 9:12.

9. What is Paul talking about when he mentions "there is made of necessity a change also of the law" (Hebrews 7:12, last part)?

This has no reference to the Ten Commandments. In Verse 11 it is made clear that the perfection of Christ's priesthood was not to be found in the Levitical priesthood. Since the priesthood was changed (Verse 12) there was the necessity for changing the law which governed the making of priests. Since God the Father has ordained that Christ shall serve as man's priestly mediator in the heavenly temple (Hebrews 8:1, 2), it means that the law of types and shadows that governed the priestly rituals has come to an end in the atoning death and priestly ministry of Christ.

10. Was the tribe from which Christ came to serve in the priesthood?

"For he of whom these things are spoken pertaineth to another tribe, of which no man gave attendance at the altar. For it is evident that our Lord sprang out of Juda; of which tribe Moses spake nothing concerning priesthood." Hebrews 7:13, 14.

11. By whose authority was Christ made priest?

Read Hebrews 7:15, 16, 20, 21.

☞ The earthly sanctuary of Israel with its priests and sacrifices serves as types of the death and priestly ministry of Christ. Another ancient priesthood, that of Melchisedec, King of Salem, was also foretold to be a type of Christ's priestly ministry (Psalm 110:4). Melchisedec was a king-priest. This fact, plus the meaning of his title or name (King of peace, King of righteousness) made him an apt type of Christ's royal priesthood in heaven. It was the authority of the Father who said because of His Son's endless life that He should be a priest forever. Read Hebrews 7:28.

12. What is Christ doing in heaven now?

"For Christ is not entered into the holy places made with hands, which are the figures of the true; but into heaven itself, now to appear in the presence of God for us." Hebrews 9:24.

13. Upon what terms does our High Priest deal with us?

"For I will be merciful to their unrighteousness, and their sins and their iniquities will I remember no more." Hebrews 8:12.

 The New Covenant agreement is God's promise to put His law in our hearts and minds. Read Hebrews 8:7-13; 10:16, 17. God has not changed in His attitude toward sin and His law. He forgives sin because of the death of His Son.

14. For whom does Christ's present ministry of intercession avail?

a. For the repentant sinner. "Wherefore he is able to save them to the uttermost that come unto God by him, seeing ever liveth to make intercession for them." Hebrews 7:25. Read 1 John 1:9.

b. For the believer who falls into sin. "My little children, these things write I unto you, that ye sin not. And if any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." 1 John 2:1.

Conclusion

Because of Christ's constant mediation we can "come boldly unto the throne of grace, that we may obtain mercy, and find grace to help in time of need." Hebrews 4:16. Because of His sinless life, His death on the cross was effectual. Now He intercedes for us as our High Priest. His victory is sufficient for each repentant believing person. The one final part in the great plan of salvation is the return of Jesus Christ. "So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin into salvation." Hebrews 9:28. The seven great facts of Christ's life, which give us assurance of eternal life, are: (1) His Deity; (2) His incarnation; (3) His sinless life; (4) His atoning death; (5) His resurrection; (6) His ascension and mediation; (7) His second coming to receive His people unto Himself.

3. THE TRINITY

The Godhead consists of three persons. The doctrine of the Trinity is one of the great fundamentals of Christianity. Many have denied the Godhead or Deity of Christ. Some have thought that Jesus is the only God. If this were true, then there was a time when there was no God when Jesus died on the cross and rested on the tomb until the third day. The Bible shows that God has always existed. "From everlasting to everlasting, thou art God." Psalm 90:2, last part.

1. Did Christ possess the attributes of Deity?

"For in Him dwelleth all the fulness of the Godhead bodily." Colossians 2:9.

 Paul makes it clear that the powers of Deity in its fulness are revealed in Christ. These powers include every quality of Deity such as dignity, authority, excellency, power of creating and fitting up the world, energy in upholding and directing the universe, love in redemption of man, forethought in supplying all man's need as well as needs of all creatures. Since all these attributes of Deity rest in Christ, the implication is that there is more than one person in the Godhead.

2. How many distinct, personal beings are there in the Godhead?

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost." Matthew 28:19.

 This text states three names. Since the Father and the Son are distinct persons we may reasonably conclude that the Holy Spirit is also a distinct person.

3. What is the relationship of the members of the Godhead?

- God the Father is the Head of the universe including the Son of God. Jesus said, "I go unto the Father: for my Father is greater than I," John 14:28. Read 1 Corinthians 11:3.
- Jesus Christ is the eternal, only begotten Son of God. Read John 3:16; Micah 5:2.
- The Holy Ghost is the third person of the Godhead. He works in harmony with the Father and the Son. Read Genesis 1:2.

 In order to accomplish the plan of salvation and to enable man to understand better the issues involved, the members of the Deity have taken certain positions. God the Father sets forth the viewpoint of the Deity with regards to sin and salvation. God the Son, having become incarnate, has accomplished the atonement for sin by His death and stands as man's representative head before God. As our representative, He helps us to understand God as our father. Read John 20:17. God the Holy Spirit applies salvation to the human heart by converting and transforming - the salvation that was wrought out by God the Son in His life and atoning death.

4. What are some of the characteristics of Deity?

- God is:
- Omnipotent (Revelation 19:6; Job 11:7).
 - Omnipresent (2 Chronicles 16:9; Zechariah 4:10).
 - Omniscient (1 Timothy 1:17; Job 24:1; 32:8).
 - Immutable (Hebrews 6:17).
 - Eternal (1 Timothy 1:17; Psalm 10:16; Daniel 7:14; Revelation 11:17).
 - Love (1 John 4:8).
 - Merciful (Exodus 34:6).
 - Just (Deuteronomy 32:4; Revelation 15:3).
 - Righteous (Ezra 9:15; Nehemiah 9:7, 8).

5. Did Christ coexist with the Father from eternity?

Read John 1:1-3, 14.

6. Is the third member of the Godhead, the Holy Spirit, a person?

- He is another person - "another comforter" (John 14:16, 17).
- He has personality traits, such as:
 - Mind, can intercede (Romans 8:26).
 - Will, He can choose (1 Corinthians 12:11).
 - Can be grieved (Ephesians 4:30).
 - Can be lied to (Acts 5:3, 4).
 - Can be insulted (Hebrews 10:29).
- He is linked with the other members of the Godhead in the baptismal formula and in the apostolic benediction (Matthew 28:20; 2 Corinthians 13:14).

7. What is the work of each member of the Godhead in relation to the plan of salvation?

- The work of the Father
 - He gave His Son (John 3:16).
 - He pardons iniquity (Micah 7:180).
- The work of the Son
 - Christ saves from sin (Matthew 1:21).
 - He intercedes for us (1 John 2:1, 2).
- The work of the Holy Ghost
 - He inspires the prophets (2 Peter 1:21).
 - He reproves the world of sin (John 16:8).
 - He guides into the truth (John 16:13).
 - He brings about the new birth (John 3:3-8).

Conclusion

The three divine beings of the Godhead are one in nature, in character, and in purpose. However, God the Son has voluntarily subordinated Himself to the Father in order that He might take man's nature. He has atoned for our sins, and stands as our representative head before God. When God gave us His Son (John 3:16), He gave Him permanently. The subordination of our divine Savior will be eternal (1 Corinthians 15:24-28).

Even though our finite minds cannot understand the infinite, yet we have sufficient information about the Godhead to know they seek to save us from sin and assure us a place in the kingdom of God.

4. WHY JESUS TAUGHT IN PARABLES

In his teaching Jesus utilized stories. This not only awakened interest almost immediately but also served to hold the attention of those who listened. It is a method which helps to impress truth indelibly on the mind.

1. Why did Jesus speak in parables?

"And the disciples came, and said unto him, Why speakest thou unto them in parables? He answered and said unto them, because it is given unto you to know the mysteries of the kingdom of heaven, but to them it is not given. For whosoever hath, to him shall be given, and he shall have more abundance; but whosoever hath not, from him shall be taken away even that he hath, therefore speak I to them in parables: because they seeing see not, and hearing they hear not, neither do they understand." Matthew 13:10-13.

When He taught in parables, those who wanted to know what Christ taught could easily see the truth. However, His method of using parables made it easy of veil the truth from His enemies who wanted to condemn Him.

2. Where did Christ get the stories He related?

Generally, His stories were taken from nature, the things with which His hearers were acquainted. He talked about the tares (Matthew 13:24-30), the barren fig tree (Luke 13:6-9), the lost sheep (Matthew 18:12-14), the sower (Mark 4:3, 9), the mustard seed (Luke 13:18, 19), the fig tree (Matthew 24:32, 33). Many of His other parables had to do with various experiences of life such as laborers in the vineyard (Matthew 20:1-16), the ten virgins (Matthew 25:1-13), or the houses on the rock and the sand (Luke 6:47-49).

3. Did Jesus often teach with parables?

"All these things spake Jesus unto the multitude in parables; and without a parable spake he not unto them." Matthew 13:34.

As Jesus taught in parables He was fulfilling a prophecy mentioned in Psalm 78:2 in which David had foretold Christ's use of this method of teaching.

4. To understand truth what basic principle did Jesus mention?

"If any man will do his will, he shall know of the doctrine, whether it be of God, or whether I speak of myself." John 7:17.

One time Jesus asked the question, "Why do ye not understand my speech?" Then He gave the answer: "Even because ye cannot hear my word." John 8:43. A prerequisite to understanding truth is commitment and dedication to God. "He that is of God heareth God's words: ye therefore hear them not, because ye are not of God." John 8:47.

Conclusion

Remember that most parables teach one truth. Years later His hearers could see some of the things Christ used in His parables and then remember His teaching. Parable teaching caused the people to ask questions. Christ's method appealed to all classes of people.

SURE WORD OF PROPHECY

1. GOD'S PREVIEW OF HISTORY (Daniel 2)

The prophecy of this chapter spans the centuries from Daniel to the return of Jesus. It is considered to be the most remarkable prophecy in the Bible because it is the most comprehensive. It gives a consecutive history of the world from Daniel's time to the end. This chapter opens by picturing the ruler of the greatest of earthly kingdoms in his own home on his bed asleep. "In the second year of the reign of Nebuchadnezzar Nebuchadnezzar dreamed dreams." Daniel 2:1, first part.

1. When God gives a dream what is His purpose as expressed by Elihu speaking to Job?

"Why dost thou strive against him? for he giveth not account of any of his matters. For God speaketh once, yea twice, yet man perceiveth it not. In a dream, in a vision of the night, when deep sleep falleth upon men, in slumberings upon the bed; then he openeth the ears of men, and sealeth their instruction, that he may withdraw man from his purpose, and hide pride from man." Job 33:13-17.

Evidently the Lord found it difficult to reveal truth to Nebuchadnezzar in his waking moments. God revealed to this heathen king an image and thus attracted his attention, making a strong impression on him.

2. When the king awakened what happened?

"And the king said unto them, I have dreamed a dream, and my spirit was troubled to know the dream...The king answered and said to the Chaldeans, The thing is gone from me: if ye will not make known unto me the dream, with the interpretation thereof ye shall be cut in pieces, and your house made dunghill." Daniel 2:3, 5.

The king's mind had been impressed but he could not recall the dream.

3. How was the pretended knowledge of the wise men of Babylon exposed?

- First, God gave Nebuchadnezzar a dream.
- Second, the king forgot the details of the dream, yet he retained a vivid impression of it.
- Third, the king demanded of the wisemen of Babylon not only an interpretation, but a revelation of the dream itself (Daniel 2:2-5).

4. What was the reaction of the wise men of Babylon to Nebuchadnezzar's demands and what truth did they admit?

"The Chaldeans answered before the king, and said, There is not a man upon the earth that can shew the King's matter: therefore there is no king, lord, nor ruler, that asked such things at any magician, or astrologer, or Chaldean. And it is a rare thing the king requireth, and three is none other that can shew it before the king, except the gods, whose dwelling is not with the flesh." Daniel 2:10, 11.

5. By whom was dream and its interpretation made known to the king?

"Then was the secret revealed unto Daniel in a night vision. Then Daniel blessed the God of heaven." Daniel 2:19.

Daniel was a young man. What an opportunity to witness for the true God! God showed Daniel the identical vision He had given to Nebuchadnezzar. Centuries before this God had taught Egyptian senators by the mouth of Joseph, a boy no older than Daniel. Read Psalm 105:17-22. And as Daniel stood before the king amid many of his teachers the words of David in Psalm 119:98-100 were exemplified.

6. To whom did Daniel give credit for the revelation of the dream and the interpretation?

"But there is a God in heaven that revealeth secrets, and maketh known to the king Nebuchadnezzar what shall be in the latter days. Thy dream, and the visions of thy head upon thy bed, are these." Daniel 2:28.

7. What was the purpose of this dream?

"As for thee, O king, thy thoughts came into thy mind upon thy bed, what should come to pass hereafter: and he that revealeth secrets maketh known to thee what shall come to pass." Daniel 2:29.

8. Of what materials was the image made?

"Thou, O king, sawest, and beheld a great image. This great image, whose brightness was excellent, stood before thee; and the form thereof was terrible. This image's head was of fine gold, his breast and his arms of silver, his belly and his thighs of brass, his legs of iron, his feet part of iron and part of clay." Daniel 2:31-33.

9. What was represented by the head of gold?

"Thou, O king, art a king of kings: for the God of heaven hath given thee a kingdom, power, and strength, and glory. And whosoever the children of men dwell, the beasts of the field and the fowls of the heaven hath he given into thine hand, and hath made thee ruler over them all. Thou art this head of gold." Daniel 2:37, 38.

 Babylon had been erected in defiance of God. Read Genesis 11:1-9. Its government was an absolute monarchy; a man sat on the throne. Tyranny ruled instead of love. No power was tolerated above the king. There was a union of church and state.

Babylon was about ten miles in circumference. The inner city was surrounded by double walls. The inner wall was about twelve feet thick and the outer wall about twenty-two feet. The outer fortification also had two walls, twenty-four and twenty-six feet thick, respectively. Every fifty-five yards there were towers, 250 in all. The excavations provide no evidence relative to the height of Babylon's walls. Only stumps remain and the highest is not more than forty feet. Babylon was founded by Nimrod many centuries before Christ, it became a mighty world empire 626 years before Christ, and was overthrown by the Medes and Persians under Cyrus in 539 B.C.

10. How was the second universal kingdom represented in the image?

"And after these shall arise another kingdom inferior to thee, and another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth." Daniel 2:39.

 The breast and arms of silver represented the Medes and Persians which conquered Babylon in 539 B.C. This power reigned for 208 years but her power was broken by Alexander the Great at the Battle of Arbela in the year 331 B.C.

11. How was the third world power represented in the image?

"And another third kingdom of brass, which shall bear rule over all the earth." Daniel 2:39, last part.

 Grecia followed Medo-Persia as a world power. This empire ruled for 163 years, from 331 B.C. to 168 B.C.

12. How was the fourth universal kingdom pictured?

"And the fourth kingdom shall be strong as iron: forasmuch as iron breaketh in pieces and subdueth all things: and as iron that breaketh all these, shall it break in pieces and bruise." Daniel 2:40.

 Read Daniel 2:41, 42. Here it indicates the Roman Empire was to be divided. Gibbon in his Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire names these divisions of the Roman Empire: the Visigoths, Burgundians, Suevi, Vandals, Ostrogoths, Heruli, Franks, Saxons, Lombards, and Alemanni. Seven of these became the basis of the modern nations of Western Europe. The Heruli, Vandals, and Ostrogoths were completely rooted up by the little horn power of Daniel 7. This is made clear in the following study.

13. Will there be another united Europe as a world power like the Roman Empire? Can the European nations be united permanently under one head?

"And whereas thou sawest iron mixed with miry clay, they shall mingle themselves with the seed of men: but they shall not cleave one to another, even as iron is not mixed with clay." Daniel 2:43.

 There have been many attempts to unite Europe. Men have tried to bring about another world power. Such rulers as Charlemagne, Charles V, Louis XIV, Napoleon, Kaiser Wilhelm, and Hitler all tried only to fail. "They shall not cleave one to another."

14. Whose kingdom is destined to be victorious?

"And in the days of these kings shall the God of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed; and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever. Forasmuch as thou sawest that the stone was cut out of the mountain without hands, and that it brake in pieces the iron, the brass, the clay, the silver, and the gold; the great God hath made known to the king what shall come to pass hereafter: and the dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure." Daniel 2:44, 45.

 What is the meaning of the stone in this vision? That stone which smites the image on the feet represents the establishment of Christ's kingdom. We are living in the days of the nations of Europe represented by the feet and toes of the great image. Christ's kingdom will soon be a reality. Christ's prayer, "Thy kingdom come," is about to be fulfilled.

Conclusion

Nebuchadnezzar recognized that what Daniel told him was the dream he had forgotten and which had troubled him. He fell on his face and said, "Of a truth it is, that your God is a God of gods, and a Lord of kings, and a revealer of secrets, seeing thou couldest reveal this secret." Daniel 2:47.

Remember, "The dream is certain, and the interpretation thereof sure." We have nearly reached the end of human history. To be a part of Christ's everlasting kingdom a person must have Christ in his heart. Jesus said, "Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3, last part. Let's plan now to be a part of God's eternal kingdom.

2. WHO IS THE ANTICHRIST? (Daniel 7)

God gave Daniel a vision which revealed events to take place for many centuries beyond his day. In Daniel 7 God pictures under appropriate symbols the rise and fall of nations from the time of Daniel on down to the rise of the Antichrist. Any student of Bible prophecy is concerned about the rise and work of the Antichrist power.

1. What was seen by Daniel in the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon?

"In the first year of Belshazzar king of Babylon Daniel had a dream and visions of his head upon his bed: then he wrote the dream, and told the sum of the matters

Daniel spake and said, I saw in my vision by night, and behold, the four winds of the heaven strove upon the great sea. And four great beasts came up from the sea, diverse one from another. The first was like a lion, and had eagle's wings: I beheld till the wings thereof were plucked, and it was lifted up from the earth, and made stand upon the feet as a man, and a man's heart was given to it. And behold another beast, a second, like to a bear, and it raised up itself on one side, and it had three ribs in the mouth of it between the teeth of it: and they said thus unto it, Arise, devour much flesh. After this I beheld, and lo another, like a leopard, which had upon the back of it four wings of a fowl; the beast had also four heads; and dominion was given to it. After this I saw in the night visions, and behold a fourth beast, dreadful and terrible, and strong exceedingly; and it had great iron teeth: it devoured and brake in pieces, and stamped the residue with the feet of it: and it was diverse from all the beasts that were before it; and it had ten horns. I considered the horns, and, behold, there came up among them another little horn, before whom there were three of the first horns plucked up by the roots: and, behold, in this horn were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking great things." Daniel 7:1-8.

Daniel was shown four beasts diverse from one another. They came up out of the sea. The fourth beast had ten horns and finally a little horn came up out of the ten.

2. What three sets of symbols did Daniel see?

He was shown the sea, four beasts, and four winds striving on the sea.

3. What do winds symbolize in Bible prophecy?

Read Jeremiah 49:35-37 and Jeremiah 51:1, 11.
In prophecy winds denote strife, political commotion, and war. The striving of the winds in this prophecy picture the rise of kingdoms and their fall; these events are accomplished through political strife.

4. Of what is the sea or waters a symbol in prophecy?

"And he saith unto me, The waters which thou sawest, where the whore sitteth, are peoples, and multitudes, and nations, and tongues." Revelation 17:15. Read Isaiah 17:12, 13.

5. What do the four beasts represent?

"These great beasts, which are four, are four kings, which shall arise out of the earth.... Thus he said, The fourth beast shall be the fourth kingdom upon earth, which shall be diverse from all kingdoms, and shall devour the whole earth, and shall tread it down, and break it in pieces." Daniel 7:17, 23.

The great image of Daniel 2 made of four metals represented four kingdoms. The four beasts represent the same four kingdoms - Babylon, Medo-Persia, Grecia, and Rome. The fourth kingdom is divided into ten parts.

6. What do the ten horns symbolize?

"And the ten horns out of this kingdom are ten kings that shall arise: and another shall rise after them; and he shall be diverse from the first, and he shall subdue three kings." Daniel 7:24.

The ten kings mentioned here represent ten kingdoms is not left to conjecture. In verse 17 the four beasts are said to represent four kings and the fourth beast is specifically called "the fourth kingdom." Since the four horns in Daniel 8:22 are called four kingdoms, it is reasonable to assume that these ten horns are ten kingdoms also.

7. What does Daniel say about the first beast?

According to Daniel 7:4 it was a lion. It had eagle's wings and finally a man's heart was given to it. The eagle's wings represent the rapid conquest of Babylon (Deuteronomy 28:49). On the night of Belshazzar's feast, when the hand wrote Babylon's doom on the wall, a man's heart was given to it (Daniel 5:1-6).

8. What is said concerning the bear?

In Daniel 7:5 the bear is represented with three ribs in its mouth. These symbolized the conquest by Medo-Persia of Babylon, Lydia, and Egypt.

9. What does the prophet say concerning the third beast?

He mentions in Daniel 7:6 it was like a leopard. Its four wings represent unparalleled rapidity of movement. This was true of the Grecian kingdom. The four heads are the four parts of the Grecian Empire divided, after Alexander's death, among his four leading generals - Cassander, Lysimachus, Ptolemy, and Seleucus.

10. What description is given concerning the fourth beast?

This beast is described in Daniel 7:7 as dreadful and strong. It had great iron teeth. This beast had ten horns representing, as did the ten toes of the image in Daniel 2, the ten divisions of Western Rome, namely, the Alemanni, Ostrogoths, Visigoths, Franks, Vandals, Suevi, Burgundians, Heruli, Anglo-Saxons, and Lombards.

11. What came up among the ten horns (the nations of Europe)?

According to Daniel 7:8, 24 there came up the little horn power which had "eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking great things." This depicts the rise of the Papacy. Because the Heruli, Ostrogoths, and Vandals were opposed to the teaching and claims of the papal hierarchy the papal power became supreme when they were plucked up. The little horn was to be different from the ten horns indicating she would be a religious power operating particularly in the realm of religion as well as in political affairs. The Papacy succeeded in uprooting the Heruli in A.D. 493, the Vandals in A.D. 534, and the Ostrogoths in A.D. 538.

12. What four specifications are mentioned in this prophecy which identify the Papacy as the Antichrist?

"And he shall speak great words against the most High, and shall wear out the saints of the most High, and think to change times and laws: and they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and the dividing of time." Daniel 7:25.

Two important identifying marks are time and place. The little horn came up after the dissolution of the Roman Empire in the West (A.D. 476). The little horn also came up among the nations of Western Europe. It is evident therefore that this little horn or Antichrist power which was to arise at a definite time and place came upon the scene as predicted. (These keys help us to see that the little horn Antichrist will not come at the end of the age as is now commonly taught.)

13. Has the Papacy done all this little horn power was to do?

a. "Shall speak great words against the most High."

The Pope has assumed titles belonging only to God. "The Pope is of so great dignity and so exalted that he is not a mere man, but as it were God, and the vicar of God."

"The Pope is as it were God on earth, sole sovereign of the faithful of Christ, chief of kings, having plenitude of power to whom has been intrusted by the omnipotent God direction not only of the earthly but also of the heavenly kingdom." Translated from Lucius Ferraris, "Papa II." Prompta

Bibliotheca, Vol. VI, pp. 25-29.

- b. "Shall wear out the saints of the most High."

This is a picture of relentless persecution. It is conservatively estimated that during the Middle Ages 50,000,000 martyrs were put to death by the papal sword. The Inquisition was both the creation and tool of papal power for exterminating heretics.

- c. Will "think to change times and laws."

According to Daniel 2:21 it is God who has the nations in control and it is His prerogative alone to change times. For the little horn to endeavor to change times is to exercise the role of God in an attempt to shape history. How has the Papacy attempted to change laws? Look at the apostasy of the early Christian centuries at which time many doctrines and practices contrary to God's will were introduced. The Papacy freely admits she is responsible for making Sunday a day of worship. Lucius Ferraris (Roman Catholic) says, "The Pope is of so great authority and power that he can modify, explain, or interpret even divine laws." Ibid. In almost any Catholic catechism the second commandment is completely taken out, the tenth is divided into two and the fourth is changed.

- d. And they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and the dividing of time."

Here God is careful to mark off the time of papal supremacy. (In the Aramaic the word translated "time" in Daniel 4:16, 23, 25, 32 means "a year." "Times" comes from the same word as "time" and most scholars agree this denotes "two times" or two years. The word which is translated "dividing" may be translated "half." Thus the little horn power was to be supreme for a time, two times, and half a time.) When King Nebuchadnezzar was deposed until seven times passed over him (Daniel 4:25), this was a period of seven years. In prophetic reckoning there are thirty days to the month or 360 days for one year. Therefore three and one-half times would be 1260 days. In Revelation 12:14 God's church is said to be in seclusion for a time, and times, and half a time. In Revelation 12:6 God explains this to be 1260 days. The rule for interpreting prophetic time is "each day for a year." Ezekiel 4:4-6. The period of papal supremacy began in A.D. 538 when the Ostrogoths, the last of the three opposing powers, were routed up. The closing of the 1260 years would be in 1798. What took place at that time? In 1798, on February 10, a French army under the leadership of Bernier entered Rome and took the pope prisoner.

- Therefore, since the Papacy has (1) spoken great words against God, (2) persecuted and put to death the saints, (3) tampered with God's holy law, (4) and was a dominant power for 1260 years as predicted, she is undoubtedly the "little horn" power to which the prophecy points. This prophecy is not speaking against personalities. We should always remember that there are many fine persons in this communion who love the Lord, but it is speaking about the papal system and its actions.

Conclusion

Read Daniel 7:9, 10. Here God reveals the beginning of the judgment.

In Daniel 7 the final judgment is mentioned three times (verses 10, 22, 26). God's eternal kingdom is mentioned four times (verses 14, 18, 22, 27). It is evident that while Satan has waged a long warfare against God's commandments, yet Christ will have the final word!

On which side will you stand in the conflict between truth and error? "Who is on the Lord's side?" Exodus 32:26. Make your very own the decision of Joshua 24:15.

3. SATAN COUNTERFEITS CHRIST'S MINISTRY IN HEAVEN (Daniel 8)

There is only "one mediator between God and men, the man Christ Jesus." 1 Timothy 2:5. Christ is the "new and living way" (Hebrews 10:19-22) into God's presence. He is the ladder from earth to heaven (John 1:51). Our prayers and requests ascend to God through Christ. He takes the place of human priests, altars, ceremonies, and sacrifices (John 14:6).

The devil has done all he can to destroy this saving ministry of our Lord. God knew He would do this. He predicted it in order to warn us against the enemy's attempts to nullify the work of Christ for us in heaven. This is the subject of the prophecy of Daniel 8.

1. What animal did Daniel see and of what was it a symbol?

"Then I lifted up mine eyes, and saw, and, behold, there stood before the river a ram which had two horns and the two horns were high; but one was higher than the other, and the higher came up last. I saw the ram pushing westward, and northward, and southward; so that no beasts might stand before him, neither was there any that could deliver out of his hand; but he cast according to his will, and became great....The ram which thou sawest having two horns are the kings of Media and Persia." Daniel 8:3, 4, 20.

This ram power became "great." It was represented in Daniel 2 by the silver breast and arms of the great image and in Daniel 7 by the bear.

2. What animal did Daniel see next and what power was represented?

"And as I was considering, behold, an he goat came from the west on the face of the whole earth, and touched not the ground: and the goat had a notable horn between his eyes. And he came to the ram that had two horns, which I had seen standing before the river, and ran unto him in the fury of his power. And I saw him come close unto the ram, and he was moved with choler against him, and smote the ram, and brake his two horns: and there was no power in the ram to stand before him, but he cast him down to the ground, and stamped upon him: and there was none that could deliver the ram out of his hand. Therefore the he goat waxed very great: and when he was strong, the great horn was broken: and for it came up four notable ones toward the four winds of heaven....And the rough goat is the king of Grecia: and the great horn that is between his eyes is the first king." Daniel 8:5-8, 21.

This great power became "very great." It was symbolized in Daniel 2 by the brass belly and thighs of the image and in Daniel 7 by the leopard beast. The "notable horn" represented Alexander the Great. After making Grecia a world empire he died suddenly in his early thirties. After a round of hard drinking Alexander became sick with "swamp fever." This was the ancient name for malaria which finally claimed his life.

3. What did the four horns symbolize?

"Therefore the he goat waxed very great: and when he was strong, the great horn was broken; and for it came up four notable ones toward the four winds of heaven....Now that being broken, whereas four stood up for it, four kingdoms shall stand up out of the nation, but not in his power." Daniel 8:8, 22.

After Alexander's death there were many generals who endeavored to take over the leadership. Finally the Grecian Empire was divided between four of Alexander's leading generals. Cassander became the ruler of Macedonia and Grecia. Lysimachus became ruler of Thrace and portions of Asia Minor. Seleucus became ruler over Babylon and Assyria; Ptolemy became ruler of Egypt, Palestine, and a portion of Syria. Hence Alexander's empire was divided as predicted "toward the four winds of heaven."

4. What power does the little horn represent?

"And out of one of them came forth a little horn, which waxed exceeding great, toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the pleasant land. And it waxed great, even to the host of heaven; and it cast down some of the host and of the stars to the ground, and stamped upon them. Yea, he magnified himself even to the prince of the host, and by him the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast down. And an host was given him against the daily sacrifice by reason of transgression, and it cast down the truth to the ground; and it practiced, and prospered." Daniel 8:9-12.

 Here is pictured the power symbolized by the fourth beast and its little horn of Daniel 7:19-21. This little horn power is the masterpiece of Satan. It represents both pagan and papal Rome. In her conquests pagan Rome was "exceeding great, toward the south, and toward the east, and toward the pleasant land." She also stood up against the Prince of princes, Christ. The chief emphasis however is on papal Rome. Because of her desolating career against God, His sanctuary, and His saints, the Papacy is called "the transgression of desolation." Daniel 8:13. In Daniel 11:31 it is called "the abomination that maketh desolate." When Jesus referred to these scriptures He termed it "the abomination of desolation." Matthew 24:15.

5. What was the little horn power to take away?

"Yea, he magnified himself even to the prince of the host, and by him the daily sacrifice was taken away, and the place of his sanctuary was cast down. And an host was given him against the daily sacrifice by reason of transgression, and it cast down the truth to the ground; and it practiced, and prospered."

"Then I heard one saint speaking, and another saint said unto that certain saint which spake, How long shall be the vision concerning the daily sacrifice, and the transgression of desolation, to give both the sanctuary and the host to be trodden under foot? And he said unto me, Unto two thousand and three hundred days; then shall the sanctuary be cleansed."

"And it came to pass, when I, even I Daniel, had seen the vision, and sought for the meaning, then, behold, there stood before me as the appearance of a man." Daniel 8:11-15.

 The word "sacrifice" is a supplied word and is not found in the original Hebrew. The word for "daily" in the Hebrew is tamid meaning continual or regular. Tamid is used in Exodus, Leviticus, and Numbers in connection with the regular or continual service of the sanctuary. The daily, continual features of the earthly sanctuary service all pointed forward to the unceasing, personal mediation of Christ as our Great High Priest in heaven. Over and over, at least 15 times, the writer of the book of Hebrews speaks of the constant mediation of Christ. Read Hebrews 5:6, 6:20; 7:3, 8, 16, 17, 21, 24, 25, 28; 10:12, 13, 14. The heavenly ministry of Christ is the true daily of Daniel 8.

6. How did the Papacy take away the daily?

She has done this by setting up a counterfeit of the true daily - a human priesthood in the place of Christ's priestly ministration. Man is taught to look to a human priest and for grace through the sacraments of the church administered by him.

 Here is what Roman Catholicism says: "The Sacrifice of the Mass is the consecration of the bread and wine into the body and blood of Christ, and the oblation of this body and blood to God, by the ministry of the Priest, for a perpetual memorial of Christ's sacrifice on the cross. The Sacrifice of the Mass is identical with that of the cross." Cardinal Gibbons, Faith of our Fathers, p. 300. "Why is Christ styled a priest forever after Melchisedec's order?...Because He continues and will continue to offer the same sacrifice by means of His priests to the end of the world." Ibid., p. 122. It is evident that the Papacy consumes the Mass the perpetuation of the daily or continual ministration of the priests of the earthly sanctuary. This bloodless sacrifice of the Mass by the priest suppliants and pollutes the atonement of Christ on Calvary and His daily or continual mediation in the heavenly sanctuary.

Conclusion

The vision of Daniel 8 is more than a conflict between nations. It brings our attention to the taking away of the daily which is a world-wide attempt to dethrone Christ as man's only mediator. The facts are, "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." 1 John 2:1, last part.

4. UNBELIEF REFUTED (The Seventy Weeks)

One can hardly disbelieve that Jesus was the true Messiah after studying carefully the prophecy of the seventy weeks. Five hundred years before His birth a time prophecy was recorded which foretold the year of Christ's baptism, the year of His crucifixion, and the year when the gospel would begin to go to the Gentiles. The unfolding of this prophecy presents strong evidence concerning the infallibility of God's Word.

1. Who was sent to make Daniel understand the vision of Daniel 8?

"And I heard a man's voice between the banks of Ulai, which called, and said, Gabriel, make this man to understand the vision." Daniel 8:16.

 Gabriel gave Daniel the explanation of the ram, the he goat, and the little horn. However, the 2300 days mentioned in Daniel 8:14 was not explained at the same time inasmuch as "Daniel fainted, and was sick certain days." Daniel 8:27.

2. Did Gabriel return to complete the explanation of the 2300 days?

"Yea, while I was speaking in prayer, even the man Gabriel, whom I had seen in the vision at the beginning, being caused to fly swiftly, touched me about the time of the evening oblation. And he informed me, and talked with me, and said, O Daniel, I am now come forth to give thee skill and understanding. At the beginning of thy supplication the commandment came forth, and I am come to shew thee; for thou art greatly beloved: therefore understand the matter, and consider the vision." Daniel 9:21-23.

 The first 19 verses of Daniel 9 indicate Daniel did some research concerning the time of the captivity. He was convinced it would be seventy years, but since he did not yet understand the significance of the 2300 days he was afraid God was going to prolong their captivity. So Daniel prayed, confessed his sins, and pleaded that the captivity would not be prolonged.

3. How much of the 2300 days was given to the Jewish nation?

"Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people and upon thy holy city, to finish the transgression, and to make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most Holy." Daniel 9:24.

 The word "determined" means to cut off. Since these seventy weeks are in a setting of symbolic prophecy (Daniel 8 and 9) this period of time must be interpreted according to the each-day-for-one-year principle mentioned in Ezekiel 4:6 and Numbers 14:34. On this basis the seventy weeks represent 70 x 7 or 490 years.

4. What five major events does this prophecy reveal?

"Know therefore and understand, that from the going forth of the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem unto the Messiah the Prince shall be seven weeks, and threescore and two weeks: the street shall be built again, and the wall, even in troublous times. And after threescore and two weeks shall Messiah be cut off, but not for himself: and the people of the prince that shall come shall destroy the city and the sanctuary; and the end thereof shall be with a flood, and unto the end of the war desolations are determined. And he shall confirm the covenant with many for one week: and in the midst of the week he shall cause the sacrifice and the oblation to cease, and for the overspreading of abominations he shall make it desolate, even unto the consummation, and that determined shall be poured upon the desolate." Daniel 9:25-27.

(1) There is "the commandment to restore and to build Jerusalem." (2) "The street shall be built again and the wall." (3) "Unto the Messiah the Prince." (4) The Messiah was to be cut off "in the midst of the week." (5) The national probation was to end at the close of seventy prophetic weeks.

5. What date is established for the decree to rebuild Jerusalem?

There were three decrees which gave permission for the Hebrew exiles to return home. The decree of Cyrus in 537 B.C. had to do with rebuilding the temple, restoration of the sacred vessels and the temple worship (Ezra 1:1-4). The decree of Darius in 519 B.C. was a renewal of the first decree since there had been some hindrance of the work (Ezra 6:7-12). Finally the decree of Artaxerxes in 457 B.C., in addition to promoting the reestablishing of the worship in Jerusalem, made possible the setting up of a Hebrew state and a local government (Ezra 7:26). In Ezra 6:14 these three decrees are referred to as "the commandment of the God of Israel."

The first seven weeks or 49 years (Daniel 9:25) was to see the rebuilding of the wall. The city was to begin to take shape by 408 B.C.

6. What is the significance of the statement "unto the Messiah the Prince"?

The Messiah was to appear at the end of 69 weeks or 483 years. Beginning with the autumn of 457 B.C. and extending to A.D. 1 would be 457 full years, but the prophecy said there would be 483 years to the Messiah so 26 more years would extend this period to the autumn of A.D. 27. Messiah means the Christ or the Anointed One. Anciently, priests and kings were anointed when they began their work. Note the following facts:

- Christ was anointed by the Holy Spirit (Acts 10:38).
- The Holy Spirit descended on Jesus at His baptism when He began His life's work (Matthew 3:16).
- Jesus was called the Messiah by His close followers (John 1:41).
- Christ testified publicly to His own anointing (Luke 4:14-21).

e. When Christ said, following His baptism, "the time is fulfilled," He announced the close of the 69th week and thus appealed to Daniel 9 as proof of His Messiahship (Mark 1:15).

This 490-year period was in many ways the great climax of the Old Testament ages—the time that patriarchs, prophets, and kings looked forward to—as it was consummated by the appearing, ministry, and atoning death of the Messiah. The Jewish nation unfortunately filled up its cup of transgression, but it was the Messiah's life and death which has made possible an "end of sins" which has made "reconciliation for iniquity" and which has brought in "everlasting righteousness." His ministry has confirmed the prophecy. But more than this was accomplished. The anointing of "the most Holy" refers to the inauguration of the Messiah as man's High Priest in the heavenly sanctuary to minister His merits in behalf of penitent men and women. Read Hebrews 8:1, 2, 9:24. Within this prophecy there is a shift to lift our attention to the heavenly sanctuary. It had been foretold in Psalm 110:4; Isaiah 53:12; Zechariah 6:11-14 that Christ would be a priest. Here in the book of Daniel we are pointed to the sanctuary in which He would serve. This is confirmed and elaborated on in the book of Hebrews.

7. How was the prediction fulfilled that the Messiah would be cut off in the midst of the week?

For three and a half years Christ carried on His public ministry; then He was "cut off, but not for himself," "in the midst of the [70th] week." That He caused "the sacrifice and the oblation to cease" was evidenced by the supernatural rending of the temple veil (Matthew 27:51). And it should be observed that He did "confirm the covenant with many for one week," or seven years as had been predicted. He did this for 31/2 years during His public ministry, and for 31/2 years after His crucifixion by the original apostles (Hebrews 2:3) making a total of seven years.

8. What action on the part of the Jewish leaders brought to an end the probationary period of 490 years for the Jewish nation?

Read Acts 7:54-60.

The stoning of Stephen was the result of a formal rejection of the gospel by responsible leaders (Acts 7:51-54). Because of persecution which scattered the Christians they then began to take the gospel to the Gentiles. Philip preached to the Samaritans and the Ethiopian eunuch (Acts 8:5, 27-29). Sometime later Saul was converted (Acts 9) and became the apostle to the Gentiles.

9. What important things would be accomplished in this seventy-week period according to the angel Gabriel?

"Seventy weeks are determined upon thy people and upon thy holy city, to finish the transgression, and to make an end of sins, and to make reconciliation for iniquity, and to bring in everlasting righteousness, and to seal up the vision and prophecy, and to anoint the most Holy." Daniel 9:24.

Conclusion

What is the value to us of this seventy-week prophecy? It helps to increase our confidence in the inspiration of God's Word. It is a demonstration of God's love and mercy in dealing with His people. It helps to unlock the great time prophecy of Daniel 8:14. Above all, Jesus Christ is shown to be the true Messiah. Of Christ we can say with Philip, "We have found him, of whom Moses in the law, and the prophets, did write." John 1:45.

5. THE TIME OF THE JUDGMENT (The 2300 Days)

The Bible speaks of a judgment which all face and none can escape. Daniel was shown the judgment in session (Daniel 7:9, 10). Jesus spoke of a judgment in which all must give an account (Matthew 12:36). Paul mentioned the judgment when he spoke before Felix (Acts 24:25). The prophecy of the 2300 days points to the exact beginning of the judgment.

1. What long time prophecy is introduced in Daniel 8?

"And he said unto me, Unto two thousand and three hundred days; then shall the sanctuary be cleansed." Daniel 8:14.

2. In what period of earth can we expect this vision to be fulfilled?

"So he came near where I stood: and when he came, I was afraid, and fell upon my face: but he said unto me, Understand, O son of man: for at the time of the end shall be the vision." Daniel 8:17.

3. When did the 2300 days begin?

According to Daniel 9:24 Gabriel explained that 70 weeks (490 years) were to be cut off, measured off, or appointed for God's people. This 490 year period was cut off from a longer period. That period was the 2300 days or years mentioned in this vision. Therefore the 490 years and the 2300 years have the same beginning. The restoration decree issued by Artaxerxes in 457 B.C. marks the beginning of the 2300 years.

4. When did the 2300 years end?

Since the 490 year period was cut off from the 2300 years and it ended in A.D. 34, the remaining 1810 years of the 2300 years would reach to A.D. 1844.

5. Which sanctuary was to be cleansed?

The sanctuary mentioned in Daniel 8:14 must refer to the sanctuary in heaven inasmuch as the sanctuary on earth had not existed for nearly 1800 years. Jesus had said, "Your house is left unto you desolate." Matthew 23:37. There was the supernatural rending of the veil in the sanctuary at Jerusalem when Christ was crucified. Jerusalem and the temple were destroyed by the Romans in A. D. 70.

6. What is meant by the cleansing of the sanctuary?

"And he shall sprinkle of the blood upon it with his finger seven times, and cleanse it, and hallow it from the uncleanness of the children of Israel...For on that day shall the priest make an atonement for you, to cleanse you, that ye may be clean from all your sins before the LORD." Leviticus 16:19, 30.

The earthly sanctuary was cleansed once every year by the offering of a blood sacrifice. This service was known as a service of atonement. It was a time of judgment. All record of sin was banished from the camp.

7. What is involved in the cleansing of the heavenly sanctuary?

In 1844 Christ entered into the most holy apartment of the heavenly sanctuary just as the earthly high priest entered the most holy apartment of the earthly sanctuary on the Day of Atonement. There is no sin in heaven but a work of judgment must be accomplished relative to the records of sin (Ecclesiastes 12:14 and Revelation 20:12).

This judgment in heaven which began in 1844 is an investigative judgment. This is necessary so that Christ can bring with Him the rewards. It first will judge the little horn power and the forces behind it thus vindicating God before the universe. It will also permit God to vindicate and clear His genuine people (Revelation 3:5).

During the 1,000 years of Revelation 20 the records of the wicked will be looked over, with the righteous assisting, and the execution of the sentences will be carried out at the end of the 1,000 years.

Christ will indicate the closing of the investigative judgment when He says, "He that is unjust, let him be unjust still: and he which is filthy, let him be filthy still: and he that is righteous, let him be righteous still: and he that is holy, let him be holy still. And, behold, I come quickly; and my reward is with me, to give every man according as his work shall be." Revelation 22:11, 12.

8. Who is the advocate in the investigative judgment?

Read Daniel 7:9, 10, 13. "If any man sin, we have an advocate with the Father, Jesus Christ the righteous." 1 John 2:1. Read John 5:22; 17:2.

The Ancient of days is God the Father. The angels are those who minister to Him. How wonderful to have at the bar of God the One who created us, the One who redeemed us! Read Acts 17:31.

9. What is the standard by which all will be judged?

"Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." Ecclesiastes 12:13, 14. Read James 2:10-12; 1:22-25.

10. Will the judgment be equitable?

"And of Zion it shall be said, This and that man was born in her: and the highest himself shall establish her. The LORD shall count, when he writeth up the people, that this man was born there." Psalm 87:5, 6.

Conclusion

We are now in earth's most solemn hour because the judgment is in process in heaven. Now we must search our hearts and confess our sins. If we do, God will forgive. Read 1 John 1:9. This is the way we can send our sins beforehand to judgment (1 Timothy 5:24).

WAY OF TRUTH

1. FOLLOWING JESUS

When a person claims to be a Christian, a union of Christ and the believer is involved. It will be the same as the union which exists between God and Christ. "He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked." 1 John 2:6. It is evident that abiding in Christ involves the everyday life of the Christian.

1. How did Christ walk?

"I have kept my Father's commandments." John 15:10. Read John 17:4; 4:34.

2. When Jesus called His early disciples what did He instruct them to do?

"Follow me." Matthew 4:19; John 1:43.

3. What does Christ require of His servants today?

"If any man serve me, let him follow me; and where I am, there shall also my servant be: if any man serve me, him will my Father honour." John 12:26. Read Colossians 2:6.

4. Who is our example?

"For even hereunto were ye called: because Christ also suffered for us, leaving us an example, that ye should follow his steps." 1 Peter 2:21.

5. What does following Jesus involve?

"Then said Jesus unto his disciples, If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross, and follow me. For whosoever will save his life shall lose it: and whosoever will lose his life for my sake shall find it. For what is a man profited, if he shall gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? or what shall a man give in exchange for his soul?" Matthew 16:24-26. Read Mark 10:21.

6. How will Christ's sheep respond to His voice?

"My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me." John 10:27.

Conclusion

Following Jesus will require a sacrifice on our part. There is no middle ground. "Whosoever he be of you that forsaketh not all that he hath, he cannot be my disciple." Luke 14:33.

2. BIBLE BAPTISM

That baptism is an important Christian ceremony is proved by the words of Jesus to John the Baptist when John refused to baptize Christ. "And Jesus answering said unto him, Suffer it to be so now: for thus it becometh us to fulfil all righteousness. Then he suffered him." Matthew 3:15. On another occasion Jesus told Nicodemus, "Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God." John 3:5.

1. How many correct forms of baptism are there?

"One Lord, one faith, one baptism." Ephesians 4:5.
 Even though the Bible speaks of only "one baptism" yet Christendom is divided as to the method. Some practice sprinkling, others pouring, and still others immersion.

2. Is baptism an essential step in the Christian's life?

Read Acts 2:37, 38 and Mark 16:16.
 The thief who repented of his sins while on the cross did not have an opportunity to be baptized. He gave his heart to Christ while dying. He was assured of salvation and will get to heaven without baptism because he did all he could do. Had he accepted Jesus before this and refused baptism he could not be saved. Read James 4:17. There are some who refer to 1 Corinthians 15:29 and then practice being baptized for a dead person. We must never assume that someone else can perform duties for us and we get the credit. A study of the context reveals Paul was not teaching this custom.

3. How is the Christian to be baptized?

"Buried with him in baptism, wherein also ye are risen with him through the faith of the operation of God, who hath raised him from the dead." Colossians 2:12.

Baptizo is the Greek for the word baptism. It means to dip, to plunge under water, to immerse. When you bury something you cover it completely. A person is buried face upward, not downward. He is covered once, not three times. Therefore, the practice of trine immersion is not the proper symbol. In true Bible baptism the candidate is placed underneath the water completely, on his back, and then brought up out of the water. This is a symbol of death, burial, and resurrection.

4. Who is eligible to be baptized?

"Go ye therefore, and teach all nations, baptizing them in the name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost: teaching them to observe all things whatsoever I have commanded you: and, lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world." Matthew 28:19, 20. Read Acts 2:38; Isaiah 55:7; Romans 10:9, 10.

A person desiring baptism should (1) be taught, (2) believe and repent, (3) forsake his past life of sin. Since a baby cannot meet these conditions it is clear infant baptism is not Biblical.

5. What suggests the mode of Jesus' baptism?

"And it came to pass in those days, that Jesus came from Nazareth of Galilee, and was baptized of John in Jordan. And straightway coming up out of the water, he saw the heavens opened, and the Spirit like a dove descending upon him: and there came a voice from heaven, saying, Thou art my beloved Son, in whom I am well pleased." Mark 1:9-11.

Christ was baptized in the Jordan river. He was immersed because the Scripture says He came "up out of the water."

6. In what manner did the apostles baptize?

"Then Philip opened his mouth, and began at the same scripture, and preached unto him Jesus. And as they went on their way, they came unto a certain water: and the eunuch said, See, here is water: what doth hinder me to be baptized? And Philip said, If thou believest with all thine heart, thou mayest. And he answered and said, I believe that Jesus Christ is the Son of God. And he commanded the chariot to stand still: and they went down both into the water, both Philip and the eunuch: and he baptized him. And when they were come up out of the water, the Spirit of the Lord caught away Philip, that the eunuch saw him no more: and he went on his way rejoicing." Acts 8:35-39.

Both Philip and the eunuch went into the water and came up out of it. John also immersed people because he baptized people where "there was much water." John 3:23.

7. What is the meaning of baptism?

"Know ye not, that so many of us as were baptized into Jesus Christ were baptized into his death? Therefore we are buried with him by baptism into death: that like as Christ was raised up from the dead by the glory of the Father, even so we also should walk in newness of life." Romans 6:3, 4.

8. What does baptism indicate about a person's relation to Christ?

"For as many of you as have been baptized into Christ have put on Christ." Galatians 3:27. Read Acts 22:16.

Baptism does not wash or make us clean; it is a symbol of the blood atonement of Christ. It is a public testimony, like a wedding ceremony, of a previous change of life and linking one's life with Christ.

9. How are believers united in the faith?

"For as the body is one, and hath many members, and all the members of that one body, being many, are one body: so also is Christ. For by one Spirit are we all baptized into one body, whether we be Jews or Gentiles, whether we be bond or free; and have been all made to drink into one Spirit." 1 Corinthians 12:12, 13.

Conclusion

When the truth about baptism is understood, then the question put to Saul (who later became Paul) by Ananias should be acted upon: "And now why tarriest thou? arise, and be baptized." Acts 22:16. God will be honored by prompt obedience. The path into the waters of baptism has been trod by Jesus. He will be with us as we follow.

3. TWO ORDINANCES CHRIST INSTITUTED BEFORE HIS DEATH

Before His death Christ put into His plan for His followers two ordinances, both of which have deep spiritual significance. These, like all other things Jesus did and commanded, are based upon love.

1. After the passover supper and before His betrayal what ordinance did Jesus first institute in the upper room?

Read John 13:1-17.

2. Did the disciples understand Christ's action?

Evidently not, because Jesus plainly stated, "What I do thou knowest not now." Verse 7. Again He made it clear that this was a unique condition of partnership with Him when He said, "If I wash thee not, thou hast no part with me." Verse 8. Further, had they understood its significance He would not have had to probe them with this final question: "Know ye what I have done to you?" Verse 12.

3. Did Jesus expect His disciples to enter into the repetition of His action in washing one another's feet?

Three verses prove conclusively that Jesus' followers are to imitate His example in this rite. He said, "Ye also ought to wash one another's feet." Verse 14. Christ added, "For I have given you an example, that ye should do as I have done to you." Verse 15. He concludes by saying, "If ye know these things, happy are ye if ye do them." Verse 17.

4. What is there in this service for us?

- It memorializes Christ's life of service.
- On that occasion there was jealousy and strife among the disciples (Luke 22:24). Therefore when Jesus washed their feet, they were humbled. Hence, this rite serves to keep the proper loving spiritual relationship between brethren.
- This rite also serves as a miniature rebaptism. Read John 13:10. One who is washed (the washing of baptism) needs not to be rebaptized when he makes a mistake. He has not lost faith in Christ. The feet washing is a continual assurance of Christ's cleansing grace.
- As a memorial to Christ's service, it can teach us to humble ourselves to serve others to whatever extent or depth necessary.

5. Before leaving the upper room, after He had washed the disciples' feet what final ordinance did Jesus institute?

"And as they were eating, Jesus took bread, and blessed it, and brake it, and gave it to the disciples, and said, Take, eat, this is my body. And he took the cup, and gave thanks, and gave it to them, saying, Drink ye all of it; for this is my blood of the new testament, which is shed for many for the remission of sins." Matthew 26:26-28. Read 1 Corinthians 11:23-29, 10:16, 17.

To get the most out of this service, the Lord's Supper, involves a fourfold act of devotion. (1) There is the act of self examination (1 Corinthians 11:28); (2) there is also the act of dependence: Jesus is the bread and the wine (John 6:48-58, 15:1-5); (3) there is the act of remembrance of the Lord's death (1 Corinthians 11:24, 26); (4) there is the act of hope "till he come" (1 Corinthians 11:26).

Conclusion

The communion service consists of two parts: First, the foot washing service, a test of our true attitude toward one another. It is also a reminder we must be clean when approaching the Lord's table (1 Corinthians 10:21). Second, the Lord's Supper symbolizes God's means of atonement for our sins. We cannot claim to love Jesus and refrain from the great memorial of His love for us.

4. IDENTIFYING GOD'S CHURCH

There are hundreds of different churches with various doctrines each of which considers itself to be God's church on earth. But how can this be? It would seem that for any church to qualify as God's church, it must teach and practice all that the Bible teaches. When Paul talks about "the house of God, which is the church of the living God" he says it is "the pillar and the ground of the truth." 1 Timothy 3:15. Read Revelation 12:1-17.

1. What are the three main symbols used in Revelation 12?

- First, there is the symbol of the woman who is clothed with the sun. This is a symbol of God's church. A pure, beautiful woman is God's way of representing His church. Read Jeremiah 6:2; 2 Corinthians 11:2. The woman's clothing could represent the robe of Christ's righteousness. The moon is a symbol of the types and shadows of Old Testament times. The ceremonial law was of value only when it was fulfilled in the life, death, and resurrection of Christ. The crown of twelve stars represents twelve leaders in the Old Testament, Jacob's sons, and in the New Testament the twelve apostles.
- Second, there is the symbol of the great red dragon. In verse 9 the dragon is identified as the devil. Satan always works through human agents. Pagan Rome was that agent at the time of John's vision.
- Third, the man-child represents Jesus Christ. For centuries the church had looked for the birth of the Messiah. When He came He was born a helpless babe. He was hated and attacked by the devil. Finally He will one day rule all nations. Jesus is the only person who fits all these specifications.

2. What three stages of the controversy between Christ and Satan are brought to light in Revelation 12?

- First, there was the plot worked out by Satan to destroy Christ at His birth.
- Second, during the Dark Ages God's church was driven into the wilderness where she remained, often persecuted, but loyal and true to God. And even though the devil, through wars and the Mohammedan hordes, tried to exterminate the fugitive church, yet "the earth helped the woman." How? By providing hiding places in caves and secluded spots as well as by the discovery of the New World - America - where liberty to worship the way one chose was made possible. This period extended from A. D. 538 to A. D. 1798.
- Third, when the church emerged from her wilderness experience at the end of the 18th century Satan again continued his terrible warfare against the latter end of God's church - the remnant.

3. What are the identifying marks of God's church in these last days?

"And the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ." Revelation 12:17. Here are given three marks which identify the remnant church with absolute certainty.

- The devil is angry "with the remnant" of the church's seed. Since a remnant is always identical to the original this means the last church is like the apostolic church. Therefore its teachings should square fully with the Bible, the Christian's blueprint.
- God's last church will be a commandment keeping church in contrast to those who accept the teachings and traditions of men.
- God's church in these last days has "the testimony of Jesus Christ." This testimony of Jesus through the prophets (1 Peter 1:10, 11) is the Bible term for the gift of prophecy which made it possible for "holy men of God" to produce the sacred writings of the Bible (2 Peter 1:21). And it is the method God uses in guiding His church today.

- d. The remnant church, being the last phase of God's work, will naturally proclaim God's last messages. These are found in Revelation 14:6-14. (See 5. God's Last Warning Message.)

Conclusion

In the parable of the shepherd and the sheep Jesus said, "And other sheep I have, which are not of this fold; them also I must bring, and they shall hear my voice; and there shall be one fold, and one shepherd." John 10:16. All the sheep will not only hear the voice of the shepherd but Jesus continued, "My sheep hear my voice, and I know them, and they follow me." John 10:27. Read Revelation 18:1-4. Each person must answer the call of God himself. Now is the time of decision.

5. GOD'S LAST WARNING MESSAGE

We are living now in the closing days of earth's history. Through divine inspiration Paul tells us the conditions that should be prevalent in these last days. Read 2 Timothy 3:1-5. God has spoken. These conditions are in evidence all about us. To meet this crisis God has a special message designed for these last days. It is His last warning message.

1. Does God always warn men of a coming crisis?

"Surely the Lord GOD will do nothing but he revealeth his secret unto his servants the prophets." Amos 3:7.

- ☞ Before God destroyed the world by a flood of waters, He sent a message of warning to the antediluvians through Noah (Genesis 6). Angels came from heaven and warned Lot and his family to leave Sodom. There was Moses' warning of the plagues to fall on Egypt. Jonah was sent to warn the inhabitants of Nineveh before their destruction. Jesus warned the Jews of the destruction of Jerusalem which took place in A. D. 70.

2. In these last days what is God doing to warn the world?

God has a special message for our day. It is the message of Revelation 14:6-12. This is to be given just before the return of Christ (Revelation 14:14-16).

3. Before the coming of Christ what kind of gospel is to be proclaimed to the world?

"And I saw another angel fly in the midst of heaven, having the everlasting gospel to preach unto them that dwell on the earth, and to every nation, and kindred, and tongue, and people." Revelation 14:6.

- ☞ This term "the everlasting gospel" indicates the unchanged gospel that was presented to Adam, Abraham, Joseph, Daniel, Peter and Paul. It is the everlasting good news concerning Christ as our Saviour. It is a Christ-centered message with Christ as our Sin Bearer, High Priest, and our daily Bread of Life-man's only Saviour.

4. What specific announcement does this last warning message contain that could be given only in our day?

Read Revelation 14:7.

- ☞ This message which says, "The hour of his judgment is come" could not have been given before. The judgment hour arrived in 1844 in fulfillment of Daniel 8:14. The investigative judgment is going on now. It is imperative that this message be proclaimed warning men and women that time is short.

5. In this last message what great basic truth is also given?

"Worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters." Revelation 14:7, last part.

- ☞ Recognition of God as Creator is the basis of all true religion. The fact that God is Creator is the foundation of God's authority as well as of our responsibility to God. This last warning message unites the fact of creation with the judgment.

6. What is the message of the second angel?

"And there followed another angel, saying, Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication." Revelation 14:8. Read also Revelation 18:1-4.

- ☞ Babylon is a symbolic term standing for religious apostasy in opposition to Christ and His people, especially in the closing phase of the age long conflict between good and evil. Many of God's people are still in Babylon. In these latter days God is calling them out to take their stand on the side of God's truth. God's people will be commandment keepers (Revelation 12:17). Read John 10:16, 27.

7. Against what does the third angel warn?

"And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand, the same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb; and the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: and they have no rest day nor night, who worship the beast and his image, and whosoever receiveth the mark of his name." Revelation 14:9-11.

- ☞ This is a message warning against worshipping the beast and his image and a warning to beware of receiving his mark. Verse 12 holds up the saints in contrast to those who worship the beast.

Conclusion

The issue in the last conflict will be clear. We are called upon to decide between God and man. If we should choose "the commandments of men" instead of God's commandments our worship will be in vain (Mark 7:7). There will be a clear distinction between those who receive the mark of the beast and those who are designated saints. The latter keep God's commandments. The former apparently do not. Whereas the Christian apostasy allegedly upholds the Decalogue, but not the fourth precept, it is evident that the issue in the final conflict will be over the fourth commandment—the Sabbath and loyalty to the Creator. God holds a person responsible for the light he has (John 9:41). The saints will also have the faith of Jesus. Let us not reject God's last warning message. Let us be willing to heed the warning.

1. ORIGIN OF GOD'S LAW

The Bible indicates God has a government. Read Psalm 103:19. It is a recognized fact that intelligent human beings cannot live together in peace without a law acceptable to all.

1. Upon what principle are the laws of God's government based?

"Justice and judgment are the habitation of thy throne mercy and truth shall go before thy face." Psalm 89:14.

2. How does Paul describe God's law?

"Wherefore the law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good." Romans 7:12.

3. Who gave God's law to man?

"And God spake all these words, saying," Exodus 20:1. Then follow the Ten Commandments in Verses 3-17.

4. Where did God write His law?

"And the Lord spake unto you out of the midst of the fire: ye heard the voice of the words, but saw no similitude; only ye heard a voice. And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even ten commandments; and he wrote them upon two tables of stone." Deuteronomy 4:12, 13. Read Nehemiah 9:13; Exodus 31:18.

5. Was God's law known by Adam?

Speaking of Israel the prophet Hosea says, "But they like men have transgressed the covenant: there have they dealt treacherously against me." Hosea 6:7. So, Israel, "like Adam" (margin) "have transgressed the covenant."

Since Paul mentions in Romans 7:7 that he would not have known sin, but by the law; the same principle holds true with Adam. There would have been no sin on Adam's part without a knowledge of law. "For by the law is the knowledge of sin." Romans 3:20.

6. What other evidence is there that God's law existed and was known before Mount Sinai?

"...by one man's disobedience many were made sinners..." Romans 5:19.

There could have been no disobedience in Eden by Adam without a revelation of God's law. According to 1 John 3:4 sin is the breaking of or disobedience to God's law. Since it is true as Paul says that "by man came death" and "in Adam all die" (1 Corinthians 15:21, 22) God's law was in existence in the Garden of Eden.

7. How then was man aware of God's law?

"Which shew the work of the law written in their hearts, their conscience also bearing witness, and their thoughts the mean while accusing or else excusing one another." Romans 2:15.

In the creation God wrote His law in man's heart and for that reason it is referred to as the law of nature in Romans 2:14.

8. Who broke God's law even before Adam?

"He that committeth sin is of the devil, for the devil sinneth from the beginning." 1 John 3:8, first part. Also 2 Peter 2:4 speaks of "the angels that sinned."

Conclusion

God created no one in sin. All God's creation was sinless. However, they were all beings with the power of choice. Ezekiel speaks of Satan, using the figure of the "King of Tyre," and says of him, "Thou wast perfect in thy ways from the day that thou wast created, till iniquity was found in thee." Ezekiel 28:15. Jesus said of the devil that he "abode not in the truth." John 8:44. So before disobedience there was obedience and if obedience then God's law was known.

2. PURPOSE OF GOD'S LAW

Obedience is always and everywhere the evidence of love and loyalty. Jesus said, "He that hath my commandments, and keepeth them, he it is that loveth me: and he that loveth me shall be loved of my Father and I will love him, and will manifest myself to him." John 14:21. Jesus came to this world to save us from sin. The angel said to Joseph, "Thou shalt call his name JESUS: for he shall save his people from their sins." Matthew 1:21.

1. To what is God's law likened?

"Wherefore the law was our schoolmaster to bring us unto Christ, that we might be justified by faith." Galatians 3:24.

The law which Paul mentions here refers to the whole Jewish system. Therefore when we come to Verse 25, Paul is saying that no longer does Judaism function to point us to Christ—He has come! All of Israel's laws—moral, ritual, etc.—had served to point them to the Messiah, but they rejected Him when He came.

2. What else is God's law likened to?

"For if any be a hearer of the word, and not a doer, he is like unto a man beholding his natural face in a glass: for he beholdeth himself, and goeth his way, and straightway forgetteth what manner of man he was. But whoso looketh into the perfect law of liberty, and continueth therein, he being not a forgetful hearer, but a doer of the work, this man shall be blessed in his deed." James 1:23-25.

3. Does the law reveal God's will?

"I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart." Psalm 40:8. Read Romans 2:16, 17.

As Paul uses the term "end of the law" (Romans 10:4) he means aim or objective. The aim of the law or its objective is perfect obedience or righteousness. This the penitent sinner cannot render. But Christ achieves this aim or objective of the law for him who believes in Him. Believing in Christ, one is forgiven and accounted righteous.

4. Why is it necessary to receive the Spirit of Christ into the heart?

"That the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit." Romans 8:4.

5. How much of man's duty is revealed by God's law?

"Let us hear the conclusion of the whole matter: Fear God, and keep his commandments: for this is the whole duty of man. For God shall bring every work into judgment, with every secret thing, whether it be good, or whether it be evil." Ecclesiastes 12:13, 14.

6. Does God's law have anything to do with man's conversion?

"The law of the Lord is perfect, converting the soul: the testimony of the Lord is sure, making wise the simple." Psalm 19:7.

The law has no power to pardon transgression. The law reveals sin and points a person to Christ. When a person gazes at the law, with mind quickened by the convicting Spirit of God, he sees his defilement and is then in a frame of mind to listen to a message that offers cleansing through Christ.

7. What does God's law have to do with the judgment?

It is the standard by which all are to be judged and for that reason James says, "So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty." James 2:12. John says, "This is the love of God, that we keep his commandments." 1 John 5:3.

Conclusion

The Bible mentions many blessings which attend those who give heed to God's law. David says, "Moreover by them is thy servant warned: and in keeping of them there is great reward." Psalm 19:11. "The fear of the LORD is the beginning of wisdom: a good understanding have all they that do his commandments: his praise endureth for ever." Psalm 111:10. David's decision relative to God's law should be ours. Read Psalm 119:8.

3. GOD'S LAW TO ENDURE OR TO BE ABOLISHED?

God's ten commandment law contains principles that are binding upon all peoples in all ages. "Wherefore the law is holy, and the commandment holy, and just, and good." Romans 7:12.

1. For how long were God's commandments established?

"The works of his hands are verity and judgment; all his commandments are sure. They stand fast for ever and ever, and are done in truth and uprightness." Psalm 111:7, 8.

2. What was Christ's personal attitude toward the law of ten commandments?

David uttered a prophecy of Christ which says, "I delight to do thy will, O my God: yea, thy law is within my heart." Psalm 40:8. Jesus said, "I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love." John 15:10.

3. Did Christ come to abolish any part of God's law?

"Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one tittle shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled. Whosoever therefore shall break one of these least commandments, and shall teach men so, he shall be called the least in the kingdom of heaven: but whosoever shall do and teach them, the same shall be called great in the kingdom of heaven." Matthew 5:17-19.

The law mentioned here included all that Moses and the prophets had written. He did not come to set aside any of it. He fulfilled the ceremonial types and shadows in the books of Moses as their great antitype. The ten commandment law He fulfilled through perfect obedience. And He fulfilled what the prophets had written of Him when He came as the Messiah, the Saviour of the human race.

4. What does it mean to fulfill when applied to God's law?

To fulfill means to do, to perform, or to act in accordance with. Paul says, "Bear ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ." Galatians 6:2. Christ's act of being baptized was a fulfilling of righteousness. Read Matthew 3:15; also James 2:8, 9.

God's great moral Decalogue is eternal; whereas, ritual law is only temporary. Read Ephesians 2:15. All typical laws have ended.

5. What is another proof of the enduring nature of God's law?

It is the fact that God's law is the standard of the judgment. Read Ecclesiastes 12:13, 14; James 2:8-12.

6. Rather than abolish the law what was predicted that He would do with it?

"The Lord is well pleased for his righteousness' sake; he will magnify the law, and make it honourable." Isaiah 42:21.

7. How did Christ magnify the law?

"Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not kill; and whosoever shall kill shall be in danger of the judgment: but I say unto you, That whosoever is angry with his brother without a cause shall be in danger of the judgment: and whosoever shall say to his brother, Raca, shall be in danger of the council: but whosoever shall say, Thou fool, shall be in danger of hell fire...Ye have heard that it was said by them of old time, Thou shalt not commit adultery: but I say unto you, That whosoever looketh on a woman to lust after her hath committed adultery with her already in his heart." Matthew 5:21, 22, 27, 28.

8. Will God's righteousness (law, see Psalm 119:172) ever be abolished?

"Lift up your eyes to the heavens, and look upon the earth beneath: for the heavens shall vanish away like smoke, and the earth shall wax old like a garment, and they that dwell therein shall die in like manner: but my salvation shall be for ever, and my righteousness shall not be abolished. Harken unto me, ye that know righteousness, the people in whose heart is my law: fear ye not the reproach of men, neither be ye afraid of their revilings." Isaiah 51:6, 7.

Moral law is related to the relationships that exist between the Creator and the creature, and between creatures. The Decalogue rests on the principle of love to God and impartial love to one's fellow beings: hence, it defines a man's duty towards God and his duty towards his fellow human beings. Read Matthew 22:36-40; Romans 13:8-10. Thus, as long as these relationships shall exist, just so long the moral law will exist defining these two obligations. According to Romans 3:31, faith does not abrogate (do away with) God's law but establishes a (causes it to stand).

Conclusion

God's law will endure because of its holy nature. Says David, "All thy commandments are righteousness." Psalm 119:172. Obedience to God's law must not be merely an outward compliance, but rather a genuine heart service. According to Matthew 5:21-48 perfection involves every thought as well as every action.

4. THE CHRISTIAN VERSUS GOD'S LAW

A Christian is a person who has accepted Christ as his personal Saviour from sin. The reason He goes to Christ for pardon from sin is because the law of God and the Spirit of God have made him conscious of his sin. God has promised that when a person confesses and puts away sin He will forgive. Read 1 John 1:9. It is this gracious love of Christ which awakens love in the heart of a sinner so that he then desires to do God's will. Therefore the Christian is never opposed to the keeping of God's law.

1. How does a person become a Christian?

It is a three-step process and can be referred to as the ABC method.

- Accept Christ as Saviour (Isaiah 45:22; Acts 4:10, 12)
- Believe Christ to be the Son of God (1 John 5:13, John 20:31; Acts 16:31; Matthew 28:20).
- Confess your sins (Psalm 32:5; 1 John 1:9; Leviticus 5:5).

2. When a person is converted to Christ what takes place?

"Therefore if any man be in Christ, he is a new creature: old things are passed away; behold, all things are become new." 2 Corinthians 5:17.

In His conversation with Nicodemus Jesus made it clear that being converted to Christ is a new birth. "Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God." John 3:3. Read also Luke 18:13, 14.

3. Through what power is the new birth accomplished?

"Being horn again, not of corruptible seed, but of incorruptible, by the word of God, which liveth and abideth for ever." 1 Peter 1:23.

4. What do all people have in common?

"For all have sinned, and come short of the glory of God." Romans 3:23.

 Man is a sinner. As such he cannot save himself. He is condemned to die; his only hope of life is through the power of God. Read Romans 6:23. Sinfulness is a part of man's nature. Read Jeremiah 13:23 and Romans 7:18, 19.

5. How does God provide pardon for sins of the past?

"Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus: whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God." Romans 3:24, 25.

 Christ's death for sin paid the price of our transgressions. Read Romans 5:6, 8 and Isaiah 53:5.

6. What kind of life follows the new birth?

In explaining the new birth to Nicodemus Jesus said, "That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit." John 3:6. "For what the law could not do, in that it was weak through the flesh, God sending his own Son in the likeness of sinful flesh, and for sin, condemned sin in the flesh: that the righteousness of the law might be fulfilled in us, who walk not after the flesh, but after the Spirit." Romans 8:3, 4. The Holy Spirit so changes the heart that now we love God supremely and our fellowmen as ourselves so that we choose to live out these precepts. Read Romans 5:5; 1 John 3:14; Romans 13:8-10.

7. How will the Christian regard God's law?

"Let thy mercies come also unto me, O LORD, even thy salvation, according to thy word...So shall I keep thy law continually for ever and ever...And I will delight myself in thy commandments, which I have loved." Psalm 119:41, 44, 47.

 It must ever be remembered that being saved by God's grace does not make of no effect the principles of God's law. "Do we then make void the law through faith? God forbid: yea, we establish the law." Romans 3:31.

Conclusion

When Jesus was asked, "What...shall I do, that I may have eternal life?" Jesus replied by saying, "If thou wilt enter into life, keep the commandments." Matthew 19:16, 17. The rich young ruler professed to have kept the commandments but Jesus showed him by magnifying the law (Isaiah 42:21) that he had not really been a commandment keeper (Matthew 19:18-22). Paul commands: "Lay hold on eternal life." 1 Timothy 6:12. How? Read Isaiah 1:18-20. Let us not refuse to enter the open door to pardon and obedience through the power and grace of God. Read Hebrews 2:1-3.

5. GOD'S LAW IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

There are three kinds of laws mentioned in the Bible. It is important to distinguish the different characteristics of these laws otherwise one could be guilty of using the sacred scriptures in such a way as to bring about his own destruction. Read 2 Peter 3:15, 16.

1. The three types of laws are:

- Civil Laws - These were laws which regulated a multitude of things which had to do with the operation of Israel. They had to do with health, sanitation, disease, crime, court procedures, etc. These are not binding today as civil obligations although many of the basic principles still apply.

- Ceremonial Laws - These were the sanctuary laws which governed the religious services of Israel and which pointed forward to the Messiah.
- Moral Law - This is the ten commandment law recorded in Exodus 20:1-17. This law was proclaimed on Mount Sinai, written by God on tables of stone and preserved by Israel as the universal law for man.

2. Did God's moral law exist before Mount Sinai? If so, how can we be sure of this?

"Wherefore, as by one man sin entered into the world, and death by sin; and so death passed upon all men, for that all have sinned." Romans 5:12.

 Our first father, Adam, was acquainted with God's law; otherwise, it could not be said of him that he sinned. Paul declares: "I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet." Romans 7:7.

3. The Ten Commandments as they existed before Mount Sinai.

- First commandment which had to do with other gods. Read Genesis 35:2-4 and Joshua 24:2.
- Second commandment which forbids image worship. Read Genesis 31:19-34 and Genesis 35:1-4.
- Third commandment forbids disrespect for God. Read Exodus 5:2; Job 21:7, 14, 15.
- Fourth commandment had to do with God's Sabbath. Read Genesis 2:1-3 and Exodus 16:22-29.
- Fifth commandment had to do with respecting parents. Read Genesis 37:28-35 and Genesis 50:15-17.
- Sixth commandment concerning killing. Read Genesis 4:8 and 1 John 3:13, 15.
- Seventh commandment which forbids unfaithfulness in marriage. Read Genesis 34:1, 2, 31 and Genesis 39:7-9.
- Eighth commandment forbids stealing. Read Genesis 27:35, 36 and Genesis 44:4-8.
- Ninth commandment which had to do with deception and falsehood. Read Genesis 27:17-24.
- Tenth commandment had to do with covetousness. Eve coveted that which belonged to God before she took it. Read Genesis 3:6.

 While it is true that the ten precepts are not stated formally, it is evident from these accounts that the people were aware of them, some ordering their lives by them, others choosing to violate them.

Conclusion

The principles of God's law were certainly known before Mount Sinai. Why was it necessary to reveal His law at Mount Sinai? Because the people had been mingling with heathenism and idolatry for long centuries of Egyptian slavery and they had lost sight of God and His law. This is one of the reasons why He brought them out of Egypt. Read Psalm 105:37-45.

6. LAW OF GOD IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

Jesus came to set men and women free from a yoke of bondage. Paul says, "Stand fast therefore in the liberty wherewith Christ hath made us free, and be not entangled again with the yoke of bondage." Galatians 5:1. Several passages of scripture indicate a yoke of bondage having been placed on the people that was hard to bear. Read Matthew 23:14; Acts 15:10; Galatians 2:4; and 2 Peter 2:19. However, the yoke of bondage was not God's moral law.

1. Which of the Ten Commandments could be obliterated?

- Certainly not the first for this would give sanction to polytheism and the blood of Christ could not save men if they believed in many gods.
- This is also true with regards to the second commandment. People who bow down to images need the gospel and the blood of Christ.
- Jesus spoke of the binding obligations of the third commandment. Read Matthew 5:34 and James 5:12.
- To do away with the fourth commandment would be to take away one of the greatest blessings of God to man. Jesus kept the Sabbath. Read Luke 4:16; Mark 2:27. The Sabbath is as perpetual as eternity. Read Isaiah 66:22, 23.
- The fifth commandment is the basis of all family relationships. This was the first commandment with promise. Read Ephesians 6:1, 2.
- Jesus exalted the binding claims of the sixth commandment. Read Matthew 5:21, 22. Compare 1 John 3:15.
- The last four could not be cast aside. Each is essential and the more closely we observe these commands through the power of Christ the more peace, joy, happiness, love and power we will have. Read Psalm 119:97, 165.
- God's law is not the yoke of bondage. It is called the law of liberty. Read James 1:25.

2. Which of the ceremonial laws was a bondage?

- The Passover was a prophecy of the Messiah. Read 1 Corinthians 5:7.
- The Feast of Pentecost was symbolic of the outpouring of the Holy Spirit which came fifty days after the presentation of the wave sheaf offering. Read Leviticus 23:16-19. Compare Acts 2:1-4.
- The Feast of Tabernacles was a forcible teaching concerning Christ's final work of redemption.
- The Day of Atonement was a reminder of Christ's atonement. Read Hebrews 9:12-14.
- Circumcision was a sign of an everlasting covenant between God and Abraham and his posterity. Read Genesis 17:9-14; 1 Corinthians 7:19. It contained a lesson for God's people. Read Deuteronomy 10:16, 30:6.
- All these festivals and circumcision were done away with at the cross. Read Colossians 2:14.

 The New Testament views the ceremonial laws (for which the rite of circumcision is sometimes used to represent the whole system) as "a yoke... which neither our fathers nor we were able to bear" (Acts 15:1, 5, 10); a "middle wall of partition" of "enmity" which separated Jew and Gentile (Ephesians 2:14, 15), "contrary to us" (Colossians 2:14). Since the ritual taught the gospel (Hebrews 4:1, 2) in types and was given to man from Adam onward and enlarged in the sanctuary, why does the New Testament view it with such disfavor? There are two reasons: (1) The Jews turned the ritual into a works-salvation system. This made it a bondage (note Peter and Paul's arguments: Acts 15:9-11; Galatians 2:16, 5:4-6). (2) The Jews perverted the ritual system by adding numerous rabbinical teachings and requirements. Read Mark 7:1-13.

3. How did Jesus regard the ten commandment law?

"If ye keep my commandments, ye shall abide in my love; even as I have kept my Father's commandments, and abide in his love." John 15:10. Read Matthew 22:36-40. Psalm 40:8 was a prophecy of Christ.

 The moral law is permanent, being rooted in the relationships between the Creator and His creatures. Ritual laws, being typical by nature, would have passed away when their function had been met.

Conclusion

When Christ was here men were in bondage to man-made laws. Jesus said, "Woe unto you also, ye lawyers! for ye lade men with burdens grievous to be borne, and ye yourselves touch not the burdens with one of your fingers." Luke 11:46. He further said, "The scribes and the Pharisees sit in Moses' seat: all therefore whatsoever they bid you observe, that observe and do; but do not ye after their works: for they say, and do not. For they bind heavy burdens and grievous to be borne, and lay them on men's shoulders; but they themselves will not move them with one of their fingers." Matthew 23:2-4. Jesus taught obedience to God's will. Read Matthew 7:21-27.

7. THE TWO LAWS CONTRASTED

Two kinds of laws given in the Bible are often confused with each other by Bible students. They are moral and ritual. God is the source of both. The moral law sets forth His will; the ritual law sets forth the gospel in figures and symbols. In the sanctuary Israel had the very same gospel we have today. Read Hebrews 4:1, 2.

1. Which law reveals sin?

"What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. Nay, I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, Thou shalt not covet." Romans 7:7.

 It is the tenth of the ten commandment law which forbids a person to covet.

2. What other names are given to the Ten Commandments by James?

"If ye fulfil the royal law according to the scripture, Thou shalt love thy neighbour as thyself, ye do well; but if ye have respect to persons, ye commit sin, and are convinced of the law as transgressors. For whosoever shall keep the whole law, and yet offend in one point, he is guilty of all. For he that said, Do not commit adultery; said also, Do not kill. Now if thou commit no adultery, yet if thou kill, thou art become a transgressor of the law. So speak ye, and so do, as they that shall be judged by the law of liberty." James 2:8-12.

 Here it is clear that the law of liberty is that law which says, "Do not commit adultery" and "Do not kill." James also calls it "the royal law." It contains the principles by which men are to be judged.

3. What is the first record of keeping the sacrificial or ceremonial law?

"By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: and by it he being dead yet speaketh." Hebrews 11:4. Read Genesis 4:3-5.

 Had man never sinned there would have been no need for the ceremonial law that had to do with regulating sacrifices. The sacrificial system pointed forward to Christ as man's hope for salvation.

4. Upon what did God write His Ten Commandments?

"And he declared unto you his covenant, which he commanded you to perform, even ten commandments, and he wrote them upon two tables of stone." Deuteronomy 4:13.

5. In what did Moses write the laws God gave?

"And it came to pass, when Moses had made an end of writing the words of this law in a book, until they were finished." Deuteronomy 31:24.

6. In what were the Ten Commandments placed?

"And he took and put the testimony into the ark, and set the staves on the ark, and put the mercy seat above upon the ark." Exodus 40:20.

7. Where were the books containing the law of ceremonies placed?

"Take this book of the law, and put it in the side of the ark of the covenant of the LORD your God, that it may be there for a witness against thee." Deuteronomy 31:26.

 The book Moses wrote includes the Ten Commandments. Having the book in the side of the ark enabled the priests to have access to it so they could know the will of God and could teach it. Without question, the fact that God wrote the Decalogue on stone and had it placed in the ark beneath the mercy seat shows the importance of the Decalogue as central in the divine government. However, what Moses wrote was as authoritative as any other book of the Bible, because it was the Word of the Lord.

8. What is the nature of the Ten Commandments?

They not only define man's duties to God (first four commandments) but also man's duties to his fellows (last six). Read Matthew 22:36-40; Romans 13:8-10; Galatians 5:14. God's law is spiritual (Romans 7:14), exceeding broad (Psalm 119:96) because it measures the motives and intents of the heart as well as the overt acts (Matthew 5:27, 28; Mark 7:21-23).

9. What was the value of the ceremonial law?

The writer of Hebrews said that the tabernacle "was a figure for the time then present, in which were offered both gifts and sacrifices, that could not make him that did the service perfect, as pertaining to the conscience; which stood only in meats and drinks, and divers washings, and carnal ordinances, imposed on them until the time of reformation." Hebrews 9:9, 10.

 What was the purpose of the ceremonial system? If it made nothing perfect, why did God give it? Why from Adam to Christ's day did they offer sacrifices if the rites accomplished no actual salvation? These were the types by which man was taught the plan of salvation. Each sacrifice foreshadowed the ultimate "Lamb of God" who would take away the world's sins (John 1:29).

10. Did Christ's death destroy the Ten Commandments? How did the apostles regard this law?

Read Romans 7:7, 12; James 2:10-12.

 The apostles did not see a demise of the Decalogue at the cross. To them the Ten Commandments were holy, just, and good and ever served to awaken the sinner to his need. They saw the precepts as guides for living and the standard of final judgment.

11. What effect did Christ's death on the cross have upon the ceremonial law?

"Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace." Ephesians 2:15.

 Christ's death on the cross brought to an end the ritual system inasmuch as He was the Lamb toward which these sacrifices all pointed. Since Christ had come these were of no more service. The shadow had met the object.

Conclusion

It had been predicted in prophecy that the law which had to do with sacrifices would cease in the middle of the seventieth week allotted to the Jewish nation. The first 69 weeks or 483 prophetic days which would be 483 years reached to the baptism of Jesus in A. D. 27. In the middle of that last seven years Christ was crucified which was the spring of A. D. 31. Read Daniel 9:24-27. As Christ hung on the cross "when he had cried again with a loud voice, yielded up the ghost. And, behold, the veil of the temple was rent in twain from the top to the bottom." Matthew 27:50, 51. The sacrifices ceased to have any further typical significance—they no longer had any meaning to point forward to a coming Messiah—Christ had come. However, God's royal law of Ten Commandments still points out sin. To obtain victory over sin we must trust in Jesus.

8. GOD'S EVERLASTING COVENANT

Throughout the Bible reference is made to God's covenant. Basically this is a provision from God whereby sinful men can become the people of God. We can either accept or reject it. The covenant contains three points: (1) God's promises (Galatians 3:16, 17); (2) God's conditions, that is, obedience to His will (Deuteronomy 4:13); (3) the means to meet the conditions. This is Christ (the gospel) (Isaiah 42:1, 6).

1. How many covenants does the Old Testament mention?

There is basically only one covenant. It was made with Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob, and then with Israel at Sinai. Read Psalm 105:6-10.

 After the Sinai experience the leaders of Israel continued to call the people to renew their commitment to this everlasting covenant.

2. Why did God plan to deliver Israel from Egyptian bondage?

"And God heard their groaning, and God remembered his covenant with Abraham, with Isaac, and with Jacob." Exodus 2:24.

3. When God called Moses to lead Israel out of Egypt what was His purpose?

"And I appeared unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob, by the name of God Almighty, but by my name JEHOVAH was I not known to them. And I have also established my covenant with them, to give them the land of Canaan, the land of their pilgrimage, wherein they were strangers. And I have also heard the groaning of the children of Israel, whom the Egyptians keep in bondage; and I have remembered my covenant." Exodus 6:3-5.

 God's covenant made with Israel at Sinai was the same one He had made with Abraham. In Genesis 17 the covenant made with Abraham is referred to as the everlasting covenant; nine times He speaks of it as "my covenant."

4. What was required of Israel by the covenant?

"Now therefore, if ye will obey my voice indeed, and keep my covenant, then ye shall be a peculiar treasure unto me above all people: for all the earth is mine." Exodus 19:5.

 They were required to obey, and were given the sign of circumcision.

5. Was God's covenant at Sinai another covenant?

No, God simply renewed His covenant to Israel at that time. The promises are there (Exodus 19:4-6). The law is there and the call to obedience (Exodus 20). The means to fulfill the conditions are there too through the gospel as presented in the sanctuary (Hebrews 9:1). The ratifying of the covenant at Sinai, by sacrificial blood, pointed to Christ and the ultimate ratification of the everlasting covenant.

 Relative to the renewing of the everlasting covenant Jeremiah predicted it in the coming Messianic Age (Jeremiah 31:31-34). Compare Jeremiah 30:9. Jesus announced its renewal in the Lord's Supper (Luke 22:20). God could not renew the everlasting covenant with physical Israel as they rejected Him. But He is able to do so with spiritual Israel.

6. Why does Paul mention an old covenant in Galatians and in Hebrews? Does God have two ways of dealing with man? What is the difference between the old and new covenant?

- The old covenant was based on works while the new covenant is based on faith (Galatians 3:2).
- Paul shows in Galatians 4:22-26 that just as Abraham perverted the use of Hagar-making a wife of her to secure a child-so Israel perverted the moral and ritual instructions from an arrangement of law and gospel (one convicting [the law] and other pointing to Christ [ritual]) to merely a system of works-obey it all and you will be saved. Therefore the old is called old because Israel perverted the covenant into a covenant of works and then punish them for something they could not do. God gave the people the same basic covenant He had given to Abraham. That it became a system of works and then punish them for something they could not do. God gave the people the same basic covenant He had given to Abraham that or became a system of works is due to the nation's perversion of it-this was never God's design.

- The fault at Sinai lay with the people who failed to maintain their relationship to God's covenant. Then too the covenant was formulated for them on the basis of the sanctuary types which in time came to an end.
- When a person leaves the new covenant experience to live under the old, he falls from grace. Read Galatians 5:1-5

7. What is the proper function of God's law?

"Therefore by the deeds of the law there shall no flesh be justified in his sight: for by the law is the knowledge of sin."

Romans 3:20. "What shall we say then? Is the law sin? God forbid. Nay. I had not known sin, but by the law: for I had not known lust, except the law had said, thou shalt not covet." Romans 7:7.

Conclusion

God's law is His standard of right. It expresses His will. Read Psalm 40:8. It declares man's duty. Read Ecclesiastes 12:13. And it reveals sin. Read Romans 3:20; 7:7. God's law is also the method by which He works. It shows how God runs the universe-morally and spiritually. God's method is obedience to His will.

If man had never sinned he could easily go by the terms "obey and live, disobey and perish." God cannot change His law as the standard, but because man has sinned he has to change the method of attaining righteousness.

Israel's failure was a failure of faith (Romans 9:31-33; Hebrews 4:1, 2). The eternal principle of the everlasting covenant is to believe what God has promised and allow the Holy spirit to write God's law on our hearts. salvation by grace establishes God's law as the standard. Read Romans 3:31; 8:3, 4; 13:9, 10.

9. THE LAW CHRIST ABOLISHED

There is a law that was abolished when Christ died on the cross. It had to do with ordinances concerning meats and drinks, special holy days, religious festivals, and annual sabbaths. Instruction concerning the yearly feasts and their related ritual sabbaths is specifically given in Leviticus 23. Since these yearly feasts were used for worship and they occurred on certain fixed days of the month, these ritual sabbaths also fell on various days of the week as does Christmas. These annual or ritual sabbaths were separate from the weekly Sabbath which always fell on the seventh day of every week.

1. What was the purpose of these ordinances contained in the law of Moses?

"Let no man therefore judge you in meat, or in drink, or in respect of an holyday, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days: which are a shadow of things to come; but the body is of Christ." Colossians 2:16, 17.

This law was one of types and shadows pointing the Jewish people to a coming event. John saw in Christ a fulfillment of the sacrificial lamb as a type of Christ. Read John 1:29.

When Christ died type not antitype and for that reason we do not now keep the yearly Passover, its ritual sabbaths, and other festivals.

2. Of what is the weekly Sabbath a reminder?

"For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is and rested the seventh day: wherefore the LORD blessed the sabbath day, and hallowed it." Exodus 20:11

The fourth commandment is preceded by the word "Remember." Read Exodus 20:8-11.

The weekly Sabbath was set up by God as a memorial of creation. Read Genesis 2:1-3.

3. What was done to the ritual law at the cross?

"Having abolished in his flesh the enmity, even the law of commandments contained in ordinances; for to make in himself of twain one new man, so making peace." Ephesians 2:15.

In this text Paul refers to ceremonial ordinances given for a time and then abolished at the cross. This law was temporary and served only until the fulfillment of its types at the cross. Its purpose was to teach Israel the gospel truths and to point them to the coming Messiah. With the actual coming of Christ, the typical rituals no longer had a purpose to exist.

Conclusion

God's great moral ten commandment law is as eternal as God Himself. This law was in existence at creation. It was "ordained to life." Romans 7:10. This law pointed out sin. Read Romans 7:7.

The ritual law of sacrifices had its origin with Adam; was practiced by the patriarchs, and expanded by God at Mt. Sinai into the sanctuary worship. Its purpose was to point to Christ and His great plan of salvation.

10. LAW AND GRACE

God's law and His grace are not in competition. Some have thought that because we are saved by grace (Ephesians 2:8) we don't need to obey God's holy law. Others have assumed that it was all law in the Old Testament and in the New Testament it is all grace and no law. It is never safe to go by what people think. Our only question should be, What says the Bible?

1. To how many has God revealed His grace?

"For the grace of God that bringeth salvation hath appeared to all men." Titus 2:11.

Grace is the unmerited favor and the love of God. It is God's power at work in a life yielded completely to God. When a repentant sinner accepts Christ, God counts to his credit the righteousness of Jesus Christ.

2. Was Moses aware of God's grace?

"And the LORD passed by before him, and proclaimed, The LORD, The LORD God, merciful and gracious, long-suffering, and abundant in goodness and truth." Exodus 34:6.

3. Did Noah live under grace?

"But Noah found grace in the eyes of the LORD." Genesis 6:8.

4. What means has God used to make His grace available to humanity?

"Being justified freely by his grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus: whom God hath set forth to be a propitiation through faith in his blood, to declare his righteousness for the remission of sins that are past, through the forbearance of God." Romans 3:24, 25.

5. What are some results of grace?

It gives remission or pardon for past sins (Romans 3:25). It brings eternal life to the believer (Romans 5:21). The believer gives up sin (Romans 6:1-4), and does the works that God ordained (Ephesians 2:8-10). Our obedience to God's will as expressed in His law is the natural fruit of our salvation.

6. Was David familiar with the fact that salvation came by grace?

"Even as David also describeth the blessedness of the man, unto whom God imputeth righteousness without works. Saying, Blessed are they whose iniquities are forgiven, and whose sins are covered." Romans 4:6, 7.

7. Is the believer under the law or under grace?

"For sin shall not have dominion over you: for ye are not under the law, but under grace." Romans 6:14.

Those under grace are those who have died to sin. Read Romans 6:3-7. No person can be saved by means of obedience to God's law; only by means of God's grace. And he who accepts the forgiveness of God's grace is not under the condemnation of God's law.

8. What is the condition of those who are under the law?

"Now we know that what things soever the law saith, it saith to them who are under the law: that every mouth may be stopped, and all the world may become guilty before God." Romans 3:19.

Those who are violating God's law are not under grace. They are under the condemnation of the law, and thus guilty before God.

Conclusion

James tells us who the Lawgiver is. "There is one lawgiver, who is able to save and to destroy: who art thou that judgest another?" James 4:12. Christ is one able to save. Read Matthew 1:21 and Hebrews 7:25. The one able to destroy is also Christ. read 2 Thessalonians 1:7-9. therefore the author of grace is also the author of the law.

THE SABBATH

1. THE MAKING OF THE SABBATH

A Sabbath of rest is one of God's greatest gifts to mankind. Most Christians agree that the observance of a Sabbath is an essential part of the worship of God. Much was involved in the making of the Sabbath.

1. Who made the Sabbath?

It was Jesus Christ. Read John 1:1-3, 10, 14. It is evident according to Hebrews 1:1, 2 that God created the world through Christ. Since Christ was the active agent, He made the Sabbath.

2. When was the Sabbath made?

At the time of creation. Read Genesis 2:1-3 and Exodus 20:8-11.

3. How was the Sabbath made?

"Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them. And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made; and he rested on the seventh day from all his work which he had made. And God blessed the seventh day, and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made." Genesis 2:1-3.

4. Of what was the Sabbath made?

God made the Sabbath out of a day. The day He used was the seventh day. Read Genesis 2:2, 3.

5. When did the days of creation week begin and end?

Read Genesis 1:5, 8, 13, etc. Each day of creation week began at sunset with the dark part, since darkness was here first, and ended with the following sunset. Therefore, the seventh-day Sabbath is to be observed from sunset to sunset. Evidently all days were reckoned from sunset to sunset.

6. For whom was the Sabbath made?

"He said unto them, The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath." Mark 2:27.

7. Who is the Lord of the Sabbath?

"Therefore the Son of man is Lord also of the Sabbath." Mark 2:28

8. For how long was the Sabbath intended to be kept?

It will be kept throughout eternity. Read Isaiah 66:22, 23

Conclusion

The seventh-day Sabbath was made by Jesus Christ at creation. It was to be kept throughout all time, and was to be observed from sunset to sunset. Leviticus 23:32 mentions the observance of one of the ceremonial sabbaths, the Day of Atonement, and says it was to be kept "from even unto even."

2. THE SABBATH COMMANDMENT

1. What is the first word of the fourth commandment?

"Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy." Exodus 20:8.

This is the only commandment prefaced by the word "remember." When God gave the Sabbath He knew its value and He also knew that it would be disregarded by many. He knew how the devil would do everything possible to lead men to forget the Sabbath. He knew that men in time would ignore the binding obligations of this commandment. For these reasons God calls special attention to this commandment and urges by the use of the word "remember" that it be kept in mind. It is not to be forgotten.

2. What is God's reason given in the commandment for observing the Sabbath?

The reason given is the example of God. "Six days shalt thou labour, and do all thy work: but the seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD thy God: for in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, and rested the seventh day." Exodus 20:9-11.

3. Must a man work six days of every week? May he never take a vacation?

The commandment does not end with the command "Six days shalt thou labor" but it goes on and says "and do all thy work." Exodus 20:9.

☞ If the work can be done in less than six there is no question. The point is we are to get our work done in six days. And we must never shirk our responsibility while enjoying wholesome recreation. Getting our work done in six days would always make the Sabbath available for rest and communion with God.

4. How is the Sabbath to be kept?

"If thou turn away thy foot from the sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day; and call the sabbath a delight, the holy of the LORD, honourable; and shalt honour him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words." Isaiah 58:13.

☞ God's Sabbath day is holy. We must not trample it underfoot. We are not to do our own pleasure on it. We are not to pollute it (Ezekiel 20:15, 21).

5. What is the chief demand of the Sabbath commandment?

"Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy." Exodus 20:8.

☞ Cessation from our gainful employment is commanded but this is not all. The day is to be kept holy. Man is to cease "from his own works, as God did from his." Hebrews 4:10. When a person ceases from his own works he will cease from sin. It is only such a person who can keep the Sabbath as God expects. This commandment does not suggest idleness on the Sabbath for there are proper activities which are in keeping with its spirit.

Conclusion

Sabbath keeping is more than the mere observance of a day; it is living a life for God. God asks us to keep the Sabbath for Him; to cease from sin; to do that which is good; to meet for worship and to follow the example of Jesus by going about doing good. Cease from your own works and enter into God's rest. What a blessing such Sabbath keeping affords!

3. THE SABBATH AT SINAI

Attention is next focused on the Sabbath in the experience of Israel in Egypt and at Mount Sinai. The institution of the Sabbath and God's observance of the Sabbath are recorded in Genesis 2:1-3.

1. What was Pharaoh's complaint to Moses?

"The king of Egypt said unto them, Wherefore do ye, Moses and Aaron, let the people from their works? get you unto your burdens. And Pharaoh said, Behold, the people of the land now are many, and ye make them rest from their burdens." Exodus 5:4, 5.

☞ Pharaoh accused Moses of making the people rest. Why did they stop working? The word used in the Hebrew for rest is the word for the Sabbath rest. Moses was calling for a Sabbath reform.

2. After God brought Israel out of Egypt what conditions did God lay down if they expected His continued protection?

"If thou wilt diligently hearken to the voice of the LORD thy God, and wilt do that which is right in his sight, and wilt give ear to his commandments, and keep all his statutes, I will put none of these diseases upon thee, which I have brought upon the Egyptians: for I am the LORD that healeth thee." Exodus 15:26.

3. In the raining of bread from heaven what was God going to prove?

"Then said the LORD unto Moses, Behold, I will rain bread from heaven for you; and the people shall go out and gather a certain rate every day, that I may prove them, whether they will walk in my law, or no." Exodus 16:4.

4. What instruction did God give relative to their food on the day before the Sabbath?

"And he said unto them, This is that which the LORD hath said. Tomorrow is the rest of the holy sabbath unto the LORD: bake that which ye will bake to day, and seethe that ye will seethe; and that which remaineth over lay up for you to be kept until the morning." Exodus 16:23.

☞ All the baking and cooking for the Sabbath was to be done the day before. Then on the Sabbath read what Moses said to them in Exodus 16:25, 26.

5. Did all the people do what God had said through Moses?

"And it came to pass, that there went out some of the people on the seventh day for to gather, and they found none. And the LORD said unto Moses, How long refuse ye to keep my commandments and my laws?" Exodus 16:27, 28.

6. Was the Sabbath a new institution and was God's law something they were unfamiliar with?

The words of Exodus 15:26 are similar to those spoken to Abraham many years previously when God had said: "Because that Abraham obeyed my voice, and kept my charge, my commandments, my statutes, and my laws." Genesis 26:5.

☞ In arranging that the manna should fall six days and none on the Sabbath God taught Israel two important lessons: to depend on God and to obey Him.

Conclusion

The Sabbath was commanded in God's law proclaimed on Sinai. Prior to this God had given Israel a visual demonstration of His regard for the Sabbath. One purpose for the Sabbath commandment was so that Israel would have time to instruct their children in the ways of the Lord. The keeping of this commandment affects the keeping of all the others.

4. THE SABBATH IN THE OLD TESTAMENT

Did God give the Sabbath on Mount Sinai for the Jews only and not for Christians? If so, then the commandment "Thou shalt not steal" as well as the others were for the Jews only. All of these commandments would be Jewish if the Sabbath is Jewish. The Bible says, "The sabbath was made for man." Mark 2:27.

1. What was the regulation in Israel during their wilderness journey regarding breaking the Sabbath?

The general law which had to do with the breaking of any of the commandments read: "But the soul that doeth ought presumptuously, whether he be born in the land, or a stranger, the same reproacheth the LORD: and that soul shall be cut off from among his people. Because he hath despised the word of the LORD, and hath broken his commandment, that soul shall utterly be cut off; his iniquity shall be upon him." Numbers 15:30, 31.

☞ The marginal reference for "presumptuously" reads with a "high hand." And it has the meaning of knowingly, obstinately, or defiantly. This way of dealing with those who broke the law applied to any of the commandments. At this time Israel was a theocracy which meant the church and the government were one and God was the direct ruler. Hence, moral as well as civil violations were punished directly. This helps us to see God's attitude toward sin and what the ultimate judgment on sin will be.

2. Was Sabbath breaking as serious as breaking any of the other commandments?

"While the children of Israel were in the wilderness, they found a man that gathered sticks upon the sabbath day. And they that found him gathering sticks brought him unto Moses and Aaron, and unto all the congregation. And they put him in ward, because it was not declared what should be done to him, and the Lord said unto Moses, The man shall be surely put to death: all the congregation shall stone him with stones without the camp. And all the congregation brought him without the camp, and stoned him with stones, and he died; as the LORD commanded Moses." Numbers 15:32-36.

It was not merely for gathering sticks on the Sabbath that the man was punished; it was "because he hath despised the word of the LORD." Numbers 15:31. His gathering of the sticks showed his contempt for God. Moses, however, put the man in a "ward" until a decision should be made. Much was at stake. Would the Sabbath take its place with the other commandments? God gave the decision. The Sabbath was as important as the other commandments. What a lesson for us! May we never speak lightly of or defiantly break God's Sabbath!

3. For what did Ezekiel say God had given the Sabbath?

"Wherefore I caused them to go forth out of the land of Egypt, and brought them into the wilderness. And I gave them my statutes, and shewed them my judgments, which if a man do, he shall even live in them. Moreover also I gave them my sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, that they might know that I am the LORD that sanctify them." Ezekiel 20:10-12.

There is great significance in Ezekiel's statement that the Sabbath is a sign of sanctification. Breaking the Sabbath is a symptom which reveals an attitude toward all the commandments. It is a rejection of or rebellion against God. The proper observance of it is the sign of obedience to God.

4. What was one reason Judah was taken into captivity for seventy years?

"Thus saith the LORD: Take heed to yourselves, and bear no burden on the sabbath day, nor bring it in by the gates of Jerusalem: neither carry forth a burden out of your houses on the sabbath day, neither do ye any work, but hallow ye the sabbath day, as I commanded your fathers. But they obeyed not, neither inclined their ear, but made their neck stiff, that they might not hear, nor receive instruction. And it shall come to pass, if ye diligently hearken unto me, saith the LORD, to bring in no burden through the gates of this city on the sabbath day, but hallow the sabbath day, to do no work therein; then shall there enter into the gates of this city kings and princes sitting upon the throne of David, riding in chariots and on horses, they, and their princes, the men of Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem: and this city shall remain for ever. And they shall come from the cities of Judah, and from the places about Jerusalem, and from the land of Benjamin, and from the plain, and from the mountains, and from the south, bringing burnt offerings, and sacrifices, and meat offerings, and incense, and bringing sacrifices of praise, unto the house of the LORD. But if ye will not hearken unto me to hallow the sabbath day, and not to bear a burden, even entering in at the gates of Jerusalem on the sabbath day; then will I kindle a fire in the gates thereof, and it shall devour the palaces of Jerusalem, and it shall not be quenched." Jeremiah 17:21-27.

5. Subsequent to their return from Assyrian-Babylonian captivity, what was the attitude of God's people toward the Sabbath?

"In those days saw I in Judah some treading wine presses on the sabbath, and bringing in sheaves, and lading asses; as also wine, grapes, and figs, and all manner of burdens, which they brought into Jerusalem on the sabbath day: and I testified against them in the day wherein they sold victuals. There dwelt men of Tyre also therein, which brought fish, and all manner of ware, and sold on the sabbath unto the children of Judah, and in Jerusalem. Then I contended with the nobles of Judah, and said unto them, What evil thing is this that ye do, and profane the sabbath day? Did not your fathers thus, and did not our God bring all this evil upon us, and upon this city? yet ye bring more wrath upon Israel by profaning the sabbath. And it came to pass, that when the gates of Jerusalem began to be dark before the sabbath, I commanded that the gates should be shut, and charged that they should not be opened till after the sabbath: and some of my servants set I at the gates, that there should no burden be brought in on the sabbath day. So the merchants and sellers of all kind of ware lodged without Jerusalem once or twice. Then I testified against them, and said unto them, Why lodge ye about the wall? if ye do so again, I will lay hands on you. From that time forth came they no more on the sabbath. And I commanded the Levites that they should cleanse themselves, and that they should come and keep the gates, to sanctify the sabbath day. Remember me, O my God, concerning this also, and spare me according to the greatness of thy mercy." Nehemiah 13:15-22.

Nehemiah did not force those outside the walls to keep the Sabbath. He simply exerted his responsibility to keep them away and to let them know they could not do business in the city on God's holy day. Forced Sabbath keeping is never after God's order. Since it is a sign of sanctification, without a life of holiness the Sabbath is an empty ceremony that can never substitute for genuine sanctification.

Conclusion

After the Babylonian captivity was over the Jews began to realize that their failure to keep the Sabbath had been one of the causes of their calamities. So after Nehemiah's time no more did they make the Sabbath a common working day. But their mistake now was as seriously fatal as their former mistake. They began to consider the Sabbath a means of salvation instead of a sign of sanctification. The Sabbath is of little value without the reality of holiness.

5. THE SABBATH IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

Jesus said, "The sabbath was made for man, and not man for the sabbath." Mark 2:27. It was to be a blessing to the human family. Jesus showed by His manner of observing the Sabbath that it is lawful to do well on the Sabbath day. Read Matthew 12:10-12; Mark 2:23-28; 3:1-5; Luke 13:10-17; 14:1-6; John 5; John 9. Nowhere in the New Testament is there the least indication that God's holy Sabbath day was set aside. In the Sermon on the Mount Jesus left no doubt as to His position relative to the Ten Commandments. Read Matthew 5:17-19.

1. Did Christ have anything to do with making the Sabbath?

"All things were made by him; and without him was not any thing made that was made." John 1:3. Read Colossians 1:16; Hebrews 1:2.

☞ Since Christ was the active agent in creation the Sabbath was made by Him at the end of creation week. Read Genesis 2:1-3.

2. Upon which day did Christ worship?

"He came to Nazareth, where he had been brought up; and, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and stood up for to read." Luke 4:16.

3. Did Christ expect the Sabbath to be abolished?

He recognized it would still be in existence long after His ascension, at the time of the siege of Jerusalem in A. D. 70, for He said to His disciples, "But pray ye that your flight be not in the winter, neither on the sabbath day." Matthew 24:20.

4. Which day comes before the first day of the week?

"In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre." Matthew 28:1.

5. Which day of the week did the women keep after the crucifixion?

"And they returned, and prepared spices and ointments; and rested the sabbath day according to the commandment." Luke 23:56.

☞ The Sabbath day "according to the commandment" is the seventh day. (Read Exodus 20:10.)

6. What was Paul's example-Which day did he observe as the Sabbath?

"But when they departed from Perga, they came to Antioch in Pisidia, and went into the synagogue on the sabbath day, and sat down...And when the Jews were gone out of the synagogue, the Gentiles besought that these words might be preached to them the next sabbath...And on the sabbath we went out of the city by a river side, where prayer was wont to be made; and we sat down, and spake unto the women which resorted thither." Acts 13:14, 42; 16:13.

☞ It was Paul's custom to attend religious services on the Sabbath.

7. What did Paul do on the working days as compared to the Sabbath?

"And because he was of the same craft, he abode with them, and wrought: for by their occupation they were tentmakers. And he reasoned in the synagogue every sabbath, and persuaded the Jews and the Greeks." Acts 18:3, 4.

☞ Paul's manner as well as Christ's custom was to worship on the seventh-day Sabbath.

8. On which day was John in the Spirit?

"I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet." Revelation 1:10.

☞ This expression "Lord's Day" points to the seventh-day Sabbath in both the Old and the New Testaments. He says, "But the seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD thy God." Exodus 20:10. In Isaiah 58:13 He calls the Sabbath "my holy day." The Lord's day is the day of which Christ is the Lord. He says He is Lord of the Sabbath day. (Matthew 12:8; Mark 2:28). Read Exodus 20:11.

Conclusion

Christ did all He could to restore to Israel the Bible Sabbath as it had been given to them. It was intended to be a blessing rather than a burden. Christ attempted to show that the Sabbath's real purpose was doing good, healing the sick, and performing acts of mercy.

The book of Hebrews mentions the seventh-day Sabbath. "God did rest the seventh day from all his works." Hebrews 4:4. "He that is entered into his rest, he also hath ceased from his own works, as God did from his." Hebrews 4:10. God calls His people into a spiritual rest, a rest from their own works, a ceasing from sin. The keeping of the Sabbath is a symbol of this rest. God demands holiness of life. Of this the Sabbath is a sign. Let us not reject the sign, much less reject that for which it stands.

6. SUNDAY IN THE NEW TESTAMENT

The Sabbath and the first day of the week are both mentioned in the New Testament. However, the names of the days such as Saturday or Sunday are never mentioned because at the time the New Testament was written these names had not yet been given to these days. Each time the Sabbath is mentioned it has reference to the seventh day or Saturday. Each time the first day is mentioned it has reference to the day known now as Sunday.

1. How many times is the first day mentioned in the New Testament?

The first day of the week is mentioned eight times but at no time is it called the Sabbath. Here are the eight texts:

Matthew 28:1	John 20:1
Mark 16:1, 2	John 20:19
Mark 16:9	Acts 20:7
Luke 24:1	1 Cor. 16:2

2. Which text records the only religious meeting in the New Testament that was held on the first day of the week?

"And upon the first day of the week, when the disciples came together to break bread, Paul preached unto them, ready to depart on the morrow; and continued his speech until midnight." Acts 20:7.

☞ This meeting was held in the evening for there "were many lights in the chamber" and Paul not only preached till midnight but he continued "even till break of day." In the Bible the day was reckoned from sunset to sunset. Strictly speaking a meeting held in the evening of the first day of the week would be what is known as Saturday night. Notice these points:

- This is the only record of the disciples breaking bread on the first day.
- They broke bread every day according to Acts 2:46.
- The account of this meeting says nothing about the Sabbath.
- This was a special meeting held because Paul was about to leave on a journey.
- The meeting is mentioned by Luke because of the restoration of a young man who fell and was killed.
- The meeting was held on Saturday night.

3. Is there a text where Paul says a collection should be taken in the church on Sunday?

There is a text which says, "Now concerning the collection for the saints, as I have given order to the churches of Galatia, even so do ye. Upon the first day of the week let every one of you lay by him in store, as God hath prospered him, that there be no gatherings when I come." 1 Corinthians 16:1, 2.

☞ Notice that neither church nor meeting is mentioned as Paul exhorts the saints to lay by on the first day a sum proportionate to the prospering hand of God. Each was to lay "by him in store." This would mean by himself at home and he was to keep it until it was called for. Paul was encouraging systematic giving. This text does not support Sunday sacredness. Paul did not mention a public collection. He is not speaking of a church service. This was not a "regular" weekly collection, but was a special gift being made up by Gentile churches for the poor saints at Jerusalem. Paul was taking the gifts with certain representatives from each group who would present the token of love. Read 1 Corinthians 16:3, 4; Romans 15:24-28. This is also referred to again in 2 Corinthians 8:1-4 and 2 Corinthians 9:1-5.

4. According to Matthew what is the relationship between the Sabbath day and the first day of the week?

"In the end of the sabbath, as it began to dawn toward the first day of the week, came Mary Magdalene and the other Mary to see the sepulchre." Matthew 28:1.

☞ Matthew mentions two days: the one is called the Sabbath; the other is called the first day of the week. The Sabbath comes before the first day. No change of the Sabbath is even suggested. The Gospel of Matthew is generally supposed to have been written about thirty years after the crucifixion and Matthew still calls the seventh day the Sabbath.

5. What is the testimony of Mark concerning the first day of the week?

Mark mentions the first day twice. He says, "And when the sabbath was past, Mary Magdalene, and Mary the mother of James, and Salome, had bought sweet spices, that they might come and anoint him. And very early in the morning the first day of the week, they came unto the sepulchre at the rising of the sun... Now when Jesus was risen early the first day of the week, he appeared first to Mary Magdalene, out of whom he had cast seven devils." Mark 16:1, 2, 9.

☞ The same first day is mentioned in verses 2 and 9. Verse 9 merely affirms Christ arose on the first day and met Mary Magdalene. Verse 2 tells that the women came to anoint Christ on the first day and that the Sabbath was past when they started on this errand. Mark indicates that the Sabbath comes just before the first day. They would have further embalmed Christ's body on the first day, a service they did not even attempt to do on the Sabbath.

6. How does Luke make the distinction between Sabbath and Sunday clear?

"Now upon the first day of the week, very early in the morning, they came unto the sepulchre, bringing the spices which they had prepared, and certain others with them." Luke 24:1.

☞ This is the same event recorded by the other writers with some added information. Read Luke 23:54-56. Christ was crucified on the day of preparation which was Friday. He died as the Sabbath was drawing on. On that same Friday the women prepared spices for His anointing. The following day which was Saturday they rested "according to the commandment." Therefore three days are noted: the day of preparation, the Sabbath, and the first day of the week. The women worked on the preparation day, Friday, and on the first day of the week, Sunday, but they rested on the Sabbath day, Saturday.

7. Why did the disciples assemble together on the evening of the first day?

The last two places where the first day is mentioned is in John 20:1, 19 which says, "The first day of the week cometh Mary Magdalene early, when it was yet dark, unto the sepulchre, and seeth the stone taken away from the sepulchre. Then the same day at evening, being the first day of the week, when the doors were shut where the disciples were assembled for fear of the Jews, came Jesus and stood in the midst, and saith unto them, Peace be unto you."

☞ In the first verse John merely repeats what the other evangelists have written. Verse nineteen points out that the disciples assembled and that the doors were shut and bolted "for fear of the Jews." They were not there to celebrate the resurrection even though they knew He was not in the tomb. They did not believe He had risen.

Conclusion

Every text in the New Testament that mentions the first day of the week has now been considered. Not one of them is favorable to the first day of the week as the Sabbath. But there is in these texts strong evidence for the sacredness of the seventh-day Sabbath. It is interesting to notice that when the Bible mentions the first day of the week that it usually does so by contrasting it with the Sabbath.

Sometimes the text in Revelation 1:10 which says, "I was in the Spirit on the Lord's day, and heard behind me a great voice, as of a trumpet" is used as having reference to Sunday.

However, nowhere in the Bible is the first day referred to as being the Lord's day. Much to the contrary, the Lord's day is the seventh day. Read Mark 2:28. We can believe only what God's Word says.

7. THE CHANGE OF THE SABBATH

There is in the Bible a divine command to observe the seventh day of the week as the Sabbath. Read Exodus 20:8-11. Since God's Sabbath commandment is so plain, why do so many who believe in the Bible keep an entirely different day from the one God mentions in the commandment? This is truly a puzzling situation. Many claim the Sabbath was changed by Christ when He was crucified and that the new Sabbath was established by the same event. We ought to know how the change was brought about. We can know what the Bible says concerning this question of the Sabbath day. Read Psalm 119:18.

1. Upon what fact does our duty to worship God depend?

Wherever God makes a claim to reverence and worship above the gods of the heathen He usually cites evidence of His creative power. Read Psalm 96:5; Isaiah 40:25, 26; 45:18; Psalm 100:3; 95:6. The reason given by heavenly beings for their worship of God is, "Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things." Revelation 4:11.

☞ The Sabbath as a memorial of creation keeps ever before us why worship is due to God—He is the creator, and we are His creatures. Just as long as God as our creator continues to be a valid reason for divine worship the Sabbath will remain as a memorial to that fact.

2. Did Christ change the Sabbath?

"Think not that I am come to destroy the law, or the prophets: I am not come to destroy, but to fulfil. For verily I say unto you, Till heaven and earth pass, one jot or one little shall in no wise pass from the law, till all be fulfilled." Matthew 5:17, 18.

☞ Jesus kept the same day the Jews observed which everyone knows was the seventh day. This was His custom. Read Luke 4:16. He also indicated the disciples would be keeping it after His ascension (Matthew 24:20).

3. Did the apostles make the change from the seventh to the first?

The Bible records them as always keeping the same seventh-day Sabbath that the Jews observed. Read Acts 13:14, 42, 44; 17:1-3; 18:4.

4. Did God know that a power would arise that would claim the right to change His law? If so, how did He make this known?

"And he shall speak great words against the most High, and shall wear out the saints of the most High, and think to change times and laws: and they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and the dividing of time." Daniel 7:25.

☞ Daniel was shown in vision a power that would arise called a "little horn" which as it came on the scene of action would pluck "up by the roots" three other powers. In this little horn "were eyes like the eyes of man, and a mouth speaking great things." Read Daniel 7:8. This "same horn made war with the saints." Read Daniel 7:21.

5. What power is represented by the little horn?

In verse 25 of Daniel 7 the prophet was shown three characteristics of this power and the length of time it would be supreme. Its characteristics are:

- a. It would "speak great words against" God—blasphemy.

To the Pope are given titles that belong only to the Godhead. Pope Leo XIII wrote, "We hold upon this earth the place of God Almighty." Encyclical letter, June 20, 1894, in The Great Encyclical Letters of Pope Leo XIII, p. 304. "This judicial authority will even include the power to pardon sin." The Catholic Encyclopedia, Vol. XII, art. "Pope," p. 265.

- b. It would "wear out" God's people—persecution
- c. It would "think to change times and laws"—a disregard for God's authority.

The length of time allotted for this power to be supreme was "a time and times and the dividing of time." This same period of time is mentioned in Revelation 12:14 and is interpreted in Revelation 12:6 to be "a thousand two hundred and threescore days." Since this is prophetic time we apply the principle of prophetic interpretation—each day stands for one year (Ezekiel 4:6). This power was to endure then for 1260 years. The Papacy fits every part of this prophecy. She arose to supremacy in A. D. 538 after destroying three Arian powers, namely the Heruli, the Vandals and the Ostrogoths. And she remained supreme for 1260 years until in 1798 her power was finally broken when General Bernier went to Rome and took the Pope prisoner. There was no Pope for two years. Even though another Pope was elected in 1800 yet she had been divested of her civil power and therefore from that day to this her power to persecute has not been restored. John spoke of this same power having received a deadly wound in Revelation 13:3.

6. Does the Papacy claim that it has power to change the law of God, and in particular the right to change the Sabbath day?

We shall notice now the claims of the Papacy:

Question—Which is the Sabbath day?

Answer—Saturday is the Sabbath day.

Question—Why do we observe Sunday instead of Saturday?

Answer—We observe Sunday instead of Saturday because of the Catholic Church, in the Council of Laodicea (A. D. 336) transferred the solemnity from Saturday to Sunday." Rev. Peter Geiermann, C.S.S.R., The Convert's Catechism of Catholic Doctrine, p. 50, 2d edition, 1910.

Question—Has the [Catholic] church power to make any alterations in the commandments of God?

Answer—... Instead of the seventh day, and other festivals appointed by the old law, the church has prescribed the Sundays and holy days to be set apart for God's worship; and these we are now obliged to keep in consequence of God's commandment, instead of the ancient Sabbath." Rt. Rev. Dr. Challoner, Catholic Christian Instructed, p. 211.

"We Catholics, then, have precisely the same authority for keeping Sunday holy, instead of Saturday, as we have for every other article of our creed: namely, the authority of the church of the living God, the pillar and ground of the truth" (1 Tim. 3:15); whereas, you who are Protestants have really no authority for it whatever; for there is no authority for it in the Bible, and you will not allow that there can be authority for it anywhere else. Both you and we do, in fact, follow tradition in this matter; but we follow it, believing it to be a part of God's word and the church to be its divinely appointed guardian and interpreter; you follow it, denouncing it all the time as a fallible and treacherous guide, which often 'makes the commandment of God of none effect.'" Clifton Tracts, vol. 4, article, "A Question for All Bible Christians," p. 15.

Question—Have you any other way of proving that the church has power to institute festivals or precepts?

Answer—Had she not such power, she could not have done that in which all modern religionists agree with her. She could not have substituted the observance of Sunday the first day of the week, for the observance of Saturday the seventh day, a change for which there is no Scriptural authority." Rev. Stephen Keenan, A Doctrinal Catechism, p. 174. New York: Edward Dunigan and Brothers, 1851.

Question—By whom was it [the Sabbath] changed?

Answer—By the governors of the church, the apostles, who also kept it; for St. John was in the Spirit on the Lord's day (which was Sunday). Apoc. 1:10.

Question—How prove you that the church hath power to command feasts and holy days?

Answer—By the very act of changing the Sabbath into Sunday, which Protestants allow of; and therefore they fondly contradict themselves, by keeping Sunday strictly, and breaking most other feasts commanded by the same church.

Question—How prove you that?

Answer—Because by keeping Sunday, they acknowledge the church's power to ordain feasts, and to command them under sin; and by not keeping the rest [of the feasts] by her commanded, they again deny, in fact, the same power." Rev. Henry Tuberville, D.D.R.C., An Abridgment of the Christian Doctrine, p. 58. New York: Edward Dunigan and Brothers, approved 1833.

How will a Protestant answer this challenge?

"You will tell me that Saturday was the Jewish Sabbath, but that the Christian Sabbath has been changed to Sunday! but by whom? Who has authority to change an express commandment of Almighty God? When God has spoken and said, Thou shalt keep holy the seventh day, who shall dare to say, Nay, thou mayest work and do all manner of worldly business on the seventh day; but thou shalt keep holy the first day in its stead? This is a most important question, which I know not how you can answer.

"You are a Protestant, and you profess to go by the Bible and the Bible only; and yet in so important a matter as the observance of one day in seven as a holy day, you go against the plain letter of the Bible, and put another day in the place of that day which the Bible has commanded. The command to keep holy the seventh day is one of the ten commandments; you believe that the other nine are still binding; who gave you authority to tamper with the fourth? If you are consistent with your own principles, if you really follow the Bible and the Bible only, you ought to be able to produce some portion of the New Testament in which this fourth commandment is expressly altered." Library of Christian Doctrine: Why Don't You Keep Holy the Sabbath Day? pp 3, 4. London: Burns and Oats (R.C.).

And here is another challenge:

"The Catholic Church for over one thousand years before the existence of a Protestant, by virtue of her divine mission, changed the day from Saturday to Sunday. We say by virtue of her divine mission, because He who called Himself 'the Lord of the Sabbath,' endowed her with His own power to teach, 'he that heareth you, heareth Me'; commanded all who believe in Him to hear her, under penalty of being placed with the 'heathen and publican'; and promised to be with her to the end of the world. She holds her charter as teacher from Him—a charter as infallible as perpetual. The Protestant world at its birth [in the Reformation of the sixteenth century] found the Christian Sabbath too strongly entrenched to run counter to its existence; it was therefore placed under the necessity of acquiescing in the arrangement, thus implying the church's right to change the day, for over three hundred years. The Christian Sabbath is therefore to this day the acknowledged offspring of the Catholic Church as spouse of the Holy Ghost, without a word of remonstrance from the Protestant world." The Catholic Mirror (Baltimore), Sept. 23, 1893.

7. Do Protestants recognize the Papal claims and do they acknowledge them?

Although the following writers kept Sunday for a variety of reasons, they acknowledge it has no Biblical basis.

"They [the Catholics] allege the Sabbath changed into Sunday, the Lord's day, contrary to the decalogue, as it appears; neither is there any example more boasted of than the changing of the Sabbath day. Great, say they, is the power and authority of the church, since it dispensed with one of the ten commandments."—Augsburg Confession, Art. XXVIII.

"It is quite clear that, however rigidly or devoutly we may spend Sunday, we are not keeping the Sabbath...The Sabbath was founded on a specific, divine command. We can plead no such command for the obligation to observe Sunday...There is not a single sentence in the New Testament to suggest that we incur any penalty by violating the supposed sanctity of Sunday." R. W. Dale, M.A. (Congregationalist), The Ten Commandments, pp. 106, 107. London: Hodder and Stoughton, 1871.

"There is no word, no hint, in the New Testament about abstaining from work on Sunday...Into the rest of Sunday no divine law enters...The observance of Ash Wednesday or Lent stands upon exactly the same footing as the observance of Sunday." Canon Eytton (Church of England), The Ten Commandments, pp. 62, 63, 65. London: Trubner & Co., 1894.

"And where are we told in Scripture that we are to keep the first day at all? We are commanded to keep the seventh; but we are nowhere commanded to keep the first day...The reason why we keep the first day of the week holy instead of the seventh is for the same reason that we observe many other things, not because the Bible, but because the church, has enjoined it." Rev. Isaac Williams, B.D. (Church of England), Plain Sermons on the Catechism, vol. I, pp. 334-336. London: Rivingtons, 1882.

"It is impossible to extort such a sense from the words of the commandment, seeing that the reason for which the commandment itself was originally given, namely, as a memorial of God's having rested from the creation of the world, cannot be transferred from the seventh day to the first; nor can any new motive be substituted in its place, whether the resurrection of our Lord or any other, without the sanction of a divine commandment." The Christian Doctrine, book 2, chap. 7, in Prose Works of John Milton, vol. 5, p. 70. London: Henry G. Bohn, 1853.

Conclusion

The transition from the keeping of the Sabbath to observance of Sunday was a gradual process beginning sometime before A. D. 150 and it continued for nearly three centuries. There was an attempt by some Christians to make clear they were not Jews; hence, they abandoned the Sabbath in favor of Sunday. Eusebius, one of the foremost church historians of that time, wrote in his Commentary on Psalm 92, "All things whatsoever it was duty to do on the Sabbath, these we have transferred to the Lord's day, as more appropriately belonging to it, because it has a precedence and is first in rank, and more honorable than the Jewish Sabbath." The first official action of the Catholic Church in favor of Sunday was taken at the Council of Laodicea in the 4th century. However, the law which had to do with the observance of Sunday specified Judaizing (being like the Jews) as the reason for not keeping the Sabbath.

Why did Sunday sacredness develop? First, it was an effort not to be like the Jews and thus avoid persecution. Second, as Rome grew into power she put her influence on the side of Sunday rather than the Sabbath. Third, as a result of the Roman influence Sunday was made a matter of church law as with many other unscriptural practices: such as, the worship of Mary, veneration of saints and angels, use of images in worship, and also praying for the dead. What should I do about keeping the Sabbath? Allow God's Word to give the answer. Read Acts 5:29; Joshua 24:15; 1 Kings 18:21; Isaiah 56:1, 2.

8. GOD'S SIGN

It is important to understand that the heavens and the earth and all things in them were created by God. In the Bible we read, "By the word of the LORD were the heavens made; and all the host of them by the breath of his mouth...For he spake, and it was done; he commanded, and it stood fast." Psalm 33:6, 9. Concerning the earth David declares that God laid the foundations of the earth, that it should not be removed for ever." Psalm 104:5.

1. Who was involved in creation?

"In the beginning God created the heaven and the earth. And the earth was without form, and void; and darkness was upon the face of the deep. And the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters." Genesis 1:1, 2. Read Hebrews 1:1, 2; Genesis 1:26; John 1:1-3.

The Bible record indicates that God and the Holy Spirit participated in creation. In Colossians 1:16 the Son is included with the Father as a participant in creation. So Father, Son, and Holy Spirit—the complete Godhead or Trinity—were active in creation.

2. How is the true God distinguished from false gods?

"But the LORD is the true God, he is the living God, and an everlasting king: at his wrath the earth shall tremble, and the nations shall not be able to abide his indignation. Thus shall ye say unto them, The gods that have not made the heavens and the earth, even they shall perish from the earth, and from under these heavens. He hath made the earth by his power, he hath established the world by his wisdom, and hath stretched out the heavens by his discretion." Jeremiah 10:10-12.

3. Why does God have the right to rule and to be worshipped?

"Thou art worthy, O Lord, to receive glory and honour and power: for thou hast created all things, and for thy pleasure they are and were created." Revelation 4:11. Read Psalm 95:3-6.

The God whom we should serve and worship created everything from nothing (Hebrews 11:3). Then He hung the earth on nothing (Job 26:7). He upholds all things (Hebrews 1:3). He sustains all life (Acts 17:28).

4. What is the sign that God is Creator?

"Wherefore the children of Israel shall keep the sabbath, to observe the sabbath throughout their generations, for a perpetual covenant. It is a sign between me and the children of Israel for ever: for in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, and on the seventh day he rested, and was refreshed." Exodus 31:16, 17.

5. Of what else is the Sabbath a sign?

"Speak thou also unto the children of Israel, saying, Verily my sabbaths ye shall keep: for it is a sign between me and you throughout your generations; that ye may know that I am the LORD that doth sanctify you." Exodus 31:13. Read also Ezekiel 20:12, 20.

 The same divine power necessary for creation is also needed to re-create spiritual life. The new birth is God's creation in the spiritual realm, just as the new earth at creation was God's creative power at work in the physical realm.

Conclusion

The Sabbath is a sign of God's sovereignty. He is both Creator and Redeemer. Christ must be supreme in the Christian's life. The keeping of His holy Sabbath day is always a sign of loyalty to Him as Lord and Saviour.

9. GOD'S SEAL

For centuries the great controversy between Christ and Satan has continued. That controversy began in heaven when Lucifer rebelled against God. Read Revelation 12:7-9. It is evident from the words of Jesus that Satan will be successful in leading nearly the whole world to follow him. Read Matthew 7:13, 14. However a few will respond to God's invitation to "Fear God, and give glory to him...and worship him that made heaven, and earth, and the sea, and the fountains of waters." Revelation 14:7.

1. In whose image was man made?

"God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth." Genesis 1:26.

 Just as long as Adam looked to God and trusted Him he reflected the Creator's image. The devil came to Adam and Eve to do away with the image of God and to make them like him.

2. Through whom is God's image restored in man?

"In whom the god of this world hath blinded the minds of them which believe not, lest the light of the glorious gospel of Christ, who is the image of God, should shine unto them." 2 Corinthians 4:4.

 Anyone who comes to God in faith will be changed into God's image by the Holy Spirit. Read 2 Corinthians 3:18.

3. What is a seal?

It is a device which reproduces an image in a soft substance, like wax or clay. Anciently rulers had rings which were used as seals. Today most legal documents require the seal of a notary public to be binding.

4. By whom is the sealing accomplished?

"...after...ye believed, ye were sealed with the holy Spirit of promise." Ephesians 1:13.

5. Under the New Covenant where is God's law placed?

"This is the covenant that I will make...I will put my laws into their mind, and write them in their hearts." Hebrews 8:10. The law is love (Romans 13:8) and love is placed in our hearts by the Holy Spirit (Romans 5:5).

6. What condition will Christ produce in His church?

"Husbands, love your wives, even as Christ also loved the church, and gave himself for it; that he might sanctify and cleanse it with the washing of water by the word, that he might present it to himself a glorious church, not having spot, or wrinkle, or any such thing; but that it should be holy and without blemish." Ephesians 5:25-27.

7. How does John describe God's people at the end of time?

"And I looked, and, lo, a Lamb stood on the mount Sion, and with him an hundred forty and four thousand, having his Father's name written in their foreheads...These are they which were not defiled with women; for they are virgins. These are they which follow the Lamb whithersoever he goeth. These were redeemed from among men, being the first fruits unto God and to the Lamb. And in their mouth was found no guile: for they are without fault before the throne of God." Revelation 14:1, 4, 5.

 The seal and the divine name cannot be separated. A seal on an object testifies to its ownership. Read 2 Timothy 2:19. This is a mark of truth, the mark of God's approval. Those who are thus sealed are like Christ in character.

8. What is another illustration of the work of the Holy Spirit and its effect on the characters of God's people?

"Then shall we know, if we follow on to know the LORD: his going forth is prepared as the morning; and he shall come unto us as the rain, as the latter and former rain unto the earth." Hosea 6:3.

"For I will pour water upon him that is thirsty, and floods upon the dry ground: I will pour my spirit upon thy seed, and my blessing upon thine offspring." Isaiah 44:3.

 In Palestine the early rain caused the seed to germinate while the latter rain near the close of the growing season caused the grain to mature and prepared it for the harvest. The early rain of the Holy Spirit enables a person to grow in grace. The final outpouring of God's Spirit in the latter rain will prepare His church for the harvest. In their experience God's law will be sealed in the minds of God's followers.

9. When God rested on the seventh-day Sabbath in the beginning what was the result?

"For in six days the LORD made heaven and earth, and on the seventh day he rested, and was refreshed." Exodus 31:17.

10. How can I enter into God's rest?

I must accept the perfect, finished work of Christ. I must come before His throne of grace and He will give me the needed help in my conflict with Satan. Read Hebrews 4:16. The penitent sinner accepts Christ as Lord of His life and he willingly gives his allegiance and obedience to God to be both molded and used by Him in His service.

11. What has God especially designated as the sign of His relation to His people? What is His seal?

It is His holy Sabbath day. Only the Sabbath commandment contains the essential elements of an official seal and gives authority to the ten commandment law. It gives the name and title of God and shows His right to direct the obedience of the human race. Read Exodus 20:8-11.

Name: THE LORD thy God

Title: Creator of "heaven and earth"

Conclusion

The Sabbath is a sign of God's total activity. His creative power in the universe, and His re-creative power in the heart. Read 2 Timothy 2:19. The seal of God's approval when placed on a person will indicate he has the victory over sin and it will be evident that he belongs to God. According to Revelation 7:1-3 we are living in the sealing time. God's people will be commandment keepers. The Sabbath is the outward sign, the mark or the seal distinguishing them from those who do not obey or recognize the commandments of God. But to God's people the Sabbath means sanctification. It is the sign between them and God that marks them as belonging to God.

10. THE RESTORATION OF THE SABBATH

God teaches in the Bible that the seventh day is the Sabbath. The fourth commandment says, "The seventh day is the Sabbath of the LORD thy God."

1. What is the attitude of God's people toward all of God's commandments?

"Here is the patience of the saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus." Revelation 14:12.

The saints spoken of here are sanctified and holy without spot and blameless since the word "saints" is the same word that is in other places translated "holy." Many who claim holiness repudiate anything that has to do with God's law. But not so with God. Those who are really holy God says will keep His commandments.

2. Since most people today do not keep the Bible Sabbath, can we expect it will be restored?

"They that shall be of thee shall build the old waste places: thou shalt raise up the foundations of many generations; and thou shalt be called, The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in."

"If thou turn away thy foot from the sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day; and call the sabbath a delight, the holy of the LORD, honourable; and shalt honour him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words: then shalt thou delight thyself in the LORD; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the LORD hath spoken it." Isaiah 58:12-14.

Just as in ancient times God called for His people to restore the trampled Sabbath to its rightful place, so He calls for its restoration today, and the restoration of all the commandments which are being trampled down. Read Revelation 14:6, 7, 12, 13.

3. By whom will the Sabbath be restored and how?

The Sabbath is restored by those who keep it. They will be called "The repairer of the breach, The restorer of paths to dwell in."

When the enemy attacked the walled towns anciently they would endeavor to make a breach in the walls. Then the battle would rage around that spot.

4. Whom did God charge with the breaking of His law in ancient times?

"Her priests have violated my law, and have profaned mine holy things: they have put no difference between the holy and profane, neither have they shewed difference between the unclean and the clean, and have hid their eyes from my sabbaths, and I am profaned among them." Ezekiel 22:26.

In addition to being unfaithful, having violated God's law, and hiding their eyes from the Sabbath the priests have done even more. Read Ezekiel 22:28. God charges the ancient ministry with saying, "Thus saith the LORD God, when the LORD hath not spoken." This has to do with the Sabbath since this is one of the matters under consideration. Unfortunately there are Christian ministers today who hide their eyes from God's true Sabbath like the priests of Israel. God's attitude towards this misuse of leadership has not changed. Read Matthew 15:8, 9.

5. What was God looking for someone to do?

"I sought for a man among them, that should make up the hedge, and stand in the gap before me for the land, that I should not destroy it: but I found none." Ezekiel 22:30.

The word "gap" used here is translated from the same Hebrew word as "breach" in Isaiah 58:12. Isaiah refers to those who are faithful as the "repairer of the breach." Ezekiel was looking for someone to stand in the breach but he found none.

6. In ancient times, when men should have been repairing the breach made in Judah's religion what were they doing?

"Because, even because they have seduced my people, saying, Peace; and there was no peace; and one built up a wall, and, lo, others daubed it with untempered mortar." Ezekiel 13:10.

Instead of calling Israel to repentance for their sins and to obedience to God's will, the ancient false prophets failed to make up the gaps or breaches in the nation's moral defenses. Rather, they suggested other solutions for Israel's problems. It was like building a flimsy wall, said Ezekiel, and the prophets whitewashed it so that it looked good. A similar situation exists today, when instead of calling men to repentance and obedience to God's law, false teachings are put forward and men whitewash them with their affirmations. No such whitewash can hold up man-made traditions and teachings as an substitute for any part of God's law. God is jealous for His Sabbath. What befell the ancient attempts to substitute for God's truths will befall all modern attempts. Read Ezekiel 12:11-16.

Conclusion

Some have wondered whether it is possible to keep God's law. Read Revelation 14:12 again. John mentions four characteristics of God's people. First, they have patience, that is they endure and are steadfast. Second, they are holy and sanctified which is the meaning of a saint. Third, they keep all ten commandments. Fourth, they have the faith of Jesus. Do all Christians have faith in Christ? Evidently not for Jesus said, "Why call ye me, Lord, Lord, and do not the things which I say?" Luke 6:46. Faith and obedience must never be separated.

11. MARK OF APOSTASY

The final struggle in the controversy between Christ and Satan is fast approaching. The Bible says, "Woe to the inhabitants of the earth and of the sea for the devil is come down unto you, having great wrath, because he knoweth that he hath but a short time." Revelation 12:12.

1. What is the devil's attitude toward God's people in the last generation?

"And the dragon was wroth with the woman, and went to make war with the remnant of her seed, which keep the commandments of God, and have the testimony of Jesus Christ." Revelation 12:17.

The dragon here represents the devil. The woman is God's church and the "remnant" of the woman's seed is the latter end of the church. The remnant are identified by two characteristics: they are commandment keepers and they have the "testimony of Jesus" which is interpreted to be the "spirit of prophecy" in Revelation 19:10.

2. What is God's seal, His sign or mark of authority?

"Speak thou also unto the children of Israel, saying, Verily my sabbaths ye shall keep: for it is a sign between me and you throughout your generations; that ye may know that I am the LORD that doth sanctify you." Exodus 31:13.

"Moreover also I gave them my sabbaths, to be a sign between me and them, that they might know that I am the LORD that sanctify them." Ezekiel 20:12.

"And hallow my sabbaths; and they shall be a sign between me and you, that ye may know that I am the LORD your God." Ezekiel 20:20.

3. How does the Bible foretell the great counterfeit of Christianity that was to arise?

This is foretold in prophecy by the use of many names. It is spoken of as "antichrist" (1 John 4:3), "that man of sin" (2 Thessalonians 2:3), the "falling away" (2 Thessalonians 2:3), "the son of perdition" (2 Thessalonians 2:3), "the mystery of iniquity" (2 Thessalonians 2:7), he "who opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God, or that is worshipped" (2 Thessalonians 2:4), and "mystery, Babylon the great, the mother of harlots and abominations of the earth" (Revelation 17:5).

4. Through whom was it predicted the devil would work to bring disloyalty to God and His law?

"And he shall speak great words against the most High, and shall wear out the saints of the most High, and think to change times and laws; and they shall be given into his hand until a time and times and the dividing of time." Daniel 7:25.

In the prophecies of Daniel there is pictured the rise of four world empires—Babylon, Medo-Persia, Grecia, and Rome. Rome was finally divided into ten kingdoms. Finally, another kingdom arose in the midst of the ten by doing away with three kingdoms. (See Daniel 7:24.)

5. What are some of the characteristics of this apostate power?

- Like a man. "Eyes like the eyes of man." Daniel 7:8. "A mouth speaking great things." Daniel 7:8. Revelation 13:5. "Man of sin." 2 Thessalonians 2:3.
- Opposed to truth. It would "cast down the truth." Daniel 8:12. It would flourish when there would be a "falling away" from truth in the church. 2 Thessalonians 2:3.
- Opposed to God and Christ. "He shall speak great words against the most High." Daniel 7:25. "Magnified himself even to the prince of the host [Christ]." Daniel 8:11. "He shall also stand up against the Prince of princes [Christ]." Daniel 8:25. "Opposeth and exalteth himself above all that is called God." 2 Thessalonians 2:4. He will blaspheme God and His name (Revelation 13:6).
- Opposed to Christ's mediation in the heavenly sanctuary. He would take away the "daily" or the continual ministration of Christ in the sanctuary (Daniel 8:11). He would cast down "the place of his [Christ's] sanctuary" (Daniel 8:11). He would sit "in the temple of God, shewing himself that he is God." 2 Thessalonians 2:4. And he would blaspheme God's tabernacle (Revelation 13:6).
- Opposed to God's law. He will "think to change times and laws." Daniel 7:25. "The mystery of lawlessness." 2 Thessalonians 2:7. R.S.V.
- A persecuting power. He would make "war with the saints" persecuting them for a "time and times and the dividing of time" or three and one half times. (In the Bible a time is a year of 360 days and three and one-half times would be 1260 days.) Daniel 7:21, 25.

6. As a result of the "Falling away" from the truth as predicted by Paul in 2 Thessalonians 2:3 what two important things took place in the second century?

- The church began to lose sight of the gospel.
- The church began to turn from the Sabbath.

Relative to the gospel three trends developed. (1) Meritorious works began to be proclaimed. In the Epistle of Barnabas written about A. D. 100 is this statement: "By thy hands thou shalt labour for the redemption of thy sins." Chapter 19. (2) God's grace began to be associated with the work of the Holy Spirit rather than with the person Jesus Christ. (3) Finally, grace was associated with the church. They reasoned that since the church is the temple of the Holy Spirit and since grace is imparted through the Holy Spirit the church is the channel of grace. And further because the bishop is the leader of the church, grace particularly resides in him. And in harmony with this reasoning Ignatius wrote early in the second century: "To all them that repent, the Lord grants forgiveness, if they turn in penitence to the unity of God, and to communion with the bishop." Epistle to the Philadelphians, chapter 8.

Relative to God's Sabbath this too was cast to the ground rather gradually. Justin Martyr wrote in A. D. 155: "On the day called Sunday: all who live in the cities or in the country gather together to one place, and the memoirs of the apostles or the writings of the prophets are read... Sunday is the day on which we all hold our common assembly, because it is the first day on which God, having wrought a change in the darkness and matter, made the world; and Jesus Christ our Saviour on the same day rose from the dead." First Apology, chapter 67.

7. How was Sunday exalted in place of the Bible Sabbath?

The first recorded attempt by the bishop or pope at Rome to assert power over other churches was in A. D. 195 when Bishop Victor excommunicated a group of several thousand Christians in Asia Minor who taught that Easter should be observed according to the Jewish calendar, but Victor felt the celebration should be held only on Sunday. Tertullian, a prominent Christian at the beginning of the third century, taught that Sunday should be a day of at least partial rest. The first civil Sunday legislation was ordered in A. D. 321 by Emperor Constantine.

8. What prompted Constantine to make the first Sunday law?

Willy Rordorf, a Swiss church historian, gives the following evaluation of Constantine:

"Like the majority both of his contemporaries and also more particularly of his predecessors on the imperial throne, Constantine was warmly disposed towards sun-worship. We have already mentioned that the cult of Mithras was at that time wide spread, particularly among the soldiers, and the emperor was their supreme commander. It is, therefore, possible that Constantine promulgated legislation to make Sunday an obligatory day of rest in order to unite the empire under a monotheistic sun-religion. Constantine did, of course, know about the Christian day of worship, and it is possible that by means of this step he wished to win for himself the support of the Christian minority, which had already grown considerably in size and to which he had granted toleration." Sunday, pp. 163, 164.

9. When did the Papacy become a supreme power and for how long did her supremacy continue?

As the Western Roman Empire began to disintegrate the Pope at Rome took over the leadership. However, this was not fully accomplished until the Heruli, the Ostrogoths, and the Vandals were uprooted. These powers were finally out of the way in 538. Then as the prophecy had indicated the Papacy was supreme for 1200 years. This supremacy ended in 1798 when Berthier, the French general, took the Pope prisoner and proclaimed Rome a republic.

10. How does John in Revelation refer to this loss of power by the Papacy?

"And I saw one of his heads as it were wounded to death." Revelation 13:3.

11. Will there be a restoration of Rome's power?

"And his deadly wound was healed: and all the world wondered after the beast." Revelation 13:3.

 The restoration of Rome's power is explained in great detail in Revelation 17. This will be accomplished by a great international confederation of powers symbolized by ten horns that "have one mind, and shall give their power and strength unto the beast." Revelation 17:12, 13.

12. What power will be responsible for causing people to worship the beast, setting up an image to the beast, and causing people to receive the mark of the beast?

"And I beheld another beast coming up out of the earth; and he had two horns like a lamb, and he spake as a dragon. And he exerciseth all the power of the first beast before him, and causeth the earth and them which dwell therein to worship the first beast, whose deadly wound was healed." Revelation 13:11, 12. Read also Revelation 13:14-18.

 This second beast of Revelation 13 is a prediction of the rise of a lamblike power that would come to the forefront around 1798. The United States did arise in the late 1790s. It was lamblike, founded on the two great principles of civil and religious liberty.

13. How can an image to the beast be set up in the United States?

It will be accomplished by the enemies of liberty in America. The beast referred to is the papal beast mentioned in Revelation 13:1-10. What is this image? It is a union of church and state with the church dominant. This prophecy suggests that the day will come when the religious element of the country will influence the state to enforce religious dogmas just as church and state functioned in the Middle Ages. For the state to enforce religious laws under penalty is for it to speak like a dragon, a persecuting power.

14. What is the mark of the beast which the enemies of liberty will seek to enforce upon all?

It is something which belongs to the beast. The person who receives the mark of the beast will be marked as a worshiper of the beast. The beast is a symbol of the Papacy. The mark of the beast will be some act by which the Papacy is recognized.

15. What is the difference between those who worship God and those who worship the beast?

Read Revelation 14:9-12. Those who worship God keep all His commandments. Those who worship the beast do not keep all the commandments. The Roman Catholic Church endorses the Decalogue except on one basic point the Sabbath. The fact that it claims to have authority to change divine law at this point indicates its assumption of authority to teach in God's place.

16. What is the mark of papal Rome's authority?

The Reformers of the 16th century claimed to stand on the Bible yet they continued to worship on Sunday. So the Catholic Church called the Council of Trent that convened over a period of eighteen years beginning in March, 1545. The question to be solved was: Could the tradition of the church be successfully defended against the powerful witness of the Reformation which stood for the Bible alone? It was a question of authority. This was debated for many years. Finally it was a speech by the Archbishop of Reggio that turned the tide in favor of tradition. Note his words:

"Such is the condition of the heretics of this age that on nothing do they rely more than that, under the pretense of the Word of God, they overthrow the authority of the church; as though the church, His body, could be opposed to the word of Christ, or the head to the body. On the contrary, the authority of the church, then, is illustrated most clearly by the Scriptures; for while on the one hand she recommends them, declares them to be divine, offers them to us to be read, in doubtful matters explains them faithfully, and condemns whatever is contrary to them; on the other hand, the legal precepts in the Scriptures taught by the Lord have ceased by virtue of the same authority. The Sabbath, the most glorious day in the law, has been changed into the Lord's day. . . . These and other similar matters have not ceased by virtue of Christ's teaching (for He says He has come to fulfill the law, not to destroy it), but they have been changed by the authority of the church. Indeed, if she should be removed (since there must be heretics), who would set forth truth, and confound the obstinacy of heretics?" Manst SC, Vol. 33, cols. 529, 530. (Italics supplied.)

Dr. H. J. Holtzmann, in his book Canon and Tradition, page 263, summarizes this speech by saying:

"Finally at the last opening on the eighteenth of January, 1562, all hesitation was set aside: the Archbishop of Reggio made a speech in which he openly declared that tradition stood above Scripture. The authority of the Church could therefore not be bound to the authority of the Scriptures, because the Church had changed. . . the Sabbath into Sunday, not by the command of Christ, but by its own authority." (Italics supplied.)

17. Do people who worship on Sunday have the mark of the beast?

At present Sunday observance is not being enforced by law. It is only when the issues are clearly drawn between the religion of God and that which comes from man that Sunday observance becomes the mark of the beast.

Conclusion

This Sabbath question is tremendously important. However, it will become of even greater importance. It will become the great test of loyalty to God, to the truth, and to the Bible. The decision is up to you. John was privileged to get a glimpse of the people of God just before the return of Jesus and he said, "Here is the patience of the saints: here are they that keep the commandments of God, and the faith of Jesus." Revelation 14:12.

If Moses were here what would he do? Read Hebrews 11:25-27.

What would Elijah do? Read 1 Kings 18:21.

What would Solomon say? Read Proverbs 28:9.

What would Jesus say and do? Read John 15:10; 8:29; 13:15; Matthew 16:25.

What would Paul say? Read Romans 6:16.

What would Peter say? Read Acts 4:19; 5:29.

What would John say? Read Revelation 22:14.

What shall we choose? "Choose you this day whom ye will serve; . . . but as for me and my house, we will serve the LORD." Joshua 24:15.

12. HAS TIME BEEN LOST?

Many times those concerned about keeping the Bible Sabbath want to know if we can tell where we are in the stream of time. The only way to prove that time had been lost would be to locate when and where it was lost and in that act we would have found it.

1. Was the weekly cycle lost between the time of Adam and Moses?

Read Exodus 16:1-36.

 Over a period of 40 years or 2,080 weeks God worked four miracles each week in which He pointed out and marked clearly the seventh-day Sabbath. (1) The manna fell on each of the first five days of the week. (2) Any portion kept over one day spoiled and then on the sixth day a double portion fell. (3) The unused portion kept over to the seventh day did not spoil.

(4) On the seventh day, or Sabbath, no manna fell.

2. Was the Sabbath lost between Moses' time and when Jesus lived on earth?

"He that saith he abideth in him ought himself also so to walk, even as he walked." 1 John 2:6. Read Luke 4:16. The Bible identifies the seventh-day Sabbath at the time of the crucifixion of Jesus. Read Luke 23:52 - Luke 24:2.

3. Has the Sabbath been lost since Jesus' time?

The Jews have been scattered over the world. Wherever you find the Orthodox Jew, whether it be in Jerusalem or elsewhere you will find the seventh-day Sabbath, Saturday, being observed.

4. How many changes of the calendar have taken place between Christ's time and ours?

It is a common belief that there have been many changes, but this is not historically true. There has been the change from the Julian Calendar to the Gregorian. Not all countries made the change at the same time. Catholic countries changed in 1582. Each time an amount of time had to be corrected, but no change made ever affected the weekly sequence. It simply affected the days of the month. The Julian Calendar came into use in the days of Julius Caesar, about 46 B.C. The seventh month Julius named after himself and is still known as July.

5. Why was the change from the Julian to the Gregorian Calendar necessary and when was it made?

"The Julian calendar assumes the length of the solar year to be 365 1/4 days, whereas it is 11 minutes and a few seconds less. This annual error accumulated as years rolled on. Some proposals, such as that of Stöffler in 1518 and of Pitatus of Verona in 1537, were made to rectify the error, but the matter was not taken up in earnest until 1577, by Pope Gregory XIII. As in 1582 the vernal equinox occurred at a date (March 11) ten days earlier than it did at the time of the Council of Nice in 325 A.D., Gregory published a bull, dated March 1, 1582, annulling ten days, so that what would have been reckoned the 5th October, 1582, was to be reckoned the 15th October. In order also that the displacement might not occur, it was further ordained that three of the leap years which occur in 400 years should be considered common years. The three leap years selected to be reduced to common years were those which close the centuries (i.e., which end with 00) and are not divisible by 400. Thus, 1600 was leap year, 1700, 1800, and 1900 were common years, 2000 will be leap year, and so on. This method of adjusting the days to the year is called the Gregorian Calendar, or the New Style." - Standard Encyclopaedia of the World's Knowledge, Vol. V, art. "Calendar," p. 360.

6. Did the calendar change disturb the Sabbath?

"It is to be noted that in the Christian period the order of days of the week has never been interrupted. Thus, when Gregory XIII reformed the calendar, in 1582, Thursday, 4 October, was followed by Friday, 15 October. So in England, in 1752, Wednesday, 2 September, was followed by Thursday, 14 September." The Catholic Encyclopedia, Vol. III, art. "Chronology," p. 740.

1582		OCTOBER		1582
Sun	Mon	Tue	Wed	Thu	Fri	Sat
	1	2	3	4	15	16
17	18	19	20	21	22	23
24	25	26	27	28	29	30
31

When the Julian Calendar was corrected by Pope Gregory in 1582, ten days were dropped from the calendar count as is shown here. What would have been Friday the 5th became Friday the 15th. The uniformity of the days of the week was not altered or interrupted, nor has it been in any calendar change.

Conclusion

The week in use at the time of Christ is exactly the same as the week of our calendar today. Sunday is the first day of the week and Saturday is the seventh day. Jesus lived under the Roman calendar. What the Jews called seventh day and first day, the Romans called Saturn's day and Sun's day.

13. PROPER SABBATH OBSERVANCE

Since Christ gave the Sabbath to man (Mark 2:27) it follows therefore that it is not to be ignored. To do so would be to disregard the Creator who made it and gave it to the human race. God says: "Them that honor me I will honor." 1 Samuel 2:30.

1. When does the Sabbath begin and end?

Read Genesis 1:5, 8, 13, 14-19, 23, 31. Here it is evident that each full day began with the dark part and ended with the light part. Reason would indicate that the seventh day began at the going down of the sun and it ended twenty-four hours later at the end of the light part when the sun went down.

The even begins at sunset according to Mark 1:32. "Even" and "sunset" are used interchangeably in the Bible. Read Deuteronomy 16:6, 23:11; 1 Kings 22:35, 36; 2 Chronicles 18:34. A full 24-hour day consists of dark and light. In the Bible the dark part precedes the light part. Sunset is the great natural sign God gave for marking the division of time into days.

2. On which day is special preparation to be made to keep the Sabbath holy?

"And that day [the crucifixion of the sixth day] was the preparation, and the sabbath drew on." Luke 23:54. Read Exodus 16:22, 23.

If no preparation is made ahead of time the Sabbath will generally not be kept properly. Preparation allows more time for entering into the spiritual and physical rest on God's day.

3. What about working on the Sabbath?

"In it thou shalt not do any work." Exodus 20:10. This refers to labor by which we make our living and any other labor not in keeping with proper Sabbath observance.

4. Is the Sabbath a day for our own pleasure and our own words?

"If thou turn away thy foot from the sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day; and call the sabbath a delight, the holy of the LORD, honourable; and shalt honour him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words: then shalt thou delight thyself in the LORD; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the LORD hath spoken it." Isaiah 58:13, 14.

5. What does God say about buying and selling on the Sabbath day?

Read Nehemiah 13:15-21; 10:31.

6. Is the Sabbath to be a day for public worship?

"Six days shall work be done: but the seventh day is the sabbath of rest, an holy convocation; ye shall do no work therein: it is the sabbath of the LORD in all your dwellings." Leviticus 23:3.

“Convocation” means a calling together, and when used in the Bible refers to meetings of a religious character. On the Sabbath is was Christ’s custom to go to the synagogue. Read Luke 4:16. We are admonished, “Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is.” Hebrews 10:25.

7. What can one do on the Sabbath?

“Wherefore it is lawful to do well on the sabbath days.” Matthew 12:12

On the Sabbath day Jesus healed the man with a withered hand (Luke 6:6-11). On the Sabbath Jesus healed the man who had been sick for 38 years (John 5:1-9). Jesus showed that acts of mercy performed to relieve suffering to His creatures were in harmony with true Sabbath observance. A general guideline would be that whatever would deepen our love and appreciation of God, whatever would deepen the bond of union between God and the believer would be proper to do on the Sabbath.

Conclusion

Isaiah had prophesied that Christ would “magnify the law, and make it honourable.” Isaiah 42:21. The Jews had placed thousands of traditional regulations on the Sabbath. For the most part these restrictions were man-made and caused the Sabbath to be a burden. Christ took all these away restoring the Sabbath to its proper place as a day of worship, a day of meditation upon God, a day for doing good. One of the most prominent features of Christ’s ministry was His work of Sabbath reform. He did not change the Sabbath but He did reject all of the traditions surrounding it. The blessing of Sabbath keeping can only be realized by those who lay “hold on it: that keepeth the sabbath from polluting it, and keepeth his hand from doing any evil.” Isaiah 56:2. Read Isaiah 56:1-7.

14. HOW IMPORTANT IS OBEDIENCE?

How exacting is God? Must we take His commandments seriously? What about observing the exact letter of God’s requirements? Remember that a person cannot keep the spirit of God’s commandments while breaking the letter. Many feel that the keeping of the Sabbath commandment is unimportant and that God will hold no one accountable for failure to keep the seventh day when it is so extremely inconvenient.

1. Which day of the week does God tell us to keep holy?

“Remember the sabbath day, to keep it holy...the seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD thy God.” Exodus 20:8, 10.

2. Who has given the Sunday day of worship to the world?

“The Catholic Church for over one thousand years before the existence of a Protestant, by virtue of her Divine mission, changed the day [of worship] from Saturday to Sunday...The Christian Sabbath is therefore to this day the acknowledged offspring of the Catholic Church, as Spouse of the Holy Ghost, without a word of remonstrance from the Protestant world.”—Editorial, The Catholic Mirror (Baltimore), September 23, 1893.

The question of the Sabbath is much more than a question between two days. God commands the observance of the seventh day as the Sabbath whereas man says it is all right to observe the first day. The Sabbath question is one of authority. Whom shall we obey?

3. Did King Saul obey God when told to smite the Amalekites?

Read 1 Samuel 15:1-9. Here is Saul’s answer: “I have performed the commandment of the LORD.” 1 Samuel 15:13.

Samuel did not believe Saul was telling the truth for he asked, “What meanest then this bleating of the sheep in mine ears, and this lowing of the oxen which I hear?” 1 Samuel 15:14. Read Saul’s argument in Verse 15. He argued that in spirit he had obeyed although he had violated a bit in the letter. But he urges he did it for a good purpose. We are going to use these sheep and oxen for sacrifices to God. In other words, we have disobeyed God in order to serve Him.

4. What was the result in Saul’s life of not wholly following God?

“And Samuel said, Hath the LORD as great delight in burnt offerings and sacrifices, as in obeying the voice of the LORD? Behold, to obey is better than sacrifice, and to hearken than the fat of rams. For rebellion is as the sin of witchcraft, and stubbornness is as iniquity and idolatry. Because thou hast rejected the word of the LORD, he hath also rejected thee from being king.” 1 Samuel 15:22, 23.

5. What was Saul’s excuse for disobedience?

“And Saul said unto Samuel, I have sinned: for I have transgressed the commandment of the LORD, and thy words: because I feared the people, and obeyed their voice.” 1 Samuel 15:24.

In Saul’s excuse the real basic motive for wrong doing is revealed. It was a question of authority as to whether he should obey God or the people.

6. Why were only two of the original 600,000 men who left Egypt permitted to enter the Promised Land?

“Surely none of the men that came up out of Egypt, from twenty years old and upward, shall see the land which I swear unto Abraham, unto Isaac, and unto Jacob; because they have not wholly followed me: save Caleb the son of Jephunneh the Kenezite, and Joshua the son of Nun: for they have wholly followed the LORD.” Numbers 32:11, 12.

7. What is the true test of love?

“If ye love me, keep my commandments.” John 14:15. Read John 15:10, 14; 1 John 2:3, 4.

Conclusion

Active obedience to God’s will is the great essential of every life. Obedience is superior to knowledge. Jesus gave this principle, “If ye do them.” John 13:17. Shall we obey God in this matter of Sabbath keeping? Which will you choose to do? Paul says, “know ye not, that to whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey?” Romans 6:16. We cannot afford to let others hinder us from obeying the truths of the Bible. “If ye be willing and obedient, ye shall eat the good of the land.” Isaiah 1:19.

THE SECOND COMING

1. I WILL RETURN

Some years ago a sea captain remarked to his faithful wife, "One more voyage and then we'll buy a nice home in the country and settle down in comfort for the rest of our lives." But the unfortunate man sailed on a ship that never returned.

An affectionate father spoke to his five year-old boy, "Stay right here, Bobbie. Daddy is going up the canyon a little farther, but will come back for you very soon." But among the rocks ahead, tragedy overtook him; and although Bobbie waited all night long, daddy did not return.

Human promises and pledges, though made in good faith, oftentimes fail. But the promise of God will never fail. The apostle Peter declared, "The Lord is not slack concerning his promise, as some men count slackness." 2 Peter 3:9. Concerning the promise of our Lord's return to this earth we read, "For yet a little while, and he that shall come will come, and will not tarry." Hebrews 10:37.

From the earliest times the truth of Christ's second coming was believed and taught. For instance, Enoch, Job, Abraham, David and Isaiah all prophesied concerning our Lord's return. Read Jude 14; Job 19:25-27; Hebrews 11:8-16; Psalm 102:16; Isaiah 25:9.

1. How certain is Christ's return?

"And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself; that where I am, there ye may be also." John 14:3. Read Hebrews 9:28; Acts 1:9-11.

2. What did Christ tell the scribes and Pharisees about His return?

"For I say unto you, Ye shall not see me henceforth, till ye shall say, Blessed is he that cometh in the name of the Lord." Matthew 23:39.

3. At His trial what did Christ promise about His return?

"Jesus saith unto him, Thou hast said: nevertheless I say unto you, Hereafter shall ye see the Son of man sitting on the right hand of power, and coming in the clouds of heaven." Matthew 26:64.

4. What assurance did Jesus give John concerning His return?

He repeats three times the truth of His second coming, "Behold, I come quickly"; "And, behold, I come quickly"; "Surely I come quickly." Revelation 22:7, 12, 20.

This uniform testimony of Christ is enough to convince all that Christ is coming again. There is no doubt here, Jesus will return.

Conclusion

The apostle Paul mentions the return of Christ in his epistles many times. In the New Testament alone there are also a large number of references containing statements attesting to the truth that Christ will return. The apostle admonishes, "Be patient therefore, brethren, unto the coming of the Lord. Be ye also patient; stablish your hearts: for the coming of the Lord draweth nigh." James 5:7, 8.

2. WORLD CONDITIONS FORETELL CHRIST'S COMING

It is not a blind faith to believe in Christ's soon return.

The Bible records many omens of His coming. They will occur "in divers places." Matthew 24:7. These signs of Christ's coming will be in evidence in the political, economic, scientific, and religious world thus making it possible for the whole of society to be aware of earth's closing events.

1. When the disciples came to Jesus with the question, "When shall these things be? and what shall be the sign of thy coming, and of the end of the world?" (Matthew 24:3) what was His answer?

The disciples thought the fall of Jerusalem and the end of the world were simultaneous events. Therefore Christ gave the conditions they could look for which would announce both of these events. We are concerned only with the conditions that foretell Christ's return to earth. The signs of Christ's coming will appear in the sky, on the earth, and in the hearts of men and women.

"And there shall be signs in the sun, and in the moon, and in the stars; and upon the earth distress of nations, with perplexity, the sea and the waves roaring; men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth: for the powers of heaven shall be shaken. And then shall they see the Son of man coming in a cloud with power and great glory." Luke 21:25-27.

2. What three signs were to appear in the sky before the return of Jesus?

"Immediately after the tribulation of those days shall the sun be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light, and the stars shall fall from heaven, and the powers of the heavens shall be shaken: and then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven; and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory." Matthew 24:29, 30.

Other texts to explore are Joel 3:15 and Revelation 6:12, 13. The period of tribulation dates from A. D. 538 until 1798 known as the Dark Ages when there was a union of church and state. There was much persecution during that time. Public persecution ceased in 1773 about 25 years before 1798. Why? This was brought about by the Reformation which gave the Bible and the gospel to the people and the opportunities for religious freedom in America.

3. When did the signs in the heavens occur?

Jesus accurately predicted that "in those days, after that tribulation, the sun shall be darkened, and the moon shall not give her light." Mark 13:24.

How correct His prediction! The first sign in the sky was to transpire after the days of persecution had ended and yet "in those days" or just before 1798. May 19, 1780, the sun was darkened. This is a record of history. That same night the moon took on the appearance of blood. And as predicted the greatest meteoric shower ever to be recorded in history was observed on the night of November 13, 1833. The heavens seemed ablaze over North America and as far south as Mexico and the island of Jamaica. Men became sober believing the day of judgment had arrived.

4. What were to be the conditions on the earth before Christ's second coming?

Conditions on the earth fall into five categories: political, economic, scientific, religious and physical.

a. What would be the political conditions?

"And ye shall hear of wars and rumours of wars: for all these things must come to pass, but the end is not yet. For nation shall rise against nation, and kingdom against kingdom." Matthew 24:6, 7. Read also Revelation 11:18 and Joel 3:9-14.

10 The Bible is careful to predict that in the time of anger and preparation for war there would be many efforts toward peace. "For when they shall say, Peace and safety; then sudden destruction cometh upon them." 1 Thessalonians 5:2, 3. Read Jeremiah 6:14.

- b. How does God describe the worldwide economic situation?

"Go to now, ye rich men, weep and howl for your miseries that shall come upon you. Your riches are corrupted, and your garments are moth-eaten. Your gold and silver is cankered; and the rust of them shall be a witness against you, and shall eat your flesh as it were fire. Ye have heaped treasure together for the last days. Behold, the hire of the labourers who have reaped down your fields, which is of you kept back by fraud, crieth: and the cries of them which have reaped are entered into the ears of the Lord of Sabaoth." James 5:1-4.

- c. What does the Bible predict concerning scientific discoveries?

"But thou, O Daniel, shut up the words, and seal the book, even to the time of the end: many shall run to and fro, and knowledge shall be increased." Daniel 12:4.

11 It is interesting that God designed Daniel's prophecies would be sealed until "the time of the end." During that period just before the end simultaneously people would begin to understand the prophecies of Daniel along with discovering great scientific knowledge.

- d. What great signs will there be in the religious world?

Peter said there would be scoffers. "Knowing this first, that there shall come in the last days scoffers, walking after their own lusts, and saying, Where is the promise of his coming? for since the fathers fell asleep, all things continue as they were from the beginning of the creation." 2 Peter 3:3, 4.

Paul mentions 19 prevalent sins. "This know also, that in the last days perilous times shall come. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy, without natural affection, trucebreakers, false accusers, incontinent, fierce, despisers of those that are good, traitors, heady, highminded, lovers of pleasures more than lovers of God; having a form of godliness, but denying the power thereof: from such turn away." 2 Timothy 3:1-5.

Jesus said there would be a lack of faith and love. "I tell you that he will avenge them speedily. Nevertheless when the Son of man cometh, shall he find faith on the earth?" Luke 18:8.

"And because iniquity shall abound, the love of many shall wax cold." Matthew 24:12.

The greatest of all signs of Christ's soon coming is the worldwide proclamation of the Gospel. "And this gospel of the kingdom shall be preached in all the world for a witness unto all nations; and then shall the end come." Matthew 24:14.

There will be deceptions. "And Jesus answered and said unto them, Take heed that no man deceive you. And many false prophets shall rise, and shall deceive many. For there shall arise false Christ's, and false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders; insomuch that, if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect." Matthew 24:4, 11, 24.

- e. What can we expect will be taking place in the physical world?

"And there shall be famines, and pestilences, and earthquakes, in divers places." Matthew 24:7.

Conclusion

In addition to the signs in the sky and on the earth, men's hearts will be fearful. "Men's hearts failing them for fear, and for looking after those things which are coming on the earth." Luke 21:26. When these world conditions are observed there is the indication that the coming of the Lord is "even at the doors." Read Matthew 24:32-34. Let us heed Christ's admonition to "Watch therefore: for ye know not what hour your Lord doth come." Matthew 24:42.

3. WILL THE WORLD BE CONVERTED?

It is evident that wickedness of all kinds is on the increase. One would have to be blind and deaf or devoid of proper mentality in order not to be aware of world conditions. The world is fast becoming comparable to the prevalent conditions in the time of Noah just before the Flood.

1. What conditions prevailed in the time of Noah?

"And GOD saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth, and that every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. The earth also was corrupt before God, and the earth was filled with violence." Genesis 6:5, 11.

2. Prior to Christ's return what conditions can we expect to see?

"As it was in the days of Noah, so shall it be also in the days of the Son of man. They did eat, they drank, they married wives, they were given in marriage, until the day that Noah entered into the ark, and the flood came, and destroyed them all. Likewise also as it was in the days of Lot, they did eat, they drank, they bought, they sold, they planted, they builded; but the same day that Lot went out of Sodom it rained fire and brimstone from heaven, and destroyed them all. Even thus shall it be in the day when the Son of man is revealed." Luke 17:26-30.

3. Is the world destined to get better or worse?

"But evil men and seducers shall wax worse and worse, deceiving, and being deceived." 2 Timothy 3:13.

4. What will be the attitude of many towards truth?

"Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Now as Jannes and Jambres withstood Moses, so do these also resist the truth: men of corrupt minds, reprobate concerning the faith." 2 Timothy 3:7, 8. "For the time will come when they will not endure sound doctrine; but after their own lusts shall they heap to themselves teachers, having itching ears; and they shall turn away their ears from the truth, and shall be turned unto fables." 2 Timothy 4:3, 4.

5. How did Jesus indicate there would be no time prior to Christ's return when the world would be converted?

Read Matthew 24:30; Revelation 6:14-17.

12 The preaching of the gospel is not destined to bring about world conversion. The gospel is preached "for a witness." After the proclamation of truth then Christ returns. Read Matthew 24:14.

Conclusion

The inhabitants of earth in these last days may be divided into two groups. There are those who look for the second advent but they do not expect Christ to put an end to this present world, but to rule it, offering a second chance to the nations. There are those who are looking for the day of the Lord. This is the end of the world, the coming of Christ, a day of destruction. "The great day of the LORD is near, it is near, and hasteth greatly, even the voice of the day of the LORD: the mighty man shall cry there bitterly." Zephaniah 1:14. God help us to be ready for His appearing.

4. HOW CHRIST WILL RETURN (No Secret Rapture)

As to the manner of Christ's coming there can be no doubt. It will not be hidden from the eyes of men. He will be seen by those living on earth. "Looking for that blessed hope, and the glorious appearing of the great God and our Saviour Jesus Christ." Titus 2:13. The Bible emphasises this truth that the Lord will appear openly when He comes.

Col. 3:4	1 Pet. 5:4
1 John 2:28	1 John 3:2
1 Pet. 1:7	1 Tim. 6:14
2 Tim. 4:1	Matt. 24:30

1. How many tribes of earth will see Christ return?

"And then shall appear the sign of the Son of man in heaven: and then shall all the tribes of the earth mourn, and they shall see the Son of man coming in the clouds of heaven with power and great glory." Matthew 24:30.

☞ Christ does not appear merely to a certain class that may be expecting Him, but rather to every living soul on the earth.

2. What was the testimony of the two angels at His ascension as to the manner in which Christ will return?

"And when he had spoken these things, while they beheld, he was taken up; and a cloud received him out of their sight. And while they looked stedfastly toward heaven as he went up, behold, two men stood by them in white apparel; which also said, Ye men of Galilee, why stand ye gazing up into heaven? this same Jesus, which is taken up from you into heaven, shall so come in like manner as ye have seen him go into heaven." Acts 1:9-11.

3. Will both the righteous and the wicked see Christ when He comes?

"Behold, he cometh with clouds; and every eye shall see him, and they also which pierced him: and all kindreds of the earth shall wail because of him. Even so, Amen." Revelation 1:7.

☞ The idea that Christ comes secretly and that His coming becomes known to the rest of mankind only by the absence of the righteous is untrue. In order for those who pierced Christ to see Him return there will be a special resurrection to make this possible.

4. Will Christ come in silence?

"For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first." 1 Thessalonians 4:16.

5. How did Christ illustrate the visibility of His return?

"For as the lightning cometh out of the east, and shineth even unto the west; so shall also the coming of the Son of man be." Matthew 24:27.

Conclusion

Jesus looked ahead through the centuries and knew that some would be deceived as to the manner of His coming. Therefore, He uttered this warning. "Then if any man shall say unto you, Lo, here is Christ, or there; believe it not. For there shall arise false prophets, and shall shew great signs and wonders; insomuch that, if it were possible, they shall deceive the very elect. Behold, I have told you before. Wherefore if they shall say unto you, Behold, he is in the desert; go not forth: behold, he is in the secret chambers; believe it not." Matthew 24:23-

26. Since we know the manner of His coming we can look for Him. "Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation." Hebrews 9:28.

5. WHY CHRIST MUST COME

The second coming of Christ is an important teaching of the Scriptures. Why must Christ return? The reason for His return is ninefold.

1. For whom is Christ coming?

"Let not your heart be troubled: ye believe in God, believe also in me. In my Father's house are many mansions: if it were not so, I would have told you. I go to prepare a place for you. And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come again, and receive you unto myself, that where I am, there ye may be also." John 14:1-3.

☞ When Christ left this earth He went to prepare a place so all His people might someday dwell together. When the preparation is complete and He returns then His people will be gathered by the angels. "And he shall send his angels with a great sound of a trumpet, and they shall gather together his elect from the four winds, from one end of heaven to the other." Matthew 24:31.

2. When Christ comes, what will He do for the saints sleeping in death?

"For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first." 1 Thessalonians 4:16.

3. Because some of God's people will be alive, never having tasted death, at the coming of the Lord what will Christ do?

"Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air: and so shall we ever be with the Lord." 1 Thessalonians 4:17.

☞ Both the resurrected and the living righteous will be given immortality at the coming of the Lord. "Behold, I shew you a mystery: We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality." 1 Corinthians 15:51-53.

4. What is another purpose of Christ's coming?

"I charge thee therefore before God, and the Lord Jesus Christ, who shall judge the quick and the dead at his appearing and his kingdom." 2 Timothy 4:1.

5. How are the righteous rewarded at Christ's second coming?

"So Christ was once offered to bear the sins of many; and unto them that look for him shall he appear the second time without sin unto salvation." Hebrews 9:28. "And the kingdom and dominion, and the greatness of the kingdom under the whole heaven, shall be given to the people of the saints of the most High, whose kingdom is an everlasting kingdom, and all dominions shall serve and obey him." Daniel 7:27.

6. At His coming what does He do to the wicked?

"And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." 2 Thessalonians 1:7, 8. "And the nations were angry, and thy wrath is come, and the time of the dead, that they should be judged, and that thou shouldest give reward unto thy servants the prophets, and to the saints, and them that fear thy name, small and great; and shouldest destroy them which destroy the earth." Revelation 11:18.

7. What does His coming have to do with this earth?

 Christ has purchased the earth and it is His intention to bring it back to its original beauty.

"Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness." 2 Peter 3:13.

"The righteous shall inherit the land, and dwell therein for ever." Psalm 37:29.

8. What is God's plan relative to all things lost through sin?

"And he shall send Jesus Christ, which before was preached unto you: whom the heaven must receive until the times of restitution of all things which God hath spoken by the mouth of all his holy prophets since the world began." Acts 3:20, 21.

 The last two chapters of the Bible presents a picture of the restored earth with the redeemed upon it. The return of Christ prepares the way for the establishment of their new earth which God's people will occupy throughout eternity. "Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth."

9. What is Christ's position when He returns?

"And I saw heaven opened, and behold a white horse: and he that sat upon him was called Faithful and True, and in righteousness he doth judge and make war. His eyes were as a flame of fire, and on his head were many crowns; and he had a name written, that no man knew, but he himself. And he was clothed with a vesture dipped in blood: and his name is called The Word of God. And the armies which were in heaven followed him upon white horses, clothed in fine linen, white and clean, and out of his mouth goeth a sharp sword, that with it he should smite the nation: and he shall rule them with a rod of iron: and he treadeth the winepress of the fierceness and wrath of Almighty God, and he hath on his vesture and on his thigh a name written, KING OF KINGS, AND LORD OF LORDS." Revelation 19:11-16.

Conclusion

The kingdom over which will rule will endure forever, and in the days of these kings shall the god of heaven set up a kingdom, which shall never be destroyed: and the kingdom shall not be left to other people, but it shall break in pieces and consume all these kingdoms, and it shall stand for ever." Daniel 2:44. "And he shall reign over the house of Jacob for ever; and of his kingdom there shall be no end" Luke 1:33. Since all these wonderful things will be worked out by the coming of Christ it is truly a blessed hope. We cannot help but cry out, "Even so, come, Lord Jesus."

6. WHY A RESURRECTION?

A hope in the resurrection has been the belief of man from earliest times. Without a resurrection there would be no future life. The book of Job is the oldest book of the bible. The author of this book represents Job both asking and answering a question concerning a future life. He says, "If a man die, shall he live again? all the days of my appointed time will I wait, till my change come. Thou shalt call, and I will answer thee: thou wilt have a desire to the work of thine hands." Job 14:14,15. Job recognized that the hope of a resurrection depended on the return of Christ to earth the second time "at the latter day." "For I know that my redeemer liveth, and that he shall stand at the latter day upon the earth: and though after my skin worms destroy this body, yet in my flesh shall I see God: whom I shall see for myself, and mine eyes shall behold, and not another: though my reins be consumed within me." Job 19:25-27.

1. When did David expect to have God's likeness?

"As for me, I will behold thy face in righteousness: I shall be satisfied, when I awake, with thy likeness." Psalm 17:15.

2. What has God promised His sleeping saints?

"For thou shalt be recompensed at the resurrection of the just." Luke 14:14, last part.

3. Who is the Christian's hope?

"Jesus said unto her, I am the resurrection, and the life: he that believeth in me, though he were dead, yet shall he live: and whosoever liveth and believeth in me shall never die. Believest thou this?" John 11:25, 26. "I am he that liveth, and was dead; and, behold, I am alive for evermore, Amen; and have the keys of hell and of death." Revelation 1:18.

4. How many resurrections does Christ mention? What are they called?

"Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth; they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil unto the resurrection damnation." John 5:28, 29. Read Acts 24:15.

5. How important is the resurrection?

"Now if Christ be preached that he rose from the dead, how say some among you that there is no resurrection of the dead, then is Christ not risen: and if Christ be not risen, then is our preaching vain, and your faith is also vain. Yea, and we are found false witnesses of God; because we have testified of God that he raised up Christ: whom he raised not up, if so be that the dead rise not. For if the dead rise not, then is not Christ raised: and if Christ be not raised, your faith is vain; ye are yet in your sins. Then they also which are fallen asleep in Christ are perished. If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable." 1 Corinthians 15:12-19.

 The hope of the believer's resurrection is based on Christ's resurrection. The two are linked together. The resurrection of Christ is the most important event ever to have taken place. If this great truth could be overturned then all other truth would be valueless.

6. What are the characteristics of those who come forth in the first resurrection?

"Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection: on such the second death hath no power, but they shall be priests of God and of Christ, and shall reign with him a thousand years." Revelation 20:6.

 When the righteous dead are resurrected to life they become priests of God and reign with Christ for one thousand years. This is in fulfillment of Christ's promise "To him that overcometh will I grant to sit with me in my throne, even as I also overcame, and am set down with my Father in his throne." Revelation 3:21.

7. What event marks the time for the first resurrection?

"For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trumpet of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first." 1 Thessalonians 4:16.

 Paul is careful to point out that all the righteous go to be with Christ at the same time. "For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent precede, margin them which are asleep." 1 Thessalonians 4:15. All, the resurrected righteous dead together with the living saints, "meet the Lord in the air" at the same time. Read 1 Thessalonians 4:17.

Conclusion

God wants us to understand what can be expected concerning the righteous who are asleep in death awaiting the call of the lifegiver at the coming of the Lord. We need not sorrow as others. The basis for our hope and comfort is the resurrection. Read 1 Thessalonians 4:13, 14.

What a wonderful prospect! Incorruption, glory, power, immortality all this at the resurrection. Read 1 Corinthians 15:42-44, 51-53. "Therefore, my beloved brethren, be ye steadfast, unmovable, always abiding in the work of the Lord, forasmuch as ye know that your labour is not in vain in the Lord." 1 Corinthians 15:58.

7. CHRIST'S COMING VS. THE MILLENNIUM

The millennium can never begin until Christ returns to receive His people unto Himself. The term millennium is nowhere found in the Bible. It is derived from two Latin words: Mille means one thousand. Annus means year. Therefore the term millennium means one thousand years. Some have the idea that the millennium will be a thousand years of peace and prosperity on the earth. This is not the Bible teaching. Satan is doing all in his power to persuade people to believe what is wrong is right relative to the millennium. He even transforms himself into an "angel of light" and he has those who help him in spreading his deceptions. Read 2 Corinthians 11:14, 15.

1. What events take place at the beginning of the millennium?

The answer to this question is in five parts.

a. Christ comes.

"For this we say unto you by the word of the Lord, that we which are alive and remain unto the coming of the Lord shall not prevent them which are asleep. For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God; and the dead in Christ shall rise first." 1 Thessalonians 4:15, 16.

b. The righteous dead come to life in the first resurrection.

"The dead in Christ shall rise first." 1 Thessalonians 4:16.

"Blessed and holy is he that hath part in the first resurrection." Revelation 20:6.

c. The living wicked slain.

"And to you who are troubled rest with us, when the Lord Jesus shall be revealed from heaven with his mighty angels, in flaming fire taking vengeance on them that know not God, and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ." 2 Thessalonians 1:7, 8.

"And then shall that Wicked be revealed, whom the Lord shall consume with the spirit of his mouth, and shall destroy with the brightness of his coming." 2 Thessalonians 2:8. Read Isaiah 11:4.

"A noise shall come even to the ends of the earth; for the LORD hath a controversy with the nations, he will plead with all flesh; he will give them that are wicked to the sword, saith the LORD. Thus saith the LORD of hosts, behold, evil shall go forth from nation to nation, and a great whirlwind shall be raised up from the coasts of the earth. And the slain of the LORD shall be at that day from one end of the earth even unto the other end of the earth: they shall not be lamented, neither gathered, nor buried; they shall be dung upon the ground." Jeremiah 25:31-33

d. All the righteous taken to heaven.

"For the Lord himself shall descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel, and with the trump of God: and the dead in Christ shall rise first: then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds to meet the Lord in the air; and so shall we ever be with the Lord." 1 Thessalonians 4:16, 17. Read John 14:1-3. Read also Revelation 7:9, 10 where John pictures the redeemed standing before the throne in heaven.

e. Satan is bound.

"I saw an angel come down from heaven, having the key of the bottomless pit and a great chain in his hand. And he laid hold on the dragon, that old serpent, which is the Devil, and Satan, and bound him a thousand years, and cast him into the bottomless pit, and shut him up, and set a seal upon him, that he should deceive the nations no more, till the thousand years should be fulfilled; and after that he must be loosed a little season." Revelation 20:1-3.

Satan is bound by circumstances. The righteous have been taken to be with Christ, and the wicked have been slain. The earth has been emptied of its inhabitants. Jeremiah declared "I beheld, and, lo, there was no man." Jeremiah 4:25. The Jeremiah prophecies (25:31-33, 4:25) have a primary application with regards to Judah. But all such day of judgment prophecies are types of the trial and ultimate day of the Lord. What is true of one is true in principle of the latter.

The term "bottomless pit" comes from the Greek word abussos from which we get "abyss." Everything will be in a state of chaos.

2. What are some definite facts which mark the millennium?

a. The earth is desolate.

"I beheld the earth, and, lo, it was without form, and void; . . . The whole land shall be desolate." Jeremiah 4:23-27.

b. The righteous will be in heaven engaged in a work of judgment.

"And I saw thrones, and they sat upon them, and judgment was given unto them; and I saw the souls of them that were beheaded for the witness of Jesus, and for the word of God, and which had not worshipped the beast, neither his image, neither had received his mark upon their foreheads, or in their hands; and they lived and reigned with Christ a thousand years." Revelation 20:4.

"Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and not before the saints? Do ye not know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters? Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?" 1 Corinthians 6:1-3.

Why have a judgment after all cases have been decided? At the coming of Christ He takes His people with Him to heaven. The wicked will not live until after the 1000 years have expired. They will be resurrected to receive their punishment of the second death. Should you discover that a loved one is not in heaven during the millennium you can find the reason for this by looking over the records. God has allotted a thousand years to the judgment of the wicked. He is careful to take no chance of leaving one doubt in any mind about His work in behalf of man. When the wicked receive their punishment it will be recognized by all that their punishment is deserved and God is just. During the one thousand years as the righteous sit in judgment they will learn of every effort put forth to save every person.

3. What definite events mark the close of the millennium?

The answer to this question is in six parts in the sequence in which the events transpire.

- a. The wicked are resurrected.
"But the rest of the dead lived not again until the thousand years were finished." Revelation 20:5. (These are the wicked because the righteous were resurrected one thousand years before this.)
- b. Satan is loosed.
"And when the thousand years are expired, Satan shall be loosed out of his prison." Revelation 20:7. (The devil will be free to continue his nefarious work of deception among the wicked who have come to life.)
- c. The New Jerusalem comes down from heaven.
"And I John saw the holy city, new Jerusalem, coming down from God out of heaven, prepared as a bride adorned for her husband." Revelation 21:2
- d. Satan gathers the wicked around the city for battle.
"And shall go out to deceive the nations which are in the four quarters of the earth, Gog and Magog, to gather them together to battle: the number of whom is as the sand of the sea. And they went up on the breadth of the earth, and compassed the camp of the saints about, and the beloved city" Revelation 20:8, 9.
- e. The wicked are destroyed.
"And fire came down from God out of heaven, and devoured them." Revelation 20:9, last part.
When a person or thing is said to be devoured total destruction is pictured. This is the picture presented in Malachi 4:1, 3.
- f. A new earth will be created.
"... Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless." 2 Peter 3:10-14. Read also Revelation 21:1-5.

Conclusion

Jesus promised, "Blessed are the meek: for they shall inherit the earth." Matthew 5:5. He quoted this from Psalm 37:11. Paul put the same thought in these words: "If ye be Christ's, then are ye Abraham's seed, and heirs according to the promise." Galatians 3:29.

To enter the New Jerusalem and the new earth, what characteristic will all possess? Read the answer in Revelation 22:14 and Matthew 7:21-23. According to Revelation 21:27 the names of the redeemed will be recorded in "the Lamb's book of life." All who live with God forever will be men and women of faith and obedience. Read Hebrews 11:8-10, 13-16.

To inherit everlasting life one must be willing to forsake all. Read Matthew 19:17, 27-29.

8. PREPARATION FOR CHRIST'S RETURN

Since Christ will return for His people it is important to be prepared. Peter says, "But the day of the Lord will come as a thief in the night, in the which the heavens shall pass away with a great noise, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat, the earth also and the works that are therein shall be burned up. Seeing then that all these things shall be dissolved, what manner of persons ought ye to be in all holy conversation and godliness, looking for and hasting unto the coming of the day of God, wherein the heavens being on fire shall be dissolved, and the elements shall melt with fervent heat? Nevertheless we, according to his promise, look for new heavens and a new earth, wherein dwelleth righteousness. Wherefore, beloved, seeing that ye look for such things, be diligent that ye may be found of him in peace, without spot, and blameless." 2 Peter 3:10-14.

1. What did Jesus tell His disciples to do in order to be prepared?

"Take heed to yourselves, lest at any time your hearts be overcharged with surfeiting, and drunkenness, and cares of this life, and so that day come upon you unawares. For as a snare shall it come on all them that dwell on the face of the whole earth. Watch ye therefore, and pray always, that ye may be accounted worthy to escape all these things that shall come to pass, and to stand before the Son of man." Luke 21:34-36. Read 1 Thessalonians 5:1-6.

2. What experience is essential to enter the kingdom of God?

"Jesus answered and said unto him, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born again, he cannot see the kingdom of God. Nicodemus saith unto him, How can a man be born when he is old? can he enter the second time into his mother's womb, and be born? Jesus answered, Verily, verily, I say unto thee, Except a man be born of water and of the Spirit, he cannot enter into the kingdom of God. That which is born of the flesh is flesh; and that which is born of the Spirit is spirit. Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again." John 3:3-7.

Just as it is important to have a new heart by accepting Jesus, Christ also emphasized that a person should be baptized to indicate publicly the work of grace already wrought inwardly by the Holy Spirit.

3. To be like Jesus, what is necessary?

"Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be: but we know that, when he shall appear, we shall be like him; for we shall see him as he is. And every man that hath this hope in him purifieth himself, even as he is pure." 1 John 3:2, 3.

4. To be prepared for the coming of the Lord, where must a person abide?

"And now, little children, abide in him; that, when he shall appear, we may have confidence, and not be ashamed before him at his coming." 1 John 2:28. Read Jude 24.

5. Whom can we expect before Christ returns?

"Behold, I will send you Elijah the prophet before the coming of the great and dreadful day of the LORD: and he shall turn the heart of the fathers to the children, and the heart of the children to their fathers, lest I come and smite the earth with a curse." Malachi 4:5, 6.

The Bible speaks of the coming of Elijah during three different periods of time: in the time of the kingdom of Israel, in the days of John the Baptist, and just before the second advent of Christ. In the days of John the Baptist Christ said that the ministry of John was a fulfillment of Malachi's prediction (Matthew 17:10-13). John was not the reincarnation of Elijah in person but he did proclaim the same message which Elijah proclaimed (John 1:19-21, 23 and Luke 1:13-17). And before Christ returns it is the proclamation of the message of Elijah which prepares men and women for the coming of the Lord. This is a message of reformation calling mankind back to the commandments of God and the faith of Jesus.

Conclusion

When Jesus returns to earth those ready will welcome Him by saying, "Lo, this is our God; we have waited for him, and he will save us." Isaiah 25:9. The unprepared will be afraid and will cry unto the rocks and mountains saying, "Fall on us, and hide us from the face of him that sitteth on the throne, and from the wrath of the Lamb: for the great day of his wrath is come; and who shall be able to stand?" Revelation 6:16, 17.

STEWARDSHIP

1. MAN AS A STEWARD

A steward is a person who is manager of another's goods. With such responsibility there always comes a day of reckoning. Sooner or later the time arrives when the steward will be called upon to render a personal accounting.

1. Over what was man given dominion after the creation of all things?

"And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over the cattle, and over all the earth, and over every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth." Genesis 1:26.

2. Did the world belong to man?

God says, "The earth is the LORD's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein." Psalm 24:1.

The Lord entrusted the management of things on the earth to man. "And the LORD God took the man, and put him into the garden of Eden to dress it and to keep it." Genesis 2:15. Read Psalm 115:16; Genesis 1:28.

3. What portion of the Garden of Eden did God reserve for Himself?

"But of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die." Genesis 2:17.

This tree of the knowledge of good and evil became the test of man's acknowledgment of God's ownership of all things.

4. When Adam and Eve failed (Genesis 3:6) what did God do?

"So he drove out the man; and he placed at the east of the garden of Eden Cherubims, and a flaming sword which turned every way, to keep the way of the tree of life." Genesis 3:24.

5. When the day of reckoning came what questions were asked?

"Where art thou? . . . Who told thee that thou wast naked? Hast thou eaten of the tree, whereof I commanded thee that thou shouldst not eat? . . . What is this that thou hast done?" Genesis 3:9-13.

Conclusion

Unfaithfulness on the part of man was sin. However, God promised to redeem fallen man. Read Genesis 3:15. God pronounced judgment on the devil and predicted the coming of One to deliver man from sin. What does God require of us as stewards today? Our question should be: "What shall I render unto the LORD for all his benefits toward me?" Psalm 116:12.

2. STEWARDSHIP OF TALENTS

After Christ had revealed some of the signs of His return He told His disciples to watch and be ready. What is involved in watching for Christ's coming? Jesus gave His parable of the talents to answer this question. It is evident that Jesus intended that the time of waiting be spent in diligent labor.

"For the kingdom of heaven is as a man travelling into a far country, who called his own servants, and delivered unto them his goods. And unto one he gave five talents, to another two, and to another one; to every man according to his several ability; and straightway took his journey." Matthew 25:14, 15.

1. What two things have been given to God's servants?

"For the Son of man is as a man taking a far journey, who left his house, and gave authority to his servants, and to every man his work, and commanded the porter to watch." Mark 13:34.

2. How did the master's servants make use of their authority and talents?

"Then he that had received the five talents went and traded with the same, and made them other five talents. And likewise he that had received two, he also gained other two. But he that had received one went and digged in the earth, and hid his lord's money." Matthew 25:16-18.

The talents of money in the parable represent the abilities God entrusts with each one of us and they are to be used in glorifying God and in blessing our fellowmen.

3. What talents has Christ entrusted to His church through the Holy Spirit?

"For to one is given by the Spirit the word of wisdom, to another the word of knowledge by the same Spirit; to another faith by the same Spirit; to another the gifts of healing by the same Spirit; to another the working of miracles; to another prophecy; to another discerning of spirits; to another divers kinds of tongues; to another the interpretation of tongues; but all these worketh that one and the selfsame Spirit, dividing to every man severally as he will." 1 Corinthians 12:8-11.

Some abilities are inherited - a natural bent for some things - other abilities are acquired through training. Some abilities are supernatural endowments of the Holy Spirit. Since we live and move and have our being in God (Acts 17:28), in a very real sense our abilities have been given us of God. The particular abilities listed in this text are supernatural endowments.

4. Upon what basis does God expect returns?

"For unto whomsoever much is given, of him shall be much required; and to whom men have committed much, of him they will ask the more." Luke 12:48, last part.

God has bestowed talents to each of His servants. It should be no concern of ours as to how many talents God has given us. We should, however, ask, What am I doing with the talents which I have received?

5. What did the master say to the man who hid his talent?

"His lord answered and said unto him, Thou wicked and slothful servant, thou knewest that I reap where I sowed not, and gather where I have not strawed: thou oughtest therefore to have put my money to the exchangers, and then at my coming I should have received mine own with usury." Matthew 25:26, 27.

6. What words of commendation were spoken to the servant who had used his talents?

"His lord said unto him, Well done, thou good and faithful servant: thou hast been faithful over a few things, I will make thee ruler over many things: enter thou into the joy of thy lord." Matthew 25:21.

Conclusion

When God gives a talent to be used He gives His servant full responsibility. "And he called his ten servants, and delivered them ten pounds, and said unto them, Occupy till I come." Luke 19:13. However, with the responsibility the master will one day expect the steward to give an account. "After a long time the lord of those servants cometh, and reckoneth with them." Matthew 25:19. "And he said also unto his disciples, There was a certain rich man, which had a steward; and the same was accused unto him that he had wasted his goods. And he called him, and said unto him, How is it that I hear this of thee? give an account of thy stewardship; for thou mayest be no longer steward." Luke 16:1, 2. Let us ask God to help us to be faithful in our stewardship.

3. STEWARDSHIP OF TIME

Time is a talent given to every person. All are given the same amount of time—24 hours in a day. We are admonished to redeem time. But how can this be? Paul says, "Walk in wisdom toward them that are without, redeeming the time." Colossians 4:5. There is no way to call back even one moment of time. Therefore, "See then that ye walk circumspectly, not as fools, but as wise, redeeming the time, because the days are evil." Ephesians 5:15, 16. It is our duty as stewards to make the most of the time remaining by seeking constantly to do God's will.

1. What is it time to do now?

"Sow to yourselves in righteousness, reap in mercy; break up your fallow ground: for it is time to seek the LORD, till he come and rain righteousness upon you." Hosea 10:12.

 The ancient prophet expresses a universal truth. It is always present duty to seek God. Read 2 Corinthians 6:2.

2. Should there be concern on our part as to our spiritual condition at the present time? If so, why?

"And that, knowing the time, that now it is high time to awake out of sleep: for now is our salvation nearer than when we believed." Romans 13:11.

3. Approximately how much time does God give us?

"The days of our years are threescore years and ten; and if by reason of strength they be fourscore years, yet is their strength labour and sorrow; for it is soon cut off, and we fly away." Psalm 90:10.

"Remember how short my time is." Psalm 89:47.

4. What is our spiritual work during the time allotted to us?

"Now then we are ambassadors for Christ, as though God did beseech you by us: we pray you in Christ's stead, be ye reconciled to God." 2 Corinthians 5:20.

 As we sow the gospel seed in our time it is encouraging to know that "they that sow in tears shall reap in joy. He that goeth forth and weepeth, bearing precious seed, shall doubtless come again with rejoicing, bringing his sheaves with him." Psalm 126:5, 6.

5. When should we do our work for God?

"Say not ye, There are yet four months, and then cometh harvest? behold, I say unto you, Lift up your eyes, and look on the fields; for they are white already to harvest." John 4:35.

6. How much time to earn a living does God give us each week?

"Six days may work be done; but in the seventh is the sabbath of rest, work to the LORD: whosoever doeth any work in the sabbath day, he shall surely be put to death." Exodus 31:15.

7. Does it make any difference what is done on the seventh day?

"If thou turn away thy foot from the sabbath, from doing thy pleasure on my holy day; and call the sabbath a delight, the holy of the LORD, honourable; and shalt honour him, not doing thine own ways, nor finding thine own pleasure, nor speaking thine own words: then shalt thou delight thyself in the LORD; and I will cause thee to ride upon the high places of the earth, and feed thee with the heritage of Jacob thy father: for the mouth of the LORD hath spoken it." Isaiah 58:13, 14.

 While it is true the Sabbath was made for man yet it must also be remembered that Christ is the Lord of the Sabbath day. Read Luke 6:5. "The seventh day is the sabbath of the LORD thy God." Exodus 20:10. Since this is true, God has the right to tell us how to observe His day to our benefit.

8. As a faithful steward of time, what three things ought I to do now?

"Blessed is he that readeth, and they that hear the words of this prophecy, and keep those things which are written therein: for the time is at hand." Revelation 1:3.

 Living in the time when Christ will soon appear it is important to improve our time by reading God's Word, listening to God's Word proclaimed, and then conforming our lives to what He says.

Conclusion

It seems that there is "a time to every purpose under heaven." Read Ecclesiastes 3:1-8. Man often struts and shouts as if he were master. Man is steward over the things entrusted to him by God. Never forget it - God is the time-keeper. The above verses in Ecclesiastes are God's time bill which indicates times of change, of direction, and of progress. As stewards of God it is up to us to be faithful at every time in the discharging of our responsibilities. The great thing is to know the time and to say the right thing at the right moment.

4. STEWARDSHIP OF MONEY

The stewardship of money involves God's claim upon our finances. Let us inquire, "What shall I render unto the LORD for all his benefits toward me?" Psalm 116:12. The spirit of giving is the spirit of heaven. Read John 3:16. No selfish person will ever enter heaven. There are three kinds of givers—the flint, the sponge, and the honeycomb. You must hammer the flint to get chips and sparks only. You must squeeze the sponge to get water. But the honeycomb just overflows with its own sweetness. Let us determine not to be like the flint, stingy and hard, nor like the sponge, which must be pressed to give. We ought to be like the honeycomb, for the Bible says, "God loveth a cheerful giver." 2 Corinthians 9:7.

1. By whose power is wealth obtained?

"But thou shalt remember the LORD thy God: for it is he that giveth thee power to get wealth, that he may establish his covenant which he sware unto thy fathers, as it is this day." Deuteronomy 8:18. Read Proverbs 10:22.

2. How much belongs to God?

"The earth is the LORD's, and the fulness thereof; the world, and they that dwell therein." Psalm 24:1. Read also Psalm 100:3; 50:10, 11; Haggai 2:8.

3. How much of our income is holy unto the Lord?

"And all the title of the land, whether of the seed of the land, or of the fruit of the tree, is the LORD's: it is holy unto the LORD. . . . And concerning the title of the herd, or of the flock, even of whatsoever passeth under the rod, the tenth shall be holy unto the LORD." Leviticus 27:30, 32. Read Genesis 14:20; Hebrews 7:2, 4.

✎ What is a tithe? The Bible says Abram pursued the kings who had plundered Sodom and Gomorrah. When he returned, the Bible indicates he gave tithes of all (Genesis 14:19, 20). In Hebrews 7:2, 4 it is explained that he gave a tenth.

4. Out of what portion of the income is the tithe to be taken?

"Honour the LORD with thy substance, and with the firstfruits of all thine increase." Proverbs 3:9.

✎ Some have felt they do not have to tithe because it takes all they make to pay their bills. That is a mistake. When the tithe is given to God first, the nine-tenths will be blessed of God. Read Proverbs 3:10.

5. In addition to the tithe what else does God require?

"Give unto the LORD the glory due unto his name: bring an offering, and come into his courts." Psalm 96:8.

✎ An offering is no certain amount. The offering is given according as God has prospered. Read 1 Corinthians 16:2; 2 Corinthians 8:12; 9:7. We owe God the tithe. The offering is given to God out of the portion He gives us. In tithing we fulfill a duty, whereas, in giving an offering we show our appreciation for God's many blessings.

6. What blessing is pronounced on those who are faithful in returning to God that which is His?

"Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it. And I will rebuke the devourer for your sakes, and he shall not destroy the fruits of your ground; neither shall your vine cast her fruit before the time in the field, saith the LORD of hosts." Malachi 3:10, 11.

7. What can those expect who are unfaithful in tithes and offerings?

"Ye are cursed with a curse: for ye have robbed me, even this whole nation." Malachi 3:9. Read Haggai 1:5-11.

8. For what was the tithe to be used?

"And, behold, I have given the children of Levi all the tenth in Israel for an inheritance, for their service which they serve, even the service of the tabernacle of the congregation." Numbers 18:21.

9. Should the ministry be supported from the tithe today?

"Do ye not know that they which minister about holy things live of the things of the temple? and they which wait at the altar are partakers with the altar? Even so hath the Lord ordained that they which preach the gospel should live of the gospel." 1 Corinthians 9:13, 14.

10. Did Jesus endorse the tithing system?

"Woe unto you, scribes and Pharisees, hypocrites! for ye pay tithe of mint and anise and cummin, and have omitted the weightier matters of the law, judgment, mercy, and faith: these ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone." Matthew 23:23.

11. Where should we put our tithe?

"Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse, that there may be meat in mine house, and prove me now herewith, saith the LORD of hosts, if I will not open you the windows of heaven, and pour you out a blessing, that there shall not be room enough to receive it." Malachi 3:10.

✎ The storehouse means the treasures of God's church. Read Nehemiah 13:12. It is the duty of the treasurer to distribute the tithe to support God's ministers. Read Nehemiah 13:13.

Conclusion

In nature some things multiply by dividing. Some cells increase by splitting. Plants multiply only when the seeds are sown liberally. A farmer who sows sparingly reaps sparingly. It is the same in God's kingdom. We should tithe our income because we love God and in acknowledgment of God's ownership of all things. We are dependent upon God for all our blessings, and He bestows them in numberless ways.

5. STEWARDSHIP OF THE BODY

The Bible has much to say about healthful living. Sometimes man reasons that the care of the human body is strictly up to him. No one has the right to tell him what to do regarding the care of his body. This reasoning is wrong on at least two counts. First, God created man in His own image. Read Genesis 1:26, 27. Second, as stewards over our bodies we are to glorify God. "What? know ye not that your body is the temple of the Holy Ghost which is in you, which ye have of God, and ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price: therefore glorify God in your body, and in your spirit, which are God's." 1 Corinthians 6:19, 20.

1. What is God's desire for His children?

"Beloved, I wish above all things that thou mayest prosper and be in health, even as thy soul prospereth." 3 John 2.

✎ God promised His people, "I will take sickness away from the midst of thee." Exodus 23:25. God promised not to allow disease to afflict His people provided they would keep all His commandments. Read Exodus 15:26.

2. In what ways are we to glorify God?

"Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." 1 Corinthians 10:31.

3. How serious a matter is it to disregard the proper care of the body?

In John, Chapter 5, is the account of a cripple at the pool of Bethesda. He had been in that condition for thirty-eight years. The abuse of his health, which had led to his condition, was considered to be sin by Jesus (John 5:14). Breaking physical or moral law is sin against the Creator.

4. How are our bodies to be presented to God?

"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service." Romans 12:1.

5. What was the original diet prescribed for man?

"And God said, Behold, I have given you every herb bearing seed, which is upon the face of all the earth, and every tree, in the which is the fruit of a tree yielding seed; to you it shall be for meat." Genesis 1:29.

6. Why did God place restrictions on the diet of His people?

"For thou art an holy people unto the LORD thy God, and the LORD hath chosen thee to be a peculiar people unto himself, above all the nations that are upon the earth. Thou shalt not eat any abominable thing." Deuteronomy 14:2, 3.

7. What particular animal does God say is unfit for food?

"And the swine, because it divideth the hoof, yet cheweth not the cud, it is unclean unto you: ye shall not eat of their flesh, nor touch their dead carcase." Deuteronomy 14:8. Read Leviticus 11:7, 8.

13. There are two whole chapters, Leviticus 11 and Deuteronomy 14, devoted entirely to giving a list of clean and unclean animals. Read Mark 5:1-13 where it is evident Jesus did not regard swine as fit for food. Based on gathering up the leftovers when He fed the five thousand (Mark 6:38-44) and when He fed the four thousand (Mark 8:5-9) if the herd of 2,000 swine had been fit for food He would not have permitted their destruction.

8. What was the meaning of the sheet with all kinds of animals which was let down from heaven in Peter's vision?

"And he said unto them, Ye know how that it is an unlawful thing for a man that is a Jew to keep company, or come unto one of another nation; but God hath shewed me that I should not call any man common or unclean. . . . Then Peter opened his mouth, and said, Of a truth I perceive that God is no respecter of persons: but in every nation he that feareth him, and worketh righteousness, is accepted with him. . . . When they heard these things, they held their peace, and glorified God, saying, Then hath God also to the Gentiles granted repentance unto life." Acts 10:28, 34, 35; 11:18.

13. God was not trying to show Peter that all kinds of animals and creeping things are good for food but rather that the Gentiles were not to be regarded as unclean and unfit to receive the gospel.

9. What can those expect who persist in eating swine's flesh until Jesus comes?

"For, behold, the LORD will come with fire, and with his chariots like a whirlwind, to render his anger with fury, and his rebuke with flames of fire. For by fire and by his sword will the LORD plead with all flesh: and the slain of the LORD shall be many. They that sanctify themselves, and purify themselves in the gardens behind one tree in the midst, eating swine's flesh, and the abomination, and the mouse, shall be consumed together, saith the LORD." Isaiah 66:15-17.

13. Such judgments of God foretold to come upon His sinning ancient people, clearly indicate what His judgment will be on similar sins in the ultimate day of the Lord.

10. What counsel does God give concerning the use of intoxicating drinks?

"Look not thou upon the wine when it is red, when it giveth his colour in the cup, when it moveth itself aright. At the last it biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder." Proverbs 23:31, 32. Read also Proverbs 20:1.

11. Should a Christian use tobacco?

"Whether therefore ye eat, or drink, or whatsoever ye do, do all to the glory of God." 1 Corinthians 10:31. Read Romans 12:1.

13. It is today a recognized fact that tobacco is harmful to the human body. With our knowledge no one can smoke, chew, dip, drink, use drugs for kicks, etc. to the glory of God. Hence, the Christian abstains from taking any thing harmful into his body, and uses only the good in moderation.

Conclusion

Since God made man He knows what is best for Him. He gave man permission to eat such animals as deer, sheep, cows or any animal with a split hoof and which also chews the cud. The eating of squirrel, rabbits and hogs is not permitted. Fish which have fins and scales are good for food, but eels, catfish, lobsters, crabs, oysters, and clams are unfit for food. No general rule is given to distinguish between clean and unclean birds. In Leviticus 1 a list of twenty birds is mentioned as being prohibited. Some fowl considered clean are the dove, partridge, quail, chicken, turkey, etc. Read Leviticus 11 and Deuteronomy 14. Daniel set a good example for us in eating and drinking. "But Daniel purposed in his heart that he would not defile himself with the portion of the king's meat, nor with the wine which he drank." Daniel 1:8.

6. STEWARDSHIP IN EVERYDAY LIVING

Stewardship in everyday living is a big job. It involves a complete transformation of man's life. The only way this is possible is to heed God's request, "My son, give me thine heart, and let thine eyes observe my ways." Proverbs 23:26. It is when Christ dwells in the heart by faith that a person's thoughts and various habits of life will be brought into conformity to the standards as set forth in the Scriptures.

1. What is the divine rule God has given to regulate all that the Christian will do, hear, see, read, say, or think?

"Finally, brethren, whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report; if there be any virtue, and if there be any praise, think on these things." Philippians 4:8. Read Matthew 7:12.

2. What standard has God given to guide in marriage?

"Be ye not unequally yoked together with unbelievers: for what fellowship hath righteousness with unrighteousness? and what communion hath light with darkness?" 2 Corinthians 6:14.

3. For how long should the marriage be binding?

"And he answered and said unto them, Have ye not read, that he which made them at the beginning made them male and female, and said, For this cause shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave to his wife: and they twain shall be one flesh? Wherefore they are no more twain, but one flesh. What therefore God hath joined together, let not man put asunder." Matthew 19:4-6.

13. Read what Jesus said about divorce in Matthew 19:3-9 and Matthew 5:32.

4. What is to be the Christian's relationship to the world?

"Wherefore come out from among them, and be ye separate, saith the Lord, and touch not the unclean thing; and I will receive you." 2 Corinthians 6:17. Read 1 John 2:15-17.

5. What principles are to guide us in the music we sing and listen to?

"It is a good thing to give thanks unto the LORD, and to sing praises unto thy name, O most High: to shew forth thy loving kindness in the morning, and thy faithfulness every night, upon an instrument of ten strings, and upon the psaltery; upon the harp with a solemn sound." Psalm 92:1-3.

"Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord." Colossians 3:16.

"Is any among you afflicted? Let him pray. Is any merry? Let him sing psalms." James 5:13.

6. What principles has God given regarding adornment?

"In like manner also, that women adorn themselves in modest apparel, with shamefacedness and sobriety; not with broided hair, or gold, or pearls, or costly array." 1 Timothy 2:9.

"Whose adorning let it not be that outward adorning of plaiting the hair, and of wearing of gold, or of putting on of apparel; but let it be the hidden man of the heart, in that which is not corruptible, even the ornament of a meek and quiet spirit, which is in the sight of God of great price." 1 Peter 3:3, 4.

☞ Voluptuous dressing was quite generally associated with forgetting God. Read Hosea 2:13. Failing to live by the Bible principles of dress fosters pride and rebellion against the Lord and His will. Read Isaiah 3:16-26. At Padanarain Jacob became involved in pride and idolatry. When he prepared to return to God, all of the old relics were discarded. Read Genesis 35:24.

STATE OF MAN

1. MAN'S NATURE

The Bible nowhere teaches that man has immortality in himself. It teaches that man is mortal. God made man to live but it was never His purpose that man should live if he chose to sin. God told man, "Of the tree of the knowledge of good and evil, thou shalt not eat of it: for in the day that thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die." Genesis 2:17. The margin says, "dying thou shalt die." When man sinned he began to die.

1. Does anyone have immortality, if so, who?

"I give thee charge in the sight of God, who quickeneth all things, and before Christ Jesus, who before Pontius Pilate witnessed a good confession; that thou keep this commandment without spot, unrebukeable, until the appearing of our Lord Jesus Christ: which in his times he shall shew, who is the blessed and only Potentate, the King of kings, and Lord of lords; who only hath immortality, dwelling in the light which no man can approach unto, whom no man hath seen, nor can see: to whom be honour and power everlasting. Amen." 1 Timothy 6:13-16.

☞ This is a bold, clear, unequivocal statement that God "only hath immortality." This establishes also that mankind does not have immortality.

2. What relationship should men sustain to immortality?

"But after thy hardness and impenitent heart treasurest up unto thyself wrath against the day of wrath and revelation of the righteous judgment of God, who will render to every man according to his deeds: to them who by patient continuance in well doing seek for glory and honour and immortality, eternal life." Romans 2:5-7.

3. What is the source of immortality?

"But is now made manifest by the appearing of our Saviour Jesus Christ, who hath abolished death, and hath brought life and immortality to light through the gospel." 2 Timothy 1:10.

☞ Man would have perished had it not been for God's love. Christ was willing to give His life and God was willing to give His Son. Read John 3:16. Therefore man can receive immortality through an acceptance of the gospel.

4. If a person accepts the gospel, when can he expect to be given immortality?

"Behold, I shew you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed, in a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump: for the trumpet shall

While in Egypt among idolaters the Israelites had put on many ornaments. At Mt. Horeb God commanded them to put off their ornaments. Read Exodus 33:5, 6.

Conclusion

A person cannot afford to live contrary to the Word of God. "Let the word of Christ dwell in you richly in all wisdom; teaching and admonishing one another in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing with grace in your hearts to the Lord. And whatsoever ye do in word or deed, do all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God and the Father by him." Colossians 3:16, 17.

sound, and the dead shall be raised incorruptible, and we shall be changed. For this corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality. So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written, Death is swallowed up in victory." 1 Corinthians 15:51-54.

5. What does the Bible say about man's life?

- Man is said to be "mortal" (Job 4:17). Read Romans 6:12; 8:11; 2 Corinthians 4:11.
 - Man's life "is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away." James 4:14, last part.
 - Man's life is a "wind" (Job 7:7). Read Psalm 78:39.
 - Man's life is transitory and perishable. Read Luke 13:2, 3; John 3:16; Romans 2:12; 1 Corinthians 15:17, 18; Philippians 3:19; 2 Thessalonians 1:9.
- The devil was the first to teach that man is immortal! The serpent said unto the woman, "Ye shall not surely die." Genesis 3:4. The serpent is referred to as the devil in Revelation 12:9. Speaking of the devil, Christ said, "He is a liar" and the father of lies (John 8:44, last part).

2. WHERE ARE THE DEAD?

The Bible speaks clearly regarding death and the state of those who have passed into its embrace. What is death? If God doesn't tell us, we will never know. Let us analyze God's answer. Thirty five centuries ago God's man, living in the land of Uz, ancient Arabia, realized that a tree could be cut down, yet the old root could sprout again. But when man dies, then asks Job, "Where is he?" (Job 14:7-10).

1. Out of what did God make man?

"And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground." Genesis 2:7, first part.

2. When God "breathed into his nostrils the breath of life" what did man become?

"And man became a living soul." Genesis 2:7, last part.

☞ Immediately the brain leaped into action. The heart began to beat and blood flowed through man's veins. Consciousness was produced. How did it come about? It was not in the dust of the ground or the body, and it was not in the breath of life. Consciousness was produced as a result of the union of the breath of life with the dust of the ground, the human body. Consciousness depends entirely upon a union of the breath with the body.

3. When the process is reversed what becomes of man's consciousness?

"Then shall the dust return to the earth as it was; and the spirit shall return unto God who gave it." Ecclesiastes 12:7.

 The spirit which returns to God is "the breath which God gave him." Job 27:3, margin. So man's breath, that is, the life principle, is withdrawn and the body is dissolved into dust. The heart no longer beats. The brain does not function. The blood no longer flows. What has become of man's consciousness? It is gone. David says, "Thou sendest forth thy spirit [breath], they are created . . . thou takest away their breath, they die, and return to their dust." Psalm 104:30, first part, 29, last part.

4. Does the intelligent, thinking part of man live somewhere after death?

"His breath goeth forth, he returneth to his earth; in that very day his thoughts perish." Psalm 146:4.

5. How much does a dead person know?

"For the living know that they shall die; but the dead know not anything." Ecclesiastes 9:5, first part.

6. Do the righteous who die praise the Lord in death?

"The dead praise not the LORD, neither any that go down into silence." Psalm 115:17. Read Psalm 6:5; 88:10-12.

7. Where did Jesus say the dead would be when His voice shall call them?

"Marvel not at this: for the hour is coming, in the which all that are in the graves shall hear his voice, and shall come forth: they that have done good, unto the resurrection of life; and they that have done evil, unto the resurrection of damnation." John 5:28, 29.

 Job understood that he would await the call of the lifegiver in the grave. Read Job 17:13.

8. What is man's condition while in the grave?

"But I would not have you to be ignorant, brethren, concerning them which are asleep, that ye sorrow not, even as others which have no hope." 1 Thessalonians 4:13.

 Read John 11:11-14 concerning the death of Lazarus. Jesus used the terms "sleep" and "death" interchangeably. During his death (four days) he had not gone to heaven, hell, or purgatory. When Jesus resurrected him to life He didn't call him up from hell or down from heaven. He simply said, "Lazarus, come forth." John 11:43, last part.

8. Where did Job expect to go when he died?

"As the waters fail from the sea, and the flood decayeth and drieth up: so man lieth down, and riseth not: till the heavens be no more, they shall not awake, nor be raised out of their sleep. O that thou wouldest hide me in the grave, that thou wouldest keep me secret, until thy wrath be past, that thou wouldest appoint me a set time, and remember me!" Job 14:11-13.

 Job had hope of living again when the resurrection would take place (Job 14:14, 15). And he expected to see God in his flesh. Read Job 19:23-27. The resurrection is man's only hope of escape from the grave (1 Corinthians 15:16-22).

Conclusion

In his sermon on the Day of Pentecost Peter declared that David had not gone to heaven at his death, but was resting in his grave. Read Acts 2:34, 29. While we live let us prepare to meet Christ at His second coming. This was Paul's hope. Read 2 Timothy 4:6-8. It can be our hope too.

3. WHAT IS THE SOUL?

There are those who believe that the soul is neither matter nor visible, but it has mentality and is the immortal part of man. The popular idea is that the soul can see, hear, love, hate; it can remember past events and in some cases predict future events. It is supposed to leave the body at death and go to either heaven or hell, according to the kind of life the individual has lived.

Go over all the parts of man in any book of physiology or anatomy and you will discover there is nothing labeled a soul. We are all supposed to have one, but no one knows exactly what it is.

1. What is the Bible meaning of the term soul?

Three Hebrew words in the Old Testament and one Greek word in the New Testament are rendered soul. They are:

- Neshamah is translated once in Isaiah 57:16, last part, "The souls which I have made."
- Nedibah is translated once in Job 30:15, second part, "They pursue my soul as the wind."
- Nephesh is the only other word in the Old Testament sometimes translated soul. It appears 752 times and is translated by forty three other words.
- Psuche is the corresponding Greek word in the New Testament which occurs 105 times and is translated by six different words.

 The Bible definition for soul is varied. In some places it speaks of the soul as the life of the individual; in other places as the living person; in still other verses soul refers to an animal. The soul may refer to the affection or love of an individual, the dead body of a person, or the spirit of man. But nowhere does the Bible use the term to indicate an entity or personality that can live an immortal existence apart from the body.

2. Did God give man an immortal soul at creation?

"And the LORD God formed man of the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul." Genesis 2:7.

 Sometimes the term soul may refer to the entire person, or the natural life of man, or it may refer to the mind. In Exodus 16:16 soul and person are used interchangeably. For "persons" the margin says "souls." It was the union of the breath of life or life principle with the dust that produced the first living person.

3. What is the difference between men and animals?

 God fashioned man with His own hands whereas the animals were created by the Word of His mouth. Man was given a mind that could think and reason and comprehend God. The animals were not given such reasoning and comprehensive ability.

"I will praise thee; for I am fearfully and wonderfully made: marvellous are thy works; and that my soul knoweth right well." Psalm 139:14. If man had no mind he would not know right. It is the mind of man that knows right. Read Deuteronomy 11:18 and Psalm 103:1. It is with the mind we remember. Without a mind we could never praise God.

4. What is the soul capable of doing?

- It is the director of man's actions. Compare Psalm 119:167 with Romans 7:25. One text mentions the soul as the agency of obedience, the other calls this agency the mind.
- Man's soul takes counsel (Psalm 13:2).
- It refuses things (Job 6:7).
- It can be grieved (Job 30:25).
- It feels bitterness of sorrow (Job 10:1; Mark 14:33, 34).
- It is satisfied with good things (Psalm 63:5).

 These are all functions of the mind.

5. Of how many divisions of man does the Bible speak?

"And fear not them which kill the body, but are not able to kill the soul: but rather fear him which is able to destroy both soul and body in hell." Matthew 10:28. Read Romans 8:10; 1 Corinthians 5:3; 7:34.

Generally, in the Bible there is mention of either body and soul or body and spirit. Paul, in 1 Thessalonians 5:23, combines these ideas and emphasizes that no part of man is to be shut out of the experience of sanctification. Man is a complete whole. Never does the Bible speak of a conscious entity able to exist apart from man.

6. Can a soul die?

"Behold, all souls are mine; as the soul of the father, so also the soul of the son is mine: the soul that sinneth, it shall die." Ezekiel 18:4. Read James 5:20; Job 7:15.

7. Did Cain kill the real Abel or only a body in which he lived?

"And Cain talked with Abel his brother: and it came to pass, when they were in the field, that Cain rose up against Abel his brother, and slew him. And the LORD said unto Cain, Where is Abel thy brother? And he said, I know not: Am I my brother's keeper? And he said, What hast thou done? the voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground." Genesis 4:8-10.

The Lord did not say, "Abel has come to heaven to tell Me that you have murdered him"; but He did say, "The voice of thy brother's blood crieth unto me from the ground." Paul affirms in Hebrews 11:4 that Abel is dead.

8. How long did Adam live?

"And all the days that Adam lived were nine hundred and thirty years: and he died." Genesis 5:5.

The validity of this record of Adam's death proves that Satan lied when he said Adam would not die if he ate of the forbidden fruit (Genesis 3:4) and that Jesus told the truth about Satan when He said, "He is a liar, and the father of it." John 8:44, last part. We must not defend Satan in his noted lie by affirming that Adam was an immortal soul that did not and could not die.

9. Were those outside Noah's ark more alive than those on the inside?

"And all flesh died that moved upon the earth, both of fowl, and of cattle, and of beast, and of every creeping thing that creepeth upon the earth, and every man: all in whose nostrils was the breath of life, of all that was in the dry land, died. And every living substance was destroyed which was upon the face of the ground, both man, and cattle, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven; and they were destroyed from the earth: and Noah only remained alive, and they that were with him in the ark." Genesis 7:21-23.

It is clear that "both man, and cattle, and the creeping things, and the fowl of the heaven; . . . were destroyed." Here the same terms are applied to the men as to the animals. There is not the least indication that some part of each person continued alive, any more than of each beast. "As the one dieth, so dieth the other; yea, they have all one breath." Ecclesiastes 3:19, second part.

Conclusion

The time is coming when those who are dead will live again. Read Job 14:14, 15. Man will be given immortality at the resurrection. Read 1 Corinthians 15:51-53. Accept Christ as your Saviour and eternal life is yours (Romans 6:23).

4. CAN THE DEAD COMMUNICATE WITH THE LIVING?

The theory that it is possible for those living to communicate with those who are dead is known as spiritism. This is not Bible terminology. Adherents to this belief accept the natural immortality of man as basic. If the communication lines are forever open between the living and the dead then it would be incorrect to speak of a person dying. But death is the opposite of life. The difference between life and death is man's relationship to knowledge. Solomon declares, "For the living know that they shall die: but the dead know not anything." Ecclesiastes 9:5, first part.

1. Who was the first spirit medium?

"Now the serpent was more subtil than any beast of the field which the LORD God had made. And he said unto the woman, Yea, hath God said, Ye shall not eat of every tree of the garden?" Genesis 3:1.

2. For what purpose was the first medium used?

"The serpent beguiled Eve through his subtilty." 2 Corinthians 11:3, first part.

From that day the result of every medium's spirit contacts has been to deceive. Satan gained control of the serpent. He made it appear the serpent was speaking. Eve thought she was talking with the serpent when in reality she was talking with the devil himself. He is referred to as "that old serpent, called the Devil, and Satan, which deceiveth the whole world." Revelation 12:9, first part.

3. What basic lie did the serpent tell Eve?

"And the serpent said unto the woman, Ye shall not surely die." Genesis 3:4.

When the devil was able to get Adam and Eve to act upon his lie, the opposite to God's truth, "He was," as Jesus states, "a murderer from the beginning, and abode not in the truth . . . for he is a liar, and the father of it." John 8:44, last part.

4. What kind of occult and forbidden mysteries did Moses warn against?

"There shall not be found among you any one that maketh his son or his daughter to pass through the fire: or that useth divination, or an observer of times, or an enchanter, or a witch, or a charmer, or a consulter with familiar spirits, or a wizard, or a necromancer. For all that do these things are an abomination unto the LORD: and because of these abominations the LORD thy God doth drive them out from before thee." Deuteronomy 18:10-12. Both spirit mediums and those who consulted them were executed in Israel (Leviticus 20:6, 27).

5. When King Saul went to the witch of Endor did he see and talk with Samuel the prophet?

The Lord had already refused to communicate with King Saul. Read 1 Samuel 28:6. Notice that Saul asked "counsel of one that had a familiar spirit, to inquire of it, and inquired not of the LORD." 1 Chronicles 10:13, last part, 14, first part.

6. Do the dead ever return to their homes after death to either haunt or bring comfort?

"As the cloud is consumed and vanisheth away; so he that goeth down to the grave shall come up no more. He shall return no more to his house, neither shall his place know him any more." Job 7:9, 10.

7. What condition makes it impossible for the living to talk to those who are dead?

They are asleep and totally unconscious. Read Ecclesiastes 9:5, 6, 10; Job 34:14, 15.

8. What will be a cause of last-day apostasy?

"Now the Spirit speaketh expressly, that in the latter times some shall depart from the faith, giving heed to seducing spirits, and doctrines of devils." 1 Timothy 4:1

These spirits and their mediums are seducing spirits. They are bent on deception. They cause people to depart from the faith and they proclaim doctrines of devils. They are miracle working spirits. Their supernatural manifestations implement their deceptions and give them plausibility. Read Matthew 7:22, 23; 24:24; 2 Thessalonians 2:9; Revelation 13:13, 14; 16:13, 14.
